PREFACE.

AT the time of Mr. Wilson's unexpected death in 1904, the present volume was in an advanced state of preparation. Even the introduction had been printed, with the exception of the last two chapters; and fortunately the manuscript of the unprinted portion was found among the author's papers. As a student of the same period of Indian History, and one who took a sympathetic interest in Mr. Wilson's work, I share the opinion of the surviving members of his family that so much valuable material, the fruit of great labour and strenuous research, ought to be made available for those interested in the subject. Difficulties arose which have caused regrettable delay; these having now been overcome, I have been asked to contribute a few words by way of preface.

Charles Robert Wilson, M. A., D. LITT., born in London in 1863, was educated at the City of London School whence, on gaining the Carpenter Scholarship, he proceeded to Oxford. There he won an open scholarship at Wadham College. In 1886 he graduated with first class honours in the Final Schools. Soon after taking his degree, he entered the Indian Educational Service. He began his work in 1887 as Professor at Dacca College, and in 1895 was transferred to a similar position in the Presidency College at Calcutta. For some years he was Principal of the Government College, Bankipur (Patna), and then acted as an Inspector of Schools. In all these positions he acquired the confidence of his superiors and the respect of the students. At the time of his death he was the Officer in charge of the Records of the Government of India. For many years he enjoyed excellent health, and seemed destined to carry to completion a career so successfully commenced. At last the Anglo-Indian's most insidious enemy, malaria, fastened upon him, and in spite of visits to Darjeeling and Ceylon, he was unable to shake it off. As a last resource he was sent home: but it was too late. He died in London on July 24th, 1904, at the early age of forty-one.

Allowing for his comparatively short life, most of it passed under the constant pressure of arduous official duties, Mr. Wilson's literary output was considerable; nor was it of a light or perfunctory nature, the mere amusement of a cultured mind's idle hours. It involved laborious hunting among dusty manuscripts and singular perseverance in following up and unravelling the most unpromising clues. Wilson during his annual trips to Europe must have visited nearly every part of England in pursuit of exact biographical details about the earlier Anglo-Indian worthies, whose names appear in the records he was studying. No trouble seemed to him too great to secure this object. The result is before us, and he is assured of a permanent place in the small band of similar seekers, alongside of Talboys Wheeler, A. T. Pringle, J. M. Campbell, E. T. Atkinson and G. W. Forrest.

For he evidently held, as many others do, that for the time being the available sources for the purely literary treatment of history have been exhausted. To secure any profitable extension of our knowledge, at any rate in the Indian field, we must devote ourselves to the consultation of original records. Like C. R. Wilson, we must strive at sifting, arranging and publishing the documents. It is the only way in which we can get a little nearer to the past and thus in the limited degree which is possible, learn the truth about it. In short, history must be first dealt with as a science, a record of facts, before any attempt can be made to turn it into literature or a branch of Belles Lettres. The merits of Wilson's work in this direction have been recognized by his University, which granted him his Doctorate in Literature, as he told me himself, after an examination founded on his own "Early Annals of the English in Bengal."

So far as known to me he is the author of the following:—

- (1) Articles on the site of the Black Hole of Calcutta printed in the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal.
- (2) List of the Inscriptions on Tombs or Monuments in Bengal, foolscap folio, Calcutta, 1836.
- (3) "The Early Annals of the English in Bengal," Vol. I, 1895, Vol. II, Part I, 1900.
- (4) "Old Fort William in Bengal" in the "Indian Records" series, 1905, 2 volumes 8° (Murray.)

He also wrote an article on Bibi Juliana in the Indian Church Quarterly Review for October 1900, and contributed several articles to the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal in Calcutta.

In the Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society for January 1897, I inserted a review of the first volume of his "Early Annals of the English in Bengal." This appreciation of his book led to Mr. Wilson seeking me out on his next visit to England. From that time I received an annual visit from him and we maintained a constant correspondence on the subjects he was interested in. In this way I came to see the continuation of the "Early Annals" in proof and was able to contribute information from native historians and other sources which was not accessible to the author, being outside the limits of his special studies. The topographical notes to the "Surman Diary" are mostly by Mr. Wilson, while the rest were directly or indirectly furnished to him by me.

The volume now published, forming volume 2, Part II, of the "Early Annals of the English in Bengal" is devoted to the story of the Mission sent by the Company's officials in Calcutta to Furrukhsīyar, the Great Mogul. It is compiled from the Consultations of the Government at Calcutta, the Diary kept and Consultations recorded by the Envoys, and copies of their letters to the three presidencies. These different series of documents are taken in chronological order and combined into one continuous narrative. In this way it becomes possible for the first time to follow the development of events beginning with the instruction, of July 1715, down to the conclusion of the Mission and its arrival in Calcutta in December 1717. Some of the letters and proceedings have been printed by J. Talboys Wheeler in his "Early Records of British India" (Calcutta, 1878); but that fragmentary narrative will be entirely superseded by Mr. Wilson's compilation. The main points of the story, with their appropriate historical background, are admirably set forth in Mr. Wilson's full and lucid introduction, to which nothing need be added here.

The "Diary" is interesting for more than one reason. It is an almost photographic picture of an Oriental court, seething as usual with intrigue and a mere battle ground of personal ambitions. We also obtain an insight into its perverse ingenuity in prevarication and procrastination. The record also makes us acquainted with a sturdy Englishman, John Surman, who though young in years and untried in great affairs rose nobly to his responsibilities. We see, too, how difficult it is for the European and the Eastern man to work together on a footing of equality. Sarhād, the shifty Armenian, if left to himself, might have succeeded by his own devious ways; on the other hand, Surman would certainly have done better if unhampered by Sarhād as a colleague. Placing the two men together on such a footing was a fatal mistake, and but for Surman's dogged persistence, this would have entirely wrecked the enterprise. The much-abused Wazīr, Qutq-ul-Mulk, Sayyid 'Abdullah Khān, is also shown in an unexpectedly favourable light; for instead of resenting the Envoys' long neglect of him, he acted, when at length applied to, with unusual vigour, showed no sign of offended dignity, and above all demanded nothing for himself.

On every ground I heartily commend this book to the notice of all serious students of Indian history.

CHAPTER I.

THE ORIGIN OF THE SURMAN EMBASSY.

THE embassy conducted by John Surman to the court of the emperor Farrukhsiyar was the most important step taken by the English in Bengal from the foundation of Calcutta by Charnock to the conquest of Bengal by Clive. To appreciate it rightly, we must review briefly the whole course of the relations between the Mughal court and the English.

When the English first came to India, the Mughal empire was at its best. Here was a powerful centralised monarchy, very different from the petty barbarous kings of the Spice Islands over whom the Dutch were accustomed to domineer. It seemed clear that the correct attitude to assume towards such a power must be that of peaceful merchants, who aimed at nothing more than to pursue their trade in quietness and safety under the protection of the great Mughal. In pursuance of this policy in January, 1615, Sir Thomas Roe was commissioned by James I 'to be ambassador to the great Mughal' at the expense of the company.<sup>1</sup> In September, 1615, he arrived at Surat, where he found the English already established in a commanding position. The power of the Portuguese in these parts had been overthrown by the victories of Best in 1613 and of Downton at the beginning of 1615; and the trade was about to pass into the hands of the English, who had already been granted permission to settle at Surat by the Mughal governor in recognition of their superiority.<sup>2</sup> The object of Sir Thomas Roe's embassy was to make good the footing thus obtained and to secure the Indian trade to the English company by treaty with the Mughal. With these views, the ambassador betook himself to the imperial court at Ajmer, and opened negotiations. He proposed that the English should be allowed to establish factories at all ports of the Mughal empire, and particularly in Gujarāt, Bengal and Sindh; and to trade inland, free of transit tolls, on payment of an import duty of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on goods and 2 per cent. on treasure.<sup>1</sup> But the court of Jahāngīr held very different views. They knew nothing about treaties and ambassadors. The Mughal was absolute. It was his to grant trade privileges; it was his to annul them. The importance of Surat for the Mughal government arose from the fact that it was the port of departure for pilgrims to Mecca. The Portuguese were infidel idolaters whose piratical ways had greatly increased the dangers of the pilgrimage to the holy places. The English were infidels of another sort. It appeared that they were at once able to keep the Portuguese in check and willing to trade peaceably with the empire. Their agent, a well-educated well-mannered man, was soliciting for favours from the imperial throne. In these circumstances the court was naturally disposed to be indulgent. Sir Thomas Roe obtained, not a treaty or comprehensive grant of privileges such as he proposed, but a limited permission for the English to reside at Surat and trade in the country.<sup>2</sup> In other words, Roe completely failed in his negotiation. The few concessions obtained through him were insignificant in comparison with the time and money spent in obtaining them. The Old Company had learnt a lesson. Never again did it require the services of a royal ambassador. It was satisfied for the future to carry on its negotiations with Indian rulers for the extension of its trade through commercial agents.

As time passed and the English extended their settlements along both the coasts of India, they learned a second lesson. Towards the end of the seventeenth century the Mughal empire began to disintegrate. Local rulers in outlying parts of the empire found that the control of the central power was growing slacker and that they could do very much as they pleased. The more enterprising naturally began to plunder their neighbours, and the English found their trade impeded at every turn by vexatious exactions. Bitter experience showed them that no engagements and no orders were of avail against local lawlessness. They were therefore driven to the conclusion that they must protect themselves. They must break with the Mughal government and must seize and fortify suitable posts to be trade centres in the different parts of India. The company, therefore, renounced its former policy of peaceful trade, and adopted instead the policy advocated by Hedges and Charnock, and above all by the brothers Child, the policy of fortified settlements.<sup>1</sup>

The change, as we have seen, was announced in the year 1686. At first the new policy seemed to meet with little success. The English were forced to leave Bengal; their factories were seized at Surat, Masulipatam and Vizagapatam; and Bombay was attacked. But in the end the policy took effect. The wealth brought into the imperial treasury by the English trade was too valuable to lose, and the imperial government, always anxious for the safety of the pilgrim seaway to Mecca, was naturally eager to conciliate a naval power like the English and to secure their help in keeping the sea clear of pirates. When, therefore, Sir John Child solicited peace in December, 1689, the emperor was quite ready to grant it, though on apparently hard terms.<sup>2</sup> The English, having made submission and promised to pay a large fine, were ostensibly permitted to resume their former status of peaceful traders and no more. In reality, the English returned, not to resume their former status of peaceful traders, but to establish themselves in fortified settlements. It was the Mughal, not Sir John Child, who had actually submitted.

The Old Company had barely begun to enjoy the fruits of its late struggle when it was, as we have seen, confronted with a rival, the new English Company, and the recently adopted trade policy of establishing fortified settlements, or cautionary towns, was opposed by an alternative plan for establishing diplomatic relations with the Indian government by means of consuls and by the maintenance of an embassy at the imperial court. With these proposals the Old Company had no sympathy. They had tried a royal embassy once and it had proved a costly failure. They held with John Beard that a strong fortification was better than an ambassador.<sup>3</sup> But the idea had become a main pillar in the trade policy of the New Company.<sup>4</sup> Accordingly, the three Presidents sent out by the New Company to Bengal, Madras and Bombay, Sir Edward Littleton, John Pitt and Sir Nicholas Waite, were invested with consular powers, and William Norris M.P. for Liverpool was created a baronet and sent as the King's ambassador extraordinary to the Mughal on a salary of £2,000 a year to be paid by the New Company.<sup>1</sup>

Nothing could be more injudicious than the selection of these new representatives of England, nothing could be more disastrous than the results of their interference in India.<sup>2</sup> The three consuls were dismissed servants of the Old Company, faithless, incompetent and violent. The ambassador, though honest and able, was inexperienced, profuse and hasty.<sup>3</sup> Wherever the three consuls went they did nothing but stir up enmity, strife and confusion.<sup>4</sup> They made the most reckless and damaging accusations. Sir Nicholas Waite, even, had the folly to write to the emperor accusing the Old Company's servants, his fellow countrymen, of being thieves and confederates with pirates.<sup>5</sup> Thus the worst suspicions were aroused and the English fell everywhere into discredit. The wild accusations of Sir Nicholas Waite were the immediate cause of the ruin of the Old Company's establishments in Western India and of the failure of the embassy of Sir William Norris.

That conscientious but misguided man, as we have seen, listening to the foolish counsels of John Pitt, had at first chosen Masulipatam as his starting point, and landed there on September 25, 1699, on the same day of the same month that Sir Thomas Roe had landed in Surat, eighty four years before.<sup>6</sup> It was only after wasting large sums of money and months of valuable time that the ambassador found out his mistake. It was not till the end of 1700 that he reached Surat; it was not till January 26, 1701, that he set out for the Mughal's camp. At Burhānpūr he insulted the grand vizier of the empire, Asad Khān, by refusing to pay him a visit; at Panalla, which he reached in April, he was received by the wornout emperor with politeness but without enthusiasm.<sup>7</sup> His fine clothes and show of pomp, his titles of baronet and king's ambassador extraordinary made no impression upon the imperial court. For them he was merely an infidel, the wakil, or attorney, of a body of infidel merchants suing for trade privileges. The one point of interest to be determined was whether the infidel English were, like the infidel Portuguese, no better than pirates, or whether they could be utilized to police the sea and keep open the pilgrim way to Mecca. In an early letter to the emperor, before the arrival of the embassy, Sir Nicholas Waite had offered that the security of the Indian seas, which had hitherto been guaranteed jointly by the English, French and Dutch should be entrusted to the English alone who would undertake to suppress all piracy. Aurangzēb remembered this rash offer and when the embassy arrived, made the carrying of it into effect an indispensable condition to the granting of any rescripts or farmāns for trade.<sup>1</sup> Thus the whole negotiation was rendered abortive from the first, for it was absolutely impossible for the English company to give any such guarantee, and the burden of such an undertaking would have been absolutely ruinous. In vain did Norris negotiate and offer bribes. The imperial court knew its own mind. There were other European nations anxious to trade with India besides the English. There was another English company with which the emperor had long had relations. With so many competitors for imperial favour the bidding ought to be good. The new English company was much mistaken if it thought it would get its privileges for nothing. If the royal ambassador would not accept the condition of the seas, well, he knew the same way back to England that he came.

Out of patience and out of funds, Sir William Norris abruptly left the court in November, 1701. The results of his negotiations were disastrous. Already the English at Surat, together with Sir John Gayer, the president at Bombay, and his wife, had been arrested and imprisoned, and their goods confiscated. Now, ten days after the ambassador's abrupt departure, an imperial proclamation was issued ordering the goods and persons of the English to be everywhere seized, a blow which fell mainly on the New Company on the east side of India, where it had no fortified settlements such as Fort William or Fort St. George.<sup>2</sup> The ambassador himself was detained by the vizier at Burhānpūr for nearly three months. In the middle of 1703 he set sail for England, baffled and discredited, with health broken. He died at St. Helena of dysentery.<sup>3</sup> had been right in their views as to the proper way of protecting their trade, and the United East India Company accepted the policy of fortified settlements as the approved and established policy to be followed by the English in India. But fortified settlements cost money to keep up and must be supported by revenues. Consequently, the English had no sooner got their fortified settlements in Madras, Bengal, and Bombay than they began to consider whether they could not add to them a certain amount of the adjacent territory from which they might draw sufficient revenues for the upkeep of their fortresses. To do this they must needs approach the Mughal, for the land of India was his alone, and it was his to make grants of territory great or small.

The idea of sending an embassy to the Mughal court to secure such territorial concessions to the company first occurred to Governor Pitt.<sup>1</sup> In the year 1708, the emperor Shāh 'Ālam in the course of his quarrel with his brother Kām Bakhsh was drawn into Southern India and was thus brought comparatively near to Madras. It happened too that Governor Pitt was on very friendly terms with Ziāu-d-din Khān, the diwān of the country of Chināpatām, a nobleman of consideration and influence at court, whose uncle had been vizier and his father-in-law governor of Kashmir, and who himself had been promoted by 'Ālamgir and appointed deputy steward of the imperial household.<sup>2</sup> The moment, therefore, seemed opportune for sending an embassy. In 1708, letters on the subject passed between Pitt and Ziāu-d-din in which the wishes of the English were explained and their claims urged. During the first half of the year 1709 a sumptuous present was got ready, part of which was actually sent by sea to Masulipatam, intended for the king at Golconda. But after the defeat of Kām Bakhsh the king withdrew from the south, and in September Pitt was deprived of his office. Consequently the whole scheme dropped for the time,<sup>3</sup> and the present which Governor Pitt had got together was transferred to Calcutta.<sup>4</sup>

PREPARATIONS FOR THE EMBASSY.

In 1710, Zīāu-d-dīn Khān was sent to Bengal as governor of Hugli and admiral in the Bay, and negotiations for sending an embassy to the emperor were revived. At the request of the English Company Zīāu-d-dīn Khān wrote to Prince 'Azīmu-sh-shān, the nominal governor at Bengal, then with the emperor, asking him to procure from his father a farmān for the British trade and intimating that the English had got ready a present which they desired to forward to the imperial court. In May, 1711, the English president, John Russell, and three members of his council were summoned to Hugli to hear the prince's answer. The prince was an old friend of the English and appeared ready enough to procure the farmān, but he wanted details. How was the farmān to be worded, and what was the value of the gifts they offered in return? To serve their present need the prince was sending his nishān, or grant, to trade according to their former liberties, and Zīāu-d-dīn Khān wished to know how much they would give him for getting it. The English astutely replied that they would be better able to judge of the worth of the nishān when they had perused it. Neither were they prepared to reply definitely as to the provisions of the farmān till they heard from Surat and Fort St. George.<sup>1</sup> Meanwhile, in August, they wrote again to the prince reminding him of their expectations of obtaining a farmān through his favour and promising to send to the court their 'small and inconsiderable present.' But until they could be made so happy as to lay it at his feet, they asked for an injunction on the dīwān to abstain from molesting their trade.<sup>2</sup> In October, however, Zīāu-d-dīn Khān having been removed from the government of Hugli, they thought it best to come to terms with the dīwān (Murshid Quli Khān).<sup>3</sup> Towards the end of the year instructions were received from Madras explaining the requirements of that presidency.<sup>4</sup>

At the beginning of the year 1712, the present, which had been carefully revised, was lying, packed in boats, ready to go up the river, and the council was considering whom to send with it as ambassadors, when the news came that the emperor had died at Lahor.<sup>1</sup> The usual dynastic disputes followed. For a time the eldest son Jahāndār held the imperial power, and in July the English ventured to send him a letter explaining their intention of sending a present to Delhi and obtaining an imperial farmān. But, by the end of the year Jahāndār's course was run, and with the aid of the Sayyad brothers 'Abdu-llah and Husain 'Ali, his nephew Farrukhsiyar had seated himself on the peacock throne. Again the time seemed opportune for approaching the Mughal. Jahāndār had favoured the Dutch, whose embassy under Kettler, originally sent to Shāh 'Ālam, had, during his successor's short reign, obtained important concessions.<sup>2</sup> But Farrukhsiyar, like his father 'Aẓimu-sh-shān, was the traditional friend of the English in Bengal, who had sent him toys and presents as a boy, who had secured from his father the grant of the three villages of Sūtānuṭī, Calcutta and Govindpur, and who now hoped to secure from the son still larger concessions of territory and trade privileges. Accordingly, in March, 1713, the president and council at Calcutta wrote to the emperor, explaining that the present and the embassy were now ready to set out, and asking that orders should be sent to the local governors to convey them through the extent of their governments. They also referred to the obstructive action of the duwān, Murshid Qulī Khān, and asked for an imperial order ad interim to permit their business to go on as formerly.<sup>3</sup>

The English, however, did not at this time rely wholly on the reasonableness of their representations and the intercession of Zīāu-d-dīn Khān. They attempted to improve upon Governor Pitt's diplomatic methods. The Dutch, so it was said, had obtained their recent concessions from Jahāndār mainly through the instrumentality of certain Armenians at Delhi, and the English were resolved to do the same. They therefore allowed the great Armenian merchant at Calcutta, Khwājah Sarhād, to enter into private negotiations with the court through padre Daniel and various others of his fellow countrymen in Delhi. In so doing the English were ill-advised. Padre Daniel and his friends knew much better how to extract money from their credulous employers than how to win concessions from the Mughal government. They had no reputation and no influence. Their only skill was simple lying. Yet at first they seemed to succeed. Through their agency, letters were sent to the principal court officials, informing them that the English merchants had a present for his Majesty ready in Bengal, but were hesitating about sending it, as they were under serious apprehensions that they might fail in their suit to the imperial throne and their business might miscarry. They wished to have some security before they parted with their present, and requested an order for freedom of trade in Bengal. It was further represented that the Armenian merchant Khawājah Sarhād had the entire management of the present and could practically dispose of it as he pleased. He engaged to forward the present immediately and come with it himself if the order for freedom of trade were only granted.<sup>1</sup> These representations were crowned with an immediate and probably unexpected success. The mention of presents consisting of cloth, silks and brocades, fire-arms, spirits and perfumes, glassware, clockwork and other toys, appears to have aroused the curiosity of the imperial court, for in such matters Farrukhsiyar was little better than a child, and it appears to have been thought quite worth while to gratify the English at Calcutta with an order for freedom of trade, if only this wonderful present could be brought to Delhi.

Accordingly, in October, 1713, orders were received in Calcutta under the seal of Taqarrub Khān, the lord steward, directed to the governors of Bengal, Patna, Allahābād and Akbarābād ordering them to guard the present through their several governments till its arrival with the English embassy at court.<sup>2</sup> In January, 1714, a further order arrived from Delhi, forbidding Murshid Quli Khān to interfere with the English trade which was to pass with the same custom and privilege as in former days.<sup>3</sup> On the receipt of this last order, the council thought it politic to make great public rejoicings in Calcutta, and they now at length turned their serious attention to the sending of the long deferred embassy with their present to the Mughal.

On January 5, 1714, the council entered upon an anxious debate as to which of the Company's servants should be selected for sending to Delhi. A minority maintained that it would be disrespectful to the great Mughal if the head of the embassy were not a civil servant of high standing and a member of the council; but the majority, probably quite rightly, maintained that these distinctions of rank were nothing to the Mughal, who would regard even a peer of the greatest monarchy in Europe as infinitely beneath him, and, consequently, that it would suffice to leave the conduct of the embassy to a junior civil servant provided he was able and well qualified.<sup>1</sup> A second point of difficulty arose from the fact that none of the Company's servants appear to have had a sufficient mastery of the Persian language to conduct the negotiation unaided. Had the embassy been despatched from Madras, it had been intended to supply this defect by employing the great Italian traveller Manucci<sup>2</sup> But Manucci was now too old<sup>3</sup>, and it was hopeless to think of finding in Calcutta any European of similar abilities and qualifications. The only suitable person for the business was the Armenian merchant Khwājah Israel Sarhād, the nephew of the celebrated Khwājah Fanūs Kalāntar. Khwājah Sarhād had been for many years well acquainted with the English and their affairs.<sup>4</sup> He had been to England at one time with his uncle, and must have known something of the English language, though he was not able to read or write it.<sup>5</sup> He had been resident in Calcutta probably from its foundation. In 1697-8 he had taken a prominent part in the negotiations with Prince 'Azīmu-sh-shān which had resulted in the acquisition of the three villages of Calcutta, Sūtānuṭi, and Govindpur. At the same time he had become personally known to Farrukhsiyar, then a handsome boy of fourteen, fond of all kinds of games and physical exercises, and had made him presents of guns and toys.<sup>6</sup> The English were ready to believe that Khwājah Sarhād was still a persona grata to the emperor, and that it was at any rate partly for old acquaintance sake that he had already granted so favourable a reception to the representations made by Sarhād on behalf of the English. It is not surprising then that Khwājah Sarhād was given a place in the embassy; the appointment in fact must have seemed inevitable. Nevertheless, although the English were not at this time aware of the disreputable character of Sarhād's agents at Delhi and the dishonourable nature of their methods of negotiation, yet they seem to have had no high opinion of Sarhād's private character and to have distrusted him from the first. It was agreed that he would require careful watching and that the English members of the mission would have to keep one eye on the Mughal and the other on the Armenian.<sup>1</sup>

The terms agreed upon with Sarhād, under which he received his appointment to the embassy, are recorded in the consultation of January 27. First, if all the privileges the Company have at any time heretofore enjoyed in the Mughal's dominions be confirmed in the new farmān, and if he gets our bounds enlarged as far as we desire, that is, northward to near Barnagar, eastward to the lake, and southward to Kidderpur, and that the shore on the side of the river opposite to this place be also granted to us, also if he endeavour earnestly to get the grant of Divi Island near Masulipatam which the president and council at Madras desire may be obtained for that presidency, his reward is then to be fifty thousand rupees; but he is to have nothing if he fails in these points. Secondly, if he procures the privilege for our nation to trade custom free at Surat, which he will attempt, he is to have fifty thousand rupees more for that service; but, if he fails in that he is not to have the reward. He is nevertheless to endeavour to get the custom we pay at that port reduced to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.<sup>2</sup>

The Company's servants first nominated to the embassy were John Surman, chief, John Pratt, second, Edward Stephenson, third.<sup>3</sup> But, on January 27, the order was revised. Khwājah Sarhād was appointed second, John Pratt third, and Edward Stephenson secretary and accountant.<sup>4</sup> Finally, on March 4, as Pratt desired to be excused from proceeding to Delhi, Edward Stephenson was once more made third and Hugh Barker secretary in the negotiation at the Mughal's court.<sup>5</sup>

The members of the embassy, as thus finally constituted, presented some sharp contrasts of character. The selection of the chief seems to have been in every way happy. John Surman, if we may judge from the scanty notices we have left of him, was one of those men, none too common in the service of the Company at this time, who, like Charnock, preferred public interests to private, who were more intent on the establishment of the English trade and the English position in India than the building up of their own fortunes, a man of great ability and of great integrity, of strong passions and a strong will, a man, as the Indians say, of great heart.<sup>1</sup> Of middle class origin, born probably in London, the son of John Surman, coachmaker, and his wife Susanna, John Surman was elected a writer on December 20, 1706.<sup>2</sup> The usual age for candidates for the writership was 17 years, and we shall not err greatly if we assume this to have been Surman's age at the time. On December 23, the court accepted as his securities Henry Watts, citizen and innholder, and John Surman, citizen and coachbuilder, the young man's presumptive father. At the same time the newly elected writer was ordered to take passage on the Dutchess for the Bay of Bengal.<sup>3</sup> The Dutchess sailed on February 20, 1707,<sup>4</sup> and John Surman arrived writer in Bengal on August 19, 1707.<sup>5</sup> On January 30, 1710, he was sent to Patna,<sup>6</sup> and on April 19, 1712, though not out of his writership, was taken into the council at Patna as being 'very sufficiently qualified to give his advice and every way fit to assist in these troublesome times.'<sup>7</sup> How qualified to advise, how fit to take charge of the highest interests of the Company, the history of the embassy will the more clearly show.

The third in the negotiation, Edward Stephenson, was a character cast in a more ordinary mould. Honest and capable, no doubt, he was without that conspicuous ability and zeal for the public service which distinguish John Surman. He was content to do his duty and get rich quietly. Consequently he succeeded in satisfying his masters, retiring with a fortune to die many years afterwards in England at the age of 72, well off and highly respected.<sup>8</sup> Edward Stephenson was born in Cumberland in 1691, his baptism being recorded in the parish register of Crosthwaite on the 8th October of that year. His father was Edward Stephenson of Keswick. Through his mother Rebecca, he was connected with the Winders of Lorton and of the City of London. On November 3, 1708, the court of directors read a petition from Edward Stephenson, then seventeen years old, 'praying to be entertained a writer in the Bay or elsewhere,' and ordered the committee of accounts to examine the petitioner's qualifications.<sup>1</sup> On November 24, Edward Stephenson was elected a writer in the Company's service.<sup>2</sup> On December 17 following Mr. Samuel and Mr. Jonathan Winder were accepted as his securities.<sup>3</sup> He arrived writer in Bengal on February 2, 1710.<sup>4</sup> In the seventy-fifth paragraph of the general letter from Bengal to the court of directors Edward Stephenson was specially commended.<sup>5</sup> On this account he was advanced a year in service by the court and made a factor from February 2, 1714.<sup>6</sup> In the embassy he adequately supported his chief, but it is not likely that he could have ever replaced him.

The secretary, Hugh Barker, was in many ways the antithesis of John Surman. Well-connected and possessing in consequence some influence with the court of directors, he appears to have been an unprofitable servant of the Company, neglectful of its interests, using whatever abilities and opportunities he had solely for his own advantage. The court books show that Hugh Barker first petitioned to enter the Company's service on December 8, 1710.<sup>7</sup> He was elected writer on December 15,<sup>8</sup> and on December 22, Richard Barker of Great Horwood and Arthur Crabb of Alisbury were accepted as his securities.<sup>9</sup> He took his passage on the Aurengzebe<sup>10</sup> and arrived writer in Bengal on August 17, 1711.<sup>11</sup> During the negotiation, he seems to have discharged his duties satisfactorily under the supervision of Surman and Stephenson. It was subsequently, at Patna, that the defects in his moral character showed themselves, and the council was constrained to dismiss him from the service. Restored again through his influence with the directors, he returned to Bengal to pursue his evil ways as before, and 'met with a wretched end.'<sup>12</sup>

<sup>12</sup> This view of Barker's character is partly based on the notices of him in the records and partly on the first letter from Captain Fenwick on the Company's Affairs in Bengal found in the Orme Collections at the India Office. India VI. Of Surman, Fenwick says, 'He was a valuable man to them [i.e., the Company], and would have made Bengal flourish had he lived, but the Directors and a lady's cruelty in England hastened his death.'

One more appointment to the embassy remains to be noticed, the doctor, William Hamilton. Of his early history I have already written at length,<sup>1</sup> tracing his descent from the Hamiltons of Dalzell, and suggesting that he originally took service in 1709 on the Sherborne bound for India in the hopes of speedily making a fortune and returning to marry his cousin Anna. Of considerable ability, but wanting in decision and hopefulness, William Hamilton had well nigh brought his life to utter ruin when he deserted his ship at Cuddalore in May, 1711. His appointment to the embassy gave him an opportunity of retrieving his past, and he availed himself of it nobly.

During the first months of the year 1714, notes of preparation for Delhi are found in the Consultations book. Payments are recorded to John Burnell<sup>2</sup> for having 'with great care and ingenuity perfected a map of the world in two rounds six foot two inches diameter curiously embellished with gold and silver,' also to Mirzā Ibrāhīm<sup>3</sup> for writing the title and names of places in Persian. The clocks belonging to the present were so numerous that it was found necessary to send a clock-maker with them to the court<sup>4</sup> to take care of them and repair any damage that might happen in the way. Various additions were also thought of; at one time more silks and cloth, arms, clocks and toys;<sup>5</sup> at another time two japanned copper fountains and a double-barrelled gun;<sup>6</sup> and finally fifty more chests of Shirāz wine.<sup>7</sup> Allowances were made to Stephenson and Hamilton<sup>8</sup> to provide themselves with necessaries, and Rs. 5,000 were advanced to provide carpets, quilts and kitchen necessaries which could not be got at Patna or elsewhere.<sup>9</sup> The garrison was increased by fifty men so as to allow of a suitable escort of 300 men being sent with the boats.<sup>10</sup> On April 19, the soldiers were marched on board and the boats started on their way.<sup>11</sup> In May, the two royal macebearers arrived at Hugli with a gold dress of honour for the president and a silver one for Khwājah Sarhād, which were received in Calcutta on June 1 with a great public display and marks of rejoicing.<sup>1</sup>

The ambassadors received full instructions from Madras and Bombay as well as from Calcutta.<sup>2</sup> They took with them notes of the proceedings of Sir William Norris, and of the Dutch embassy to Shāh 'Ālam and Jahāndār under Kettler. They took with them the originals of the most important grants made to the English in Bengal. The final letter of instruction, dated May 13, 1714, is clear and full, giving us even a list of the servants allowed with their wages, including a trumpeter and six soldiers in decent habits to attend Mr. Surman. The different books to be kept by the embassy and its procedure were carefully specified. In case of Surman's death, it was ordered that Stephenson should succeed as chief. Four sets of goods separately listed were sent with the embassy. First, there were the goods and rarities comprised in the king's present valued at Rs. 1,02,472-11-4. Other goods valued at Rs. 1,08,248-11-3 were intended principally for presents to the court nobles, but could be used to supplement the imperial present, if necessary. Amongst these goods was included a stock of wine and other liquors. A third set of goods, valued at Rs. 29,958-4-0, consisted of cloth and other articles needed for the personal service of the embassy. Lastly the embassy took with it forty-seven bales of Bengal piece goods to sell on account of the merchants, Surman receiving 2 per cent., Sarhād 2 per cent., and Stephenson 1 per cent. of the proceeds. The embassy had been strictly forbidden to take merchants' goods from Patna to Delhi. The departure from the rule in the case of Calcutta was justified on the plea that it would save the exchange, as the money realised by the sale of the goods could be used to pay the current expenses of the embassy, while the merchants could be repaid in Calcutta.

CHAPTER III.

THE COURT OF FARRUKHSIYAR.

Before following the ambassadors to Patna and thence to Delhi, it will be convenient to take a brief survey of the condition of affairs at the Mughal court. As we have seen, Farrukhsiyar<sup>1</sup> had been raised to the throne through no merits of his. He owed his sudden elevation to the intercession of his mother, and to the attachment of the Sayyad brothers to his father's memory. Physically strong and handsome, he was intellectually weak and morally depraved. Accordingly, all his most noticeable characteristics are connected with his excellence of body.<sup>2</sup> He was naturally fond of wrestling, archery, hunting, horsemanship, polo-playing, and other soldierly exercises. He had an extraordinary fondness for horses. Several thousands of them, we are told, stood in his private stables, and a select number were tethered under the balcony of his sleeping room. He could call every horse and its syce by name, and noticed at once any change in a horse's condition. He was also fond of fine clothes, and liked to dress in gold embroidered raiment edged with gold lace.<sup>3</sup> Generally he was profuse and liberal in his living and expenditure. Such qualities recommended him at all times to the favour of the lower classes, and they would make him as a prince popular with his immediate companions. The English, we may be sure, were taken with his good looks and fondness for manly exercises. But such qualities were not sufficient for the master of a great empire. As a ruler Farrukhsiyar displayed nothing but weakness. Feeble in intellect, cowardly, false, and faithless, no one could either fear him or like him. On becoming emperor, there were two courses of action open to him with

reference to the Sayyad brothers, Abdullah Khān and Ḥusain 'Ali. Following the dictates of gratitude and prudence, he might have left these powerful ministers to pursue their own way, contenting himself with the outward show and the name of emperor. But, according to the customs of his day and country, Farrukhsīyar would have committed no exceptional crime, and would have displayed no extraordinary ingratitude, if he had turned upon the two Sayyad brothers as soon as he became king, and dismissed them, or even put them to death.<sup>1</sup> So had the great Akbar done; and so would Farrukhsīyar have done, had he been strong enough to follow the advice of the favourites who surrounded him, of whom the principal were Khān Daurān, Mīr Jumlah, and Taqarrub Khān.

Khwājah A'sim, Samshāmu-d-daulah, Khān Daurān, Bahādur, Manṣūr Jang, was the son of Khwājah Qāsim of Agra, his ancestors having emigrated from Badakhshān. He began life as a trooper in the regiment commanded by 'Aẓīmu-sh-shān, but when the prince went up to the court, Khwājah A'sim had remained in Bengal with Farrukhsīyar over whom he gained great influence. He was the companion of the young prince's amusements, wrestling, archery and the like. In the end he proved to be the evil genius of Farrukhsīyar and of Muḥammad Shāh after him. The other two favourites were men of much less importance. 'Ubaidullah, Mīr Jumlah, a native of Samarkand, born about 1670-71 had come to India in the reign of Aurangzēb. He was appointed qāzi, first at Dacca, and afterwards at Patna; and, while in Bengal, succeeded in ingratiating himself with 'Aẓīmu-sh-shān, and afterwards with Farrukhsīyar, who made him dārōghah of the khawās, or pages. Mīr Muḥammad Ja'far of Shīrāz, entitled Taqarrub Khān, was steward to Farrukhsīyar while a prince in Bengal and had shown himself friendly to the English. When Farrukhsīyar became emperor, Muḥammed Ja'far naturally became lord steward.<sup>2</sup>

Naturally, too, when Farrukhsīyar became emperor, the small group of men, who had known him from childhood, and who were on intimate terms with him, were anxious to get their full share of the loaves and fishes of office, and were aggrieved at seeing some of the most considerable appropriated by the Sayyads and their partisans. Afraid to take any open step, they gathered round Farrukhsīyar in secret and filled his ears with complaints and suspicions.

The result was that the emperor's relations with his two great supporters and most powerful ministers were from the first hopelessly prejudiced. Even before he arrived at Delhi, Farrukhsīyar had begun to look with suspicion on the Sayyads. He had no sooner agreed to the appointment of 'Abdullah as wazīr than he began to repent of it. Ḥusain 'Alī warned his brother that he judged from Farrukhsīyar's talk that he was a man who paid no regard to the claims of services rendered, a man void of faith, a breaker of his word and altogether without shame<sup>1</sup>. This singularly clear-sighted estimate of character was almost immediately confirmed by an open difference of opinion between the king and the wazīr. The king wished to make Chhabilah Rām diwān of the khālīṣah, and Afzal Khān, ṣadru-ṣ-ṣudūr. But the wazīr had already assigned these posts to Luṭfullah Khān and Amjad Khān, and fell into a violent passion at the idea of setting aside these appointments. A compromise was agreed upon allowing Luṭfullah to be dīwān, while Afzal Khān was made ṣadru-ṣ-ṣudūr, but the ill feeling between the emperor and the Sayyad brothers remained<sup>2</sup>.

Early in Farrukhsīyar's reign it was found necessary to proceed against the rājah of Jodhpur, Ajīt Singh, who had taken advantage of the late confusion to eject the imperial officers from his capital and prohibit the call to prayer. At first it was intended that the emperor should command in person. But he was not apparently in good health. Consequently the command was given to Ḥusain 'Alī, Khān Daurān being appointed to act as the deputy of Ḥusain 'Alī at court and second bakhshī<sup>3</sup>. Ḥusain 'Alī left Delhi in December, 1713, and vigorously attacked the rājah's forces during the first months of 1714<sup>4</sup>. At last Ajīt Singh was constrained to come to terms; and agreed to give one of his daughters in marriage to the emperor, and to allow his son to accompany Ḥusain 'Alī to the court promising to attend himself also when summoned<sup>5</sup>.

Meanwhile 'Abdullah, the wazīr, immersed in pleasure at Delhi, left all business matters to his deputy Ratn Chand; and the emperor renewed his plots to destroy the two Sayyads. For the moment all real power passed into the hands of the favourite Mir Jumlah, but in July, at the request of his brother, Ḥusain 'Alī returned to Delhi, and the emperor's plots all came to nothing.<sup>1</sup> Towards the end of the year 1714 a pretended reconciliation was effected between the emperor and the two Sayyads<sup>2</sup>. In December, Mīr Jumlah was sent away to be governor of Bihār<sup>3</sup>. Ḥusain 'Alī also took leave on his appointment as governor of the Deccan, but he does not appear to have actually started till the end of March, 1715. He left, threatening to return in twenty days if his brother were annoyed or Mīr Jumlah recalled<sup>4</sup>. He had hardly departed when Dāūd Khān was appointed to Burhānpur, one of the Deccan governments, with secret instructions from the court to resist Ḥusain 'Alī and kill him if possible<sup>5</sup>.

Such were Farrukhsiyar's devices to get rid of his too powerful minister Ḥusain 'Alī. Against his wazīr, 'Abdullah, he continued to devise abortive plots, and to solicit support from any noble or official whom he supposed likely to help him. His favourite device, however, was to assemble suddenly a band of followers and with them to rove about in the neighbourhood of the capital, ostensibly for the purpose of hunting, but really, it would seem, in the hope of somehow surprising the wazīr and seizing his person. But the wazīr, though lethargic and careless, was not altogether so neglectful of what was passing as to be taken unawares by Farrukhsiyar.

CHAPTER IV.

PROCEEDINGS AT PATNA.

The Surman diary opens on August 15, 1714, at Patna, where the English embassy were waiting for the arrival of the promised escort from the king to go with them to Delhi. The present was by this time gathered together, filling every available corner of the Patna factory besides several small houses hired to receive it. On September 1, Surman, Stephenson, Barker, and Hamilton, with all their belongings, removed to a separate residence of their own, where they not only enjoyed greater dignity and freedom of action, but were also better able to take stock of their extensive collections.<sup>1</sup> Towards the middle of October they were joined by Khawājah Sarhād.<sup>2</sup> Very little was left to complete the present. A few alterations in the shape of the flint-ware, a few cut-glass bottles and cases, a few silver pots and pans, candlesticks and maces,<sup>3</sup> and there it stood ready for transport, cloths and silkstuffs, spirits and perfumes, crockery and cutlery, fire-arms and cannons, sixty tons of delights for the Mughal and his court.<sup>4</sup>

The modern traveller from Patna to Delhi makes the journey with perfect ease in less than twenty-four hours, and, even if he should wish to bring with him a ship-load of luggage, the time of transport would hardly exceed a week. The embassy to Farrukhsiyar with a far smaller burden could not reach the capital in less than ten months. Of these it took three to drag its slow length along the imperial road; the other seven were spent in preparations to start, preparations required for safety no less than honour.

The ambassadors thought it necessary to wear the finest clothes procurable and to provide themselves with silver plated palanquins.<sup>5</sup> Their servants were decked with handsome liveries, and many of their retinue were carried in litters. Before Mr. John Surman, as chief of the embassy, were borne two flags displaying the Union Jack, and the same honour was allowed to Khawajah Sarhad as principal agent and interpreter.<sup>1</sup> Two sets of tents were bought, one for present use, and one for sending on a stage in advance to be ready for the next day.<sup>2</sup> No less than a hundred and sixty bullock-wagons, each creaking beneath a load of more than half a ton, were required for the whole stock of their goods,<sup>3</sup> which, in addition to the king's present, included a large consignment of private merchandise.<sup>4</sup> For their other transport there were fifteen camels, ten carts, and twenty-two oxen to tug the guns.<sup>5</sup> A still larger retinue of servants followed the embassy, including a trumpeter and six soldiers, a clockmaker, four smiths, ten carpenters, thirty spademen and twelve hundred porters, besides wagoners and drivers.<sup>6</sup>

The safeguarding of so rich a convoy could not but be a matter of the greatest anxiety to Surman and his colleagues. Owing to the dissolution of the Mughal rule, and the consequent carelessness or weakness of every one in authority, bands of armed robbers infested every road and every province of the empire. The Ujainis, who harboured in the hills to the south of Gaya, were the dread of travellers from Patna to Benares.<sup>7</sup> Mewattis lurked in the ravines on the road between Mūsānagar and Agra;<sup>8</sup> and rebellious Jāts plundered pilgrims on their way to Mathura, seizing and holding townships close to the imperial capital itself.<sup>9</sup>

It was in inducing the Mughal court to provide for the safe conduct of the present that the English achieved their first diplomatic successes. Already, as we have seen, in October, 1713, orders on the subject had been received in Calcutta from Delhi, requiring all the local governors to guard the treasure [through their several governments].<sup>10</sup> The orders received in Patna a year later went a good deal further. As early as September it was reported that the king had decided to send an escort for the present. In October definite information reached Patna that his majesty had commanded a chela of the court with a mace-bearer to go with the ambassadors, and had sent instructions to the governors and diwāns of every province on the road to defray their travelling expenses.<sup>1</sup> At the end of the month the chela and two mace-bearers arrived at Patna with the emperor's orders.<sup>2</sup>

The concession of the travelling expenses of the embassy was said to be due to the influence of the grandees at court who were friends of Khawājah Sarhād. But, according to Surman and Stephenson, Khawājah Sarhād had no friendship, and at this time hardly any acquaintance, with any of the court grandees. His only connections were with padre Daniel and a few other disreputable Armenians.<sup>3</sup> These men, acting presumably on the instructions of Sarhād, and fortified by promises of large sums of English money, began to make a great noise in the city during the last months of the year 1713. Padre Daniel did not scruple to declare that the English present was worth fifteen or even thirty lacs of rupees.<sup>4</sup> At the end of the year, when Husain 'Ali left Delhi to go against Ajit Singh and the court favourites made their effort to seize command of the government, Khān Daurān thought he would do something to please the king and show his ability. It occurred to him that it would be a good thing if he could get the credit of introducing an embassy with so rich a present to Delhi. He therefore enquired of the Armenians, through his follower Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, whether the present was really of such great value. A written declaration was handed in to the lord steward's office that the present amounted in value to fifteen lacs of rupees, and a large bribe was given to old Ṣalābat Khān. In this way Khān Daurān was convinced that the present was really a matter of great importance and induced the emperor to grant the payment of the travelling expenses of the embassy.<sup>5</sup>

It is clear that wholesale lying of this description, though it might secure temporary advantages to the English embassy, would in the end bring it into complete discredit; and, even as it was, the advantages secured were not so great as they seemed. On October 29, when the chela actually reached Patna bringing the royal orders to the governor, the diwān, and the bugutāt, the first two officials were absent from the city<sup>6</sup> and the third began to raise objections. The list of wagons and porters presented to him for sanction was stamped with the sign mark of John Surman, whereas the king's order referred to Khwajah Sarhād.<sup>1</sup> When this difficulty was removed, alterations were proposed in the number and size of the wagons asked for.<sup>2</sup> A few days later, the diwān in his interview with Sarhād demanded a detailed account of the goods to be carried, and objected to providing wagons or porters for any merchandise which did not form part of the present<sup>3</sup>. At first Sarhād consented to strike off sixty wagons and three hundred porters from the list<sup>4</sup>, but on reflection he decided that it would be better to ask the king's officers to provide for the whole of the transport.<sup>5</sup> Meanwhile the diwān and the buyutāt were disputing as to who should pay the bill and at the same time objecting that the embassy 'was in no readiness to proceed'.<sup>6</sup> Upon this they were told that the embassy would certainly start on January 11, 1715, and, accordingly, on that day Surman and his followers left the city and went to their tents under an escort of two hundred horsemen<sup>7</sup>. But they were not yet to proceed. The nabob Ghairat Khān, being a Bārhaḥ Sayyad, nearly related to the wazīr, was not likely to forward any business set on foot by Khān Daurān, or supposed to redound to that noble's credit at Court. He therefore now raised objections, urging that as he himself was about to leave the government of Bihār, having been replaced by Mir Jumlah, he could not take the responsibility of allowing either the imperial treasure or the embassy to proceed to Delhi.<sup>8</sup> After six weeks of disputes, he consented to pass orders for its dispatch.<sup>9</sup> Two months' pay was given for the porters, and an escort of two hundred horse promised, which eventually dwindled down to fifty horse and fifty foot.<sup>10</sup>

The English, impatient at these numerous delays, were content to go on any terms. For the first part of the way they felt tolerably safe. A judicious letter and presents of cloth, fire-arms, and other useful articles of western manufacture had been sent to Sidisht <sup>4</sup> He originally asked for 160 wagons, see Diary 8. From this it may be inferred that only a hundred wagons were required for the Company's presents. Again, at p. 33 of the Diary, the merchants' goods overladen are reckoned to weigh 910 mans. This is practically fifty-seven wagons of 16 mans each.

Nārāyan, the new chief of the Ujainiyah clan, who, with 14,000 horse and 80,000 foot, held command of all the way to Sassaran, and he had in return assured both the nabob and the English that he would not touch the king's present.<sup>1</sup> It seemed needless to wait for any further escort or any more money from the nabob. The English therefore gave advances to their retinue and on March 3 arrived at Naubatpur, a closely built town some fifteen miles to the south-west of Patna.

But here fresh circumstances arose to cause delay. Already, on more than one occasion, Khawājah Sarhād had exhibited a disposition to assert his authority over the whole course of the negotiations. He now refused to leave Patna and join his colleagues, professing to be still negotiating for an escort, as he was afraid of the bandits on the road, and to be still in expectation of obtaining further advances from the king's officers. The English attributed all this to sheer perversity and entered a protest against their colleague for his delays.<sup>2</sup> But in the expectation of further advances time proved Sarhād to be right, and the English might have inferred as much from the obvious embarrassment which Sarhād's persistency caused the nabob, who thought that he had got rid of the embassy cheaply and was consequently extremely angry at finding them still on his hands. The deputy of the buyutāt was ordered to go out in haste and speed the parting merchants. Sarhād instigated the king's chela and the two mace-bearers to stop him, but he escaped them and arrived at Naubatpur on March 22. Close at his heels came Khawājah Sarhād.<sup>4</sup>

At the consultation held next day, March 23, Sarhād produced a letter from padre Daniel at Delhi, which might well have given rise to misgivings in the minds of the ambassadors.<sup>5</sup> The English, though as yet they knew it not, had been misdirected from the first by their Armenian agents and had begun their negotiations at Delhi upon altogether wrong lines. Like Jugurtha at Rome, they thought that at Delhi everything was for sale. But the high officers of the Mughal government, though not averse to receiving presents, as the custom was, were not easily to be bribed into disregarding the interests of the state. The Mughal government itself, too, was complicated, and, after its kind highly developed. It was split up into numerous departments each having its own sphere, guided by rulings and precedents, and by state maxims and political doctrines of its own. The great offices of the government were at this time held by the Sayyad brothers, 'Abdullah Khān, Qutbu-l-Mulk, the wazīr, and Husain 'Alī, Amīru-l-umarā, the chief bakhshī. These men and their followers were the real substantial rulers of India; beside them Farrukhsiyar, and his favourites, Khān Daurān and Mīr Jumlah, were mere shadows. The English were seeking to obtain farmāns, or imperial rescripts; and it was a settled rule of the Mughal government that all applications for farmāns must be made through the wazīr. The present wazīr, 'Abdullah Khān, was all powerful in the state and was decidedly friendly to the English. Why then did they not address themselves to 'Abdullah Khān, the wazīr, who alone could get them what they wanted? Why did they instead go to Khān Daurān and his worn-out old follower Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān? Khān Daurān it is true was the favourite of the emperor, but as a man he was vain, silly, and weak; and as an official he was but the subordinate of Husain 'Alī. He had no special interest in the English. If he consented to be their patron and to introduce their embassy, it was for the purely selfish object of gaining a little favour with the emperor by bringing something new to amuse him. But the English ambassadors knew nothing of all this. Their ideas of the Mughal government were derived from their Armenian agents, whose ideas were in turn derived from the merchants and shopkeepers in Delhi. Ignorant people seem always unwilling to believe that government is guided by settled principles. They prefer to suppose that bribery and personal influence can carry any measure. Farrukhsiyar and his favourites with their profuse expenditure were at all times popular with the common people, who would naturally exaggerate the influence of a man like Khān Daurān. The English ambassadors at the beginning undoubtedly had their full share of these illusions, and the process of their disillusionment was slow and painful. It began, or should have begun, with this letter of padre Daniel.

The main object of the letter was to deter the English from having any communications with their old friend Ziāu-d-dīn Khān or with the wazīr. Their only friends and patrons were to be Khān Daurān and Ṣalābat Khān; and these persons could be approached only through friendly Armenians. Padre Daniel appealed to his former successes in confirmation of his statements. He was the real friend of the English. When their enemies had said it was not worth while spending a lac of rupees for a present worth two lacs, he had magnified the value of the present and declared it to be worth from ten to fifteen lacs. No elohi had ever been granted such favours since Tamerlané. But his efforts would be of no effect if the English began to write to Ziâu-d-dîn Khân and Monsieur Martin, the king's doctor, as John Surmân had already done. Instead of this they ought to write letters of thanks to his friends, the grandees at court, who had already done so much.<sup>1</sup>

Whatever else might have been gathered from this letter, it might certainly have been inferred that Daniel was a man with no regard for the truth, and it might have been considered whether such an one was fit to be entrusted with the honour and interests of the English at Delhi. But the English in reply were content to say that Daniel was misinformed in supposing that they had entered into negotiations with any other parties, and that they would write to Khân Daurân and Şalâbat Khân. At the same time, they pointed out that he was altogether wrong in asserting that the present amounted to ten or fifteen lacs of rupees, and that such statements were highly improper in the king's darbâr.<sup>2</sup>

After spending a few days at Naubatpur, Khawâjah Sarhad returned to Patna, and renewed his negotiations to obtain a further advance of money, negotiations in which he at last succeeded.

CHAPTER V.

THE JOURNEY TO DELHI.

Delay breeds delay. Whilst Sarhād was negotiating in Patna fresh obstacles sprang up at Naubatpur. The wagoners and porters hired for the three months' journey to Delhi were to be paid in advance by instalments. In accordance with this arrangement, two months' pay had been given to the porters at the beginning of March, and a further sum of two thousand rupees had been made over to the embassy which was to be paid to them on reaching Allahābād<sup>1</sup>. Owing to Sarhād's protracted negotiations, the beginning of April found the embassy still at Naubatpur, and the porters, seeing that they would be required to undertake a two months' journey with only one month's pay in hand, not unnaturally grew mutinous, and demanded a further advance of money. The hardship of the wagoners was still more real. Five months ago, the embassy had decided to hire wagons<sup>2</sup>. A month later, it had begun to load the goods<sup>3</sup>. Then it had declared that the journey and the payment of wages should begin from January 11; but in February the wagons still stood laden with goods, many of them rotting in the rain.<sup>4</sup> It is therefore not surprising that, when the deputy of the buyutāi arrived at the end of March, and tendered them an advance of two months' pay, their patience gave way, and they demanded compensation for the past demurrage, and for the extra loads of private merchandise with which the English had burdened the wagons. It was not till after a good deal of discussion that the deputy of the buyutāi was able to arrive at a satisfactory settlement of these claims. The English agreed to pay the wagoners for all excess weight of merchandise, at the rate of three hundred rupees a ton, and gave them a promissory note for the demurrage due from their first decampment.<sup>5</sup> The porters were induced to give an obligation to proceed, on being lent twenty four thousand rupees, and receiving a promise of twenty thousand rupees at Allahābād, which was to be reached in forty-eight days.<sup>6</sup>

On April 7, the long caravan left Naubatpur,<sup>1</sup> and moved along the road to the south-west, which skirts the eastern bank of the Son river, the golden Eranobas of the Greeks. In addition to the escort provided by the government and a small body of European soldiers, the English had taken into their service fifty horse and four hundred foot<sup>2</sup>. They had also, as has been said, done their best to propitiate their local Fra Diavolo, Sidisht Nārāyan. For these reasons, or else because the attention of the Ujainis was engaged in other matters, the embassy proceeded on its way unmolested.

On April 14, they reached Ghatauli,<sup>3</sup> a village standing on the bank of the Son, some two miles north of the point where it is crossed by the grand trunk road. On April 17, Khwājah Sarhād joined the embassy. He had been fairly successful in his negotiations, and had brought with him nearly ten thousand rupees. He had also been to the camp of Mīr Jumlah, the discredited court favourite who had come to take over the government of Patna, and Mīr Jumlah had given him a letter to Khān Daurān, and had said that he had also written to the king on behalf of the English. With Sarhād had come the mihmāndār, a hundred horse and a hundred foot. But Sarhād did not think it safe to proceed even with this additional escort, and it was resolved to make an attempt to gain the protection of Ghairat Khān, the returning ex-governor of Patna, at any rate as far as Benares<sup>4</sup>.

On April 21, the Son was crossed, and their feet were set on the great highway leading from Bengal to the north-west<sup>5</sup>. At Sasseram, not far from the road, the lion king who made it lay buried in his island tomb. A little further on were the tents of Mīr Jumlah. But the English preferred the living dog to the dead lion, and, while they hurried past Sasseram, deemed it 'an absolute necessity' to visit Mīr Jumlah in a body, and gratify him and his officers with costly gifts<sup>6</sup>.

On May day, the travellers reached the Karmnāsā, the boundary between the provinces of Allahabad and Bihār, a polluting river, abhorred by pious Hindus, which destroys the merit of all good works. The guilty king, Trisanka, so runs the legend, who tried to make himself equal with the gods, hangs, head downwards, between earth and heaven, above the stream, and taints its waters with the foul drops, which fall from him in his torment. Fortunately, at this time of the year, the bed of the river would be nearly dry, so that the most orthodox might well cross it without wetting their feet. A single day sufficed for the passage; and, on May 4, the caravan arrived at the banks of the Ganges, over against Benares.<sup>1</sup>

Viewed from the spot where they stood, the sacred city is a picturesque and imposing spectacle. The lofty cliff overhanging the curving river, crowned for three or four miles with temples and palaces, the varied flights of massive steps descending to the sacred stream, the thronging multitudes of worshippers, all combine to form a delightful and fascinating picture of surpassing loveliness. What emotions might we not expect the English ambassadors to feel on beholding for the first time one of the most beautiful of the many beautiful cities of the north-west! But, if they felt them, they certainly kept their feelings to themselves. The entries in the diary are most prosaic and businesslike. For four days, or more, they were ferrying over their goods. On May 8, a prodigious storm of wind and rain did some damage. On May 9, they passed the city of Benares<sup>2</sup>.

Somewhere about Benares the embassy seems to have fallen in with Ghairat Khān, the late governor of Patna, whose place had been taken by Mir Jumlah. The English travelled for many days in his company; but, at Allahābād, finding the rate of progress rather too slow, they respectfully took leave of his honour, and resolved once more to go on their way alone<sup>3</sup>. Ghairat Khān was anxious to keep them with him, in order that he might have the credit of bringing the present safe to Delhi, and it was not without some difficulty that they were able to leave Allahābād. At the instigation of Ghairat Khān, differences once again arose between the embassy and its servants. On May 22, the porters, discontented with the scanty allowance given them by the government, set upon Khwājah Sarhād, pelting him with stones, and were only pacified by receiving a donative of thirty-six thousand rupees from Mr. Surman.<sup>4</sup> On May 25, when the embassy had got beyond the city of Allahābād, the wagoners refused to proceed any further, and began to desert their wagons. They demanded the immediate payment of the demurrage promised them, amounting to Rs. 1,970 for 56 days, and Surman was again forced to relax his purse strings<sup>5</sup>.

For more than a week the caravan proceeded smoothly and contentedly over the hot tongue of land, to the west of Allahabad, till, on June 6, it reached Mūsānagar, an ancient town standing on the banks of the Jumna, not far from its confluence with the Sengar.<sup>1</sup> In the neighbourhood of these two large streams the country becomes wild and rugged. Here, according to the old proverb, many a battle and many a kingdom have been lost and won; and the deep ravines, now the haunt of the deer and the leopard, were in the times of Farrukhsiyar the lurking places of predatory races, thieves, and cattle-lifters. The whole road to Agra, it is said, was infested with Mewātis, and it was not until the English had reinforced their armed escort with an additional party of forty-five foot soldiers that they allowed their lengthy caravan to pass over the great five-arched bridge which spans the Sengar at Chaparghaṭṭa.<sup>2</sup> Good fortune still attended them; and, on June 16, they reached I'timādpur, twelve miles from Agra, without having met anything worse than a storm of rain.<sup>3</sup> The founder of the town, I'timād Khān, the servant of Akbar, lay buried here, and beyond the camping ground, near the road, was the great reservoir of water which he constructed. The rustics call it the old woman's pond, and still tell how, in the troubled days that are past, an ancient witch would crouch on its south-west side, watching for unwary travellers, ready to give the signal for attack, if she thought them an easy prey. On this occasion the witch could not have been at her post, or her judgment failed her. One robber came to the camp; but the English killed him.

On June 17, the embassy reached Rājghāt, over against the red fort of Akbar, and received the news that Queen Anne was dead. They proclaimed King George with due ceremony, and crossed the river to Agra<sup>4</sup>. To the modern traveller the road from this point onwards to Delhi is full of charm and interest. Passing by the splendid pyramid-like tomb of the greatest of the Mughals, in two marches you reach the sacred city of Mathurā, rich in Buddhist and Hindu antiquities; from whence a magnificent and almost unbroken canopy of over-arching boughs stretches for thirty miles towards the imperial city. But for the earlier travellers the journey was cheerless and uninteresting, and the country a howling wilderness, overrun with marauding Jāts. At intervals, massive, fort-like hostelries with battlemented walls, flanking turrets, and high arched gateways, offered shelter from the dangers of the night. But, with all these means of defence, the road was never safe for a force of less than five hundred, and it is on record that, in the days of Jahāngir, a caravan waited for six weeks in Mathurā, gathering strength to proceed. On June 27, while the English lay at Chaumuha,<sup>1</sup> one of the five cities of refuge on the way to Delhi, gangs of armed robbers attacked the camp three times in the night, but were beaten off, with the loss of five men wounded. On July 3, the embassy was at Farīdābād, a small town sixteen miles southwest of Delhi, and were met by padre Stephanus, who brought dresses of honour from the king, one for Surman, and one for Sarhād.<sup>2</sup> The next day, they reached the great bridge of eleven arches to the south of Humayun's tomb, and 'prepared' for their 'entry.'<sup>3</sup>

The Dutch embassy to Bahādur Shāh, in 1711, had entered Lahor with much state, and the English ambassadors were similarly anxious to 'aggrandise their first appearance'. They wished to be creditably received by some high functionary, and to be allowed to visit the king before proceeding to the house which had been prepared for their entertainment, and in these respects their wishes were gratified. A captain of two thousand, bringing with him two elephants and flags, escorted them to the city with two hundred horse and foot and a noise of drums and trump. At the outward gate, they were met by Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, whose guests they were to be, by whom they were conducted to the imperial palace. On the way, in order to create a favourable impression, they scattered handfuls of money in the streets. At the palace, they were presented to their great friend Khān Daurān. About noon, the emperor showed himself in the hall of audience, and the English, introduced by their patron Khān Daurān, presented his majesty with Governor Hedges's letter, and with their first offering of rare and costly things, a thousand and one pieces of gold, a table clock set with precious stones, a unicorn's horn, a gold escritoire, a large piece of ambergris, a silver ewer and basin, and a map of the world. The king, in return, invested Surman with a robe of gold zarbaft and a jewelled plume, and Sarhād with an equally rich dress and dagger. Then the ambassadors withdrew to their own quarters, where Ṣalābat Khān entertained them with a great dinner and afterwards visited them in the evening.<sup>4</sup>

CHAPTER VI.

FARRUKHSIYAR CURED BY HAMILTON.

All this was well enough: but the false position in which the English had been placed by their Armenian representatives now began to make itself felt. According to the established etiquette of the Mughal court, the person next to be visited after the king was the wazir, and the ambassadors had further strong reasons for doing so, in as much as he was not merely an all-powerful minister, but was also well disposed to the English, and the only proper channel through which requests for farmāns could be made. But their Armenian advisers, with that preference for backstairs influence and irregular procedure which characterises the lower classes, entirely misrepresented the state of affairs at Delhi, maintaining that the wazir was only titular<sup>1</sup> and that the executive power lay chiefly with Khān Daurān, the deputy bakhshī. The English ambassadors accordingly considered themselves bound to invert the correct order of their visits of ceremony, and agreed to deliberately insult the chief personage in the state by first visiting his younger brother's deputy, Khān Daurān, and afterwards the wazir' the high steward, and their old friend Ziāu-d-dīn Khān.<sup>2</sup>

But if the English ambassadors supposed that through the singular influence of Khān Daurān their negotiations would be speedily brought to a favourable conclusion, the events which almost immediately followed their arrival should have begun to open their eyes. Scarcely had they been a week in Delhi, when the restless Farrukhsīyar took it into his head to go on one of his many expeditions, and to wander forth from the city upon the northern road.<sup>3</sup> At first he declared that he was going to worship at a local shrine; then he pretended that he was on his way to Ajmer, or Lāhor.<sup>4</sup> The ambassadors, alarmed at the prospect of another toilsome march, in the train of the Mughal, determined to give the greater portion of their present at once. The king, however, changed his mind. He merely intended to go to Pānīpat to pray at the tomb of Bū-'Alī Qalandar, and he sent back the English clocks to keep in good order till his return to the city.<sup>1</sup> In these circumstances, the ambassadors sent their tents to join the imperial camp, concluding 'that it was necessary to attend his majesty in the journey,'<sup>2</sup> and were rewarded during the next three weeks with numerous opportunities of making their obeisance to the king on the road.<sup>3</sup>

It is clear, from their correspondence at this time, that the king was not thinking about them. 'We now continue in the camp,' they write on August 4,<sup>4</sup> 'leaving Mr. Stephenson and Mr. Philips to take care of what goods remain in the city, and, in case that the king should proceed farther, that they concert measures to bring the goods after us. We are in this interval preparing petitions to be delivered to his Majesty, hoping we shall do something for our honourable masters that has not been yet obtained. The patronage and management of this negotiation is in the hands of the greatest favourite at court Khān Daurān, and under him of Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, withal we being no ways unmindful of our old friend Zīāu-d-dīn Khān, without whose advice we enter upon nothing. But he being at present in a low station is not able to obtain the king's ear. However we are satisfied that, whatever lies in his power, he does and will assist us, but particularly in the wazīr's darbār.

'Ḥusain 'Alī Khān Bahādur, Amīru-l-umarā, is lately gone into the Deccan country, having the entire command of all that part of this kingdom. Your Honour and Council have doubtless heard how great he has made himself, even to vie with the commands of his Majesty, as lately appeared in the disputes between himself and Mīr Jumlah, whilst at court, when he obliged his antagonist, contrary to the king's desires, to remove from the Court to Patna, where by the interest of Amīru-l-umarā, and his own mismanagement, he is quite ruined.'

'We have advices here,' they continue at the end of the month,<sup>5</sup> 'that Ḥusain 'Alī Khān and Dāūd Khān are come to a rupture in Burhānpur, so that it's likely a battle will ensue, the latter having engaged many of the Deccan country to his party. It's whispered at this court that this is a design laid to involve Husain 'Alī Khān in trouble and retrench his grandeur which of late has not been very pleasing.'

'The king proceeding no further than Pānīpat, returned to the city on the 18th instant; but, being a little disordered in his health, has not made any public appearance, so that we have not had an opportunity to deliver the remaining part of our present, or commence our negotiation.'

A letter, dated October 6, gives the conclusion of the contest in the Deccan.<sup>1</sup> 'Your Honour and Council will have heard of the death of Dāūd Khān in Deccan, slain in a battle with Amīru-l-umarā. This has given a great deal of uneasiness to this court, it being quite otherwise laid by the king and his favourites; and that which was designed for Amīru-l-umarā's ruin has proved a great addition to his former glories. The king at first seemed to resent it to his brother [the wazīr], who not taking it so patiently as he expected, he has altered his resolution to sending Ḥusain 'Alī Khān a sar-ō-pā and other marks of favour.'

If the English were not beginning to see the necessity of conciliating the wazīr, they must have been blind indeed to the signs of the times.

From his accession, Farrukhsīyar seems to have been in indifferent health, and it has been suggested that physical debility and degeneration may account in part for the weakness of mind and character which he displayed as a ruler.<sup>2</sup> However that may be, towards the end of the year 1715, the emperor's complaints reached a climax, which produced unexpected consequences for the English mission. For some time past, Hamilton, the doctor to the embassy, had been in request at the Mughal's camp and court. At first he was ordered to 'give physie' to the high steward,<sup>3</sup> with whom he took up his residence,<sup>4</sup> but whose distemper he pronounced incurable.<sup>5</sup> In August, on his return to Delhi, the king was found to be suffering from swellings in the groin and put himself in Hamilton's hands with the most beneficial results.<sup>1</sup> In a few weeks time, he was sufficiently recovered to be married to the Jodhpur princess, the daughter of Ajit Singh. The young bride should have been brought to the court in the year 1714 by Husain 'Alī, but he had not been able to remain long enough in Rājputānah to do so. In May, 1715, when Husain 'Alī had set out for the Deccan, the emperor's maternal uncle, Shāistah Khān, had been sent to bring the princess from Jodhpur, and arrived with her on September 13. She was conducted to the house of Husain 'Alī where she was treated as if she had been his own daughter, and, in the absence of Husain 'Alī himself, preparations for the wedding were at once made by his brother, the wazīr. Four days later, the emperor repaired to the house of the wazīr, where the princess was admitted to the Moslem faith, and the marriage rite was celebrated by Shariyat Khān, the chief qāzī.<sup>2</sup>

But, at this point, further ceremonies and rejoicings were stayed by the renewed indisposition of the emperor, and recourse was again had to the English treatment which had before proved so satisfactory. On October 3, the empress—mother herself sent for Dr. Hamilton, and, with Khawājah Sarhād to interpret, a long conference was held on the subject of his Majesty's health.<sup>3</sup> This time the king was suffering from a violent pain which he feared would turn to fistula. The disease, whatever it was, taxed all Hamilton's skill for nearly two months, during which he was doubtless exposed to much misrepresentation and jealousy. The introduction of a new physician could not have been pleasing to the king's French doctor Monsieur Martin, or to the Hindu and Muhammadan practitioners at the court, and it seems to have excited the suspicions of the populace. On one occasion, as Hamilton was 'coming from the fort at night, his head was cut with a pebble, of which the king being informed, he ordered search to be made for the offender and gave the doctor people for his protection.<sup>4</sup> On another occasion, in consequence of a rumour that the king had died under the surgeon's hands, the house of the English ambassadors is said to have been surrounded by an angry mob, who were only to be appeased by Farrukhsīyar's showing himself from a gallery of the palace.<sup>5</sup> At length on November 20, all the plasters having been removed, the king washed himself, and received the congratulations of the whole court.<sup>1</sup> A week later, he publicly presented Hamilton with a jewelled plume, a vest, two diamond rings, an elephant, horse and five thousand rupees. 'His Majesty further, ordered buttons for a whole suit of clothes to be made of gold, and set with diamonds, and rubies, as also the handles of all his small instruments of solid gold. Khwājāh Sarhād, having been very assistant during the king's illness, as interpreter received a vest and an elephant.'<sup>2</sup> Three days afterwards, Monsieur Martin had given him 'a vest, elephant, and a thousand rupees, a favour purely owing to his Majesty's generosity, and because he was his servant.'<sup>3</sup>

The king being thus restored to health, the court and city turned their attention to the interrupted marriage ceremonies. On December 1, the wedding gifts, lavishly provided by the empress—mother, were sent to the bride, with a numerous escort of nobles, who were royally entertained by the wazīr. 'Husain 'Alī,' says the historian,<sup>4</sup> 'who thought his honour concerned, as the princess had been brought to court by his means, made it a point to give that solemnity all the magnificence for which Hindustan is famous; and he made such preparations for the bride and the bridegroom as exceeded all that had ever been heard of in the capital, as well as that had been done for the greatest rajas and kings of the Deccan, or for even the magnificent emperors of Hindustan. The furniture, jewels, and illuminations surpassed by much anything that had been done by the emperor himself. As soon as night came on, an infinity of fires and imitative stars threw cut at once such a blaze as seemed to dispute pre-eminence with the starry host of the firmament, and to reproach it with its inferior twinkling. Whilst artificial parterres, by the variety of their colours, gave the beholder an idea of the celebrated garden of Irem. Pleasures and shows of all sorts, as well as splendid entertainments, followed each other with so uninterrupted a profusion, that the lowest man in the city could partake of them, as well as the highest. Surprise, delight, and hilarity pervaded all classes. Such were the throngs and the crowds of attendance, and such the concourse of spectators, that the streets and markets of such an immense city seemed to have become narrower, and each of them more uneasy than the heart of a lover in despair.' On December 7, the whole city and palace were illuminated. At nine in the evening, Farrukhsīyar, seated on his sedia gestatoria, or moving throne, left the palace by the Delhi gate, in a splendid procession for the house of the wazir, whence he returned late at night with his bride, re-entering the palace by the Lahor gate. At the wazir's, some new ceremonies of Hindu origin were introduced, in addition to those usual at Moslem weddings. A mixture of rosewater, sugar and opium was offered to the guests to drink, which caused remark. There was also a gold plate, with five divisions, filled with precious stones, diamonds in the first division rubies in the second, emeralds in the third, topazes in the fourth, and in the fifth and central division, large and valuable pearls. The popular rejoicings continued for another week and were not concluded till December 15.<sup>1</sup> On December 28, Hamilton received a dress of honour, horse and a thousand rupees from the empress mother; Khwajah Sarhād, and Monsieur Martin, received each a dress of honour and five hundred rupees.<sup>2</sup>

CHAPTER VII

THE FIRST PETITION.

The English ambassadors were now in a position of great advantage for pursuing their mission. That they stood high in the favour of the court there could be no doubt. But they must have stood almost as high in the favour of the wazir, for the marriage of the king with the Jodhpur princess was a point of importance to the Sayyad brothers, and the marriage might never have been completed but for the skill of Hamilton. If, therefore, the English had at this time preferred their requests to the emperor through the wazir, we can hardly doubt that they would have been most favourably considered and readily granted. Unfortunately, the English had been from the first diverted from the proper course by their Armenian agents, and, since their arrival at Delhi, had already taken several further steps in the wrong direction.

Their original petition to the king had been prepared as long ago as August last. It contained nineteen articles, of which the first eight related to Bengal. In them the English sought for a fresh imperial farmān, confirming the previous grant of the right of free trade in Bengal, Bihar, and Orissa, and the nislān, allowing them to rent the three villages of Sūtanuṭī, Calcutta, and Govindpur. They further asked that they might be permitted to acquire on similar terms thirty-eight other villages, adjacent to Calcutta, and also some thirteen acres of land for a factory at Patna. They suggested that the town of Calcutta should be renamed Farrukhbandar, and that the three villages, with the thirty-eight new villages, should be combined into a single pargana to be called Farrukhābād. They desired permission to buy goods at Hugli without hindrance, and freedom generally from vexatious cesses and dues. They required that three days a week should be set apart at the Murshidābād mint for coining bullion, that the divān should be content with copies of their grants and not insist on seeing the originals, and that the government should take steps to prevent the local robberies to which trade was everywhere exposed. Three articles followed of a more general nature, praying that Madras rupees might pass current like those of Surat, that help might be given to English ships in distress at sea, and that absconding servants or debtors of the Company should be handed over to the Company's authorities. Turning to the Coromandel Coast, the English not only asked that their former commercial privileges should be confirmed, and, in particular, that the five villages of Madras and the territory of Fort St. David should be granted them again, but also sought to acquire villages in Vizagapatam, and the island of Divi near Masulipatam. The last three articles were concerned with the western side of India, and more especially with Surat. These articles demanded that the trade at that port, in consideration of the annual payment of a lump sum, should be declared custom free, that a site should be given for a factory, and a large plot of ground for a garden, and that the passes of the English chief should protect the Company's agents from being molested.<sup>1</sup>

The petition, it appears, was, in the first instance, shown privately to Taqarrub Khān, the high steward, who caused it to be examined and redrafted in a condensed form, as the king objected to lengthy, tedious documents. The proposal to rename the town of Calcutta and the pargana was struck out, as being liable to give rise to awkward questions.<sup>2</sup> On November 15, when the king was pronounced completely cured, the English took the opportunity of giving him the remainder of the present, only reserving a small part for the occasion of the marriage ceremony. At the same time they delivered their petition, not to the wazīr, the only proper channel for requests for farmāns, but to Khān Daurān, the deputy bakhshī.<sup>3</sup> He presented it to the king in December when the marriage ceremonies were finished, but it was returned with orders that it should be examined and noted upon by the officers of the diwānī or treasury.<sup>4</sup>

This was hardly what the English had expected. They had been led to believe that Khān Daurān was all powerful with the king, and they expected that a petition presented by him would have been almost immediately granted. They could only account for the delay by supposing that Khān Daurān had allowed himself to be influenced by other subordinates than Ṣalābat Khān, subordinates whom the embassy had hitherto neglected. According to the explanations put forward by Surman and Stephenson, Rājah Gūjar Mal, diwān-i-tan, and the wakīl, Nath Mal considered that they had had too small a share in the profit

which Ṣalābat Khān had made out of the English. When consulted by Khān Daurān, they advised the reference to the treasury out of spite.<sup>1</sup> Surman and Stephenson now perceived that the comments passed on the articles in the petition by the treasury clerks must have an important effect upon the issue of the case, and that a great advantage would be gained, if those comments were favourable. They, therefore, urged Sarhād 'to take particular care' of the treasury officers, and were assured by him that all would be well.<sup>2</sup> The event was a bitter disappointment. Sarhād failed to perform what he had promised. The petition was returned by the treasury clerks with unfavourable comments.<sup>3</sup> In this form it was presented by Khān Daurān to the emperor, who, on January 27, 1716, signed and returned the documents, accepting the answers suggested by the treasury against the several articles.<sup>4</sup> The result was that, while the emperor conceded a good many matters of minor importance, the weightiest part of the petition was not granted.<sup>5</sup> The request for a farmān was ignored, and the ambassadors had to begin their negotiations afresh.

On January 23, a second petition of seven articles was drawn up and sent to Khān Daurān for presentation.<sup>6</sup> In the first five articles, the English renewed their request for farmāns confirming the grant of free trade in Bengal, Bihar, and Orissa, and granting them a house and garden in Surat, the territory in Vizagapatam and the island of Divi, and the thirty-eight villages in the neighbourhood of Calcutta. At Divi island they promised to make a harbour, which, they said, considering there was no port to shelter ships on the Coromandel coast, would be a particular advantage to his Majesty's dominions. As for the villages near Calcutta, unless these were granted by a farmān, no one would let the Company acquire them, nor would the diwān give any assistance. The last two articles contained new requests for 'the liberty of a mint in Bombay' and 'for redress to those barbarities committed by rogues round Calcutta.'

At this juncture, the course of the negotiations was for the time interrupted by renewed disturbances at the court. It had been part of the arrangement, which settled the first set of differences between the Sayyads and the emperor, that Mīr Jumlah should remain at Patna.

But, owing to his reckless management, there, he was unable to meet the pay of a turbulent force of Mughal troops, that he had taken into his service. Partly to escape from their demands, and partly, as was believed, in obedience to secret instructions from the emperor, he suddenly left his government at the end of the year 1715. As far as Benares, he came openly. After that, to avoid all chance of being stopped by the wazir, he travelled as quickly as possible in a covered litter and secretly arrived at Delhi on the night of January 6. The wazir at once went to the emperor, and threatened him with the return of Husain 'Ali, and the emperor, in a fright, sent peremptory orders to Mir Jumlah to withdraw to Lahor. But days passed by, and Mir Jumlah procrastinated. At length his Mughal troops broke into revolt, and attacked the houses of the nobles. After a month of license and disturbance, they could only be got rid of by the payment of ten lakhs of rupees. Mir Jumlah was deprived of his offices and titles, and ordered to proceed to Lahor. On February 22, Nizāmu-l-mulk conducted him on the way as far as Narela.<sup>1</sup>

In this same month February, 1716, it was the fortune of the ambassadors to come face to face with the representatives of that Indian sect, which has been in the end most closely associated with the fortunes of the English in India, the last to dispute with them for empire, the first to help them in reconquering it. For many years the Sikhs had been giving trouble to the Mughal government. On the death of Guru Gōbind Sing, in 1708, it might have been expected that these troubles would cease. But his followers and family almost immediately brought forward a man, who exactly resembled the dead guru, and who claimed to be the guru restored to life. The false guru, whose real name appears to have been Bandah, after routing the faujdār of Sonpat in a sudden attack, made his way to the hills north-east of Sirhind. Forty thousand men soon gathered round him. With these he attacked and took the town of Sirhind. The old faujdār was killed by a musket shot, and his body hung to a tree. The town was given up to pillage for four days, during which the Sikhs committed excesses of every kind. The outbreak soon grew to such dimensions, that it became necessary for the emperor in person to march against the Sikhs and their new guru, whom he came upon at the fort of Lōhgarh, between Nāhan and Sārdhanā.<sup>2</sup> In the fighting which ensued, the fort was taken; but, through the devotion of his followers,

the guru escaped. Consequently, the troubles of the Mughal government began all over again, and fresh efforts were necessary to crush Bandah. At last, after years of fighting, Bandah was shut up in Gur-dāspur, a small town forty-four miles north-east of Amritsar. Closely besieged for eight months, during which they were reduced to unspeakable extremities, on December 7, 1715, the very day of Farrukhsiyar's bridal procession, Bandah and his followers were forced to surrender unconditionally to 'Abdu-ş-şamad Khān, the imperial general, who ordered that some two or three of them should be at once executed, and the rest kept to be exhibited in the capital and there solemnly put to death. The triumphant entry of the conquerors into Delhi took place, according to the Surman diary, on February 17, 1716.<sup>1</sup> The ceremonial on this occasion was copied from that observed after the capture of the Marāṭha, Sambhā Ji. Malice did its utmost to cover the vanquished with ridicule and shame. First came the heads of the executed Sikhs, stuffed with straw, and stuck on bamboos, their long hair streaming in the wind like a veil, and along with them, to show that every living creature in Gurudāspur had perished, a dead cat on a pole. The teacher himself, dressed out of mockery in a turban of red cloth, embroidered with gold, and a heavy robe of brocade, flowered with pomegranates, sat in an iron cage, placed on the back of an elephant. Behind him, stood a mail-clad officer, with a drawn sword. After him, came the other prisoners, seven hundred and forty in number, seated two and two upon camels without saddles. Each wore a high fool's cap of sheep skin and had one hand pinned to his neck, between two pieces of wood. Many were also dressed in sheep skins with the woolly side turned outwards. At the end of the procession rode three great nobles, Muḥammad Amīn Khān, sent by the emperor to bring in the prisoners, Kamru-d-dīn, his son, and Zakariya Khān, his son-in-law, who being also the son of 'Abdu-ş-şamad Khān had been deputed to represent his father at the ceremony. The road to the palace, for several miles, was lined with troops and filled with exultant crowds, who mocked at the teacher and laughed at the grotesque appearance of his followers. They wagged their heads and pointed the finger of scorn at the poor wretches as they passed. 'Hu! Hu! infidel dogworshippers, your day has come Truly retribution follows on transgression, as wheat springs from wheat, and barley from barley.' Yet the triumph could not have seemed quite complete. Not all the insults that their enemies had invented could rob the teacher and his followers of their natural dignity. Without any sign of dejection or shame, they rode on, calm, cheerful, even anxious to die the death of martyrs. Life was promised to any who would renounce their faith, but they would not prove false to their guru, and at the place of suffering their constancy was wonderful to look at. 'Me, deliverer, kill me first,' was the prayer which constantly rang in the ears of the executioner. One there was, a young man, an only son, whose widowed mother had made many supplications to the Mughal officers, declaring that her son was a Sikh prisoner, and no follower of the guru. A release was granted and she hastened to the prison-house to claim her son. But the boy turned from her to meet his doom, crying, 'I know not this woman. What does she want with me? I am a true and loyal follower of the guru.' For a whole week the sword of the executioner did its butcher's work. Every day a hundred brave men perished and at nightfall the headless bodies were loaded into carts, taken out of the city, and hung upon trees. It was not till June 19, that Bandah himself was led out to execution, all efforts having failed to buy him off. They dressed him, as on the day of his entry, set him again on the elephant, and took him away to the old city, where the red Quṭb minar lifts its proud head of white marble over the crumbling walls of the Hindu fortresses. Here they paraded him round the tomb of the late emperor, Bahādur Shāh, and put him to a barbarous death. First, they made him dismount, placed his child in his arms and bade him kill it. Then, as he shrank with horror from the act, they ripped open the child before its father's eyes, thrust its quivering flesh into his mouth, and hacked him to pieces limb by limb.<sup>1</sup>

CHAPTER VII .

THE SECOND PETITION.

During these two months the English made practically no progress with their second petition. The reason is obvious. Khān Daurān, their patron, had done all that he was capable of doing. He could not procure them the farmāns they required. Şalābat Khān, in whose house Surman lived, might well have told them the truth. But the old man was too eager to make all the money he could out of his credulous clients, and too anxious to pose as their patron. He took good care, therefore, not to disabuse the English, and allowed them to attribute the delay in their business to anything but the right cause. It was said that Khān Daurān was a man of dilatory habits. He never gave audience in public to persons who wished to see him on business. The only way to speak with him was to catch him as he passed from his rooms to his palanquin. Even Şalābat Khān had very few opportunities of seeing him in private.<sup>1</sup> Consequently, almost all their communications had to be made in writing, a slow, but by no means sure method of negotiation. Besides, the aggrieved subordinates, who had spoilt the first petition, were still unwilling to bring the English affairs to a speedy conclusion, considering that by gaining time they would also gain money.<sup>2</sup>

As a matter of fact, though the English would not understand it, there was only one course to be taken with reference to their irregular application for farmāns. As Khān Daurān's advisers correctly pointed out, it was not for him to persuade the king to agree to a second petition conceding the very points which had been just refused ; the whole business should properly be referred to the wazir.<sup>3</sup> In these views Khān Daurān naturally acquiesced. One day, towards the middle of March, when Sarhād, paying his respects as usual to his patron, ventured to remind him of the second petition, the great man suddenly became frank. 'Petition!' cried he, 'What petition? Have I not done all your business?' Khwājah Sarhād tried to explain, but before he could say many words, Khān Daurān got into his palanquin and went away.<sup>1</sup> On March 21, after waiting nearly two months, the English received back their second petition with the direction to apply to the wazīr.<sup>2</sup> The advice was sound, but the English would not take it. They clung obstinately to their original erroneous views.

Meanwhile, on March 19, the king had left the city on the pretence of hunting.<sup>3</sup> This gave Ṣalābat Khān fresh opportunities for intrigues, ostensibly for the benefit of the English, but really for the benefit of his own pocket.

According to his own story, on March 23, having occasion to eat and sleep in the same place with Khān Daurān, he took the opportunity of enlarging upon the griefs of the ambassadors. 'It was by your kindness,' he told his lordship, 'that the English after waiting many years were encouraged to bring their present to the court and to enter upon their negotiations. You promised to protect them and to grant all their reasonable demands. All their addresses to his majesty have been by your means. You yourself have had the credit of delivering in their present, the like of which has never been made by any European nation to the kings of India. They are therefore naturally concerned at finding their papers turned over to the wazīr. How can they go to him with any honour to themselves, or to you? What can they expect except to be treated as cast-off favourites? They are not aware of having done anything to deserve this punishment, and they hope that you will reconsider their case. In short, they depend entirely on you, and are resolved not to go to the wazīr. If you will not prosecute their business, they will leave Delhi, and negotiate no more.' Moved by this discourse, Khān Daurān, according to Ṣalābat Khān, agreed to take back the papers, and get the second petition signed by the emperor, as soon as the hunting should be over; and the English, with much satisfaction, resumed their misdirected negotiations.<sup>4</sup>

Twenty days later a fresh check occurred. A quarrel arose between the dependants of their patron and those of another great noble, Muḥammad Āmīn Khān, as they were coming from audience with the king, which, as soon as their masters had withdrawn to their tents, developed into a down-right fight. The two sides assailed each other for two hours with small arms, bombs and great guns. At last, after some hundred men had been killed, they were parted by messages from the emperor and by the mediation of other nobles. But the emperor, incensed at such insolence, reduced the dignities and privileges of all concerned, among whom was Khān Daurān. For a moment it seemed that the patron of the English might be overtaken by the same fate as Mir Jumlah. But in a few days the imperial anger cooled and he was restored to his former position.<sup>1</sup> About the beginning of May, he again took into consideration the English petition, and promised to carry the business through, provided he could get the wazīr to act with him.<sup>2</sup> He knew, of course, that, without the intervention of the wazīr, there could be no grant of farmāns, but the English ambassadors were still persuaded that it was all a question of personal influence and bribery. When, therefore, the articles of their second petition were again referred to the treasury, or dīwānī, they determined to deal liberally with all the officers concerned. To I'tisām Khān, the dīwān-i-khālīṣah, they offered seven thousand rupees; to the head clerk, Bhog Chand, ten thousand rupees; and to the subordinates twelve hundred.<sup>3</sup> Surman and Stephenson were of opinion that no means should be left untried to secure the writers in the treasury, but Khawājah Sarhād while he considered it beneath him to go to the office himself, refused to allow any Hindu wakīl to be employed in the business. His obstinacy called forth a protest from Surman and Stephenson at the beginning of June, but with little result.<sup>4</sup> For weeks the ambassadors were fed upon the most extravagant hopes by Sarhād and the Indian officials. The most favourable remarks were recorded against the articles in the petition, inconvenient documents were to be withheld, and everything asked for was to be granted.<sup>5</sup> It was not till July 15 that Surman and Stephenson discovered that the Armenian had deceived them throughout in the affair, and that the treasury was no more favourably disposed towards them than before. Their requests for farmāns had been flatly refused. The dīwān-i-khālīṣah recommended that the grants to be made in compliance with the two petitions should take the form of orders from the wazīr, which would carry no weight in the distant provinces of the empire.<sup>6</sup>

CHAPTER IX

THE LAST PETITION.

It is at this point, I take it, that the English threw away the last shreds of their long-perishing belief in Khwājah Sarhād and his Armenian friends. Padre Daniel they must have found out as soon as they arrived at Delhi. It must have been pretty clear, from the first, that he was a liar and a rogue, who spent all the money he could get on drunkenness and debauchery. As time went by at Delhi, Khwājah Sarhād's character appeared in hardly any better light. Without scruples as to truth or honesty, he evidently paid but little regard to the business of the English Company, and was intent upon his own interests, which required a prolonged stay in Delhi.<sup>1</sup> The delay in the negotiations disconcerted him not a whit; one would suppose that he was secretly glad that it should be so. Nor was he the least abashed when detected in his ignorance, or in the lies by which he tried to conceal it. He avowed that he had deliberately deceived the embassy as to the ill success of their negotiations in order that they might not be melancholy.<sup>2</sup> Surman and Stephenson appear to have been at their wits' end. At one time, they allowed it to be blown abroad that they were going away, as they could not obtain what they came for.<sup>3</sup> At another time, they had thoughts of going to the wazir, whom they had taken very particular care to satisfy, as they supposed, of their respect towards him, though they still thought that he had no real power.<sup>4</sup> But in the end, like true Englishmen, they refused to admit their defeat, and determined to continue in pressing for their farmāns through the mediation of Khān Daurān.

Good fortune favoured their persistency. About the time that the diwān-i-khāliṣāh gave the embassy its latest rebuff, disquieting news reached Delhi from Surat. The governor of the great western port, Haidar Qulī Khān wrote to the king and Khān Daurān that the English were seriously discontented, and that if they were not speedily satisfied they would withdraw, and Surat would be ruined. The letters were sent by Haidar Quli to his agent at court, Rāe Kirpā Rām, who determined to turn these warnings to his own advantage. The Mughal government had always been solicitous as to the state of trade and navigation on the west side of India. Fears upon this score had, before now, made the great Aurangzēb lay aside his purposes against the English, and yield to their demands; and there could be little doubt that similar considerations would influence the court of Farrukhsiyar. Rāe Kirpā Rām saw that the English stood a very good chance of gaining all their points. He, therefore, lost no time in throwing out hints that, if he were properly rewarded, he would be able to materially assist the embassy, and Surman, though aware of the real cause of these overtures, thought it well not to discourage a new ally. Kirpā Rām's professed help, though it does not seem to have effected much, at least served to show which way the wind was blowing.<sup>1</sup> The letters from Surat were delivered to the emperor, and to Khān Daurān, with the most surprising and gratifying results. After some delay, on August 25, Sarhād had a private interview with Khān Daurān, the first he had ever been granted.<sup>2</sup> The articles in the petition were read over, and the objections raised by the diwānī set aside. Then, after further delay, the second petition originally drawn up in January, was submitted to the emperor, and on October 7, was returned with most favourable orders.<sup>3</sup> In only two points were the English demands left unsatisfied. The government still hesitated to grant them the house in Surat and the thirty-eight villages in the neighbourhood of Calcutta. For these Khān Daurān recommended a separate petition, which he promised should be favourably considered. The ambassadors accordingly presented a third petition of two articles, but, at the same time, determined to proceed with the articles already granted, without waiting for the results of the dilatory diplomacy of Khān Daurān.<sup>4</sup> They had at length learnt some wisdom. They knew that at the Mughal Court 'every thing runs in its proper and set channel,'<sup>5</sup> and at the beginning of November they brought Sarhād to confess that their petitions must first go to the wazir and receive his persual and approbation.<sup>6</sup>

On November 10, the lists of articles were all submitted by the diwānī to the wazir, who, after perusing them, ordered the diwān-i-khālisat to carry them immediately to the emperor, to get them signed, which was accordingly done.<sup>1</sup> When once they had gone to the wazir and put their business upon a proper footing, it proceeded with a rapidity which astonished the English ambassadors. So difficult is it to persuade men that it is really easier to go right than wrong. 'We might have excepted the wazir,' they observed, 'in whose power it was, would have stopped our business on this occasion or caused many delays, the sure way to squeeze a sum of money, which must have been very large. But he has behaved himself with far more generosity, our papers no sooner reaching his hands, than they received despatch'.<sup>2</sup> Yet in spite of this experience we shall find Surman and Stephenson perversely adhering to the view that the high Mughal officials were accessible only by bribes, and, still more perversely, expecting that Khān Daurān, in whose power it was not, could forward their business, while they turned to the wazir, in whose power it was, with the greatest reluctance.

On November 20, orders were issued from the treasury to the secretary's office for the preparation of three imperial farmāns incorporating the most important articles in the petition,<sup>3</sup> and on December 27, drafts of these farmāns were submitted to the emperor for his approval which he granted three days later.<sup>4</sup> The whole month of January 1717 was taken up with making fair copies, and with procuring the imperial signature. A number of orders were also made out enjoining the execution of particular provisions in the farmāns.<sup>5</sup>

On February 1, the farmāns being perfectly finished were sent to Afzal Khān the sadrū-ṣ-ṣudūr, or imperial almoner, whose business it was to affix the great seal.<sup>6</sup> The seal it appears was actually kept by a bēgam or princess and, when required, was sent by her to the imperial almoner by the hand of a eunuch. These officials all expected presents, and the formality of affixing the great seal cost the embassy twelve thousand rupees paid to the imperial almoner and his subordinates, besides other gifts to the bēgam and her entourage.<sup>7</sup> On March 27, the wazir's seal was added on the reverse of the farmāns,<sup>8</sup> and on April 10, they were placed in Surman's hands by Khwājah Sarhad.<sup>9</sup>

CHAPTER X.

THE RETURN FROM DELHI.

The ambassadors had applied for their dismissal on February 20 as soon as they knew that the great seal would be placed on their three farmāns, but the end of their labours was not yet. No less than three months were spent in wearisome and meaningless formalities without which they could not go. In conformity with the farmāns, orders signed by the wazīr had to be issued to various local officers and these were delayed by the clerks in the treasury office. A fourth farmān in answer to the letter from Governor Hedges had to be drawn up, signed and sealed. Lastly the Emperor, the wazīr and Khān Daurān had each in turn formally to dismiss the members of the embassy with suitable presents, which gave rise to many nice questions of distributive justice.<sup>1</sup> Ṣalābat Khān was anxious, or professed to be anxious, that the English should be dispatched with at least the same honours as had been shown to the Dutch and Portuguese in the previous reign. The Emperor and Khān Daurān argued that the example of the usurping Jahāndār counted for nothing, and that it would be a dangerous precedent to make too much of European ambassadors. On April 18, when the list of honours was announced, it was found that while the Bengal president was to receive an elephant more than the general of Batavia, Mr. Surman and his companions were to get less than the Dutch.<sup>2</sup> In their eagerness to go the ambassadors, though surprised at this treatment, after making a quadruple present, would have raised no objections; but Ṣalābat Khān, professing to consider that his honour was in question, angrily insisted that Surman should have an extra horse and a dagger, and in deference to his wishes the concession was made. At the same time the Emperor stipulated that these presents should not all be made to Surman on the same day. At one reception he was to have the horse and dagger, and at the next his plume and robe of honour. The other members of the embassy were to receive dresses of honour only.<sup>3</sup> For these distinctions they had in the end to give handsome gifts to the superintendent of elephants, the keeper of the robes, and the jewel and perfume offices.<sup>4</sup>

At length on Thursday May 23, Surman received his first instalment of parting honours, the promised dagger and horse.<sup>1</sup> On the following Thursday the whole embassy repaired for the last time to the court of public audience, where the railed enclosures were as usual thronged by Indian nobles covered with gold and jewels, glittering in the bright sunshine which the purple awnings only partially kept out. Once again the curtains were drawn aside from the royal alcove above them and they saw the Emperor Farrukhshiyar on his peacock throne. John Surman was duly invested with his robe and plume, and dresses of honour were put upon Stephenson and the others. Then one by one they made their obeisance to the throne and passed from the Court, the last being Hamilton to whom Farrukhshiyar was so much indebted. The doctor, though he had been consulted by the wazir, had not seen his imperial patient in private for more than a year, and seemed to have passed out of remembrance. He was moving on like the rest when an order from the throne suddenly stopped him and directed him to resume his place. The robe bestowed on him merely betokened the royal favour, but did not permit him to leave. The King rose. The curtains were drawn. The audience was over.<sup>2</sup>

Only those who have spent long years on the burning plains of India can fully realise with what intensity the exile comes to long for the fresh breezes of his native land. Far over the seas at Bothwell, in bonnie Scotland, brothers and sisters, an honoured father, and a promised bride were waiting anxiously for the doctor's return, and what could the Mughal offer him to tempt him to stay away longer? Three times or more did old Şalābat Khān entreat him after leaving the court of audience to remain in Delhi, but Hamilton continued obstinate. 'No'; he said, 'if the king will have me he may keep me in irons. But I will not accept his bread, much less his service.' There was nothing for it but to importune the emperor to let him go, and with their usual wrongheadedness the embassy turned to Khān Daurān for help. That Mr. Lofty at first refused to speak on the subject or to have any thing to do with it. But at the persuasion of Şalābat Khān he directed the ambassadors to apply to the wazir, as they should have done in the first instance, and promised to help in interceding for Dr. Hamilton.<sup>3</sup>

On June 4, the whole case was laid before the wazir, who offered to use his utmost efforts to get the doctor's release. He accordingly forwarded to the emperor a copy of Hamilton's petition, enforcing it with a pathetic address of his own writing. The imperial answer soon came back. 'Since he is privy to my nakedness and perfectly understands his business, I would very willingly have kept him and would have given him whatever he asked. But seeing he is satisfied with no terms, I agree to it, provided that after he has gone to Europe, procured such medicines as are not to be got here, and seen his wife and children, he returns once more to visit this court. Let him go!'<sup>1</sup>

The English now turned their attention to the necessary preparations for the journey back to Calcutta. Carts were hired for their tents and camels bought for their baggage. An escort of fifty horse and four hundred foot was considered necessary to protect the caravan from the perils of the way<sup>2</sup>. On June 16, they were granted passes<sup>3</sup>. Soon after the farmān to Governor Hedges was completed. The remaining orders relating to Calcutta and the adjacent villages were signed and Dr. Hamilton gave a formal obligation to return under his seal<sup>4</sup>. On June 30, they received their dismissal from the wazir and on July 11, from Khān Daurān<sup>5</sup>. On July 18, Mr. Surman after taking leave of Ṣalābat Khān and recommending Mitr Sen, the English attorney and representative at Delhi, to his favour, quitted the city and arrived at Barapula where the tents were pitched.<sup>6</sup> There was, however, one member of the embassy who was by no means so eager to bid adieu to the Mughal and all his court. Khawājah Sarhād, who had for many months been on bad terms with his colleagues, now declared that he could not go with them unless certain accounts amounting to nineteen thousand rupees were paid him in full. From the very beginning of the negotiations they had suspected him, and we have seen that as time went on their suspicions had been strengthened and confirmed. Very soon after their arrival at Delhi they had discovered that his influence with the Mughal court and his knowledge of its customs had been greatly over-estimated. The marks of consideration and favour which he had procured for the embassy had been obtained by wholesale lying and by grossly exaggerating the value of the presents. The great nobles at Delhi neither knew nor cared for him. His Armenian friends were worthless rogues whose only object was to plunder the English as they had already plundered the Dutch. Daniel was a notorious evil-liver and a scandal to his nation and religion. Sarhād himself, though he professed to be ashamed of the folly and debauchery of the priest, made no pretensions to virtue. 'If we succeed,' he used to tell the ambassadors, 'there will be no enquiry into our conduct. If we fail, I shall go off to Persia, and you may go where you please.' In practice he proved utterly incompetent, always promising but never performing. He refused to employ any of the Hindu agents whom the ambassadors brought with them. He persistently misled them as to the proper course of the negotiation. Hardly any part of the success which had been achieved could be said to be due to him. Now that the business was settled, instead of assisting the embassy, he was actually impeding its departure on the frivolous pretext of a difference about a few thousand rupees<sup>1</sup>; his real purpose being, as the ambassadors believed, to get himself made an imperial merchant and to be sent to Europe to make various purchases for the Mughal. The ambassadors, therefore, having failed to satisfy him with an offer of fifteen thousand rupees drew up a protest in which they condemned him as disobedient and unfaithful, and deprived him of his dignities and allowances as an English representative<sup>2</sup>.

On July 25, the English moved from Barapula to Faridābād whence they dispatched their protest against Sarhād before starting on their journey<sup>3</sup>. Final instructions were also sent to their attorney and representative at Delhi, Mitr Sen<sup>3</sup>. Reaching Mathura on July 30, they found the neighbouring district full of rebellious Jāts, and accordingly crossed the Jumna and proceeded down the left bank of the river to Agra, which they reached on August 3<sup>4</sup>. Hitherto the travellers had been much distressed by excessive heat, but at this point the weather changed. Torrents of tropical rain fell, leaving the roads deep in mud through which the camels and oxen slowly made their way, slipping and stumbling at almost every step<sup>5</sup>. The road, too, was best with Mewattis. The first day after leaving Agra, a band of these cut-throats on horseback fell upon the tents, which had been sent on in advance under an escort of twenty or thirty guards. After a fight which lasted some four hours their chief received a fatal wound in his chest, and they galloped off, and the English saw them no more<sup>1</sup>. On August 26, they arrived at Allahabad where the Hindú governor received them with much ceremony and twice entertained them with a dinner of dishes cooked in the Muhammadan style<sup>2</sup>. On August 27, having made the governor a suitable present, they crossed the Ganges and proceeded on their way. The river was again crossed at Benares on September 5<sup>3</sup>. On September 21, after much suffering from very bad weather and muddy ways, they reached Patna<sup>4</sup>.

CHAPTER XI.

THE END OF THE EMBASSY.

At Patna the embassy of necessity made a prolonged halt. They had to wait for the boats which they expected from Calcutta for their conveyance; they had also to see if arrangements could be made to resettle the English factory and to recover the outstanding debts of the Company. The English ambassadors had represented to the emperor that in Patna, where the English had long had a factory, instead of occupying a hired building with precarious tenure they should be given a permanent habitation, and had asked for the house of the late Muhammad Muzaffar, which was imperial property<sup>5</sup>. To this the emperor had agreed, provided they raised no additional walls nor anything like fortifications<sup>6</sup>; and an order had accordingly been issued to the governor of Patna<sup>7</sup>. But Surbaland Khān, the governor, was not on good terms with the English ambassadors. The story runs that Mr. Surman, after all the honours he had received at Delhi, expected the compliment of a first visit from Surbaland Khān, a concession which the governor, as the representative of the emperor in Bihar, could not possibly make. The Diary shows that he certainly expected the English to visit him and ask for the house. When the English vakil applied for it to the buyutāt, Surbaland Khān is reported to have answered, 'Should I now give them the house, what have I left to say to them when they make me a visit'<sup>1</sup>. But the English, it seems, declined to make the visit, the reason given in the Diary being that a visit implied a peshkash of sixteen thousand rupees. 'On these conditions a factory might be resettled here, but without any prospect of recovering the former debts, the persons being all either dead or insolvent.' On due consideration the ambassadors found that their longer stay would be a fruitless expense of time and money, wherefore, on September 30, they agreed to wait no longer for the convoy from Calcutta but to hire boats and leave the place with the utmost expedition<sup>2</sup>.

On October 7, a letter arrived from the president and council telling them that a party of soldiers was on its way to escort them and directing them to await their arrival, and in the meantime to get possession of the house and recover the Company's debts. But the embassy were impatient and perverse. They again recorded that no compulsion could be used to recover the debts without the nawābs assistance, but the nawāb, so far from assisting them, would not comply with the king's order permitting them to have the house. They could not have the house, said the nawāb, unless they at once settled a factory in it and unless they gave a peshkash of sixteen thousand rupees. So the English ambassadors decided that they could not wait for the Calcutta boats which would probably take two months to arrive, very likely meeting with some trouble in the way, 'which is not to be feared in our passage down seeing we have the king's guzrbardār, chēlah, and dastaks to accompany us, besides the character his majesty has been pleased to give us in the list'<sup>3</sup>.

On October 21, they left Patna and proceeded down the river. The guzrbardār with the elephant and horses made the same journey by land, keeping pace with the boats as far as Rājmahal<sup>4</sup>. On November 1, the embassy reached Gangaprasād, where they met Ensign Gammon with the boats and soldiers sent up from Calcutta. On the afternoon of November 3, they reached Rājmahal. The guzrbardār with the elephant and horses was sent on to make the best of his way towards Hughli, ten days being allowed for the journey, and accordingly rejoined the embassy, on November 13, at Ambua<sup>1</sup>.

The journey from Patna had been saddened, perhaps hastened, by the illness of the doctor, William Hamilton, who must have succumbed to the hardships of the road from Delhi. Soon after leaving Patna, on October 27, at Sūrajgarhā, near Mongēr, Hamilton made his will, 'on the boats going for Bengal'<sup>2</sup>. The boats sped well and brought him to Calcutta, not indeed in time to sail by any ship to his native Scotland and recover life and hope, but at least in time to die amidst his friends, on December 4, and be buried beside Job Charnock in the graveyard south of the fort<sup>3</sup>.

On November 16, it was decided that the president and four members of the council should proceed up the river to receive the farmān and imperial gifts<sup>4</sup>. For this purpose it was not absolutely necessary that they should go more than five or six miles from the fort, but in view of the importance of the occasion they consented to go beyond even Hughli to Triveni. Before their tents, according to the prescribed custom, a space of some three hundred yards was enclosed with old screens. Within this enclosure, on November 20, the reception of the farmān took place in the presence of a large and respectable body of witnesses. Besides the farmān there were gifts, a vest, a dagger, a neck ornament and an elephant, with attar of roses, shawls and satins. They were given with the farmān by the gurzbardār, and before receiving each gift the president made the customary obeisance<sup>5</sup>. In return, costly presents were made to the Mughal officials<sup>6</sup>, and with these ceremonies the embassy concluded.

At the close of the Diary the ambassadors observe that 'since the trade of Europeans in these parts there have been sundry attempts of this kind, but the grants obtained have been of very little value though at much superior expence<sup>1</sup>; and it might be maintained that the grants obtained in this case were of very little value too. It is true that in Bengal the English were for a long while unable to make good the privileges conceded to them by Farrukhsiyar. This may be explained partly by the astuteness of the native rulers, partly by the complications which arose out of the struggles first with the Ostenders and afterwards with the Marāthas, partly too by the natural unwillingness of the Company's servants to quarrel with the local government to the detriment of their own private business. Nevertheless the embassy was a real step in advance. It legalised the whole of the English position in India. In Bengal it placed the local government technically in the wrong so long as the farmān and orders of the emperor were disregarded, and it consequently furnished the English with a standing quarrel which they might take up at any time. This they at last did after the catastrophe of the Black Hole, and the withholding of the rights won by Surman was the ground put forward by Olive, when he broke with Sirāj-ud-daulah and entered upon the conquest of the country. The soldier completed and more than completed what the ambassador began.

“Having received a letter from the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President & Council, dated the 22nd July, inclosing Copy of instructions, which impowers us to negotiate the business of the Hon<sup>ble</sup> united East India Company att the Court of the Emperour of Indostan; having particularly examined these instructions, and finding that the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Presid<sup>t</sup> & Council, have very straitly limited the attendance that shall proceed with us; we conclude they have an opinion that the Nabob of this province will grant us force sufficient for our safe conduct thro’ itt. By the small care he took of the Present in itt’s way up from Bengall; We have good reason to beleive his future assistance will be much of the same nature; and that no Risque may be run, and the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Presid<sup>t</sup>. & Council nott depend on such hopes; Conclude that we write

PATNA,
August 15th 1714.

<sup>1</sup> This diary has been carefully summarised by Orme (See Orme Collections, Vol. VII. pp. 1693—1711). He notes the names of the agents in the embassy and continues: “They were all at Patna, January 1st 1714-15. But delays from the Nabob of Patna and his officers, and the tricks of Seerhaud, the roguery and obstinacy of the carriers and other impediments prevented them from beginning their march before the 7th April, when the whole was at Bicherum serays [Bikram Sarāc].” See also rough notes by Orme in the Orme Collections O. V., Vol. 12, pp. 25-52 and 73-89. Orme personally consulted Edward Stephenson about the embassy in January 1765.

a letter to them, giving a full account of the Above-mentioned : for although they have not positively limited us, to any certain rules; butt that on necessity we have power to alter them; Yett since the difference will be so great, and having time sufficient; think itt our duty, first to receive farther instructions.

The Hon<sup>ble</sup> President & Council having permitted us to remove to another house if we Judge convenient Ordered that a proper house be Enquired after and the Council advised of itt."

"Pursuant to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President & Councils permission; In case we should Judge convenient to hire a house; We have this day contracted for One att <sup>rs</sup>50 per mensem. The reasons for our living apart are as follows.

"Seeing we are to appear in this publick station; Our stay in this 1<sup>stly</sup>. factory must be attended with severall inconveniences; as particularly the Awe We are in (as Merchants) from the Government hindering us in our preparations which otherwise we Can't be liable to.

"There is nott roome in this factory for the bulk of the Present, for 2<sup>dly</sup>. which reason houses have been already hired to receive itt. Whereas the present House we have taken is able to contain the whole, and sufficient to make all preparations for our procedure, which would be impossible for us to doe here.

"Itt is absolutely necessary that we appear in a more publick manner
Lastly. than itt's possible to doe att present; that we may have the greater respect from the government; and that our affairs here may be more successfully negotiated, Seeing the post we are now in att this Factory can never be adequate to the Character we receive by this employment, butt may be a means of being lightly esteemed.

"Having received news that two Goorzeburdars [gursbardār] from the King, with Seerpaws [sar-o-pā] and a Cunger [khanjar] are on their way hither; Ordered that preparations be made for our departure hence, that peons and servants, be suitably entertained, and that our Equipage be decent, and handsome, according to the Honourable President and Councils instructions: there being att present no farther occasion.

was for Gyruṭṭ Cawn [Ghairat Khān],<sup>1</sup> Nabob of this province, with his forces to conduct us through itt: Agreed The said Husbull Hooṭum [ḥasbu-l-ḥukm] be nott delivered till We appear in a publick station.

Agreed that three soldiers be detained, more than what allowed: Viz<sup>t</sup>. 1 for a Gunner, 1 Tailor, and 1 in Case of mortality; and that the President and Council be advised of our reasons on this head."

"The other house being cleaned out, and fitt to receive Goods; Agreed

September 15th. We first send the liquors, till such time more Peons are entertained; and that those now in service, goe to guard itt.

This day, Anoop Chund [Anūp Chand] presented himself, to serve as Vakile [vakīl], assistant to Cojah Seerhaud [Khawajah Sarhad] in this negotiation: Upon Enquiry, finding him to be a Person of some substance, and Clear reputation; being particularly commended for his Eloquence, and learning, sufficient for this undertaking; We doe think him a proper person. He is att present troubled with the Barbeirs,<sup>2</sup> therefore as yett unfitt for any publick address: However, we shall dispence with that for some time, in hopes of his recovery; considering him the fittest person in this place, and nott knowing any to compare with him for such an Employ. Agreed that we advise the Honourable President and Council of itt, and the reasons we had to choose him."

"Agreed that the Vakile [vakīl] visitt the Nabob, and that he take October 1st. One Gold Moor [mūr] and five rupees for a present, and ten rupees to be disbursed among the Servants; that he tender our service, and deliver the Husbull-Hooṭum [ḥasbu-l-ḥukm] from Caun-dora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur] withall endeavouring to gain a possitive answer from the Nabob, wether he will grant us forces, sufficient for a safe conduct, through his province, pursuant to the severall orders from the King, already delivered him, under the seales of Cuttbulmooluck, Omeerallomrah, Meer Jemla, and Cutturub Caun [Qutbu-l-Mulk, Amiru-l-Umarā Mir Jumla and Taqarrub Khān]."

<sup>2</sup> According to Hobson Jobson "barbiers" was formerly current in the East "as the name of a kind of paralysis, often occasioned by exposure to chills." Sir Joseph Fayrer regards it as "the dry form of beri-beri." Mr. W. Irvine, to whom I am indebted for many valuable notes on the names of persons and things in the following pages, thinks that a paralysed man would hardly have been selected for an appointment involving a long journey and much work, and suggests that "barbiers" here stands for bawāsir, pronounced babāsir, or babes, meaning piles.

“Pursuant to our former Consultation, Our Vakile visited the Nabob, where he was handsomely received; and the second visit delivered the Husbull-Hoocum, [hasbu-l-hukm] being assured that so soon as [we] were in a posture to leave this place, We might depend on his protection, and that he would see us safe conducted thro’ his jurisdiction.”

October 7th.

“In the interim of these 3 days disputes, there has been a rumor spread of Gyruitt Cauns [Ghairat Khān’s] being displaced, and that Ali-Esgar-Caun [‘Alī Aṣghar Khān]<sup>1</sup> is constituted his successour. Upon large Enquiry into the truth of itt, We have very Good reason to believe it: Seeing Gyruitt Caun [Ghairat Khān] himself talks of departing hence in less than 20 days To proceed with him would be absolutely the safest conveyance we could meett with, butt seeing his stay is so short, and we so bare of necessaries, for so long a Journey, this project is Utterly impracticable. Wherefore we ought to prepare against the worst, and look out for another opportunity: for which reasons Agreed, that [we] write a complimentary letter to Monsieur Martin<sup>2</sup> att Dilly, [Delhi] to be dispatched this day, by a nimble Cossid [qāṣid], acquainting him with this turn of affairs here, which he can’t be ignorant off, that we were conscious that our generall Dusticks [dastaks] were nott sufficient commission to the new Subah [Sūbadār] on his arrivall; in order to a safe conveyance through this province, advising him withall that the way between this place and Bannarass [Benares] was of no little Risque unless secured by a good guard. Agreed that this letter be translated into Latin by Hugh Barker, and that another letter be wrote to the same purport, in Persians; that Padree Daniell be also wrote to this effect, and that we acquaint Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] of this turn of affairs, desiring he would advise what other friends he has made att Court to carry on this negotiation and that he himself write to them.”

October 10th.

“The Cossid [qāṣid] that brought the Honourable President and Councils last Packett, informing us that Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] was arrived att Boglepore [Bhāgalpur]; We have taken into consideration, the great risque of passing the Chuckwars, who (as we are credibly informed) are returned to their old station att Samboe [Sambāl], and consequently as capable as ever to act villainously, should they take a fancy to seize the person of Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], knowing he belongs to the English, whose boates have this two years passed by force. We are nott well satisfied with the Goorzeburdars [gursbardārs] protection: For all which reasons, and to discharge the duty incumbant on us, Agreed that we immediately write him a letter, advising that he ought nott to risque his person farther than what was absolute necessity, and that our Opinion is to leave the boates with the Goorzeburdars, and himself come overland."

<sup>2</sup> Monsieur Martin, a French physician, died at Dehli in Zū-l-qa’dah, 1140, i.e. June, July, 1728. He was prominent in Bahādur Shah’s reign at the time of the Dutch embassy, working actively against them. He was called in to attend Muḥammad Shāh several times early in that reign.

3. CONSULTATIONS.

"In the Wacka [vaqāyā] sent us by the Nabob, there is news that, att the desire of Padree Daniel, Aurruff Chilah, October 22nd.

[Arif chelā] with a Goorzeburdar [gursbardār] was ordered to Patna, for the more safe conveyance of the English and Kings present to Court; Seeing the Said Padree had complained, by Caundora's [Khān Daurān's] means, that only the want of Carriage and assistance did now detain them. Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], since his arrivall, has informed us; that he has advices from Padree Daniel of 50 days date, that he has obtained from the King an order for a Chilah [chelā] and Goorzeburdar [gursbardār] to come to us, with seerpaws [sar-o-pās] and a Cungee [khanjar]. Also that the King outt of his great favour had sent orders on every Subah [sūbadār] and Duan [dūwān] to defray our Carriages and expences; and by another letter from Cojah [Khwājah] Petrus to his Gomasto [gumāshstah] here, confirming that news, that Papers were sealed, and the Chilah etc. would be dispatched in a day or two. These advices have been renewed for this five or six days, all which time we have waited for their arrivall with impatience, reflecting that every day now lost is more than ten att another time: for which reason, and nott to be tardy in our preparations, which will att least take up six weeks, the Cold weather coming on with our daily expences; and lastly if the King has issued outt such orders, We reasonably believing they will be to receive Specie and nott to have carriages delivered us, by which our Honourable masters may be no losers, by any before-hand Preparations; Agreed, that we commence to hire Carriages, and that the Carriers who have for severall days presented themselves, be now sent for, and an agreement made with them for 100 Carriages."

October 23rd. "Doondy Chowdry [Dundi Chaudhri,] Cheif of the Carriers, with 20 others, has this day been with us, and have agreed to prepare 100 Carriages on the following terms : att 11 Curr. Rupees per 1 Md. 5 Sr., Each carriage to carry 25 Mds. with 4 oxen ; all to be in readiness in 6 weeks : In case of which, and the fault being ours, in nott proceeding ; then we are to pay them demurrage according to Custom. They are by agreement to receive 7500 rupees before hand, 10,000 rupees more in the interim, and on their departure ; the remaining 10,000 rupees to be paid on their way between this place and Dilly as there shall be occasion. Ordered that they give obligations for the above mentioned, and that 1005 rup<sup>s</sup> be paid them, and the rest of the money payable before hand, in small parcells : so that the opportunity of getting ready may nott be lost, nor in case of the Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] timely arrivall much money Expended."

4. DIARY.

October 29th. "This day arrived Aurruff Chilah ['Arif chelā] with the Kings orders and a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] from Caundora [Khān Daurān], which was received by John Surman without any Ceremony."

5. CONSULTATIONS.

October 30th. "Yesterday Mahumud Arruff Chilah [Muḥammad 'Arif chelā] arrived with the Kings orders on the Nabob Gyrutt Caun [Ghairat Khān], Duan Esgar Caun [diwān Aṣghar Khān] and Bootade Mullah Nosseer [buyutāti Mullā Naṣīr]. The two former nott being in the City ; Order'd that Mahumud Aurruff Chilah ['Arif chelā], Adge Omud [Hāji Aḥmad], and Golam Hossein [Ghulām Ḥusain], Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] goe, and deliver his majestys order to Mullah Nosseer [Mullā Naṣīr], demanding a ready compliace, and intimating that seeing the King had issued outt such gracious orders, The fault of any longer stay would be entirely theirs, and for which they must be accountable.

Ordered that a list of what carriages we esteem necessary for the present be prepared and sent to the Bootade [buyutāti].

Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] informing us that the Flint Ware in the Present would be of no value, unless putt into a better shape, and seeing a possibility with a small expence to render itt very acceptable; Agreed that proper Workmen be sent for, and that they follow Cojah Seerhauds [Khwājah Sarhad] directions in this Affair.

There being severall sorts of Fine Oiles, Otter [itt] and Drams which must of necessity be divided into a great many parcells, and should be putt into handsome bottles and Cases, in order to their better acceptance; withall this place being noted for curiositys of this nature, and consequently a small sum thus Expended appearing large and agreeable att Court, Agreed That 1000 or 1500 Rupees (butt no farther), be laid out in making Diamond Cutt glasses, and bottles, Otterdaneyes [itrdānis] and Gilt Ware, after the English Fashion, and that the Care of this devolve on Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad].

There being still an occasion to make sundry necessaries In Silver; Agreed that the Bullion bought by Edward Pattle etc., and sent us be given outt, and made into the following particulars—

1. Aftoa and Chillumchy [āftābā and chilamchī].

- 100 Carriages each to carry 25 mds.

30 Bildars [beldārs].

4 Smiths.

The Bootade [buyutāti] refused to accept the Abovementioned Phirds [fards], unless sealed by Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], whose name was solely expressed in the Kings orders: To which the Goorzeburdars [gursbardārs] answered; That John Surman being Cheif, itt was customary for all Papers to receive his impression, and that the Kings orders did nott so much respect the Seal as the ensuing Present. This nott proving satisfactory to one insisting as a Servant on the letter of Said orders, Mr John Surman, That our Honourable Masters might nott be impeded from receiving this benefitt, offered as some alleviation, That his own seal should be att the Top and Cojahs [Khwājah's] att the bottom of Said Phird [fard]: butt that this may be no future President, Agreed, That Padree Daniel, by the first Cossid [qāṣid] to Court be forbid mentioning Seerhaud, or att least without giving the Preheminence to John Surman, in all orders that may come from thence. This was agreed to by the Bootade [buyutāti] with the following alterations only. Instead of 100 Carriages at 25 mds per Carriage, 160 at 16 mds, and that Seerhauds seal be altered to Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad].”

here. Itt is the Opinion of Mess<sup>rs</sup> John Surman and Edward Stephenson that where the Companys business may call him apart, there is an absolute necessity off his appearing in some State; Yett retaining a destinction to the Cheif; There being no great necessity for itt att present, and nott to disgust Mr Pattle, while in this place; withall the Case being Altogether new, no Second Ever carrying them; They have desired him nott to insist on itt, butt referr itt to the Honourable President Etc. whose orders shall be obeyed.”

“The 7th Inst. Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] visitted the Duan [dīwān] and Bootade [buyutāti], where he was very handsomely received. The Duan [dīwān] demanded an Account of the Kings present, which Seerhaud refused, pretending Every thing was sealed up, he nott being Empowered to open itt; butt desired the Duan [dīwān] to follow the letter of the Kings orders, Intimating that nothing hindred our proceedure butt want off Carriage for the Present, which we expected would be in readiness by the first of next moone. The Duans [dīwān's] reason for this demand was the apprehension of Merchants Goods being carried Under protection of the Kings orders; for which he should in some measure be accountable; Whereas the delivery of such list would Endemnife him. Seerhaud answered That the English nation (He hoped) had gott such an Established reputation, as nott to need supports of that nature, off which his Majestys present favour was a plain Instance; besides that we should be very fearfull of putting his Majesty to any unnecessary Charge: He farther added, that upon a strict Calculation, We found that 60 Carriages and 300 Cohars [kahārs] might be deducted from the former list: Wherefore we desired the first might be restored, and another received in its roome, which was done accordingly by the Goorzeburdars (gurzbardārs), as mentioned in our former consultation.

For the furtherance of a letter to our Nabob who is still abroad, brought from Court by Aurruff Ghilah ['Arif chelā]; Agreed that one Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār], and Said Ghilah [chelā] attend him, and waite for what orders shall issue from thence.

Carriages being arrived to receive their loading, and there nott being servants sufficient to attend their Carrying out; Agreed that more Peons Etc. be entertained according to the pressing occasion.

Ordered that Goods be loaden on the Carriages, as they come in, with All Expedition."

"Considering Every body Ought to make a handsome appearance, and

"Pursuant to a former Consultation, having Seized Caungee [Khānji] and Dunnysaws Son, [Dhani Saha] the Companys December 8th. Debtors, with Sooty Deloll [Sūti, dalāl], a Debtor off Mr. Lloyd deceased; and used them with some severity: these thorough-pac't Rogues, nott Easy to be brought to reason, have rather than pay 500 Rupees off Debts, chose to spend so much in the Durbar [darbār]. Their friends gott together, and raised all the Salt Merchants, and Cashmeerys [Kaçmiris], to complain to the Nabob, hindering his going to prayers; For which reason, he sent to desire that the prisoners Might be delivered to Sheak Esaw [Shaikh Īsā], who should see us paid; by which meanes, the ill name would be taken from both off us.
 Upon due consideration, itt is the Opinion off us all, that they be delivered for the following reason, That by any meanes we ought nott to disoblige the Nabob; for although itt's likely, since we are going to Court, he may nott care to Force us; Yett he may privately be more detrimentall to our Masters Affairs, Farr exceeding any advantages that may arise from Said Debtors. We have advised Mess<sup>rs</sup> Pattle and Pratt of this: The former <sup>1</sup> Mr. Irvine says that the Ujainiyah clan had long been practically independent, only paying revenue under compulsion. Rājah Rūdar, descended in the fifth generation from the first Ujainiyah rājah of Bhōjpur, rebelled against Aurangzēb, and was joined by the neighbouring zamindārs. On this account he was deposed and the chiefship was given to his brother, ancestor of the present houses of Dumrān and Jagdispur. While Aurangzēb was absent in the Deccan, Dhīr, a distant cousin of the rājah, descended in the sixth generation from the same ancestor, seized many zamindāris, and maintained a force of about 14,000 horse and 80,000 foot. In a former Consultation we agreed nott to take any more Carriages from the Kings officers, than what were absolutely necessary for the Carriage off the present. This day Seerhaud has been with the Bootade, [buyutāti] and there Agreed to receive as many Carriages as were necessary for all the goods. His reasons for so doing are as follows; That finding there might be plague and trouble from the Nabob, Duan [dīvān] etc. On our leaving this place; as likewise in the way, where those private Carriages might be distinguished; Since they would give Dusticks [dastaks] for no more than what were paid for by the Kings officers. This was done without our knoledge and consent. In case hereafter there may be any trouble on this head att Court, Agreed that 9<sup>rs</sup>. a Maund be Charged on all private Goods, and that money either pay for the Carriages to the King, or be Employed in Bribery."

10. CONSULTATION.

"The Honourable President &c<sup>as</sup> letter. dated December 15th was produced and read. Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] having for these few days shown himself very much discontented, and privately said that unless he had the Entire management of the Durbar [darbār], he would nott proceed; He was now desired to Explain himself. Concerning the 20000 rupees he Affirmed to be promised him by the Honourable President and Councill, he received a finall answer, That they neither promised anything off that Nature nor would now give itt. Seerhaud Explains himself in this manner, That Seeing the Councill had nott thought fitt to Allow him the Sum above-mentioned, Yett he hoped att his return in consideration off his good Services, he should receive itt in Culcutta, So that he disputes no farther att present on this head: Butt his immediate demands are, that none off us should offer to interferr in the buisness off the Durbar [darbār], which did Entirely depend on him alone. That no papers or letters should be sealed with John Surmans Impression, and In Fine that unless all this was allowed, he would nott Stirr a Step, or till such time as he received farther Instructions from the Honourable President and Council; Upon which The Companys General Instructions were produced, and Examined; butt all would nott avail. He having repeted his deniall to proceed with us, We demanded a delivery off all the Companys letters and papers to the King and Officers att Court, which he readily comply'd with. #### 11. SECRET CONSULTATION ON THE 1ST JANUARY, 1715.

Slightly evaded this former demand; Saying, that he was assured y<sup>e</sup> Good offices, he should doe att Court, would induce them on his return, to what they did nott att present agree to: Butt that what he immediately demanded was this; That neither M<sup>r</sup>. Surman or any one Else should interfeer in any buisness, off y<sup>e</sup> Durbar; That all letters, or papers should receive no other impression butt his own; and in generall requiring, that this Affair should remain entirely under his management. 'Tis true he offered to give an Account off Every thing to y<sup>e</sup> board, Yett in case off any dissent, he was resolved to doe itt on his own head, and for which he pretended to be accountable to none, but y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> President Etc. in Culcutta. These offers nott being consonant to our Generall Instructions, with y<sup>e</sup> private orders we have received, occasioned many disputes; as likewise y<sup>e</sup> produce off said General Instructions, which were read, and thoroughly Explained, yett availed nothing, he still persisting in his obstinaoy; withall that unless a thorough concession was made him, he would nott stirr a step out off Patna. These strange notions obliged M<sup>r</sup>. John Surman immediately to demand all the President Etc<sup>as</sup> Letters to the King and other Officers att Court; which he delivered as per Diary. Itt is our opinion, he has some other reasons more prevalent, than what he has offered in Councill: viz<sup>t</sup>. The hopes off carrying Merchants Goods under protection of y<sup>e</sup> Present, which he has frequently desired, butt could never obtain our consent to; being possitively contrary to our instructions, we well considering y<sup>e</sup> Risque off y<sup>e</sup> Present, and our selves by having them in our Company, with y<sup>e</sup> trouble that may arise att Court, for carrying them, and which he himself confirmed in a former Consultation: There being severall Armenians that he has brought up and designs to carry with him, besides other Merchants with whom he has contracted to carry their goods, and in which finding himself baultt off our Consent; we beleive has been y<sup>e</sup> occasion off his waving y<sup>e</sup> 20,000 R<sup>s</sup>., and making a further pretence, for his longer stay, till such time as he should receive farther Authority from Culcutta. We agreed to advise y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Councill off this Affair; He also promising to show what letters he wrote on that occasion, which finding him to have failed in, by sending his Cossid [qāṣīd] away privately. We Endeavoured by Spyes, and other Secrett methods to pry into his actions, which confirmed us in our abovementioned opinion; That his design is purely to delay our proceedure, nott having intentions for our Masters interest.

Our private Emissaries have now brought us an Account, that he has secretly dispatched a Cossid [qāṣīd] to Court, We know no reasons for itt, beleiving there was nott any great necessity : Yett we have this Jealousy, that there can be nothing for our Masters interest, seeing he did nott think fitt to advice us off itt. Itt is our buisness to consult y<sup>e</sup> Good off y<sup>e</sup> Affair we have in hand ; The Tents and Carriages being out, a sufficient guard being with Each ; This, with y<sup>e</sup> Housepeons, and o'her preparation to so great a Journey, occasions a very great Expençe, which ought to be mitigated, as much as possible, by our short Stay.—1st Itt is our opinion, that the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Councill will never give him y<sup>e</sup> Authority he pretends to : 2<sup>dly</sup> That itt is for y<sup>e</sup> Companys advantage y<sup>e</sup> Sooner we depart hence ; by which nott only a farther Expençe will be prevented, butt his designes, iff any bad, averted. 3<sup>dly</sup> That he has very much hindred us already, but nott permitting y<sup>e</sup> Bootade [buyutāti]<sup>1</sup>, to pay y<sup>e</sup> Carriers and Cohars [kahārs]; and Lastly for a generall remedy, to apply our selves privately to y<sup>e</sup> Nabob, and other Officers, as occasion offers, Either by fair words, or bribes ; Even to force us to a departure, from this place.”

12. CONSULTATIONS.

“The person formerly designed for Vakile [vakil], Anoopchund

January 1st 1715.

[Anūp Chand], continuing still so infirm, that an entire relyance cannot be putt in him, for fear off a disappointment ; With this consideration, we have looked out for another to supply his place, His name is Mollookehund [Malik Chand], by cast a Surrouck<sup>2</sup>, He has been brought up to this buisness all his life, in the Service off most off the Omrahs [umarā], who have been in these parts, being off a very good address, and one whose reputation we have nott in the least found to be tainted ; Agreed that he be taken into the Service to act in the buisness off the Durbar [darbār] under Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhaud]: He has agreed for 100 Rupees per Mensem, butt Expects to be Supply'd with Cohars [kahārs] for his Pallankeen 2 Servants and 1 Mussalehy [mash'alchī]. Considering

Mollookhund [Maluk Chand] is nott sufficient, we have taken another to assist in the Durbar ; His name is Ramchund Ponditt [Rām Chand, panḍit], by cast a Bramin; He is particularly recommended by Mr Surman, in Every respect qualified for a head Vakile, butt the want of the Persian Language, and may be off very good service, nott only in the Durbar, butt on other Accounts; For which reasons, having butt one Vakile, we take him into the Service to serve under Seerhaud in the Durbar, or any other buisness he shall be ordered to.

Agreed that he have 80 Rs pr. mo., and Pallankeen for his Journey ; to commence from the time off our departure, In the Interim, to receive 30 Rs pr. mo. from 15th Ult<sup>o</sup>, he having assisted from that time.

The Honourable President and Council having allowed Seerhaud 2 flaggs, pursuant to their orders, he has liberty to wear them."

"Pursuant to a private Consultation off the 1st Instant, Having Endeavoured by private meanes, to know whither itt was possible to hasten our departure, which the Nabob has Encouraged us to, butt Expects a present, nothing being to be done without itt ; Agreed that Mr Edw<sup>d</sup>. Finding the Nabob will be contented with this present, we think itt more to the Credit of the Negotiation, that itt be made in Goods, rather than money ; and likewise that the value cannot be so considerable, as to make us pause in giving itt ; Since we have so just reason to beleive our stay has been cheifly caused by Seerhaud, or att least that his Dilatoriness very much contributed thereto. Agreed that itt be done as privately as possible, that so we may the better reap the advantages of itt."

16. CONSULTATIONS.

January 15th. "This day Seerhaud informed us, that the Nabob being turned out, The treasure would nott proceed, for fear off any accident, in itt's way to Illabas; That itt was disputed between the Nabob, Duan [divān], and Buxie [bakhshī] who should provide the Convoy, and what was suffieient for the carriage of itt; That the Nabob himself would depart after the 13th off Next Moone; That since the Treasure was stopt, he beleived they would nott admitt off our proceedure: Withall the Question being putt whither we should consent to a farther stay, so as to proceed with the Nabob; or endeavour to depart, which would oblige them either actually to Stop us, or give some forces for our protection; Concluded on the Latter as the most proper; and that the Goorzeburdars [gurzburdārs] be ordered to endeavour that the Carriages and Doolys [ḍolis] be brought to the Tents, as soon as possible; that we may be in perfect readiness for our departure."

“Mess<sup>rs</sup> Stephenson, Hamilton, and Barker having desired that the Honourable President and Council might be acquainted with their small allowance for Clothes, in order to some addition; Hoping att least that said allowance may be doubled: We thinking itt very reasonable, Agreed that we write the Honourable President and Council in their behalf, and send them a Copy of their reasons on that head, viz<sup>t</sup>.

January 24th.

1st The absolute necessity off making a handsome appearance, in all places where we shall come, which was the reason off doubling the Honourable Companys allowance in the first Expencc off their apparell; Wherefore now humbly desire itt may be allowed, Seeing itt is an Expencc which otherwise there would have been no necessity for; Withall the present Employ off our Honourable Masters taking us from any prospect off private advantage.

2<sup>dly</sup> Being reasonably apprehensive our Journey will be much longer than formerly judged by the Honourable President & c<sup>a</sup>. our daily Expencc Striking very deep, and the first provision being near Spoiled, Hope they may have a Speedy Supply, nott being in such great circumstances, to doe itt immediately themselves.

There has been disputes for some time between the Nabob, Duan [diwān] and Buxie, [bakhshī] concerning the dispatch off the Treasure, with which we had hopes to proceed: The Duan and Buxie were against the dispatch of itt for fear of itt's being plundered by Sedistenaran & the Eugenes [Sedisht Nārāyan and the Ujainis], who were now grown desperate; Since Meer Jemla [Mir Jumlah] was coming with a great force to Suppress them: That Itt was nott unlikely butt he might plunder the Treasure, & with that money raise forces, and give a greater trouble to the Kings army: That in case the Nabob would permitt the Treasure to lye in the Fort, they would give him a receipt. ## 18. CONSULTATION.

"Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] having pursuant to a former consultation, been with the Nabob and Buxie [bakhshī], to endeavour iff possible to gain our dispatches with the Treasure, Informes us that the thing was impracticable, they not permitting any Carriages to proceed with The Treasure, nor even us, till they were assured that had reached Sarsewrong [Sahasrām]; when the Nabob promised we should be dispatched: To show that we were unwilling to stay behind, Yesterday we, by a full consent, ordered some off our Tents to be carry'd a Coarce [kos] on their way beyond the place where the Treasure was then Encamp'd, designing to have proceeded thither our selves; Butt were forbid by the Nabob and Buxie [bakhshī], for which reason now think itt improper, nott being willing to bring matters to an Extremity; Agreed that we continue where we are."

the fair promises off the Nabob ; and In case he did nott give forces, so soon as the Squabble was Ended with the Carriers, to proceed without them. Itt is our opinion their advice is wholesome, and ought to be followed : Butt are very apprehensive the Nabob will by some indirect meanes hinder the Bootade [buyutāti] from paying the Carriers ; notwithstanding the Cohars [kahārs] have received two months pay. Agreed that Seerhaud promise the Bootade [buyutāti] a Small present, on condition that our buisness be immediately finished ; That we may by any meanes gett hence, either with or without Force, Seeing our arrivall att Court this season depends upon itt."

22. CONSULTATION.

" Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] having been at the Buxies [bakhshī's], was informed, that unless we did proceed immediately, there might something happen in the Space of two days, which would disappoint our Journey for this Season ; Seerhaud communicated this news to us by letter, Joining his own opinion to that of the Buxie [bakhshī] ; Agreed that we decamp to morrow on Seerhauds note, and proceed to Pulwarry [Phulwāri], there Expecting the Issue off our Affairs in the Patna Durbars [darbārs].

In consideration that money beforehand must be given to our Horsemen, Peons, and other Servants, on our first Setting out ; Agreed that they have all 2 months pay given them, butt to commence from the first of the Ensuing month, as per Agreement, and with the advice and desire of Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], That wee may not Loose any time."

23. DIARY.

March 8th. "Wrote a note to Seerhaud, advising him to come out, leaving the Goorzeburdars [gurz bardārs] behind; and iff after we had gone two days Journey they could nott obtain any convoy, then to come after us, giving the Kings Dewhy."<sup>1</sup>

Nobatpore, March 10th. "Received a note from Seerhaud that after much trouble, he says, 50 Horsemen and 50 peons were obtained from the Nabob: He farther adds, that iff all things are ready, he will come out to morrow, iff not, then the day following."

24. CONSULTATION.

Nobatpore, March 12th. "We have now received a note from Seerhaud off the following contents: That the Nabob having sent his forces to us, he went to take his leave off the Buxie [bakhshā], who was against our Immediate proeedure, without a better Guard, or till such time as Meer Jemlah [Mīr Jumla] arrived on this side Illabas [Allahābād]; That all the Kings Phowdars [fauj dārs] on the road had fled, for fear of the Eugenes [Ujannis] and so we should hazzard the loosing our Present. This advice (as he writes) was strengthened by Caun Chund, Sheak Esaw, Futtechundsaw, and Lolgee [Khān Chand, Shekh Isā, Fath Chand Sāhā and Lālji]; wherefore he recommended itt to our consideration, withall desiring orders, whither he should stay, and follow their advice, or come out, we being contented to run any hazzard with the present convoy; he promising implicite obedience. We have examined the passengers on the road, and find that Merchants Goe and come without any more Extortion than Usual. Itt is our opinion we ought to proceed for the following reasons.

1st That as we have had a great deal off trouble, with the Carriers and Cohars [kahârs], the first of which have nott yett received their money, our longer stay must rekindle the quarrell about demurrage, which we fear cannot be ended without a great expence out off our Masters pockett: and farther, in case we do nott arrive att Court this season, itt is a query whither the King will be att the Double Expence

2<sup>dly</sup> That our Horsemen, peons, and Servants have commenced double pay from the 1st Instant, which raises a vast Expence. Note; this was by Seerhauds advising that all was finished.

3<sup>dly</sup> That unless we proceed immediately, 'twill be impossible to reach Court this Year; The consequence off which must be unnecessary and Great Expences, the Risque off damaging our present, butt above all the fear of nott succeeding in our design, itt being next to an impossibility to keep the Court in good temper, as appears by what has been done hitherto. All these things being considered, we conclude that our farther stay is off the worst consequence, That the risque is only what Expence we may be att with the Eugenes [Ujainis], (and that supposed) we having received Court Dustick [dastak] and the Nabobs assurance, that we shall nott be molested. We find by Seerhauds note that he is near overcome by the perswasion off the Buxie [bakhshî] etc.; for which reason Agreed that a note be wrote to him, possitively to come out; which in case he refuses, that he is answerable for any ill that may ensue by our farther stay."

25. DIARY.

"Arrived the Convoy consisting of 50 Horse and 50 Peons. Att
 2 a Clock received a note from Seerhaud, he says
 March 13th. he will come to morrow, butt makes no Excuse for nott coming immediately, notwithstanding the possitive order for that purpose."

26. CONSULTATION.

"Seerhaud nott having thought fitt to obey the summons sent him the 12th inst., has instead thereof answered March 14th. by Querks and Interrogations altogether unreasonable. Pursuant to the Honourable President and Council of Culeutta's commission and instructions, having ordered that every thing should be transacted according to the result off a Consultation ; We very well considered the risque off the road etc, att the time off our Summons to Seerhaud ; wherefore his refusing to comply therewith is unanswerable. The Charge off the Carriage being paid out of the Kings treasure, gives an opportunity to Seerhaud att this present to consult his own private interest, and we although dissenting are nott capable of breaking any measures he has taken ; He being ordered by the Honourable President and Council to act as head Vakile [vakil], and from which we have no authority to suspend him, unless by a special order from thence. Itt is now a duty incumbant on us, in respect both to our Employers and our Selves, to be cleared off any ill consequence that may Ensue, which can be no otherwise effected, than by protesting against Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad]. Agreed that we draw out a protest against him ; that one Copy be hereunto annexed, and another sent to the Honourable President and Council, to which we refer our Selves."

27. PROTEST AGAINST COJAH SEERHAUD.

 March 14th
 Nobatpore. their Generall instructions, dated May 13th 1714, have Empowered Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], to act in consort with us, as 2nd In Council, and head Vakile ; pursuant thereto he has been often called on to act in that Station ; which tho he never perfectly acquiesced in y<sup>e</sup> limitations off said orders ; Yett his obstinacy was never more barefaced, and off worse consequence, than whatt attends y<sup>e</sup> Present Juncture off Affairs.

"1st Att y<sup>e</sup> pressing instigation off Seerhaud, strengthened by Buxies [bakhsī's] advice, (as he writes) we came to Pulwarry, and from thence to Nobatpore : The quarrell with y<sup>e</sup> Carriers being near adjusted, and that off y<sup>e</sup> Cohars [kahārs] already over ; withall the Nabob having been prevailed on, to send 50 Horse and 50 Peons for our protection thro' his province.

“That itt is more for our Hon<sup>ble</sup> Masters Interest and Honour, to risque any Expençe off y<sup>e</sup> road, than stay, and In y<sup>e</sup> least hazzard our buisness, by nott arrivall.

For y<sup>e</sup> reasons above-mentioned, Seerhaud has been possitively ordered to leave Patna, and in case he did nott, or occasioned our farther stay, that he was answerable for all y<sup>e</sup> ill consequences that might Ensue. Seerhaud has nott only refused these our orders, butt has hindered y<sup>e</sup> Bootades Gomasto [buyutāt's gumāshtah] from coming to finish y<sup>e</sup> business off the Carriage; withall endeavouring to gett our convoy recalled by y<sup>e</sup> Nabob. He has nott thought fitt to give any reasons for his non Compliance, (we believe there are none): wherefore he is occasion off our farther unnecessary Expençe, and all other ill consequences that may accrew by our longer stay; and accordingly we Protest Against you Seerhaud Israel, and Your Proceedings, for y<sup>e</sup> following reasons.

- 1st On y<sup>e</sup> quarrell that must necessarily ensue with y<sup>e</sup> Carriers and Cohars, [kahārs] for demurrage in case we doe nott proceed immediately, or nott arrive att Court this season.
- 2nd That on our leaving Pulwarry, which was by Seerhauds advice, himself promising to come the same day; The pay off Horsemen, Peons etc<sup>a</sup> Servants is doubled, amounting to a very great Expençe.
- 3rd That waiting for Meer Jemlahs [Mir Jumlah's] arrivall, will putt us out off a capacity to arrive this Season; The ill consequence off which will be y<sup>e</sup> damage off y<sup>e</sup> Present, A vast Expençe, and very probably y<sup>e</sup> entire overthrow off our buisness.
- 4th Being assured that Seerhauds Stay is occasioned by Merchants Goods; Severall Carriages off which are arrived in our Camp, taking his name on them: Wherefore beleive he has endeavoured to gett y<sup>e</sup> Dustick [dastak] and convoy recall'd, resolving to waite Meer Jemlahs [Mir Jumlah's] arrivall, when y<sup>e</sup> road may be clear enough for his purpose, but nott consonant to our Masters Interest.

For these reasons, and whatever else may, or can be alledged against you, for your breaking y<sup>e</sup> orders, and instructions off y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Councill off Fort William, In our own name to clear our selves off any damage that may ensue and in y<sup>e</sup> name off Our Hon<sup>ble</sup>

Employers, We protest against You Seerhaud Israel, and Affirm and Declare by these presents, that you are y<sup>e</sup> actual occasion of y<sup>e</sup> Double Expence which has commenced from our arrivall, from Pulwarry, and off all other damages off weight, and Charge that may accrew by our farther Stay here, and for which you are obliged to answer.

Whereas nott having y<sup>e</sup> usuall forms off Protests by us, According to y<sup>e</sup> law; we Affirm that this ought to be, and is as good in every respect, as iff done in y<sup>e</sup> letter off y<sup>e</sup> laws off England.

Wittness our Hands, and Dated att

"The Bootades Gomasto [buyutati's gumāshstah] arrived from the City, having sett out att Mid-night to escape the Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] whom Seerhaud Sett over him to prevent his coming. Seerhaud and the Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] arrived without giving any notice off their coming; Butt we conjectured right, that the Gomastoes [gumāshstahs] coming would bring Seerhaud, Seeing He laboured so much to prevent itt. He brought a letter from the Padree, off which shall speak in the consultation to be held to-morrow.”

31. CONSULTATION.

“Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] having delivered a letter from Padree Daniel, which being translated into English, Ordered that a Copy be here inserted.

To Mr. J. Surman and Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad].

‘My True and well beloved Disciples, after the kind salutations from Padree Daniel, I advise you, that two years are now Elapsed, since upon your desire I first entered into your buisness. God be thank, whatever orders You desired from the King, you have and will obtaine. God prosper Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur] and Sellabutt Caun [Sayyed Ṣalābat Khān], who have comply’d with all my desires, introducing my petitions to the King as you will clearly perceive by the orders already Sent. They daily enquire after your departure, saying that whatsoever you desired has been sent you, wherefore your long stay seemes Strange. By the Grace off God and the favour off the Nabob, the Charge off your Carriage has been obtained: A favour never before conferred on any one from the time off Tamerlane. This is purely owing to the Grace off God and favour off the Nabob. Besides this our Enemies represent that the Charge off the Carriage will amount to near a Leek off Rupees and that the whole cost off the present cannot Exceed two. To this I answered, that an Enemy was nott to be beleived, That itt was the English Elohi [ambassador], and that the amcunt off the Present could nott be less than 10 or 15 Leek. I was doing these things, as will more plainly appear by the Enclosed note; when itt Seems, within a small time Mr. J<sup>no</sup> Surmans letter to Mons<sup>r</sup>. Martin arrived. He wrote that his patrons were the Vizier and Buxie, Omeerall Omrah; [Amiru-l-Umarā] and by whose meanes all orders that came were obtained: no letter off thanks either to Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur], or Sellabutt Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] arriving; For which reason they have been very angry with me; That for your account so many orders had been granted, which was never done to any Elohi, since Tamerlane; That we have apply’d our Selves to your buisness, and that after You had gained your point such letters were very Surprizing. 'Tis for this reason, Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur] is very much displeased. I returned answer that these were stories entirely raised by enemies, That I would dispatch a Cossid [qāṣīd], that should go in 17 days, and return in as many; andt hat whatever answer was given I would inform him off. Itt seemes there were Severall things wrote in a letter to Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-din Khān]; Said Caun [Sayyad Khān] sent that letter to Sallabut Caun Behauder [Ṣalābat Khān Bahādur]<sup>1</sup> who shew'd itt me, at which I was very much ashamed. I represented that itt was entirely false; that the English Elchy had no dependance on any one besides Caundora [Khān Daurān] and Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān]; I farther added, that I was only a praying Faquir, and that 'twas nott my buisness to be a Vakile; That indeed I had received a great many Letters from Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad], who is my disciple, for which reason I entered upon the English Elchys buisness; that these men are unacquainted with lyes, knowing butt one word, and Except the Assistance of this patronage, know no other; and iff they Employ me in this buisness, can know no other; and should the buisness in the End point to Jumdah-Tulmooluck<sup>2</sup> and Omeerall-Omrah,<sup>3</sup> yett all gratefull acknowledgment is certainly due to the place off their first address. In what thing has there been any neglect, that such letters are sent? Iff you have any caution on my account, for God sake acquaint me, that I may wash my Self clean off this buisness, and that I may nott a Second time be disgraced by Omrahs [umarā], that are equall to Princes; Or iff you design Monsieur Martin for the Management off this buisness, advise, that I may have no farther trouble. Iff I am to have itt, then write an Arrezdaust [arzdāst] to Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur] and Sallabutt Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] gratefully acknowledging their Favours and that Padree Daniel daily advises of their continuance.

I am Your Slave'

This letter containing reflections on Jno. Surman as if he had wrote to Zeaudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-dīn] & Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin that he had no obligations to Caundora behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur], butt was entirely obliged to the Vizier and Buxie [bakhshī i.e. Husain 'Alī Khān] for which reason Caundora [Khān Daurān], had sent for the Padree, (as he writes) and shewed him the letter being very much displeas'd; Jno. Surman affirms this to be false, and appeals to all the English Gentlemen with him, (who very well know what letters he has wrote) that he did nott write any thing of that nature either to Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin or Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān]. He owns a letter to Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin, Jointly with M<sup>r</sup> Stephenson, butt it was only concerning Hodgee Omud [Hāji Ahmad]; The answer to which was transmitted to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President & Councill in Fort William. Wherefore what the Padree has wrote, is a palpable Falsity.

The Bootades Gomasto [buyutāti's gumāshstāh] being arriv'd in the Camp, with a design to finish the buisness off the Carriers and Cohars [kahārs] which is likely to be made up, the Dumurrage from the 1st off the month Excepted: Itt is our Opinion that Seerhaud had better Stay with us that we may be altogether, more proper for frequent Consultations; Butt that the Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] be sent to the Duan [dwān] and Buxie [bakhshī], to endeavour the obtaining the Demurrage above-mentioned."

32. CONSULTATION.

"In our consultation off the 23rd Inst. There being a letter produced from Padree Daniel to M<sup>r</sup> Surman and Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad], We have now very well considered itt. Agreed That the following answer be given to itt. "That M<sup>r</sup> J. Surman never wrote either to Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin, or Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān] concerning the management off the Companys Affairs att Court, and much less concerning any thing Asserted in his letter. That he should nott creditt things off this nature, without better grounds than what appeared att present. That asserting our present to amount to 10 or 15 Leck off rupees was a very great error, such expressions being highly improper in the Kings Durbar; Butt as we were incapable either to add to, or diminish from the present we had received, So on our Arrivall att Court the same should be punctually delivered. He advising that he has been oblig'd, the Expence in obtaining the Severall orders sent from Court Excepted, to give under his hand and Seal obligations to the officers in post, for payment off certain Sums off money and Goods on our arrivall; We desire to know by what authority he made this step, Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] denying the giving any Such orders.' That a particular account be given off the reason off our Stay; and although we know no reason why Caun-dora [Khān Daurān] and Sallabutt Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] should be so angry, as he affirms, Yett according to his desire, Agreed that letters be wrote to them with a full account why we have been detained so long, and a gratefull acknowledg<sup>m</sup>ent off Their Favours; and that copys off said letters be sent to the Honourable President and Councill.

Being in a readiness to proceed, whenever the Government will vouchsafe to dismiss us, we shall now make some addition to the pay off our Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddis], and Persian Secretary; Agreed that Otmaram [Ātmarām] have 35 Rupees per Month, Kissengiben [Kṛiṣṇajivan] 20 Rupees, and Momudy [Muhumdi] 30 Rupees to commence from the 1st Instant.

Omerseign [Amar Sing] being arrived in the Camp, is endeavouring to make up the buisness off the Carriers and Cohars [kahārs], which is so perplexed That they refuse to stirr on any other terms, than the payment off their demurrage from the time off our first arrivall att Pulwarry [Phulwāri]. We having also received answer from the Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] and Vakile, that the Duan [dūān] had possitively denied the payment of any demurrage, withall itt being the Generall opinion that we shall never obtain itt; Agreed that we endeavour to compose this buisness, still leaving roome, that in Case it should be allowed hereafter, itt may nott be to the Detriment off our Honourable Masters. For we are well assured, that a Neglect in these differences would in a very little time bring them past redress.

1st A payment for what carriages laden, beyond the Kings Custom, which was occasioned by a mistake in our generall calculation off the weight off Goods, and was considerably encreased by what received from Patna Factory.

2<sup>dly</sup> A payment of all demurrage, commencing From February 26th, the time off our first decampment to this Instant.<sup>1</sup>

Agreed that the first demand be paid out off the Merchants Goodss. This will partly repay the 2500 Rupees due to our Honourable Masters. The remainder being ballanced by account demurrage.

Agreed also that we see them paid their demurrage either out off our own Cash or the Kings treasury.

The difference with the Cohars [kahārs] is a thing off far greater consequence, and to adjust which we are att a stand, they having received and Commenced 2 Months pay from the Date abovementioned; so that more than half is already Expended, and they in an uproar for more money.

Being informed that Seerhaud had received 2000 Siccas from the Bootade [buyutāti] account the 3 Months pay off the Cohars [kahārs], payable att Illabas [Allahabad] He now owns the receipt off itt, and that he had given his receipt to the Bootade [buyutāti]. Butt that Sum being demanded off him he said he had itt nott with him, but promised to deliver itt the Following day, which when received, Ordered that itt be brought to Account Cash.

pr. Md is	910
Demurrage <sup>1</sup> in part due to them	1,751 9

Itt being impossible att present perfectly to adjust the Acco<sup>t</sup> off Dumurrage, The Charging the Merch<sup>ts</sup> with their Dividend is also referr'd till another opportunity.

Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] Assents to this Consultation, a sentence in the third paragraph Excepted (Viz<sup>t</sup> Itt is the Generall opinion) Said Seerhaud Affirms that itt [demurrage money] is procurable, for which purpose he will speedily return to the City."

33. DIARY.

"Seerhaud returned to the City."

March 26th.

"Seerhaud writes The Duan [dīwān] will give us a Convoy in Case we take on our Selves the risque off the road."

March 28th.

<sup>1</sup>I do not understand how this demurrage is calculated. At the rate of Rs. 35 a day it would practically be the demurrage for 50 days; but according to this consultation demurrage was to be paid only from the 26th February. Thus on the 25th March there would be only 28 days' demurrage due. That the rate was Rs. 35 a day is proved by the payment made to the carriers on the 25th May.

34. CONSULTATION.

“Itt was In a former Consultation Agreed by a majority, That April 1st. Seerhaud should remain with us, and that the Nobatpore. Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] with a Vakile should be sent to endeavour the obtaining an allowance off Demurrage, and Convoy. However Seerhaud thought fitt to give no compliance, butt returned to Patna the 26th Ult<sup>o</sup>. There being no other method to prevent this butt force, which we judged improper to make use off; and he affirming, he only went to take leave off the Buxie [Bakhshī], with reiterated promises to return the 3rd day, we rather Suffered, than consented to his going: Yett he has nott kept his word.

The Goorzeburdars [gurzbardārs] on their arrivall att the City having received a clear answer from the Duan [dīwān], that he would pay no demurrage, without a possitive order from the King, we were well convinced what we had to depend on. Yett that Seerhaud might nott be backward in amusing us with Shows off the Companys Interest, He for three or four days Successively wrote us, nott to intermeddle in this affair, requiring att the Same time a Calculation off the Demurrage, under Mr Surmans Seal, on delivery off which, he affirmed the money to be forth coming out off the Kings treasury. We must here observe that when he was with us it was unanimously agreed, that the payment off this money lay between the King and ourselves. We are well assured he has no grounds for Such advices. However we sent him the Calculation he required; Upon receipt off which, he betook himself to this last, but indifferent shift for farther delay: The Duan [dīwān] saying we had no buisness to be concerned about the Demurrage, but that iff his Majesty was for the hasty arrivall off the Present, the Cohars [kahārs] and Carriers might be sent with itt in Chains. These foolish flights were so farr from convincing us, that we were Assured every thing was going to ruin, unless Suddainly retrieved. The carriers refusing to Stir, and the Cohars [kahārs] to take up their burdens, without matters were in some measure adjusted.

Omer Seign [Amar Sing], who has been indefatigable in adjusting the present differences, has communicated a Schem to us, according to which he says the Carriages will be finished, Viz<sup>t</sup>. 1st To pay for what overladed on Each Carriage beyond the kings Custom att 10 Rupees per Maund. 2<sup>ndly</sup> To Engage the payment off Demurrage from the time of our first decampment either from the king according to his Custom, or from our Selves according to that off Merchants. That we give them a note for this ; In return off which, Each Carrier will sign a discharge. This being conformable to a project agreed to, in a Consultation off the 25th Ult<sup>o</sup>. butt nott then completed, by reason off the differences among the Carriers them Selves. Agreed that itt be now putt in Execution, and that Seerpaws [sar-o-pās] be given to Each Chowdry [chaudhari], and Turbetts<sup>1</sup> to Every Carrier with 50 Rupees for a treat.

Omerseign [Amar Sing] having Such Success with the Carriers, Agreed, that he undertake to compose matters likewise with the Cohars ; We being off opinion, itt is for the Interest off our Hon<sup>ble</sup> Masters to take them before their 2 M<sup>os</sup> are Expired, notwithstanding itt may att present Seem Expensive: for should we Stay never so little longer, we may be obliged to pay the whole over again, which according to the kings Custom is 7 rupees per maund to Each Cohar [kahār].”

36. CONSULTATION.

“The buisness off the Cohars [kāhars] has given us more trouble, than was really Expected, they demanding their pay, and which nott being comply’d with by the Government, has putt us to the Utmost Extremity. This is purely owing to our Stay. All the arguments possible have been used to convince them that the large pay they had received was nott designed for maintainance during their Stay, but that another account must be made up for that time, according to what Customary in Patna, we nott having perfectly commenced our Journey. Butt their being so great a Number, and withall so refractory, no reasons could work on them ; neither would they come to any Agreement. We would willingly, considering their great necessity, have lett them had a months pay att 2 rupees per month butt that was altogether rejected. The Bootades Gomasto [buyutāti’s gumāsh-tah] now informs us, that since the Government have refused to adjust this matter, by paying more money out off the kings treasury ; Itt was nott feasible to be entirely made up here: wherefore itt would be best for us to leave off the project off any immediate adjustment, butt endeavour to proceed without itt. He farther adds, that iff we would lend the Cohars [kahārs] 2400 Rupees they would give an obligation to proceed without any farther demands, till they arrived att Illabas [Allahabad], iff itt be within the Space of one Month eighteen days, when they would Expect the 2000 Siccas, that Seerhaud has received; waiting for the remainder off their 3 Months pay till they reached Agra : and afterwards, on the finishing their Accounts att Dilly, they will repay what money we advanced them. We lament the misfortunes that have attended our procedured, they being entirely owing to Seerhauds management. What his designs are God knows, butt they seem to us, far from the Interest of our Honourable Masters. However Seeing things are come to this pitch, That unless we are in a Capacity by making up this buisness, to proceed, we shall find a stop to our Journey in an improper place, When the Governments money will be expended and their Demands tribbled; We judge this the best opportunity, (Seeing we shall be compell'd att last to do itt) to lay hold off the least Expence, Wherefore Agreed that Mr. John Surman pay the Sum abovementioned to the Cohars [kahārs], and receive the necessary notes from them: That ordinary Seerpaws [sār-o-pās] and Turbetts be given to the Cheifs, and 50 Rupees to Feast them.

In the management off this buisness Seerhaud has shown himself very free from any apprehensions off the ill consequences, that must attend our delay, and Seemes Satisfied with the Slight answers off the Duan [dīwān] and Buxie [bakshī]; as iff itt were possible for men to labour without Sustenance, and be carried in Chains; when they will come to no conclusions concerning our Convoy, or any thing Else, still putting us off From to day till to morrow, which has run on Six weeks Successively, and yett our Affairs nott Seeming in the least advanced. We trust the management of this Affair will have the approbation off our Honourable Employers.

We assert this to be entirely owing to Seerhaud, and for these reasons, we can have no confidence in him; and as we may att present say the Camp is, in some measure, under our command, Agreed that we proceed forthwith, and that a Summons be sent to Seerhaud and the Goorzeburdars [gursbardārs] immediately to leave the City and come to us."

52. CONSULTATION.

"The Kings Cohars [kahārs], that came with us, have, since their arrival, here, been very troublesome, there being 16 or 17 days pay due to them; Besides, they make a demand, for the time before their pay was commenced by the Government in Patna, which amounts to a Considerable Summ. We are advised, by our friends, not to lett them Come to an Extremity nor lett them goe, to complain to the King; Butt that itt will be more for our credit, to make up the buisness att home, and give them their due pay our Selves. Endeavouring afterwards to gett a reimbursement from the Kings Consomma [Khānsāmān, or Lord Steward], which iff nott allowed, we must nott look att that Expence as unreasonable, having received so much from the King already. "The King left the City."<sup>2</sup>54. LETTER II.<sup>3</sup>

We have lately sent Your Hon<sup>r</sup> the good news of our safe arrivall here, the visiting the King and the civil treatment we met with all which will without doubt be very welcome news, We have since visited several Omrahs [umarā] as the Vizier Caundora [Khān Daurān], and Tackarubcaun [Taqarrub Khān], where we were received with all the Respect that could be expected and gives me some hopes that all will end well, but what gives me the most encouragement (for I am well acquainted these Nobles, as long as they are expecting to get anything are always complaisant) is that the methods we are at present taking, is consistant and with the advice & Councill of Zoudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān], We visited that Gentleman the 11th Curr<sup>t</sup> and met with the same treatment He has always given to Englishmen with the highest acknowledgements of the favours He has Rec<sup>d</sup> from them, that as yet He had never been able to retaliate any of them but hop<sup>d</sup> He had now an opportunity of doing Something, he pressingly advis<sup>d</sup> us to do nothing without the advice Counsel and order of Caundora [Khān Daurān] (and the main instrument of our affairs) Syed Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān], that the turn of affairs at the Durbarr oblig<sup>d</sup> us to it, this which he told us by word of mouth he wrote me when I sent your Hon<sup>s</sup> Letter to him. We are convinced he advises like a freind and are intent on the method, but at the same time very cautious how we anyways disoblige the Vizier Wee, being very sure that Zoudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān] was very intimate there, sent and advis<sup>d</sup> him when we intended to visit, That He would use his interest for our better Reception, intending to manage the Durbarr by his means, He assur<sup>d</sup> us that We might be satisfy<sup>d</sup> as to the important Durbarr: The good prospect We have of our affairs makes Coja Surhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] very good <sup>1</sup> They demanded pay altogether for 136 days, beginning on the 26th February. The King had given them three months' pay, i.e., 90 days, and they had also received an extra sum of Rs. 8,000 which they appear to have reckoned as 28 days' pay. Thus 18 days' pay was owing. This was, it would seem, paid by the English at the rate of Rs. 7-8-0 a month a man, whereas the King's rate was only Rs. 7 a month for each man.

56. LETTER III.<sup>1</sup>

Fort William Etc. Council in Bengal.

Honourable Sir and Sirs,

The last we wrote Your Honour Etc. was dated July 8th giving an Account of our safe arrivall at this place and our visiting the King. We are at present but little able to give your Honour Etc. an Account of our Negotiation, the King going out the 11th to a place about 5 Course [kos] from hence<sup>2</sup> to Worship and with him all the Omrahs [uamrā], so that little business can be expected till he comes back again, his Stay being longer than we imagined we intend to make him a visit a broad that there may be no occasion of any disgust.

Since our former we visited the Vizier and Tuckurub Caun [Taqarrub Khān] which was attended with a great many Civilitys and promises of assistance in our affairs: likewise we paid our Respects to Zoudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān] whose treatment was equall to the Respect he has always Shewn to Englishmen, assured us our affairs were in a very good state and that the design we had of carrying on our business by means of Caundora [Khān Daurān] was the only adviseable Way to hope for Success, for although the Vizier and Tuckurub Caun [Taqarrub Khān] were in the highest Posts, and our business in a great measure would inevitably fall into their hands yet for a Patron or one to have the intire management of the business, none was so fit or could do so much as Caundora [Khān Daurān]. We were well informed that he was very intimate with the Vizier for which Reason we particularly desired his Freindship, in the management of that Durbarr he assured us We might rest satisfied on that side, a few days, we hope, will bring the King to his Palace again when we shall enter upon action and hope every thing will answer the expectations we have conceived from so good a beginning.

The Padre in some of his former Letters to us while on our way Copies of which we have Sent your Honour Etc. did advise that he had been obliged to give writing under his hand and Seal to the Mutsuddies [mutaşadīs, officials, clerks] at Court, for a Certain Summ of mony and goods on our Arrivall and finishing the business. We have examined into that matter and are informed, that 'tis to Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur], and Syud Sallabut Caun Behauder [Sayyad Şalābat Khān Bahādur] for twenty-five thousand Rupees, We intend to take up this obligation as invalid, and make as good agreements as we can our Selves, the main reason of our doing this is that the Padre may have no more oportunitys of giving Notes under his hand for any thing Relating to our business.

We have frequently complained to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> and wrote of the invalidity of the Letters of Creditt sent us, and of what ill consequence it might be in case we should be disappointed of mony when we came to Action, it being the main Spring of our Negotiation. Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> did advise that you were

62. LETTER IV.<sup>1</sup>

“To the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Edward Harrison Esq President and Governour of Fort St<sup>r</sup>
 Honourable Sir and Sirs

A duplicate of your Honours &c<sup>as</sup> dated January 15th Originally of the 29th came to hand June the 29th, 20 Coarce [kos] distant from Dilly. We deferred giving answer at that time in hopes to obtain an order on Sadatulla Cawn to attend it, but the removall of his Majesty from the City hindred us from commencing any business, so can only give your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> an Account how things Stand at present.

The 2nd of July when we arrived within 12 Coarce [kos] of the City there came two Serpaws [sar-o-pās] from his Majesty which were received with the usual Ceremony, when we arrived within 3 Coarce [kos] we prepared for our Entry; desiring if possible for the Credit of our Negotiation, that we might first pay obeisance to his Majesty and then proceed to the house provided for us which being concerted the 6th there came a Caun [Khān] of 2000 munsab [manṣab] with 200 horse, peons, elephants and flags to conduct us to the City, when we arrived at the Outward Gate we were met by Syud Sallabut Cawn Bahauder [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, Bahādur] who carried us to the Kings palace. We carried with us some raritys which we presented, Cawndora [Khān Daurān] introducing us to the Royall Presence. Considering the great State with the Adoration paid to these Eastern Monarchs, we were as well Received as any European has been for these many years. We received Serpaws [sar-o-pās]. There being a Culgee [kalghī]<sup>2</sup> set with Jewells given to John Surman and a Cunger [khanjar]<sup>3</sup> set with Jewells to Surhaud [Sarhad] likewise, when we came to our house we were by the Kings order entertaind by Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, Bahādur] with a dinner sufficient for us and all our people three days after the King left the City under pretence of visiting a Sacred place about 6 Coarce [kos] from thence, but the true Reason (we are of opinion) was to clear himself of a kind of confinement which he thought he suffered whilst in the Fort, afterwards on the petition of his Omrahs [umarā]<sup>4</sup> to return to the City the time of the Rains being improper for travelling; He shewed himself resolved to proceed either to Lahore or Azmere [Ājmer]. Neither could all the Arguments used avert his intended journey. This startled us considering with how great trouble and risque we had brought the present thus farr, and how to carry it on at this time of the year we were something at a Stand. At last we concluded to give the gross of our present in notwithstanding the King was abroad. But in delivering some of the fine Clocks they were ordered to be returned and kept in good order till he came back to the City, he having now determined only to visit a sacred place about 40 Coarce [kos] from Dilly; After which he would return. This Stop'd our presenting the remainder of our goods. But We concluded that it was necessary to attend his Majesty in this Journey. We now continue in the Camp leaving Mr. Stephenson and Mr. Philips to take care of what goods remain in the City and in Case that the King should proceed farther that they concert measures to bring the goods after us. We are in this interval preparing petitions to be delivered to his Majesty hoping We shall do something for our Honourable masters that has not been yet obtained. The patronage and management of this Negotiation is in the hands of the greatest favourite at Court Caundora [Khān Daurān]; and under him Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] withall We being no ways unmindfull of our old freind Zoudy Cawn [Zeyā-ud-dīn Khān] without whose advice we enter upon nothing, but he being at present in a low Station is not able to obtain the Kings Ear, however we are satisfied that whatever lyes in his power he do's, and will assist us but particularly in the Viziers Durbarr.

Hossein Ali-Cawn Bahander Omeerall Omrah [Ḥusain 'Alī Khān Bahādur, Amīr-ul-umārā] is lately gone into the Decan Country having the entire Command of all that part of this Kingdom,<sup>1</sup> your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> have doubtles heard how great he has made himself even to vie with the Commands of his Imperial Majesty as lately appeared in the disputes between himself and Meer Jemlah [Mīr Jumla] whilst at Court, when he obliged his antagonist contrary to the Kings desires to remove from Court to Patna where by the interest of Omeerall Omrah [Amīr-ul-umārā] and his own mismanagement he is quite Ruined, Wherefore we humbly Reccomend a very good correspondance to with Omeerall Omrah [Amīr-ul-umārā] otherwise whatever We shall be able to do here will be off very little service before him.

We have in a very particular manner observed what your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> have wrote concerning the priviledges and accordingly have Specified them in our petitions As for the Towns we cannot yet advise your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> what we are Capable of doing till such time we find how the Court is disposed, however our endeavours Shall not be wanting in the minutest particular and above all for Diu [Divi] Island.

Concerning Sadatulla Cawns [Sa'ādatullah Khān<sup>2</sup>] taking the Fort of Chingie [Jinji] We have examined and find that as soon as the news arrived at Court that Rajah Suropsing [Swarūp Singh] was dead orders were sent from hence to his son to deliver up that Government to Sadatulla Cawn [Sa'ādatullah Khān] he having orders likewise to receive it which the Rajah not thinking fit to comply with said Fort was taken from him by force. This Victory in the Kings behalf has very much pleased this Court. We are endeavouring to get an order concerning the business of Fort St. Davids to be sent to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> by the ships from Bengall.

<sup>2</sup> Sa'ādatullah Khān, Muḥammad Sa'īd, entitled Sa'ādatullah Khān Bahādur, was of the tribe of Nawāyat. He died on the 19th Rabi 'II, 1145, i.e., the 8th October 1732 N. S. while faujdar of both Karnāts, aged about 80 lunar years. See Tarikh-i-Muhammadi. His biography is given in Ma'asirul-l-umārā, II, 513, and in Wilks, I, 226, 242.

We hope his Majesty will not exceed his intended Journey but Return to the City : when we shall advise your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>. of whatever occurs.

Farther, that we shall receive no Sunnod [sanad] from y<sup>e</sup> Suba [ṣūbahdār] or Duan [dīwān],—they acting pursuant to y<sup>e</sup> great Phirmaund [farmān] your Majesty has granted.

7. In former days the Mint was Settled att Dacca and Rojamoll [Rājmahal], where the Companys Gold and Silver was Coined. The Mint att present is in Muxodavad [Maṣṣūdābad]. We humbly petition through y<sup>e</sup> favour of Your Majesty, that according to former Custom y<sup>e</sup> Companys Gold and Silver may be coined in y<sup>e</sup> Present mint, without any lett or Molestation,—that y<sup>e</sup> Mutsuddys [mulaṣaddī] off y<sup>e</sup> mint make no uncustomary demands, taking y<sup>e</sup> Mintage only; and that in y<sup>e</sup> Season when other Merchants goods are coining, The Company may have 3 days in y<sup>e</sup> week allowed to them, which will be a Particular Favour.

8. Att the time of buying goods in Hugly; Notes are Given by y<sup>e</sup> Droga [daroghah] and Mushreif [mushrif]; which are so tedious, that the Season of y<sup>e</sup> Year passes, before they can be obtained; and is a great imposition on y<sup>e</sup> Companys Factors. We humbly petition, that Your Majesty will be pleased to order, that y<sup>e</sup> Drogas [daroghah] permission off y<sup>e</sup> Abovementioned Port be Sufficient to bring goods from Merchants Houses to y<sup>e</sup> Factory : by which means, we shall be capable to dispatch our Ships att y<sup>e</sup> Proper Season.

9. There was a Mint settled Att Madrass in y<sup>e</sup> reign off Aurungzebe: The money Coin'd att which place, receives So much pr Cent discompt, before taken into y<sup>e</sup> treasury off any Subaship [ṣūbah], Altho' off y<sup>e</sup> Same fineness, and Goodness with Rupees made in Suratt, which is a considerable detriment to y<sup>e</sup> Company. We hope from Your Majestys Favour, to have an order on all y<sup>e</sup> Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddī] off Every Subaship [ṣūbah] in India, forbidding that imposition for y<sup>e</sup> future ; that Said money pass like that coined att Suratt and other places ; and that they be received by y<sup>e</sup> Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddīs] into y<sup>e</sup> treasury like all other Siccas [sikkah, coined money].

10. Itt sometimes happening att Sea, by reason off Stormes and Misfortunes that Ships are obliged to take Port, and are now and then racked. The Governours of those Ports frequently Seize without any reason on Such Ships and Cargoes. Ships Likewise missing their port, and being obliged to harbour in Chittagong, Ganjam, Namoud-bundee Etc. The Governours off these places also have Seized both on Ships and Cargoes ; Sometimes demanding a quarter part Salvage, all which is to y<sup>e</sup> irreparable loss off y<sup>e</sup> Owners. Thro' y<sup>e</sup> Great favour off Your imperial Majesty We humbly petition, that Strict orders may be given to y<sup>e</sup> Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddī] off all Subaships [ṣūbah] in Indostan, that they nowise offer to trouble, or molest us on this Account ; butt on y<sup>e</sup> Contrary Assist Such Ships as much as lyes in their Power. So that being under the Shadow off Your Majesty ; We may pray for length off Years and Success in all Your undertakings, whilst with satisfaction our trade is improved, to y<sup>e</sup> Great Encrease off Your Majestys Customs.

11. There is protection given by Your Majestys Officers to Severall off y<sup>e</sup> Companys Servants and those from whom debts and Accounts are due ; So that neither money nor Accounts are procurable. We for this reason, Humbly Petition, that Your Majesty would please to order, that whoever so deserts y<sup>e</sup> Company be sent back to y<sup>e</sup> Cheif off y<sup>e</sup> Factory.

<sup>3</sup> Jinjī, a town now in the South Arcot district, lat. 12° 16', long. 79° 27', was besieged by the Moguls from 1690 and taken in 1694. See also Yule and Burnell, p. 801.

What we Assisted against Your Competitor, and acted in Hugly, pursuant to Your Majestys order, in helping Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān] with all manner of ammunition, provisions etc<sup>a</sup> doubtless Your Majesty is nott unacquainted with. For which reason, we humbly petition, that those towns may be regranted to us."

17. Att the Port off Suratt, The Company in y<sup>e</sup> time off Sha-Jehaun [Shāh Jahān] paid 2 p<sup>r</sup> Cent Custom, In y<sup>e</sup> reign off Aurungzebe [Aurangzēb] 3½ p<sup>r</sup> Cent Viz<sup>t</sup>: 2 Custom, and 1½ Gigen. In y<sup>e</sup> reign of Behauder Sha [Bahādur Shāh] 2½ p<sup>r</sup> Cent was ordered, which Custom is paid att present. We have hopes from Your Imperiall Favour, that as we Enjoy y<sup>e</sup> privilidge off Custom-free in other Ports, We may have y<sup>e</sup> Same privilidge att Suratt; and that according to y<sup>e</sup> Custom off Bengall, a Certain Yearly Peeshcash [peshkash] may be paid instead off Custom. The reasons are, that for these 20 Years Elapsed, There have been new impositions laid on, and injustice done us Yearly, by y<sup>e</sup> Kings Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddīs]. The goods whose value is 1 rupee they prize att 2, and off which they take Custom with that Severity, that a duty is laid on y<sup>e</sup> very Cloths and ornaments. Wherefore helpless we have been obliged for these three Years to withdraw that Factory, which cannot be resettled without some peculiar marks off Your Majestys favour; Such as have been Shown to Bengall etc<sup>a</sup>

18. Our residence for many years in Suratt has been in one off the Kings houses, which we have rented, att present this house is gone to ruine; and untill Such time as Your Majesty is pleased to give itt us, we are uncapable to repair itt. We humbly petition a grant off itt, from Your Imperiall Majesty; as also 400 Beaguers [bīgaḥs] off Ground without y<sup>e</sup> City, whereon we may make a house & Garden that so We may Satisfactorily Encrease our trade, bless our Benefactor, and wish him a long and Glorious reign.

Our last to your Hon<sup>r</sup>. Etc<sup>a</sup> was August the 31st Since which we have not receiv'd any Letters from your Hon<sup>r</sup>. Etc<sup>a</sup> We then advis'd that we had prepar'd our General Petition we design'd to have presented it the first good Opportunity, but his Majesty's indisposition continuing and Mr. Hamilton having him under care it has been thought advisable by our friends as well as our Selves to deferr delivering it till such time as it Shall please God that his Majesty in some measure return to his former State of health which advice we intend to follow considering that whilst he is in so much pain it can be but a very indifferent opportunity to beg favours of him. The first distemper the Doctor took him in hand for was swellings in his Groin which thanks be to God he is in a fair way of curing, but within these few days last past he has been taken with a Violent pain in his posteriors which is likely to come to Fistula, it hinders his Majestie from coming out, so naturally puts a Stop to all manner of business wherefore must have patience perforce.

Your Hon<sup>r</sup>. Etc<sup>a</sup> will have heard of the Death of Dowd Cawn<sup>2</sup> in Ducan Slain in a battle with Omeeral Omrah [Amīru-l-umarā] this has given a great deal of uneasiness to this Court it being quite otherwise laid by the King and his favourites and that which was design'd for Omeerall Omrah's [Amīru-l-umarā's] Ruin has proved a great addition to his former Glorys. The King at first seem'd to resent it to his Brother who not taking it so patiently as he expected, he has alter'd his Resolution to Sending Hossenally Cawn [Husain 'Alī Khān' i.e. the Amīru-l-umarā] a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] Etc<sup>a</sup> marks of favour; We have advis'd in our Letters to the Gov<sup>r</sup>. & Council of Madrass to have particular Regard to the Freindship of that Great Omrah otherwise whatever we shall be able to do here for that Coast will be of little service unless back'd with his favour.

We have drawn bills of Exchange payable to Mr. James Williamson for Rup<sup>s</sup> Sicca five thousand five hundred, being for the Value Received here: We disire your Hon<sup>r</sup>. Etc<sup>a</sup> will give due payment. Gololchund Saw's [Gulālchand Sāha's] Gomastah [gumāshah] here has made a heavy Complaint that Your Hon<sup>r</sup>. "Our General Petition, after Examination and amendment, being returned us by Tuccurub Caun [Taqarrub Khān]; we have Compared itt with the former draught, and find the Sence the same, tho much shorter: which is owing to the comprehensiveness off the Persian Language. His reason for this alteration is, that prolixity being tedious to his Imperial Majesty, he had render'd itt more compact and fitt for our Service. The Greatest Amendment we can discern, is Changing the Name off Culcutta From Furruckbunder [Farrukh-bandar], to Furruckabad [Farrukhābād]: That the mention off Port might nott cause his Majesty to send officers thither, or raise a tax on it: And indeed we are now sensible itt is better Laid Aside. Itt is the Generall advice off our Friends, to deffer the delivery off our petition till his Majesty is perfectly recovered; when particular marks off his favour are to be

Honourable Sir and Sirs,

The Kings indisposition has much impeded the forwarding of our Negotiation; So that want of matter has occasioned our Long Silence: We hope his Majesty is at present in a fair way of Recovery, which if it pleases God to grant, it must of necessity Redound to the Honour and Credit of our Nation, he having been under the Sole care of our Surgeon who has administred much to his Majesties Satisfaction.

Without doubt the whole Decan Country has Rung with the Engagemnt and Victory of Omeerall Omrah [Amīru-l-umārā] over Dowd Cawn [Dāūd Khān], the glory that has accru'd to that great man on this Account has been a particular mortification to this Court; but however we find he is little disturb'd at it, being as it were too unweildy to be check'd, by any Court Favourite, or even the King himself. Being pretty well assured of this before, was the Reason of advising your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> in our formers to keep a good Correspondance with him: But that your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> might have some grounds to go upon we thought we Could not doe better then gain a Recommendatory Letter to his Brother the Vizier in favour of the Chormandell Factorys, the Letter with it's copy for perusall comes inclos'd. 83. LETTER VIII.<sup>1</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRs

We wrote your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> the 8<sup>h</sup> to the 12th and 16<sup>h</sup> Ultimo, the latter part of which carried the welcome news of the Kings recovery, as a clear demonstration to the world he washed himself the 23rd and accordingly received the Congratulations of the whole Court: As a Reward for M<sup>r</sup>. Hamiltons care and success the King was pleased the 30th to give him in Publick, Viz<sup>t</sup> a Culge [kalghī, aigrette] set with precious Stones, two Diamond Rings, an Elephant, Horse and five thousand Rupees, besides ordering at the same time all his small instruments to be made in Gold, with Gold Buttons for Coat, Waist Coat and Breeches sett with Jewels: The same day Cojee Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] received an Elephant and Vest as a reward for his attendance on this occasion Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin was to have received a reward the same day with M<sup>r</sup>. Hamilton but considering it was not for the Credit of our Nation to have any joyn'd with him especially since he had no hand in the business, We by the means of Cawndora [Khān Daurān] got his reward to be deferred till three days afterward when he had a Vest, Elephant and a thousand rupees, a favour purely owing to his Majesties generosity, and because he was his Servant.

We have esteemed this as a particular happiness, and hope it will prove Ominous to the Success of our affairs, it being the only thing that detained us hitherto from delivering our General Petition, so pursuant to orders We received from Cawndora [Khān Daurān] the Kings Recovery was Succeeded by the giving in the remainder of our Present (reserving a small part only till the Ceremony of his marriage should be over) and then delivered our Petition to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] by his means to be introduced to his Majesty, Syud Sallibut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān], who has all along managed our affairs, under Cawndora [Khān Daurān], being at that instant and sometime before much indisposed we were obliged to carry it our Selves withall taking care to have his reecomendation Annexed: Since the delivery Cojee Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] has been frequently with Cawndora [Khān Daurān] to remind him of introducing it to his Majesty, but has always been informed no business can go forward till the Solemnization of the Kings wedding is over when he has promised a speedy dispatch. All Offices have been shut up for some days and all business in the Kingdome must naturally subside to this approaching ceremony, so that We cannot Repine at the delay.

M<sup>r</sup>. John Surman having paid into the Companys Cash the sum of two thousand Siccaes, We have given him a bill on your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> for said Sum which We hope will be duely honoured.

<sup>1</sup> This letter was read at a Consultation at Fort St. George on Monday, the 12th March, 1716, and is to be found under this date in the Madras Diary and Consultation Book for 1715 to 1719, No. 87, Range 239, in the India Office.

Inclosed comes Account Cash, Warehouse Account, Charges Generall and Copy of Consultations for the month October, which we wish safe to your hands.

We advised your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> in our Last concerning the Merchants Goods and the difficulty we had to dispose of them, not knowing what hurry We may be in, We agreed to sell by all opportunities that offer, and not any Longer wait a greater Market: In pursuance to which Resolution, We having lately had an offer for the amount of ten thousand Rupees at thirty and thirty-five pr Cent proffitt, We have contracted for it, but as yet not having received the money, We can't give your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> a further Account till the next.

The Rasboots [Rājputs] are likely to receive a great Honour by this Wedding, the King having consented to all their desires in Respect to the ceremonials<sup>1</sup> and this evening go's on his Throne<sup>2</sup> attended by his whole nobility on foot, to receive his spouse; All the Fort and Street through which he passes, will be made resplended with innumerable Lights, and in fine, all will appear as Glorious as the Riches of Indostan and two months indefatigable Labour can provide.

<sup>3</sup> This is misleading. The Emperor's maternal uncle had been sent to fetch the bride on the 15th May. On the 25th Ramaẓān which was the 23rd or 24th September, 1715, N. S., and the 12th or 13th September O. Our last to your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> was dated the 23rd December advising of a Bill of Exchange drawn by us on Your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> for five thousand Rupees Sicca payable to Mr. James Williamson or order, which Bill we hope will meet with due Honour.

method of proceeding is such as must make us pursue our designs with patience, for the present our Petition is returned after having passed the examination of the books, the next that follows will be the Kings signing after which We shall take care to give your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> a particular Account of it.

We have lately been surprized with the Kings designs of departing from this place, but God be thanked, it's delayed for some days at least, We shall make the best use we can of this delay, if possible to effect our business before his departure, but which we cannot rely on.

Two nights ago Meer Jumlah [Mir Jumlah] arrived in this place attended by Bahauder Dill Cawn [Bahādur Dil Khān], Amonut Cawn [Amānat Khān], Enom Cawn Etc<sup>a</sup> in all about eight or ten Horsemen much to the Surprize of this city, for 'tis but at best supposed that he has made an Elopement from his own Camp for fear of his Soldiers who mutinied for pay, the particulars of all which we are not as yet acquainted with, nor what reception he is like to meet with from his majesty.

Edward Stephenson has paid into the Honourable Companys Cash at severall times the sum of Rupees eight thousand eight hundred and three, eight anna's being for the sale of part of the Merchants goods consign'd to us; not having a sufficient quantity of Bengall goods to mix with the Presents of the ministers &c<sup>a</sup> Officers, we have taken of those belonging to the Merchants what were necessary, concluding that those goods would be of more service than the ready mony, your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> will perceive how they have been disposed of by the particulars of every present, set down on this Consultation Book, the whole amount of which is Rupees two thousand five hundred twenty one, being fifty per Cent advance upon Invoice as per agreement at their delivery, the account of which comes inclosed by which your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> will perceive the ballance due to them is Rupees Current nine thousand One hundred and eight, three anna's. The Rupees which are now paid in per Bills of Exchange on your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> are Allum Ghirry ['Ālangiri] between which and these Current Rupees we have now charged three per Cent, so that your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> will deduct so much upon the payment.

Mr. Edward Stephenson having paid into the Honourable Companys Cash the value of four thousand Rupees, we have given him a Bill of Exchange on your Honour Etc<sup>a</sup> payable to Mr. Thomas Falconer for Four thousand Sicca's which we hope will be honoured with due payment.

Herewith comes Account Cash, Warehouse Account Copys of Consultations and charges General for the month of November.

"The King visitted In the Duan Coss [dūwān

To the Worshipfull
Stephen Strutt Esq. Etc.
Councill in Bombay.

WORSHIPFULL SIR AND SIRS

"Sometime ago we received yours dated November the 10th which we hitherto forbore answering in expectation to give some Account of our Negotiations.

Our first Generall Petition to his Imperial Majesty is returned and signed, as to what respects the trade of Surat is as follows.

To the Free trade of Surat: ordered that in the 20th year of Aureng Zeb's reign, being at what time the English paid but two pr Cent Custom the amount of Customs of the English trade in Surrat be examined pursuant to which a yearly pishcash [peshkash] is to be made, and a Phirmaund [farmān] given them that there be no farther molestation on that Account.

To the ground Petition for without Surrat, and the grant of the Kings house in it, the former part is left unanswered, and to the latter, the house is granted to live in, the Mutsuddy's [mutaşaddis] of Surratt being ordered to permitt you to build thereon, but without any fortifications.

By the grant of having a pishcash [peshkash] in lieu of Customs, we have hopes of gaining as good as a free trade supposing that the trade might not then be so great as lately, and accordingly have been examining the books for those times the only year as yet taken out being the 18th of Aureng Zeb's reign to our surprize amounts to about twenty eight thousand Rupees some part of which we must attribute to the private trade, we shall endeavour by bribing the mutsuddys [mutaşaddis] to alleviate the sum as much as possible before the Account reaches his Majesty, but being under apprehension that it will not be feasible to bring it down so low as five or eight thousand Rupees, which are the sums limited from the Honourable President and Councill of Bengall we take the opportunity to advise you how affairs stand at Present withall to represent our opinions on this head.

That in case we can get a pishcash [peshkash] settled in lieu of Customs we may add to the sum of 12 or 15000 Rupees pr Annum which we beleive will prove no little advantago to our Honourable Masters, and as this is extensive of all the English trade in general to Surat, so it lies in the Honourable Companys breast to lay what duty's they shall think proper on all private trade, thereby contributing to pay the yearly pishcash [peshkash] abovementioned, we desire a speedy answer to the article and also that they will not be too strict in the order thereon, but in some measure leave it to us as we shall think convenient.

We have given a second petition to the King concerning the house in Surat and the ground without it for a house and Garden, desiring that the first may be given to the English for ever and then permission to build upon it which we have hopes will be granted.

Pursuant to your late instructions concerning Bombay Rupees, we have likewise Petitioned for the Settlement of a Mint on that Island which we hope will be granted, but you may depend that all those Rupees must receive the King of Indostans impressions and be of like goodness with those of Surat which we believe will answer the desired ends.

This Court has been put into some disorders lately occasioned by the return of Meer Jumlah [Mir Jumlah] and his Army from Patna putting for the present a stop to our Negotiations We hope in a few days to see all blown over when we shall pursue our business with what energy we are capable of.

We send this Letter by nimble Cossids [qāšids] to Surat in hopes to receive an answer in 30 or 40 days at farthest which we desire you'll contribute to by the quickness of your dispatches and fair promises to the returning Cossids [qāšids].

We are, Worshipfull Sir and Sirs

Not having received any Letters lately from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>. We have nothing more to advise than of the progress of our Negotiation in as concise terms as possible.

Examine the custom for the 20th year of the reign of Aurenge Zeb paid in that City by the English pursuant to which.—Ordered that a piscash [peshkash] be calculated and paid yearly having a Phirmaund [farmān] given them for it.
- „ 18. Being for Surat house and Garden. For the house it is Ordered to let us have it to live in and repair but prohibiting any Fortifications. An answer to the 400 Beagers [bīgahs] of Ground for a Garden is omitted.
- „ 19. Concerning the liberty of Country Factors—Granted that according to the Dustick [dastak] of the English Cheif those Factors be not disturbed.

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will perceive by the notations above that we have not got the full answers we desired to our Petition but as it is a thing customary at this Court, We were not daunted at those articles which were as good as denied, but drew up another petition which that it might not be bulky We left out all but what was of absolute necessity hoping to get our meaning explained in orders from the Kings Mutsuddys [mutaşaddis] when it arrives to them.

Our Second Petition contained the following Articles.

1. A Confirmation of our Phirmaund [framān] for a free trade in Bengall, Beharr and Orixa which was by a mistake of the mutsudys [mutaşaddis] before omitted.

2. That the Surat House be given us, otherwise we could not pretend to build upon it, and for the ground desired for a garden to shew that we have had it by former custom We have mentioned that there was one belonging to the English which being taken in by the Walling of the City of Surat has since that time been lost at which time the Cheif of that Settlement petitioned Aurenge Zeb [Aurangzeb] that the Garden stood the Company in twenty two thousand rupees which Sum Aurenge Zeb [Aurangzeb] orderd to be allowed in the Customs.

3. We have petitioned for Divy Island showing that to waite for an answer from thence would add a longer time to our Negotiation then we expected from the favour of his Majesty that the leting us have that Island would be a particular advantage to his Majestys dominions considering there was no Port for the harbouring of Ships on the Coast of Chormandell but that in the Munsoon time they were obliged to leave his Majestys dominions for want of Shelter, Bengall excepted and winter on the Coasts of Arracan, Pegu and the Island of Zelone, however in case we were permitted to rent this Island of Divy we should make a Port able to harbour Shipping which would of a certainty be an addition to the trade of all those Countrys and consequently of the Kings Customs that we dare not presume to offer any thing to his Majesty but matter of Fact humbly begging the renting of that Island may be granted us according to the truth of our Petition.

4. We petition again for the Towns round Calcutta that at the granting of Calcutta &c<sup>a</sup> 3 Towns it was first given in the Nishaun and then bought from the Owners after which admission was given by the Duan of Bengall for the renting of them. That in case the Towns we desired were not first mentioned in the Phirmaund, no one would permit us to buy, nor would the Duan anywise assist us in it for which reasons we humbly petitioned that those towns might be granted in our Phirmaund that we would get the Consent of the Owners from the several Jemidars [zamindars] and afterwards take admission from the Duan. [divān]. To this Article we added a list of the Purgunnas. [parganas.]

5. For Vizagapatam Towns we have likewise desired they may be inserted but have not laid so great a stress upon them as the above Article for fear of giving to much jealousy, besides we had no particular Account of the rent of those Towns which they desired in lieu of the old ones.

The above articles are what we picked out from the former Petition not answering our purpose and to which we have added two new articles, Vizt

6 To have the liberty of a Mint in Bombay and that in case those rupees are of the same fineness weight and stamp with those of Surat that they may pass Current in the King's dominions.

The occasion of this Article was a Letter lately arrived from Bombay copy of which comes herewith.

7. We have petitioned for Redress to those barbarities Committed by Rogues round Calcutta pursuant to your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> orders.

This last Petition has been delivered in some days but as yet we have received no answer thereto, We have hopes all will be granted except Divy Island of which we have some mistrust We have been examining the books concerning the Entrys of Custom for the English at Surat, We find it is much increased by the additions of private trade for the 18th year of Aurenge Zeb's [Aurangzeb's] reign amounts to about twenty eight thousand Rupees. We are still examining other years to find the least which we shall deminish as much as we can by bribing the mutsuddies [mutasaddis] that we may by that means answer our end in a Pishcash [peshkash]. It will be a glorious thing for our Honourable Masters if it can be effected, but We cannot leave this article without offering something to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> that has accru'd to our knowledge. The reasons of the great abuses committed on the English at Surat has been Cheifly occasioned by the many buyers and Sellers of Englishmen there, so that for these many years there has been a difference made in paying Custom from the Company and other English traders as at present the Companys Custom is 2½ p<sup>r</sup> Cent whereas all other English traders pay 3½ p<sup>r</sup> Cent, for which We humbly presume that should we get the Custom turned into a yearly Pishcash [peshkash] there would be an absolute necessity to lay aside any Supra Cargo's going to that Port with a full power to dispose of any goods, seeing this priviledge will entirely devolve on the Company so that goods ought to go into their Warehouses and be disposed of by their Servants which will hinder any future impositions or differences, giving likewise an opportunity for the Company to lay any duty on those goods which may contribute to the Payment of the yearly Pishcash [peshkash] laid on that trade We should not have so boldly offered our opinion on this head had not the Interest alone of our Honourable Masters obliged us to it and besides the unsufferable impositions that for several years past have been all on Englishmen in Surat which we hope will be a sufficient excuse: farther we humbly desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will please to acquaint us in your next whether we ought or no to write the same to all the Companys Settlements in India.

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will observe the notice that is taken of the Madrass Rupees as if they were of the same fineness with those of Surat We are in some measure our selves informed that they are not and that some Essays have been made of them in Calcutta so that in case the advantages are to be had from the priviledges we have got there is an absolute necessity of refining that Mint We are humbly of opinion that if those Rupees were something better [than] ordinary it would be of no great loss, wherefore we beg your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will please to advise the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Governour &c<sup>a</sup> at Fort S<sup>t</sup> George on this head as we shall do by land as soon as we finish all the business of that Coast.

The Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddis] here would have perswaded us that the King had granted sufficient in Respect to the Towns round Calcutta but we being well acquainted with Jaffer Cawns<sup>1</sup> Friendship towards us made us insert it again in our second petition that we might have better grounds to go upon.

Our affairs being under the patronage of Caundora [Khān Daurān] who is a very dilitory man, we cannot expect to have finished our negotiation so soon as we at first hoped for.

We have drawn a bill of Exchange on your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> for Six thousand Six hundred Siccaes payable to Mr. John Pratt being for value paid into us here by John Surman which we hope will meet with due Honour.

Inclosed comes Account Cash, Warehouse Account, and Charges Generall with copys of Consultations for the month of December.

President and Governor of Fort William Etc.

HONOURABLE SIR ETC.

"We wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the 7th. Ultimo since which we have received no Letters.

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will doubtless have heard by flying reports the troubles that have possessed this place for the past month occasioned by the coming of Meir Jumlah [Mir Jumlah] and all his forces, as 'tis said, without the Kings order, all the Tartars [i.e. Turānis] mutinously joynd to demand their pay which they gave out they would force either from the Vizier or Caundora [Khān Daurān], This was certainly the grounds of gathering forces on all sides the Vizier himself having not less than twenty thousand Horse all which continually filled the streets and attended him when he went to the King, Caundora [Khān Daurān] and the rest of the Omrahs [umarā] with their forces, and all the Kings Tope Conna [tōpkhānah], kept guard round the Fort for about 20 days. The Vizier was obstinately bent not to pay the Tartars any thing without very particular examinations and Accounts to be made up for the plundering the Town of Patna which conditions the Tartars did not think to comply with till such time as they found the Vizier was not to be bully'd when they seemed to be willing to come to a composition which was effected by breaking their party, and the Kings orders for Meir Jumlahs [Mir Jumlah's] procedure to Lahore. The King ordered Chicklis Cawn &c<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> to go and see Meir Jumlah out of the City divesting him of all his posts at Court as also of his Munsub Jaggeers [manṣabs, jāgirs] &c<sup>a</sup> with the glorious additional titles of Nozem Cawn Behauder Cawn Cawn Conna Jannney Seer Walla Shey Zuffer Jung,<sup>3</sup> which are ordered for the future never to be used it is the general observation of this City that this has only been a Scheme laid if possible to entrap the Vizier, and take away his life, but He has been so continually on his guard, that nothing could be effected, so once more all is calmed much to his Honour and the entire disgrace of all Tartars in general, they being almost all turned out of service a few great ones excepted. Meir Jumlah [Mir Jumlah] is now 20 Cos of this place in his way to Lahore, at present without any Munsub [manṣab] or post, but 'tis Reported he will enjoy the former by the Kings favour; these troubles occasioned the shutting up all Ketchrys [kachahrī] for this month so that no business could possibly go on, in which ours met the same fate with the rest, being just in the same state as a month ago.

<sup>2</sup> That is Chīn Qīlich Khān, also entitled Nizāmu-l-Mulk. On the 10th Rabi ' I, which was the 3rd or 4th March N. S. and the 21st or 22nd February O. S. he conducted Mir Jumlah as far as Narelah, 16 miles north of Delhi. See Mirzā Muḥammad and Kāmwar Khān.

Caundora [Khān Daurān] very frequently promises that He will make an end with all possible expedition, but He is such a strange dilatory man, and withall inaccessible, that We have occasion to summon the utmost of our patience there is no help for it, for with all this dilatoriness He is the only reigning man in the Kings Durbar, so that We hope He will at last consider and for his own Honour see us handsomely dispatched with a full grant to all our petitions.

The great Rebel Goroo [Gurū] who has been for these 20 years so troublesome in the Subaship [sūbah] of Lahore is at length taken with all his family and attendance by Abdell Summed Cawn<sup>1</sup> the Suba [sūbahdār, i.e. governor] of that province, some days ago they entered the City loaden with fetters, his whole attendance which were left alive being about Seven hundred and eighty all severally mounted on Camells which were sent out of the City for that purpose, besides about two thousand heads stuck upon poles, being those who died by the sword in battle He was carried into the presence of the King, and from thence to a close prison, He at present has His life prolonged with most of his mutsuddys [mutasaddis] in hopes to get an Account of his treasure in the several parts of his Kingdom and of those that assisted him, when afterwards He will be executed, for the rest there are 100 each day beheaded. It is not a little remarkable with what patience they undergo their fate, and to the last it has not been found that one apostatized from this new formed Religion.

Finding on examination of the Kings books as formerly advised that the Customs of Surat exceed the sums we expected, We were under some apprehension that in finishing this business, We should be obliged to advance a larger sum than We are at present empowered to, for which reason We have wrote to Surat a full Account of the matter desiring their permission that in case we should be obliged to advance upon the sum they formerly mentioned that We may not be stinted to less than twelve or fifteen thousand rupees to which We hope We shall have an answer before We have any occasion for it.

We have lately had Letters from Bombay which give an Account of the arrival of Charles Boone Esq<sup>r</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of that Island and Laurence Parker his second both from England We have received some news from Surat by way of Aleppo copy of which comes enclosed.

We have drawn bills of Exchange to the following persons, Viz<sup>t</sup>

- 1600 Siccas payable to Mr. John Prat being value received from John Surman.
- 5500 ditto payable to Mr. James Williamson value received of Mr. William Hamilton.
- 1500 ditto payable to Mr. Thomas Faulkon value received of Mr. Edward Stephenson.
- 550 ditto payable to Captain Harnet value received of John Aloff.

To all which We desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will give due Honour.

104. CONSULTATION.

"We were informed; that Caundora [Khān Daurān] had been advised by some off his Mutsuddys [mutaʿaddis], Dilly, that granting our last Petition would be March 21st. improper, itt being a buisness entirely depending on the Vizier and the Duanny [dīwānī], wherefore itt was more fitt for him, and by which he himself would be cleared, to gett the Phirds [fards] signed Cutboolmoolk [Quṭbu-l-mulk]. This was nott so private, butt we had warning iff possible to prevent itt; which we endeavoured by Consulting with Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān], and desiring his Assistance with Caundora [Khān Daurān]. Yett in spight of all, the Phirds [fards] came out signed as we Suspected. The principle Actors in this buisness have try'd to perswade us; that this is the safest, & readyst way to gett our buisness Effectted; & that they will undertake to obtain more from the vizier, than can be Expected from the dilatoriness off Caundora [Khān Daurān]. Butt we consider this as a design to plunder us, when they shall have gott the buisness entirely into their own hands: which being premised, We resolve, when necessity obliges us to goe to the Viziers durbar, to manage the buisness by our own Intrest; & nott trust to those who have so palpably deceived us.

<sup>3</sup> The reply to this is obvious. The embassy instead of approaching the government through the proper channel, the vizier, preferred to proceed irregularly through Khān Daurān. Hence the delay.

In this Juncture we beleave itt necessary for Cojah Seerhaud [Khwajah Sarhad] to proceed to the Camp, Endeavouring first to convince Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] how unreasonable itt is to throw us on the Vizier, withall insinuating, that rather than Carry the Phirds [fards] thus signed thither, we would risq the overthrow off the whole buisness. That After their having delivered our present, and managing our Affairs to this day; Itt would be dishonourable to accept itt. In fine, desiring him to write fully off this matter to Caundora [Khān Daurān], iff he could not find an opportunity to speak to him.

Should the Scheme abovementioned fail us, Then we are convinced off the Necessity off Applying to the Vizier and his people; and indeed, to finish our buisness by what methods shall then appear most practicable.

The King being moved to the Camp, we esteem itt proper to Attend him; nott knowing butt he intends towards Lahore, which iff true will require our presence for the managing our Affairs."

" TO THE HONOURABLE ROBERT HEDGES Esq.

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRs

We wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the 10th Inst. advising the needfull to that time.

We have frequently complained to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> of the strange dilatoriness of our Patron Cawndora Behauder [Khān Daurān Bahādur]. He is never known to sit out in publick and Return answers to any manner of business, so that what can be said to him in the way from his apartment to his Pallanksee is all that can be got which is so very little for a man of great business that many days pass before an opportunity can be had even for the least answer, and to his own servants Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Şalabat Khān], who has the management of our affairs under him and is as intimate as any one with him can do as little that way as other people, wherefore the main part of all our business has been managed by notes, this has been a great occasion of the dilatoriness of our affairs all which we were obliged to bear with abundance of patience. Still having very fair promises that our business should be done to our satisfaction, nay Cawndora [Khān Daurān] himself very often both by word of mouth and in several notes promised to do it. A few days ago when Seerhaud [Sarhad] went to pay his Respects as usual to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] and put him in mind of our Petition, He was very surprizingly asked what Petition? have not I done all your business, to which Cojee Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] answered, but the time and place not allowing of a further explanation He got into his Pallankeen and went away. This strange forgettfullness made us in very pathetick terms inquire of Sallabut Cawn [Şalabat Khān] what we might expect after so many promises of having our business effected to our satisfaction when we had so long and patiently waited and been at so great an expence to be thus answered was very surprizing, and What we did not nor could not expect in the least We were answered that daily experience might convince us of the strange carriage and forgettfullness of that great man, still bidding us not to dispond, but that every thing would go very well after so many fair promises as we before had Received, this gave us but small satisfaction and the rather made us the more inquisitive which gave us this farther light, Viz! that Cawndora [Khān Daurān] had been advised by his own Mutsuddies [mutaşaddis], that it was not his business to perswade the King to sign our Petition contrary to what He had formerly desired, but that it was better to get signed upon it Cootbulmooluck [Qutbu-l-mulk] whose business it was, as Vizier to advise the King what things were proper to be granted us, We find this was chiefly levelled against our Petition for Divy Island and the ground round Calcutta now desired. We were in hopes that in case We could have got those Petitions granted us by the means of Cawndora [Khān Daurān] that afterwards the Vizier would not gain say or at least by a little bribery it might have passed, there has been severall endeavours made to get an opportunity to speak with Cawndora [Khān Daurān] so as to convince him but none has been procureable, We fear the Petition in this interim may be gone in and will come out signed as beforementioned.

Yesterday the King contrary to the advice of the Vizier and purely on his own will went out a hunting and all the Omrahs [umarā] to their Tents, the place at present mentioned is about 18 Cos off, but God knows what may be the design of it, or where he will march to, this obliges us to follow him to morrow or next day leaving Mr. Edward Stephenson and Philips behind to take care of the Honourable Companys effects nere, should the Petition come out signed as abovementioned We shall be obliged to make a new Address to the Vizier which will not only protract the Negotiation but must lay us open to a denial, and at the best very expensive. We shall advise your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> as soon as We have any hopes of Success (which God send) or what We shall be obliged to recceed from.

We have this day drawn two bills of Exchange on your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> Viz!

For 5000 Siccaes payable to Mr. James Williamson for Value received from John Surman.

For 3600 Siccaes payable to Mr. John Prat value received {from John Surman.

To which bills we desire your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> will give due Honour.

Since writing the foregoing we are informed that our Phirmaunds [farmāns] are come out and signed Cootbulmooluck [Quṭṭbu-l-mulḱ] as we expected. We shall endeavour to act in the present conjuncture with all possible care, and advise your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> of the Result."

109. LETTER XIV.<sup>2</sup>

President and Governor of Fort William &c<sup>a</sup>
Councill in Bengall.

HONOURABLE SIR &c<sup>a</sup>

“Our last to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> was March the 21st giving a particular Account how our affairs stood at that time, in the close We informed you that we heard our Phirds [fards] were signed but [Cut] bulmoolk<sup>3</sup> which was afterwards confirmed by the papers themselves, this put us into a serious consideration what was to be acted in that Juncture. If the Papers were carried to the Vizeir and our business carried on that way, We should at best be esteemed as Caundoras [Khān Daurān’s] cast off favorites, turned over to the goodness of the other whom if it were possible to engage with bribes or otherwise to get our Petition granted yet Caundora [Khān Daurān] who is naturally disposed to do little good might even then disserve us with his Majesty and so inevitably ruin our business, for it is certain He has such an ascendaney over the King as to dispose him according to his own inclinations; these thoughts induced us to make another Essay of Caundora’s [Khān Daurān’s] generosity and give him an Account of our affairs, leaving the Vizier as our last Reserve, First Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] at our instigation wrote largely to Caundora [Khān Daurān] concerning us, but this had not the desired Effect, however this was supply’d in some measure by the opportunity some days afterwards to encounter him in private (an oppertunity never before happening for some months) when he discoursed him concerning us and our affairs at large and to the following purpose. That this Present to his Majesty had laid by many years, no one having courage to proceed in the Negotiation till encouraged by his kind promises of protection, and that all our Reasonable demands should be granted, That all our adresses to his Majesty had been by his means : That He himself had delivered in our Present and such a one had never been made by any European Nation to the Kings of India since the Reign of Tamerlain, that we were under great concern to find our papers turned over to [the] Vizeir, whither we could not go either for his or our own honour, seing We could expect no other usage than of cast off Favourites That we had not to our knowledge deserved so severe punishment, and accordingly hoped it would not be inflicted without a farther Scrutiny, and lastly that We were resolved whatever favours his Majesty would confer on us, should be by his means, and that what was by him Rejected, should not induce us to apply to any other person<sup>1</sup> it seems He was not a little tickled with this discourse, but pretended first misinformation, that our business belonged entirely to the Duanny [diwānā] for which Reason He turned it over thither for examination, but since it was our earnest desire he would reassume those papers, and get them signed, your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will beleive that after such melancholly reflections, this for the present a Little revived us.

The King removing about fourteen Course from the city we found our selves under an absolute necessity to attend him though it raised our expences to a very great pitch, fearing lest they might proceed to Lahore as was publickly given out. But his Majesty seemed wholly taken up with hunting, which used to engage him most days of the Week and then from morning till night so that there was a general stop to business. It was the Camp report that this Journey was designed purely to entrap the Vizier, However his care and precaution hindred any sinister Council from taking effect, during this Encampment Coja Seerhaud [Khawajah Sarhad] daily attended at Caundoras [Khān Daurān's] Levy, whose only answer was (whenever he gave any) that We must wait till the time of hunting was over, when our business should be compleated, a full month has now elapsed in this condition; But in the interim There happened a Quarrel between the People of Caundora [Khān Daurān] and Mamud Ami Caun [Muhammad Amin Khān] as they came from the Darbar, which after their masters got to their Tents ended in a downright fight, wherein they fired with small Arms, Bonds<sup>2</sup> and Great Gunns for above 2 hours notwithstanding the Kings repeated commands to forbear: Yet was it at last made up after about a hundred men were killed and wounded, the King was highly displeased with the liberty they took and resented it to both of them: Cut the Munsub [manṣab] of all the actors took the trumpet<sup>3</sup> from his favourite, who was not admitted to his presence for three days, and threatn'd much more. But at present all is made up, and his Majesty again reconciled to them; This being likewise over, we reiterated our desire to Sallabut Cawn [Salabat Khān] to speak to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] insinuating that We could not longer support ourselves in our present necessity. It pleased God this morning he found an opportunity to speak to Cawndora

<sup>3</sup> "The trumpet," i.e. the right to beat drums and blow trumpets, usually styled the naqqārah (literally, kettle drums). This was a high honour, only granted to the greatest men.

[Khān Daurān] (as He says) in a very ample manner, and was answered that as we had staid so long we must wait two days more when he would speak to his Majesty efficaciously in our behalf.

We have endeavoured to dive into the reasons why Cawndora [Khān Daurān], after all the world knew he was our Patron should fling our Petition to Cutbulmoolk [Quṭṭbu-l-mulk], and besides put such a considerable Stop to our affairs : There goes a report (altho' we cannot affirm the truth of every article) and not improbable that when our Petition first went to Cawndora [Khān Daurān], some of his Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddis] who thought they had too small a Share in the profit Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] had made of us, on examination of our Petition rose several objections to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] That our asking for Ground &c? was not fitt to be granted, this disturbed the affair so much that we were obliged to a second petition finding this out too late, Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] as a means to accomplish the business, was obliged to ask their assistance toward signing the 2nd Petition, which We are informed they refused, saying that what they had before contradicted, could not be now advised with any good face : and for Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] himself he had some Apprehensions that out of spight those Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddis] had acquainted Cawndora [Khān Daurān] with our Bribery, which prevented his appearing so boldly, as He might have otherwise inclined, by this means the business was apparently stopped, Yet to releive which and keep us in heart (For our obligation to Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] is conditionall) the Jentue Rogues took this as a fitt oppertunity to make up their mouths, and so advised the signing Cutbulmoolk [Quṭṭbu-l-mulk] telling Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] and us, that things would be more easily effected there, than with Cawndora [Khān Daurān], nay We are of opinion Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] privately consented to it : Had We given our consent, it is very probable things would not have succeeded, They having an oppertunity to plunder us and perhaps our whole business in danger of being overthrown. Whereas foreseeing so many ill consequences, We got an oppertunity, without cognizance of the Jentu's to convince Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān], that We were in the highway to Ruin ; but desiring that by the first oppertunity He would endeavour to work in the same manner on Cawndora [Khān Daurān], which hapned according to the abovementioned Paragraph ; yet was this impossible to be effected with the privity of the Jentues.

Your Honour &c. has now received a full Account of our affairs, nothing but Patience can serve our turn seeing our application at present to the Vizier or anybody else would entirely Ruin us.

We now come to answer your Honour &c<sup>rs</sup> of the 3rd March which lately came to our hands.

Concerning Barnasse seats [Vārānasi Seth's] mony, and the Calculation your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> are pleased to make of Allumgeery ['ālamgīri] Rupees, We cannot tell what agreement is made with him or how the mony is to be paid, whether Specie delivered here into Cash, or according to the Exchange of mony, the allowance of Exchange excepted. If the former, We have no difference here between Surat and Hossanna Rupees, but are informed that the Rupees called here Allumgeery ['ālamgīri] are the same as Pucca Hossanna in Bengall, which is all except new Surat Rupees. If the latter then he is to receive Sicca's in

Bengall for Allumgeery [‘ālamgīrī] paid in here, the difference here between Allumgeery [‘ālamgīrī] and Sicca's is from  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 per cent Currant mony of Dilly nine thousand One hundred and eight three Annas, makes Allumgeery [‘ālamgīrī] eight thousand eight hundred forty two, fourteen Anna's six pice We beieve the above is sufficient to clear that Account.<sup>1</sup>

We observe what your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> write concerning Jaffer Cawn [Ja'far Khān] with the trouble he has given the Merchants We are likewise informed that you have agreed to pay him fifteen thousand Rupees for the easy carrying on the Companys business in Bengall; We formerly advised you that a complaint against him here would be to [no] purpose for which Reason We have hitherto evaded it.

Concerning the Madras complaints for those towns We formerly advised your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> as also the Honb<sup>le</sup> Governour and Council of Fort St. George that Omeer All Omrah [Amīru-l-umarā]<sup>2</sup> takes very little notice of any orders from Court and that a private letter from the Vizier was the only servicable method (altho' the Towns are granted when the Phirmaund [farmān] is wrote) which was the Reason we procured it and which We hope came safe to hand, being a means to ingratiate our Honb<sup>le</sup> masters affairs with that Omrah [umarā]: We shall be very carefull to observe all instructions either from Fort St. George or Bombay.

About two months agoe arrived here Hossein Amidan [Husain Ahmad?] Owner of the Ship taken by the Danes in Bengall, We are informed He is endeavouring to do us all the disservice in his power: Having here forged Letters under the Zereef [Sharif] of Mecca's Seal to the King, Vizier and Caundora [Khān Daurān] that the English are Pyrats and, that the King will do well not to favour us Besides these there are severall other Certificates counterfeited which will be occasionally made use of: We shall endeavour all that is possible to Render the designs of that Impostor abortive.

Inclosed comes Cash and Warehouse Accounts, Copy of Consultation and Charges General for February."

113. LETTER XV.<sup>1</sup>

ROBERT HEDGES Esq.
President and Governour of Fort William &c<sup>s</sup>
Councill in Bengall.

HONOURABLE SIR &c<sup>s</sup>

"We wrote your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> April the 20th from the Camp at Shalamar [Shālihmar] in which Place we continued till the 7th of May, his Majesty making his Entry the day following.

This last month has elapsed with very little alteration as to the state of our affairs, We having not proceeded a step farther except in the fair promises of Caundora [Khān Daurān], which of late have been very frequent. It's now about a fortnight since Caundora [Khān Daurān] asked for the Petition, which was delivered him, We at that time hoped he would have got it signed without much farther examination but have proved to be mistaken: the Cheif objections made to the Petition were the demands of more ground round Calcutta, the Island of Divy, and the ground without the City of Surrat; it has been carefully instilled into Caundora [Khān Daurān] that grants of this nature may be one day very prejudicial to the King of Indostan, first in respect to Calcutta we shall have an opportunity of frequently quarrelling with the Phousdar [faujdar] &c<sup>s</sup> we being already too strong without any Addition, and for Divy Island, were we once in possession of it and ever came to a Rupture with them, no Ship would be able to pass to or from Bengall (We are informed the King has had particular notice given him of this) lastly for the Ground at Surat, although it's very certain the Dutch had a grant for it from Mozadeem<sup>2</sup> that the Present Government is very unwilling to allow it, your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> may be very well assured all possible means have been used to contradict these advices, and We are of opinion that Caundora [Khān Daurān] may be something convinced of the reasonableness of our Petition, but yet he is still apprehensive that he may be reflected upon, for the ill consequences, which has made him resolve not to do our business purely on his own head as appears by his answer to Seerhaud [Sarhad], let me get the Vizier first to consent and act joyntly with me in this affair and I'll certainly effect your business to which he Added a very Solemn Asseveration.

Our last from the Honourable President and Council of Bombay seem to make a very Slight matter of the Surat Business seeing they have orders from England to withdraw that Factory, but for your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> more Particular observation, we herewith send Copy of that Letter with it's answer which comes inclosed.

There has been a Rumour spread that the main reason of Caundora's [Khān Daurān's] putting us off so long was by his Majesty's private order, that the time might come about when he was first seized with the distemper last year wherein he would perceive whether he was perfectly clear or no, before he would dispatch either us or Mr. Hamilton, but for this We have no farther Authority than common Report, to our Surprize there is something of that nature broake out again what may be the end of it God knows. Mr. Hamilton has been with his Majesty 2 or 3 times but enjoyned the utmost Secrecy, being admitted to his presence thro' the Womens apartment for fear it should come to the world.

We have drawn the following bills on your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> To John Surman for two thousand three hundred Sicca's payable to Mr. Williamson.

To Edward Stephenson three thousand Do<sup>c</sup>.—Barnasseat [Varanāsi Seth] to which we desire due honour.

Herewith comes Account Cash, Copy of Consultations and Charges General for the month of March."

"Caundora [Khān Daurān] having ordered Syud Sallabut Caun Behauder [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān, Bahādur], Atusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān]<sup>1</sup> Duan Colsa [dūwān-i-khālīṣah], and Rey Reyon [rāe-rāyān]<sup>2</sup> Duan Tun [dūwān-i-tan] As Umpires to finish our buisness: Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] objected, That Rey Reyon [Rāe Rāyān] had always perplex'd our Affairs so as nott to lett them goe forward, for which reason he desired, that said person might be left out off any future consultation. Wherefore the whole stress off our Affairs att present

<sup>1</sup> I'tiṣām Khān was appointed Dūwān-i-khālīṣah on the 7th Jamādi I, 1128, which is the 28th or 29th April 1716 N. He fell dead in open darbar while reading a report to Muḥammād Shāh on the 29th Rabi 'I, 1136, which is the 26th or 27th December 1723 N.S., aged nearly 80 years.

116. DIARY.

"Cajah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] was with Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān], who with Bokechund<sup>1</sup> told him, May 29th. that our petition required mature consideration, and the books to be re-examined. The Present is nott given to the king as Seerhaud [Sarhad] pretended itt would be."

117. CONSULTATION.

"Cajah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] possitively affirms, that Autusham [I'tiṣām Khān] is nott to be bribed<sup>2</sup>: and, in the dispute, desires, that some other person may be sent, to endeavour finding out a way, which to him is nott feasible. Agreed thereto; and that Ramchund ponditt [Rām Chand pandit] be sent to Autusham Cauns [I'tiṣām Khān's] Servants, being priviledged to offer them to the amount of six or seven hundred rupees, in case their Master accepts the Present and Compleats our buisness.

118. DIARY.

"Cajah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] carried the note to Bokechund [Bhog Chand]. He told Seerhaud [Sarhad], May 30th. that he would take the money: butt refused the note, beleiving our words sufficient. He ordered two Copys off our petition to be brought, one plain, and one with the Account wrote from the Kings Books."

<sup>1</sup> Bhog (or Bhūk or Phūk) Chand, a Sribāstāb Kāyath by caste, was peshkār, or head clerk, of the khālīshah. He died on the 11th Zūl-qa'dah, 1149, which is the 12th or 13th March 1737 N.S., aged about 50 years.

records, We are very well Assured, that on a former occasion, we too much depended, on the diligence off Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān], and Nutmull [Nath Mall] Caundoras [Khān Daurān’s] Vakile [Wakil]; Even to the overlooking the Duanny [dīwānī, Writers, who att that time wrote what they pleased on Each Phird [farḍ]: According to which naturally flowed the Kings Assent or denyall. The second petition is now come upon the brink off the Error above-mentioned; so in the same danger to be overthrown; unless all possible means are used to prevent itt. Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] has been Earnestly endeavouring to bring those Writers to his house, which they have possitively refused; As for going himself to the Ketcherry [kachahri], he thinks itt beneath him; and indeed we are off the same opinion. On this consideration; we beleive our Under Vakile [vakīl] ought to be sent into the Duanny [dīwānī], to take care off the writing on our petition; but that he be instructed by Seerhaud [Sarhad], without any power to bribe, or indeed act the minutest thing on his own head. Agreed that Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] take which Vakile [vakīl] he pleases.

Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] dissents from this Consultation Averring that iff any one Else is Employed in the Durbar buisness He will never stirr again in itt.”

120. DIARY.

“In the consultation for this instant, Seerhauds [Sarhad’s] objection against the Country Vakiles [vakīls], was, that they were inclined to steal; and that when they were once lett into Durbar buisness, they would instruct the Mutsuddys [mutaṣuddīs], to plague us: by which they might reap advantage. In Answer to this itt may be properly asked why he makes use off the same sort off people? Butt who are nott in the Honourable Companys Service; Especially when a letter from the Honourable President &c<sup>a</sup> In Culcutta Dated August 9th. 1714 have directed that all Vakiles [vakīls] be chose in Council.”

121. PROTEST.

Messrs. J. Surman and E. Stephenson's Protest Against Seerhaud Israell.

“Where a Negotiation is so obstructed as to meett with more than ordinary delays, contrary to all Expectation, It’s naturall for the Actors to reflect on the methods they have taken to Effect their buisness, and to find out iff possible the Errors they have been guilty off which after they have truely weigh'd, and have convinced themselves off 'Tis Certain all men must Allow that iff they committ the same mistakes over again is a double Folly and unanswerable.

When our Negotiations first commenced we depended entirely on the power Syud Sallabutt Caun [Sayyad Şalābat Khān] had with Caundora [Khān Daurān], and the agreement we had made with him, which made us neglect some off the latters servants, who have had a great hand in perplexing our Affairs; purely because they were nott bribed, as they should have been. The persons meant are Rey-Reyon [Rāe Rāyan], Tun Duan [Tan Divān] and Nutmull [Nath Mall] Vakile. The latter, att the delivery off our petition the first time, had orders from Caundora [Khān Daurān] (att their instigation) to give the petition to the Duanny [diwānī] to pass it's examination there from the books and records. Itt cannot be deny'd butt that these remarks must particularly influence Caundora [Khān Daurān] and the King to grant or nott grant what we desired. Iff we were then convinced off the truth off this; Itt was to be sure att that time our duty, to take the necessary precautions, and as most off the officers in this Country are mercenary, and for money will doe any thing that is desired: To be sure they should nott have been neglected, butt well bribed, that they might lay a proper cement to our Foundation. Att that time itt is certain we were nott conscious off any Enemys in Caundoras [Khān Daurān's] house, and did beleive the influence he might have in the Duanny [diwānī], might hinder the officers there from any partiality in their remarks. Yett John Surman being particularly convinced, that there is a great deal of difference in having a good commendum from the records, which would be much better, than a pall'd<sup>1</sup> account, some for, some against: Did advise Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] to take particular care off the Officers off the Duanny [diwānī], and att that time for a reason did Affirm, that this was the only time to Secure a good foundation; which iff now lost would be found very hard to be retrieve'd--Strenuously Affirming this Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] was desired to take the proper methods, which he neglecting we received the hurt before we knew off an Enemy. That is, our Petition returned with it's remarks upon itt, so far from truth most off them, that they seemed to be made by an Enemy: which, had proper means been used, must without doubt have been avoided; and have hindred our Enemy's from gaining weapons to fight us with, and this we Affirm is wholly owing to Cojah Seerhaud [Khwajah Sarhad]. There is no necessity to run thro' the course off our negotiations, being sufficiently remarked in this Consultation Book Butt bring itt to it's present state.

After a great many putt offs Caundora [Khān Daurān] ordered his Vakile [vakil] and Seerhaud [Sarhad] to goe to Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] the Duan Calsa [diwān-i-khalīṣah], to desire his advice, what ought to be allowed off our petition. Itt was with a general consent Agreed, we ought to secure him by any methods; and a list off a handsome present was drawn out and delivered Seerhaud [Sarhad]: with instructions, that in case he found him mercenary to advance a sum off money more, off this our former consultation gives a partiular Account, and Seerhaud [Sarhad] in that part followed his instructions; Butt says, he found Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] free from temptation: and gave our petition to his peeshcar, Rey Bokechund [Rāe Bhog Chand], whom we also have Agreed to bribe as before. He has thrown the petition into the Duanny [diwānī] for a Second Examination, and seems to bring our Affairs to the same Crisis as before in that office: with this Exception only, that we have satisfied Bokechund [Bhog Chand], and he has promised to stand our Friend. Yett as he will nott examine the books himself, and iff he favours, can butt only amend any thing done amiss, there being still a method to be used by taking care of the under-writers, which Seerhaud [Sarhad] cannot manage himself, because he will not submitt to goe to the office, neither is itt proper he should; being the buisness off an under-Vakile [vakil], who should Execute his orders; and to which intent we have had severall in our service from the beginning off our negotiation. For the above reasons Seerhaud [Sarhad] has been ordered to pick any one off them out, and make the proper use off him. He seeming unwilling to comply, and his disputing against itt with Such obstinacy (The main off which is that the Country Vakiles [vakils] are all Rogues and that where he has any thing to doe no one shall attend him or will he give him orders) and the apprehensions there are, that we may again feel the smart off this neglect, are willing to Clear our selves from the Consequence thereof.

The Underscribers doe protest against this unnecessary obstinacy off Seerhaud [Sarhad], and doe pronounce him answerable for any thing, that may Attend his non-Compliance; and that this shall be a witness for us, and Against him upon the Examination off our Honourable Employers.

123. LETTER XVI<sup>1</sup>.

"We wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the 20th Ult<sup>o</sup>. giving an Account of our affairs, since which We received your Honour &c<sup>as</sup>. of April the 16th which We find chiefly in answer to ours of February the 7th with Notations made on the Petition and the Kings signing.

In our last We advised your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> of our keeping a good correspondence with the Honourable Governour and Councill of Bombay, We have not lately had any Letters from thence or had occasion of writing thither, As for the Honourable President and Councill of Fort St. George, We have not received a line from them since our arrivall at Dilly, and 'tis long since We have wrote them, which was Chiefly deferred by Reason of the backwardness of our last Petition, and despairing of any answer from thence in due time, there was no absolute necessity for it, So soon as our Petition is Signed, we shall immediately advise them that their affairs may be put into such a posture as they themselves desire.

We observe what your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> write concerning the omission of the first Article in the Petition, 'tis certain We owe that to those people, in whose hands the Phirds [fards] were, being [not] from any omission of ours.

We likewise observe what notations Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> make concerning the ground round Calcutta. We are endeavouring to perswade the Mutsuddys [mutasaddis] that the Kings signing should be mentiond in the Phirmaund [farmān] which they seem to object against as not fit till the ground was one own, where as at present We had not bought it.

Concerning Patna house which is granted to live in, Your Honour writes that its not worth acceptance unless as a free gift, The Mudsudys [mutasaddis] stickle so much at that which We desire for Surat that We did forgoe that article for fear of hindering that which was off much greater consequence. Besides our advises from Bombay and common Report have led us into a mistake In insisting that the Dutch had a house given them within and liberty for ground without the City of Surat from the King, for upon Examination of their Phirmaund [farmān], there is not a word mentioned of it, and only a Husbulhocum [hasbu-l-hukm] under the Consommas [khānsāmān's] Seal, to the Phousdar [faujdār] or Surat, to let them have such a ones house, to live in, as likewise another in Patna they have likewise a garden without the City, as well as the French but is a permission from the Phousdar [faujdār], not a grant from the King So that if we obtain a grant for a house and garden without Surat it will be more than was ever yet given to any European nation.

We very well Remark what your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> write concerning Madrass Rupees and the fineness thereof, there will be an absolute necessity to have them Refined to make them pass the treasury. It is a thing of that consequence that Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] informs us that Jaffar Caun [Ja'far Khān] had, in a particular manner mentioned it to him among other things, and that our Coining at Madrass was very prejudiciall to the King, and his Customs which has made Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] object more against our having Sperate Mints, than any thing Else in the whole Petition, So that this granted will very well compensate the Refining Madrass Rupces: and we hope the Gentlemen there will be of that opinion<sup>1</sup>.

If it please God that We finish the payment of a yearly Fishcash [peshkash] in Surat According to our desire, We shall pursuant to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>s orders, write our opinion concerning the private trade both to Madrass and

Bombay, of which if particular notice is not taken, no private trader will ever Reap the Benefit of the Honourable Companys Phirmaund [farmān], at Surat. We formerly advised your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> of the great amount of Customs at that place which so Startled us, that lately upon delivery of our Second Petition, We added that of Surrat to it, and did perswade the Examiners of the books to under write, that the books for the 20th year<sup>1</sup> were not to be found, with this veiv that the making of that pishcash may be rendered the more easy.

We here inclose a particular Account of mony &c<sup>a</sup> that was given as a supply to M<sup>rs</sup>. Woodvill but having no Receipt from her it comes attested by us all, which We hope will be sufficient to Regain the debt.

Having now answered Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> in full We come naturally to an Account of our Present affairs, and what prospect We have for the future.

Caundora [Khān Daurān] finding himself much pressed on all sides to make an end of our business, at last ordered, that Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān], Syad Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān], & Rey Reyon [Rāe Rāyān] Should Set down, & make an end, Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] finding Rey Reyon [Rāe Rāyān] might again have an opportunity to Spoil it, told the Nabob he was a very unfit person to meddle in this affair, having acted from the begining with a great deal of enmity and Spleen, and that his designs were to Ruin it, On which the Nabob ordered him to be left out, and that the papers should be delivered to Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] Bokechund [Bhog Chand], the Calsa Mutsuddys.<sup>2</sup> We knowing that our papers at length must go there, caused us the more easily to consent to it, making the necessary preparations accordingly, Viz<sup>t</sup> drawing up a list of a handsome Present for Autusham Cawn [I'tiṣām Khān] with Resolutions to bribe him further, if to be prevailed on no other way, as also his Councillors, and for Bokechund [Bhog Chand] who is the head of the Ketcherry [kachahri] We found it necessary to promise a good Summ accordingly a note was carried for Rupees ten thousand on the finishing our business, and by his advice, to the examiners of the books &c<sup>a</sup>. writers to about 1200 Rupees This management has put a very good gloss on our demands, we found our Petition Returned from the examination of the Kings books with a quite different Air, and a seeming consent to all our demands, Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] (altho' he has not accepted the Present) he has been very favourable in the disputes which He had with Seeraad [Sarhad] and all the Calsa Mutsuddys [khālīṣah mutaṣaddīs] on the perusall of our Petition seeming pretty satisfied with the Gross of it, accordingly three nights ago he carried it to Caundora [Khān Daurān] who perused it all over with it's Remarks and seemed very satisfied, Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] informed him of what We insisted on (and as we suppose) what was proper and what was not, the Nabob returned the Petition and told him that as Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīṣah], he knew best what was to be done : But that he would do well, to take Bokechund [Bhog Chand] and make an end of the business. There has been no Meeting yet so cannot advise Your Honour

<sup>2</sup> I'tiṣām Khān and Bhog Chand are here styled the khālīṣah mutaṣaddīs i.e., the secretaries or officers of the Treasury. Mr. Irvine tells me that mutaṣaddī is quite applicable to a high official, and does not necessarily mean a clerk or subordinate. It is at times used for governors and diwāns.

&c<sup>a</sup> what method they intend to take, but being satisfied that We have laid a good foundation hope for the best.

We have lately made Sale of part of the Merchants goods under our charge a particular Account<sup>1</sup> of which comes herewith Amounting to

Current		11396	7	9

according to which your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will please to pay them, We beleive the owners took particular care to get a Reasonable profit by adding it on the Invoice or else Certainly there was never such Rubbish Sold in Bengall at such prizes, as plainly appeared in opening the bales for Sale, and comparing them with other goods. We have done our best for their advantage, and with which they ought to be contented.

Thanks be to God the apprehensions We had concerning his Majestys indisposition are all over and He is (for ought we know) in a perfect state of health.

Enclosed comes Account Cash, Copy of Consultations and Charges General for April. There has for this two or three months been so little expence in the Warehouse that We have omitted sending that Account."

We are
Honourable Sir and Sirs
Your Most Obedient Humble Servants.

"We have till now had nothing butt pleasing accounts brought us off the going on off our buisness, and for these 20 days Elapsed nothing came out off Seerhauds [Sarhad] mouth, butt that all was done. Yesterday in the Evening we were Surprizingly convinced to the Contrary, by a Copy off the phirds [fards], signed by Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān], brought out off the Publick Ketcherry [kachahrī]; without any intimation beforehand from Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad]; and being in a quite different dialect from what was Expected, Itt was Supposed he might nott have received news of itt. For which reason the heads were immediately sent to him, which to our greater Surprize he immediately returned with a Copy of the whole Phirds [fards] signed, to us, Affirming that he had them by him some three or four days, Butt being himself under the greatest Concern, and having hopes to gett all amended before itt should come to our knowledge, was nott willing to lett us partake off the Secrett. This is an unanswerable breach off trust in him, which he must answer to Our Honourable Employers. Seerhaud [Sarhad] being much out off order, he cannot come hither, Wherefore Agreed That H. Barker goe to him, and make particular Enquiry how this great misfortune and disappointment came about, and desire that for the present he would nott in his disputes insist too much on any off the Articles, that were nott off the highest Consequence, butt rather give them Up, than farther Irritate the Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddīs]. His consent is likewise<sup>1</sup> to be desired to the sale off all the Companys Broad Cloth."

132. INTERVIEW WITH SARHAD.

“C. Seerhauds [Sarhad’s] Answers to some questions Asked him by H. Barker, who was sent to him pursuant to a Consultation y<sup>e</sup> 15th Instant.

Quest.—Why he concealed this last progress off the phirds [fards] from Mess<sup>rs</sup>. Surman and Stephenson ?

Ans.—Purely that they might nott become Malancholly.

Quest.—What was to be done in the present Juncture off Affairs?

Ans.—Bokechund [Bhog Chand] has promised his Assistance to make Autusham Caun [I’tiṣām Khān] change y<sup>e</sup> word Husbul Hoozum [ḥasbu-l-ḥukm] into that off a Phirmaund [farmān], and lastly that we should have 2 Phirmaunds [farmān], 1 Grounded on Azzimuth Shas [‘Aḏīmu-sh-shān’s] Nishaun [nishān], and 1 on y<sup>e</sup> King off Golcondas Phirmaund [farmān].

NOTE.—Upon my particularly asking y<sup>e</sup> method to be pursued, he returned no Answer to y<sup>e</sup> purpose.

Quest.—What was to be done in respect to Suratt? Seeing Mess<sup>rs</sup>. Surman & Stephenson are off Opinion, That iff a peescash [peshkash], nor 2 per Cent (calculated on y<sup>e</sup> Cheifs Invoice) can be obtained, That then all that respects that quarter be entirely relinquished.

Ans.—I am off the same opinion.

Quest.—On Consideration that y<sup>e</sup> Great quantity off the Companys Broad Cloth may be some hinderance to us When we prepare for a Journey, Either on y<sup>e</sup> finishing y<sup>e</sup> buisness or a determinate Answer; doe you consent to y<sup>e</sup> speedy sale off itt ?

Ans.—I doe.

NOTE.—This was with some reluctaney, he saying a great deal would be Expended Among y<sup>e</sup> Mutsuddys [mutasaddīs] instead off Money.

Quest.—Shall we acquaint Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] with our great disaster ?

Ans.—Lett itt be defirred till I have had A Conference with Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] and Bokechund [Bhog Chand], when we may Act as shall then seem proper."

133. DIARY.

July 22nd. "Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhād] and Mullookchund [Mallik Chand] having drawn up a paper importing that we were Surprized to See our Expected Phirmands [farmāns] turned into Husbull Hoocons [hasbu-l-hukms], That the delay in writing to Suratt would ruine us, and in short nothing was done as we desired, or had been promised, butt withall to beg Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] (to whom itt was directed) to regulate the Phirds, [fards], and that Mullookchund [Mallik Chand] was ready to answer any objections, during Seerhauds [Sarhad's] Absence, who was much indisposed. This Mullookchund [Mallik Chand] Carried with him to Autusham Cauns [I'tiṣām Khān's], who in a dispute told him we Could nott have the Phirmaunds [farmāns] we proposed. Mullookchund [Mallik Chand] then said that any thing Else would be off no Service to us. Bokechund [Bhog Chand] att this meeting seemed Against us."

July 23rd. "Mr. Surman told Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] how we had been used, As Also blew itt Among his Servants that Since we could nott Obtain what we came for, we were going away. When this indirectly reaches Sallabut Cauns [Ṣalābat Khān's] Ears, Itt may have some good Effect, Seeing itt will bring him under some Concern for his 35,000 rupees. Itt is to be Noted that Nobody Assists us butt for their own Ends. Great Rain for Severall Days."

July 24th. "Such prodigious rain that about 2300 Souls have been destroyed by the fall off houses."

July 26th. "Seerhaud [Sarhād] went to the Duan [dīwān] iff possible to meett Caundora [Khān Daurān] and Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān] together, itt happened According, butt the former made signs to Seerhaud [Sarhad] nott to speak. To supply this disappointment Seerhaud [Sarhad] went to Caundoras [Khān Daurān's] house, where altho he had time three or four times to repeat our misfortunes by the Duan-Colsas [dīwān-i-khāliṣah's] behaviour, Yett the Nabob did nott answer so much as one Syllable.

Bokechund [Bhog Chand] says nothing butt a messenger from Caundora [Khān Daurān] can help us, so we beleive that what Autusham Caun [I'tiṣām Khān's] did was by the Great-Mans directions."

134. CONSULTATION.

“We have for some time been informed that there was Such a person as Reykirperam [Rāe Kirpā Rām], who had a very great influence on Caundora [Khān Daurān]. This man Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] recommends as the last person to be made use off in that house. He says he had private intimations that he offered to finish our buisness in a small time. Agreed that Seerhaud [Sarhad] goe to him and try what is to be accomplished by his means.”

July 27th.

135. DIARY.

“Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] hearing (we suppose) that we were going away, lett Mr. Surman know that he was nott in Fault, Laying itt on Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad], butt in this Seerhaud [Sarhad] must be justified, and the Nabob condemned.”

July 29th.

“Caundora [Khān Daurān] this day accosted Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān], and asked why the Embassadour was disgusted, To which he replied, that we being flung from door to door till our buisness was spoiled, were resolved to depart hence; Caundora [Khān Daurān] said he should make much off us, and that The King had spoke to him to hasten our dispatch—and att last upon the insinuations off Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān], He Ordered the Phirds [fards] to be brought when Only they two would make An End off them—att the same time sending some fruilt to Mr. Surman.

August 1st.

Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] acknowledges that the New Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] contributed to bring things to so Favourable an Aspect, and the best is, he does nott Suspect we hold a private correspondance with him.”

136. LETTER XVII.<sup>1</sup>

To the HONBLE ROBERT HEDGES Esq<sup>r</sup> President and Governour of Fort William &c<sup>a</sup> Councill in Bengall.

Honourable Sir and Sirs

“Our last to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> was dated June the 24th, since which on the 17th July We have received Your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> of the 23rd and 29th May to which We shall Reply.

We observe in the former part of your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> first letter it is Supposed that We had flown to the Patronage of the Grand Vizeir, in our former Letters, We have given your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> a very particular Account why we did not follow that Method. We still have great Reason to be satisfied in our Conduct on this occasion, and do beleive it must be used only as our last Stake by no means applying to any other person so long as We have the least glimpse of hopes to effect our business by the hands of Caundora [Khān Daurān]. It is certain your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> have a very true notion of that Nobleman and is the same that the whole Court here have of him. There's no one follows and makes addresses to him out of love, but fear, and he serves us only as he uses the Rest of the world, with all these endowments He carries an arbitrary Command over all the Officers at Court, neither is there one in it (the Vizier excepted) that dares do any thing without first his knowledge and consent, if they Should, the presumption would be Repaid with the imediate loss of their posts and the Viziers cheif Mutsuddys [mutaṣaddis] (Viz: Duan Colsa and Tunke Dnan)<sup>1</sup> are entirely under his command, so that the poor Vizier has but the Title with very little of the Authority; However having a very great mistrust that We may one day be obliged to go to the Vizier to try the Extent of his power in case Caundora [Khān Daurān] do's nothing for us: We have from our very arrival taken very Particular care not in the least to disoblige him, but on the contrary He is acquainted and (We beleive) satisfied of our Respects towards him, and as He is not a little noted for being avaritious, We took care, whenever we went to him, Never to go empty handed, but with some little rarity or other, endeavoured to oblige him, which has been always answered with greater Candour and Civility than We could really expect, Our last Letters carried down a very pleasing Account of our affairs, which continued for some time, till at last all our joy came to nothing, and from the greatest hopes brought to the very brink of despair of doing any thing, to be breif Attesham-Cawn the Duan Colsa [I'tiṣām Khān, the divān-i-khālīṣah] signed our Petition as follows.—

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will conceive how Strangely We were Startled at this news, when We had such daily advices from Seerhaud [Sarhad] that all was done, nay to the very last, but what was worse than all, We received the papers out of the Ketcherry [kachahri] from other hands, which He owned afterwards was known to him 3 or 4 days before; The only Reason He gave for this unaccountable concealment was, that since Attesham Cawn [I'tiṣām Khān] had so deceived him, He was resolved not to be communicative, till he had tryed all possible means to retrieve it, and by that means hinder the great concern and Chagrin that must necessarily seize us on such disappointments; We are unacquainted with what answer he can give himself, or our Honourable Masters, for such an apparent breach of trust, In fine, after this was publickly known Seerhaud [Sarhad] frequently went to Attesham Cawn [I'tiṣām Khān] who he now owns, told him that if We had a Phirmaund [farmān] already, We Should have another according to it.

We are very conscious the Phirmaund [farmān] We have is of very little consequence and hardly worth being accepted; to Receive Husbulhookums [ḥashu l-ḥukms] would be a President that was never made yet, and would have a very bad influence upon futurity. Complaints were made to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] with as little Success as formerly, and likewise to Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] from whom We expected little assistance: with all We were so bold to threaten We would leave the place, But since We were in hopes to Receive an answer from Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> in so small a time, We esteemed it most proper, not to execute so bold an Action (Whereon depended the Welfare of all our Honourable Masters Settlements in India) till We had Received very Particular instructions from Your Honour &c. We do beleive such an attempt might have good success, since they are sufficiently apprehensive, what damages We are able to do them at Sea, and We are assured it is only the fear of that which will ever bring them to a compliance, without any notice of the great Presents, that have been made them, and the long time We have been attending at Court. We desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will please to weigh every Step, We have made from the beginning of this Negotiation; We have upon all occasions used the Utmost precaution, and what We hope has been approved of but at present We are at a Stand, the many and suddain revolutions in our affairs from topsie turvy, give us warning to have very little dependance on the fair promises of these great men, So desire Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> very particular Instructions in your first on all that We have Wrote about.

Not knowing what Streights We may be put under or how soon the King may leave the City, We beleive for our Honourable Masters Interest, that the les goods are left in their Godowns the better, for We find the mutsuddys [muta şaddis] are much better pleased with Ready money than Broad cloth, since the vast quantity that has been disposed of in this City has made a meer drug of it For which Reason We have agreed and ordered Mr. Stephenson to dispose of most of the Honourable Compauns Broad cloth, by the first oportunity at the market price, that We may be light and Ready on all occasions.

We have for sometime been told, that there was such a person as Ray Kirperam [Ræe Kirpā Rām] in Caundora's [Khān Daurān's] house, upon whose words he laid a very great Stress having oftener access to his private Consultations than any One else whatsoever, Our affairs at that time were so involved with Attesham Cawn [I'tişām Khān] &c<sup>a</sup> that We had not time to try him till now which happened on the following occasion; In our last Letter to the President &c<sup>a</sup> at Bombay, We intimated that as they had orders from England to withdraw the Surat Factory, We did beleive had the Cheif of Surat insisted more upon his departure, when his Stay was desired by Hyder Cooli Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] he would rather than let them leave the City have wrote to Court about it: The answer to our Letter we here inclose by which your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will see, they did give orders to the Cheif of Surat, to reiterate their remonstrances to Hyder Cooli Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān], which had the desired effect, For (as We are informed) Hyder Cooli Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] immediately writ to the King and Caundora [Khān Daurān], that Should they not be satisfied here, and leave the City of Surat, that Port would be Ruined, This letter arrived much about the time, Our last foil was given by Attesham Cawn [I'tişām Khān], and We upon the new Scheem of employing Kirperam [Kirpā Rām], who has the entire management of all Hyder Cooli Cawns [Haidar Quli Khān's] business here with Caundora [Khān Daurān] and the King; So having this plausible pretence to go upon, He very readily entered into our business, but as yet denies to appear in it publickly. This has been so brought about that our friend Sallabut Cawn [Şalābat Khān], has himself desired that this man might be employed; In fine Ray Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] delivered Hyder Cooli Cawns [Haidar Quli Khān] letter to Caundora [Knan Daurān] and (as He says) to the King, which not a little Start[le]d the former and produced this effect, That when Sallabut Cawn [Şalābat Khān] went the next morning to the Durbar, Caundora [Khān Daurān] asked him why We were disgusted, with the reason of it, Sallabut Cawn [Şalābat Khān] answered that He had information We were preparing for our departure without any farther concern for the affair We came about, Seeing We had so little notice taken of us that the Nabob had thrown our business from door to door, till it was quite Spoiled, and He ought to consider that We were called by him alone, and till such time as He would undertake our business so farr as to compleat it himself, Without flinging it abroad to People, who would not consult his honour, We would not be satisfied. Caundora [Khān Daurān] bid Sallabut Caun [Şalābat Khān] do all He could to satisfy us, and desired him to bring our Petition to him again, when only them two would finish all in a few days, and at the same [time] ordered a dish of fruit to be sent to John Surman; This new Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] makes great promises, how soon every thing shall be done, but withall will expect to be largely rewarded, as yet We are not acquainted with the heighth of his demands.

If this project answers expectation, your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> may expect a flying Cossid [qāšid] to bring the good news, till when We have no further to add on this Head. The following persons having paid the sums under written into the Honourable Companys Cash have desired bills of Exchange of this Instant on the Honourable President & Council.

John Surman	4000 Sicca's payable to Mr. James Williamson.
Edward Stephenson	5000 Sicca's payable to Mr. Thomas Falconer.
William Hamilton & Hugh Barker	} 7000 Sicca's payable to Mr. James Williamson.
Cojah Seerhaud

We likewise drew a bill of Exchange payable to Seerhauds [Sarhād's] Gomasto [gumāshṭah] June the 14th for three hundred and fifty Sicca's, which was omitted in our last.

To all these We desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will give due Honour.

Enclosed comes Account Cash Warehouse Accounts Copys of Consultations and Charges General for the months of May & June."

140. LETTER XVIII.<sup>3</sup>

To the Honourable EDWARD HARRISON Esq.

“It is long since We wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>. occasioned Cheifly by the little progress We have made in the Negotiation We have entered into, As We have from time to time given a very particular Account of the Course of this Affair to the Honourable President and Council of Bengall, without doubt you have Received the same from them upon all occasions and consequently the last which We wrote them from hence, will be communicated to your perusal, This dispair was occasioned by our having consumed much time and money, without making any farther progress than the many promises and Shifts of these inconstant Courtiers, which tended in the end meerly to Show us that they were made to get the Present from us, and then for our business which We came about Shuffle us off from one to another, till being quite Wearied out, We should Accept of anything. We found the only thing that touched them was the apprehensions they had, in case We were Realy disgusted, We might do them such damage at Sea as might by that means alone bring them to Reason The Honourable Charles Boone Esq<sup>r</sup> & c<sup>a</sup>. Council of Bombay advising us that pursuant to the orders they had Received from our Honourable Employers, they had withdrawn Surat Factory, and accordingly had given orders to Mr. Clerke & c<sup>a</sup>. to Repair to Bombay, Upon the knowledge of which Hydra Cooly Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] the new Phousdar [faujdar] sent for them and with a great many fair promises, prevailed on them to stay till such time he should Write to the Honourable Charles Boone Esq<sup>r</sup> which occasioned Mr. Clerkes permission to stay till such time as they could judge of our Success here. We found this [the] fittest opportunity We could have to Startle our Patron Caundora [Khān Daurān] into some Reasonable compliance, the Port of Surrat being immediately under his care and Hyder Cooly Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] the Phousdarr [faujdar] thereof, being not only a particular favourite of his, but of the King himself so that whatever He should write would have a very considerable influence upon our Success here, upon these considerations we wrote the Honourable President and Council of Bombay that it was our opinion in Case the Factory of Surrat was offered to be withdrawn under the pretence that We were disatisfyed here that Hyder Cooly Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] would be so farr from allowing of it, that He would immediately write this Court to give us full satisfaction Accordingly it happened, for Hyder Cooly Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] as soon as ever He had Received intimation of it wrote to Cawndora [Khān Daurān] and the King the ill consequences that might attend that Port in case We should leave it, and We at the same time took particular Care to let the world know our disgust here All this immediately reached his Majestys Ear, who questioned Cawndora [Khān Daurān] about us, and as he himself confessed, ordered him to grant all our demands, We were in great hopes that this would have been followed with punctuality, but instead of that to our sorrow We found the same excuses and Shifts Renewed, of to day and to morrow, it should be done, which made us conclude that now there was no other practicable way remaining but that most desperate Remedys which might have the best influence Viz<sup>t</sup> Actually to leave the City in a disgust which would make them beleive a Rupture might follow, but as this would have been a very bold Action in it self, so it might have very different Consequences upon all the Companys settlements in India, for which reason we did not think our selves sufficiently Authorized to put in Execution without first advising with those Gentlemen who gave us our Commissions the Honourable President and Council in Bengall. We are still of the same opinion that in case they don't think fit to be as good as their words, that the only way to make them comply is to put in practice the methods abovementioned.

About twenty five days ago Caundora [Khān Daurān] was pleased to admit Coja Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] in private the only time that has ever happened during our fourteen months Stay here, he then promised He would make an end of our business, but he desired that nothing might be insisted on that might Reflect on his prudence for granting of it, Seerhaud [Sarhad] answered We should not dare to demand anything that was Contrary to Former Custom, or prejudicial to the Kings Real interest, and that He was there ready to answer any insinuations that might have been made to the Nabobs on that Account Accordingly our Petition was immediately produced Read over and examined when it was ordered to be signed as follows.—

Bengall and Beharr Customs.	Give a Phirmaund [ farmān ].
Bombay Mint, concerning the coin- ing of mony.	Give Strict orders on the Mutsuddys [ mutasaddis ].
Calcutta &c <sup>a</sup> Rogues.	Give Strict orders to the Subahs [ subahs ] of those provinces.
The House and ground at Surrat.	Let them buy 150 beages [ bīgahs ] instead of what they had before, give a Sunnod [ sanad ] from the Duan [ dīwān ] for it. For the house, Petition again.
The Vizagapatam Towns.	Two of the five Towns being returned back, give a Phirmaund [ farmān ] for the rest.

NOTE.—The Reason for the delivery up of those Towns was the permission We had from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> for so doing since they would not give others in their Stead and our belief by consenting thereto other more important Articles might be obtained for our Honourable Masters.

Divy Island,	Give a Sunnod from the Duanny.
The Calcutta new Towns.	Give another Petition to his Majesty.
Surrat Peescash.	Take an obligation that they are content to pay 10,000 Rupees Peeshcash, and give them a Phirmaund

so that at this rate there remained only two things, Viz<sup>t</sup> having the Callicutta Towns entered in the Phirmaund and to the gift of the Surrat house, about which Cawndora promised He would speak to the King and then sign and deliver them, this has passed twentyfive days without either his speaking to the King or we hearing any news of the Papers which make us sometimes think that this was only intended as a trick to keep us easy, God send it may prove otherwise, If it should your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> may depend the news shall fly by the nimblest Cossids, in the mean time We waite with patience till We have Received an answer to our Letter to the Honourable President and Council in Calcutta.

We have had the best opportunity in the world of trying the fickleness and unfaithfulness of this Court to the last, they have nothing but their own Interest in view without the least Spark of Honour or gratitude, The Person that Rules this Court at present with an unbounded Sway is Cawndora Bahauder our Patron,

It may be properly said he does what he pleases with the King and Government not only the Vizeir but all the Officers at Court can do nothing with the King without him, at the same time with this great Authority he is the most dilatory person in the world, hardly ever sits out to transact any publick affairs as Your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> may observe by the Single opportunity that Seerhaud had to be with him during the space of 14 months, and so he serves every body else, who are obliged to sue for his Assistance, and although it is so difficult to bring him to do any good, yet mischeif he has at hand, for he takes particular care to let them know the length of his Authority who presume to make their Addresses other-ways, The Persian Embassadour by his lightness of behaviour has confirmed the truth of this, Cawndora having particularly abused him He has Received his Audience of leave from his Majesty now these five months,<sup>1</sup> but as yet cannot get an answer to his Letter, a Receipt for his Present or what else He desires, and at present he is as near obtaining it as he was before to all Outward appearance, In fine the business of the whole Kingdom in General is dispatched much after the same nature and these examples very well demonstrate the looseness of the Present Government Our patience is almost weary'd out, God grant so much trouble and fatigue may receive it's desired Effect, which we shall think our selves sufficiently rewarded for so long and to us unprofitable Journey.

We are, Honourable Sir and Sirs

141. LETTER XIX.<sup>2</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

"Since writing the foregoing, is come to hand duplicate of your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> dated November the 19th as also Duplicate dated June the 19th. The Originals of neither being as yet come to hand, We Suppose it May happen by the miscarriage of the Kings Gusburdarrs [gurz bardārs, mace-bearers] or what other Messengers might have been made use of Seing the way from Madrass by Land hither is very dangerous.

For a particular Account of the State of our affairs We refer your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> to our foregoing ; We are not able to add any thing thereto.

We are glad to hear that your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> have been so happy as to keep all Quiet hitherto, God grant it may continue.

Herewith comes an answer to the Letters wrote by the Honourable Edward Harrison Esq<sup>r</sup> to Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] and Zeody Cawn

[Zeyâu-d-din Khân] We suppose the latter has been very particular in giving an Account of our affairs, he has but very little power to do either good or bad to our negotiation, If he had We have Reason to fear he would show as little Generosity as any of the Cast, who are truly treacherous and only observient to their own Interest.

We take particular notice of your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>. Observations on all that Relates to your Presidency. As for the first concerning the Madrass Rupees We find that the Mutsuddys [mutaşaddis] were deceived in asserting that they were worse than those of Surratt. It would be sufficient if only the Grant could be obtained for it since the difference will be disputed in the Mints of Bengall &c<sup>a</sup>. However should a dispute arise here We are sufficiently armed with reasons sent from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> and transmitted to us by the Honourable President &c<sup>a</sup> of Bengall.

We Shall if possible get distinct Phirmaunds [farmāns] for Bengall Madrass and Bombay and to be effected without too much trouble, if not We Shall than joyn all together, taking particular care that all which is perfectly granted may be inserted. As for the rest, they will be in Sunnods [sanads] under the Viziers Seal.

Concerning the Vizagapatam Towns, your honour &c<sup>a</sup> will perceive a clear answer in the foregoing, so that you may have Sufficient time to prepare for their Surrendry, when they shall be demand[ed] by the Government.

Divy Island your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will see is granted if our freind Caundora [Khān Daurān] continues but as good as his word, upon whom alone depends the good or bad Success of this Embassy.

We observe what your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> are pleased to order how the five Towns Shall be inserted in our generall or particular Phirmaund [farmān]. We are not able to inform Your Honour &c. how that will be digested till such time as the Papers being to Run in the Offices when we Shall have a particular Regard to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>s instructions on this head.

Concerning the Surrat Peeshcash and the Regulations of that trade which We humbly proposed to the Honourable President &c<sup>a</sup> in Bengall, We shall not at present make any addition, till such time as what We have already Signed is Confirmed. If it be so 'twill be glorious to our Honourable Masters and to the benefit and Honour of the English trade in generall to that Port, so without doubt worthy the determinations of our Right Honourable Employers."

“We have just now (thanks be to God) received our petition from Caundora Behauder [Khān Daurān, Bahādur], signed by his Imperiall Majesty, and which being perused, we find itt answers our End In Every respect, two articles, Viz<sup>t</sup> for more ground round Culcutta and the gift off the Suratt house, Excepted. On the Former, the King having signed A Grant only for 800 rupees, Itt is our Opinion that we ought to petition again for that article, trying att the same time to succeed by all possible means, butt without any impediment to the bulk off our Affairs: As for the Suratt house Itt is nott worth the while to petition again.—For the papers that

By the foregoing Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will perceive that they are Signed much after the same nature as we advised in our last, only the Surrat house and Calicutta Ground which they seem to have Shifted off instead of granting as was promised. For the house We shall say no more about it and for the ground only just try if it can be obtained, or Receive an answer so as not to impede the going on of the business. As the Case Stands We hope We have a great deal of Reason to Congratulate your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> (as We do) upon this occasion God grant it may be Seconded by the Receipt of Phirmaunds [farmāns] &c<sup>a</sup> necessary papers to attain which our utmost dilligence shall not be wanting.

Whether it will be improper to keep all this good news a Secret from the Government of Bengall and Surrat till We have secured the Grants here, Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will be the best judges. We mention this for fear if it should be blazed about, it might Egg Jaffer Cawn [Ja'far Khān] or Hydra Cooly Cawn [Haidar Qulī Khān] to impede it, When We have the Grants it will be too late for them.

We are too much acquainted with his dilatory temper to beleive him entirely, So Shall not waite the coming out of these Petitions but deliver into the Duanny [divāni] those Phirds [fards] which have been already signed to our satisfaction that they may be going forward, and at the same time be endeavouring to get these Petitions granted. HONOURABLE SIR “Being under a necessity of dispatching a Cossid (qāṣid) account of Governour Harrison’s Affairs and having a small matter of good news, I found it could not be omitted.

Our whole Petition has been signed afresh by Attesham Cawn [I’tiṣām Khān] about 10 days agoe as well to our purpose as could be expected, but before they could proceed any farther there was a necessity to receive the Vizier’s approvall, accordingly it was carryed there yesterday, and was received very candidly but pursuant to custom must again go to the King, but that there might be no loss of time the Vizier kindly ordered the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīṣah] to carry them himself thither<sup>2</sup> and get them signed, which was accordingly done, so I hope now they are pretty well passed, next Follows the Vizier’s Signing, and then we shall get the orders for drawing up the Phirmaund [farmān] which as soon as received we shall Dispatch a General Cossid [qāṣid] with the good news, and our Monthly Accounts till when I humbly referr and remain

151. DIARY.

“Mr. Surman &c<sup>e</sup> visitted the Grand Vizier, who told Mr. Surman that all our buisness was done, Upon which the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khāliṣah] said we might have the Seaw, [siyāhah] and goe about the Phirmaund [farmān] to morrow. Att this Seerhaud [Sarhad] replied There were a few small things nott yett adjusted, when Bokechund [Bhog Chand] went on, and said we wanted to have them in the Phirmaund [farmān]. To all which the Vizier Kindly answered, That iff they were small they should be entered out off hand, and iff large they should be brought to him and he would sign them.”

November 17th.

“The Phirds [fards] from Emenut-ray [Amānat Rāe] being by Boguechund [Bhog Chand] carried to Autusham Caun Duan Calsa [I<sup>t</sup>iṣām Khān, diwān-i-khāliṣah,] he was for having butt 4 Articles entered in the Phirmaund [farmān] According to the Kings Signing; butt by the perswasion of our Friend Bokechund [Bhog Chand] he att last Agreed to 8 Articles. After this Bokechund [Bhog Chand] Signed on the first phird [fard]—According to the Books—and on the Last made his mark. Then Emenut-ray [Amānat Rāe], dated the phirds (fards), and wrote on the back—For the Secretarys office—We shall now see what Emenut Ray (Amānat Rāe) will doe for us, For itt seems Easy (and Seerhaud [Sarhad] says he has promised) to Change or Alter any off the middle phirds [fards]. The King sett out in Formall Jesson [jashn] when Mr. Surman &c<sup>e</sup> carried a large Looking-Glass.”

November 18th.

152. CONSULTATION.

“Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājāh Sarhad] has now delivered us from the Duanny [diwānī] The Seaw [siyāhah] for a Phirmaund [farmān] Completed.<sup>2</sup>

November 20th.

<sup>1</sup> Jashn, a solemn feast, an anniversary celebration. On this occasion the feast was the ‘Idu z-zuḥa’ which fell this year on November 14.

<sup>2</sup> The details of the siyāhah, or draft, are here given. I have omitted them as they are repeated in Letter xxliii. At the end of these details comes the remark, “For those that remain there will be orders iven for the writing off their Sunnods (sanads) in the Duanny [diwānī].”

We might have Expected the Vizier in whose power itt was, would have stop'd our buisness on this occasion or caused many delays the Sure way to squeeze a Sum off money, which must have been very large. Butt he has behaved himself with far more generosity, Our papers no sooner reaching his hands, than they received dispatch; which encourages us to beleive he will not be hereafter troublesome.

Our buisness may be now properly said to have received a Good Foundation, God Grant a happy conclusion to the whole. Agreed That a perfect account be immediately transmitted to the Honourable President and Council in Bengall.

There now remains to bring the whole into Form, and as the wording off the Phirmaunds [farmāns] &c<sup>a</sup> papers will lye in those writers hands, who are employed to draw them up; We are very well acquainted that money is the most Efficacious method that can be used; the Stinting off which would become now great Extravagance. Wherefore Agreed That Cojah Seerhau [Khwajah Sarhad] adjust matters with the Writers off the Secretarys office, and those off the Duanny [diwānī]; That nothing may be wanting to have all prosperously concluded."

Of these 22 Petitions 15 are as the King Signed at first, and the other 7 are what were re-signed, which we sent last down, so your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will easily Join, the King's and Duan Colsa's [diwān-i-khālīshāh's] Signings together, by which you may have a true Notion of the Affair. The passing of this great Gulph was very pleasing to us, of which we shou'd have given your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> an immediate Account but being willing to see all thoroughly cleared from the Duanny [diwāni], we proposed dispatching all at once.

After Attesham Caun [Itiṣām Khān] had Signed the Papers they were ordered to be brought the Vizier, which gave us some Apprehension (as he had opportunity and Authority) that he might make some Exception, but it pleased God the Fortune of our Honourable Masters prevailed, and the good Vizier immediately Signed, and as it is customary for such Papers to be re-signed by the Imperial Hand, he considered the long Stay and Expence we had been at, and ordered the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīshāh] immediately to carry them to the King, and get them passed once more, which was done accordingly at first Sight, this last was a finishing Stroke, and in our Opinion confirmed all that was granted before.

The next thing was to get an order from the Duanny [diwāni] (which they call Seaw)<sup>1</sup> upon the Head Secretary, who is to write the Phirmaund [farmān], the Vizier was pleased in our presence to order it to be immediately given us, we thank God, we have received it, the following things are ordered to be entered in the Phirmaund [farmān] according to the Kings signing, Bengall &c<sup>a</sup> free Trade, Surat Piscash [peshkash], Cormandel free Trade, Vizagapatam 3 Towns, Madrass Rupees, Phirmaush [farmāish], 40 Bega's [bigahs] of Ground, Copy of the Phirmaund [farmān], these 8 at first appeared as allowed off by the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīshāh], but Seerhaud [Sarhad] by means of the Duanny [diwāni] Writers, brought these 5 following, Madrass 5 Towns, Calcutta 3 old, and 38 new Towns, Bombay Mint, Company's Debtors and Servants and Shipwrecks.

We are now making the proper Provision to have the Phirmaunds [farmāns] drawn up, consisting of these 13 Articles, but as yet we have not concluded whether to have a Single Phirmaund [farmān] or have three, as the working of it may prove beneficial to the Interest of our Honourable Masters, that shall certainly be chosen, we hope our next will carry the Copy of it, as it is foul drawn up, and that to arrive them time enough in Calcutta to be remitted home to England by the last Ship, which will without doubt be very Satisfactory to our Honourable Masters, the remaining nine articles which are not entered in the Phirmaund [farmān], we are to receive Sunnods [sanads] for under the Viziers Seal, and the Secretarys of the Duanny [diwāni] have orders to draw them up, these may be finished in a Small time, but Phirmaunds [farmāns] being Subject to Several formalities, will be something longer.

We have received your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> dated the 24th September chiefly in answer to ours of August 1st your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Opinion of what we then wrote is particularly observed, but believe that Letter was taken in the Strongest Sence, we never intended to put those Designs in Execution, without the utmost Extremity, and when no other way was left, or Composition could be made, even of effecting the half of what we petitioned for, it was this intention that made us write to your Honour &c. that we might be always ready Arm'd, and we do assure that easie Arguments, all the Presents you have sent, the vast Sum of money and time that have been expended on this Embassy have had very little affect on this Court, and they would have shamm'd us off with very little, had not Hydracooley Caun [Haidar Quli Khān] wrote from Surat, that we would directly leave that City. Thanks be to God the case is now altered, as there is no such disease there can be no occasion for such remedies, every thing seems now upon a firm Establishment, it's true a few formalities may take up some time, but a little patience and good Bribery, we hope will bring what is happily begun to a Good Conclusion.

We have observed your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Notations upon what was formerly Signed on our Petition by the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīshāh], among which your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> conceive where it is wrote, "write to the Duan Subah [diwān-i-šūbah] or Phousdar [faujdar]," that the business is Suspended for their Judgements, whereas it is quite otherwise, wheresoever the King or Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālīshāh] has wrote so it is perfectly granted, as your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will hereafter see, when the Grants are wrote under the Vizier's Seal, they will be directed to the several Duan Subahs [diwān-i-šūbah], and those that followed them, that Such Petitions are granted.

It is certain our Stay here has been longer than could have been expected by any one, and thereby the Expence of this Negotiation much enhaunc'd, which we have endeavoured to retrench as much as possible from the very beginning, we have nothing but barely what is necessary, our Account be our Witnesses and your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> our Judges, whether we have been guilty of any Extravagancies, considering the Place, the Number of Englishmen, and any attendance to make a creditable appearance at this Court. Cojah Surhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] says 'nis Allowance is too small and hopes to have an Addition to it now or at his return.

Cojah Surhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] Solemnly protests that he will never mingle any forreign affair with those of our Honourable Masters, if he does he must be answerable for it.

We have drawn a Bill of Exchange for 2900 Sicca's, payable to Mr. James Williamson to which we desire your Honour &c. to give due Honour.

Herewith come Accounts Cash, Warehouse and Charges General and Copies of Consultations which we wish safe to your Hands, and are

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

It is long since we troubled your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> with a Letter of this Kind there being no great occasion for it but considering upon your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>'s frequent Orders private instructions from the beginning and our own Honour we beleive it immediately requisite to display our Companion Cojah Seerhaud

[Khwājah Sarhad] in his true Colours, our publique Consultation Book and Diary will be found something bare on this head by reason his seeing and perusing the whole was unavoydable to let him know we were Conscious to all his Tricks and Villianies and to have pen'd them down in Publick might have made him desperate and thereby added fuel to the Flame with which he had been possessed. This has been Sufficiently remedied by our private Notations and particularly at large by the Secretary H. Barker. Twas these Considerations that made us conceal from him our knowledge of his Designs, past Transactions and Behaviour being truly satisfied that the day would Come for our ample Justifications, and the Villian be suitably rewarded, to this End we shall endeavour to sum up our Allegations against him with as much particularity as our Notes memory and daily observations can instruct by entirely waving his personal deserts from us, by his continued slights and abuses, and we take this Liberty to Assure your Honour &c that no desire of revenge shall make us swerve from the Truth or by any feigned Story to aggravate his Crimes to be punctuall in this and that you may have a perfect Notion of what we're agoing to relate, we must desire that your Honour &c! look back on our first Arrivall at this Place from which Time we Shall begin our Intended Narration. It's likewise necessary to remember the vain promises of this Gentleman that all was to be done purely by his Friends at Court alone which without doubt was the greatest Encouragement for the Honourable President &c sending the Present to his Majesty giving So great a Charge to Seerhaud [Sarhad] and the Promise of so large a Reward on Conditions of Success this seemed in some measure to be Confirmed by the receipt of those good Husbullhookums [ḥasb-ul-ḥukms] that were sent from Court before hand, and next by the gift of our Carriage from his Majesty Upon our Arrivall at Court we dived into the mistery at once We found Seerhauds [Sarhad's] great Friends, such as Tuckerubawn [Taqarrub Khān] Cawndora [Khān Daurān], Sallabut Cawn [Salābat Khān] and his Particular Friend Cojah Manour [Manavvar] turned into a Simple Armenian Padree and two or three sharp Rogues to assist him who having considerably choused the Dutch in whose Business they were employed had laid a design to serve us after the same manner this schem seemed presently broken for the Padree who was their Cheif discovered himself to be Such an Ass at the first few visits we were obliged to make that not we alone but Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] himself was ashamed of him, and he who formerly extolled his Interest and Behaviour to Such a prodigious height was now perfectly abashed by such a mean disappointment add to this his extraordinary sottishness in being drunk once or twice daily with his disapperance which made us suspect much more and occasioned us to make a farther Enquiry whon upon the whole we found he was a very lewd debauchee so not only a name to his gown but by his private walk to Brothells and such like places a meer Scandall to Christianity.

On the intended beginning of this Negotiation we find he has received orders from Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] who sent him a Letter to Tackurub Cawn [Taqarrub Khān], Abdoola Cawn [Abdullah Khān], Hosseinally Cawn [Husain 'Ali Khān], Meer Jumlah [Mir Jumlah], Cawndora [Khān Daurān] and Cojah Manour [Khwājah Manavvar] to inform them that the English hada

Present for his Majesty ready in Bengall: but being under Some Apprehensions of a Misarrige in the Business we were willing to have Some Security before they parted from it, that they requested to have a Husbulhookum [hasb-ul-hukm] for a free Trade in Bengall &c<sup>a</sup> sent them which if granted Seerhaud [Sarhad] engaged to have the present immediately forwarded that he would Accompany it and should have the Intire management of it himself, disposing of all at his own pleasure this project took in Some places and by the management of the Gentues with Mons<sup>r</sup> Martin obtained those Husbulhookums [hasb-ul-hukm] which your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> received and were immediately followed by Seerpaws (sar-o-pā) and Goorzebudars [gurzbarārs] to receive and Conduct the present. Seerhaud [Sarhad] when in Calcutta had no reason to promise, that the Carriage should be given but having instructed the Padree to pursue it with this Threat the present should be forwarded on no other Conditions, The Vackeels [wakils] were all at a stand till by chance they fell in with Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān], Meer Jumlah [Mīr Jumlah] and Hosseinally [Ḥusain 'Alī Khān] leaving the Court at this Juncture Cawndora [Khān Daurān] became ambitious to show his Master his abilities our present made a great noise at that time and was the more aggrandized by the Padrees folley who according to the humour he was in avowed it to amount to 15 or 30 lack [lakh] Rupees all which he wrote in a Persian Letter he had been advised of and upon Syud Sallabut Cawns [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān's] particular Enquiry into the truth of it he offered a note under his hand as an enforcement to what he asserted The old Syud [Sayyad] had too much sence to permit him however there was a Note given into the Consommany<sup>1</sup> that it amounted to Lacks which pleased Sufficiently after the Syud [Sayyad] had satisfied his avaritious Tastes with some present bribes and a Promise of a Larger withall to have the entire management of our business he embarked in it and by his Perswasions prevailed on Cawndora [Khān Daurān] to do the like by this means his Majesty was perswaded to give the Charge of the Carriage blinded with the Prospect of so large a present at a small Expence The several Bills paid by your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> and us with the Padree's note for 25,000 Rupees the amount kept Secret till our Arrivall were the only Friends Seerhaud [Sarhad] could get for this, and the other Concessions above mentioned, indeed we were afraid of finding larger Sums so complied with this designing to Change the note which was afterwards performed, but with the Addition of more broad Cloth seeing they insisted that that note was purely for the gift of the Carriage when Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] first began to quarrell with this priest, we were now and then diverted in the Padree's merry moods by his reviling Seerhaud [Sarhad] with his lying Letters, schemes and orders, particularly one which cannot be omitted, his writing to the Padree to petition the King that he had four Years ago brought this Present near Lahore for Behauder Shaw [Bahādur Shāh] whose Death interferring and Moezzudeen [Mu'izz-ud-dīn Jahāndār Shāh] having sacrificed all his Brothers he was resolved the Murtherer of Arimuth Shawn [Azīmu-sh-Shān] should never have the Possession of it, but that returning by the way of Suratt and from thence to Bengall, the Present was reserved for him alone This was such a notorious lye that even the Padree himself was ashamed of.

Pursuant to your Honour<sup>s</sup> & cas Orders some Time after our Arrivall we began to discourse with the Padree concerning his Account that we might know how he had disposed of the Large Sums which he had received from us the Delays that here ensued made us Conclude that said Account was then to be made up as they should think fitt among themselves The very demanding of it put the Padree to a stand for having other Scheems in his head he designed by the frequent Management of the Business to have scotted of the Debts which his Former debauchery and Folly had led him into in this finding his Mistake he fell roundly to work on the Account as the only way to be revenged the first demand on us was for 1200 rs, which being rejected a month or two afterwards we heard to the amount of 7000 rupees and that the Account was delivered into Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], we endeavoured by all possible Means to get Sight of it, but to no purpose telling Seerhaud [Sarhad] he would in the End be answerable for it and that the sum of 17,000 rupees could not be ballanced by saying the Expencc amounted to 24,000, wherefore there was no other way for his own clearance than by Submitting it to examination this business at Last reached Syud Sallabut Cawn's [Sayyad Šalābat Khān's] Ears, who taking notice of it said he always took the Padree for a man of Integrity but that now since he had made such Extravagant Demands there must Certainly be a piece of Roguery in it, and as it was Impossible for him to have expended near that Sum, so instead of receiving anything he ought to be swunged the Nabob's Mutsuddy [mutasādi] Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] was of the same opinion Mons. Martin took Care to let us know that Liquor and a Common Strumpet who had culled him had Carried away best part of the mony all this when told to Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] had not the least Influence For there was no Account to be had, nevertheless the Padree being in debt some means must be found out for his Rebuf we then enquired of the Gentues that attended him and had the main Hand in our business (one of whom we had then Entertained) he was attacked both with mileness and severity to discover what he knew as to the Sums he could give no Account, neither did he know what Bills the Padree drew they being drawn and the Advises sent in the Armenian Language, he says he frequently advised him to give a full Account to us in Persians, as he did to Seerhaud [Sarhad] but without Effect In this he was true for whenever any Bill Came there was never any mention of [it] in Persians and only what we received from Seerhaud [Sarhad] that so much Money had been expended on such a business it is certain we hindered the Draught of greater Sums by refusing Payment to one of the first Bills. The Gentue whose name is Mittersein [Mitr Sen], informed us that what the Padree received here from his Armenian Brethren was in goods and not Specie so that as 1000 rupees was in his distress depreciated to 4 or 500 rupees ready Cash the debt with Interest and Exchange was on the Contra advanced to 1500 This was admirable dispatch, and what we Suspected to have some truth in it further he Confessed that when the Padree was in Cash there was always merry doings it being Supposed that the Gentue had given us some Information Seerhaud [Sarhad] for 6 or 8 months has neither taken notice of nor employed him in any Manner of Business altho at first-picked out by himself as the fittest Person for his Assistance we have hinted above that on the Payment of any Bill drawn by the Padree Seerhaud [Sarhad] advised us that it was on such and such an occasion among which the bill for 2000 rupees was for a pretended Present to the King during the Jesson [jasān] upon Enquiry we found there was such Design on Foot a Glass being bought for 1200 rupees whose intrinsick worth was 400 rupees besides some other small Things the Glass was returned being carried too late the other Particulars upon Examination of present Office we found delivered amounting to 500 rupees according to the most Extravagant Calculation This was a blot no one could answer the next thing we took in hand was what wrote down for Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] he was as Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] says Charged upwards 4500 rupees we received particular Information on this Head so do beleive 3000 rupees to be the very outside during this Intervall the Padree threatned to go down to Bengall where he would make his demands sometimes to Suratt and sometimes complain to his Majesty C: Hocknuzzer with the plea of Charity pressed us very hard in the Padrees behalf but finding himself denyed was not a little disgusted last of all C: Phanoose [Khwājah Fānūs]<sup>1</sup> was Esteemed the properest man to work upon us but the Padree not appearing according to appointment that was laid aside also however this man when alone some Other day discoursed on that Subject in a method very foreign to what we had formerly heard, Viz<sup>t</sup> something concerning Cojah Serhauds [Khwājah Sarhad's] Orders and Letters to the Padree which would have been further explained had not the Accidentall Coming of C Seerhaud [Sarhad] prevented it whether he heard or only suspected the discourse we cannot tell but are certain he has hindered Phanoose [Fānūs] from coming any more near us, in short we have very good Information that Seerhaud [Sarhad] was liberal in his Orders to the Padree wherefore if his Account is extraordinary large he had Authority for the Expending it For the Honour of the Armenians in generall the Padree dares neither show nor publicly own it and Seerhaud [Sarhad] to screen himself frequently coaxes him with fair promises at Least, for we have been told the Padree threatens to advise the Church of it How this Affair will be Concluded we cannot judge but suppose the Orders will be at last produced and Cojah [Khwājah] Obliged to become responsible this is the State of the Case as it has hitherto reached our Knowledge and in which we have been the more particular beleiving some Day or another Seerhaud [Sarhad] will be called to Account for it.

We observed in a Letter of Instructions from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> to us that Cojah Manour [Khwājah Manavvar] is particularly recommended to have a great hand in the Management of our business wherefore we were to Comport ourselves towards him accordingly. To the Letters that were produced before your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> as sent from him we take this to be the fittest opportunity to unfold the Cheat Cojah Manour [Khwājah Manavvar] had never the least hand in our business neither has he been any ways capacitated during this Kings Reign

He is one Thousand Munsub [Mansab,] and Governor of the Tombs in Agra, but as he is in disgust with the Court Seldom or Never goes near it, its no wonder that Seerhaud [Sarhad] produced Letters from him seeing he had the Impudence to Confess to us that having all sorts of seals ready he could make Letters in what stile and from whom he pleased which he had often done when the Honourable President and Council were dispirited, there are many men in the World that have been guilty of those things, but very few who have been so enormously wicked and shameless as to own and defend it.

Upon due Consideration we found the Stress of our Business at first depended on Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] which made us the more solicitous to oblige him and the old Gentleman being Jealous that we might make our Application elsewhere has kept John Surman in the best part of his own house what means did Seerhaud [Sarhad] leave unattempted for his remove affirming it not to lay in this man's Power to Effect our Business sometimes applying to one sometimes to another of Cawndora's [Khān Daurān's] Servants without any manner of Success if we desired him to go to the Ray Raya [Rāe Rāyān] or Nutnull [Nath Mall] whom we found to have obstructed the Business endeavouring to bring them over by Bribery he would make us fair promises but was sure to forget it when our first Petition was delivered in and by Cawndora [Khān Daurān] sent to the Duanny [dīwānī] records to receive its remarks, we Earnestly desired Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] to take Care that what was wrote thereon might be in our Favour, to which he made the Accustomary Answer to be sure never fear, I will do it and at the same time never took the least notice of it yet deceiving us with some Story or other till all was Spoild and then came with the Excuse, How could I help it the ill Consequences of this have been long since apparent to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> Viz<sup>t</sup> the weightyest part of our Petition not granted, and we led in a String for 8 Months longer which we passed over with a Deal of uneasiness altho no Stone was left unturned for our Releif All the Arguments Seerhaud [Sarhad] could muster for our forsaken (sic) Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] provd fruitless now asserting his Incapacity and at another Time his Roguery these delays being only designed to squeeze more money from us then again that Cawndora [Khān Daurān] wanted a Lack of Rupees we had various Schemes laid for a new Pahon [patron?] nay he carried the matter so far as to Spend 7 days in drawing up a new Petition when nothing would Serve him but it must be delivered to Etmaund Cawn [I'timād Khān] one of the Eunuchs and from which he was not easily diswaded in fine his being so very Pragmatical in such like particulars has given us more trouble and uneasiness than Cawndora [Khān Daurān] by his delays.

The Business of Attesham Cawn [I'tiṣān Khān] presents itself next to our View, There Cojah [Khwājah] had a Sea of Durbar to swim in going backward and forward daily and acting just as he pleased for two or three Months together we had a Parcell of fine Stories brought us how that all was done that the Honourable Companys business was effected according to his Wish sometimes it was sign [ed] at others we should have the Papers delivered us and the Seaw [Siyāhah] for the Phirmaund [farmān] without its going either to the King Vizier or Cawndora [Khān Daurān] His daily positiveness made us look about we were told this being contrary to all rule and Custom was impossible to be done at this Court where everything runs in its proper and Set Channell if any of these Arguments were used to him against the Probability of his Storys he would Storm fall into a Passion and to be revenged of us Neglect the Companys Business for 4 or 5 days afterwards when our Business came to a Crisis in the Duanny Ketcherry [dīwānī kachahri] our Vackeels [wakils] one of brought us the Papers as they had been signed by the Duan Colsa [dīwān-i-khālīshah], had not this been happily discovered God knows what farther ill Consequences might have ensued for it is Certain Seerhaud [Sarhad] would never have revealed [it] so long as his Folly had any hopes to retrieve it and [in] the midst of this Affair Boguechund [Bhog Chand] the Duan Colsa's [dīwān-i-khālīshah's] Peescar [peshkār] discovered a very unsettled Carriage wherefore upon mature Consideration we found it absolutely necessary that he should be bribed the result of this was that Seerhaud [Sarhad] informed us he had made it up for 10,000 rupees but that Muttsuddy [mutṣadī] refusing to take the Note that was offerd, caused us to Suspect there was not a compleat Adjustment however his Superiour obstinacy prevailed over those Fears till we received a palpable Foil and then to his Former Excuse how Could I help it they told me so the receipt of this disappointment and the Strange Carelessness of our Patron Cawndora [Khān Daurān] occasioned what we wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> August the 1st in which was a double Intention one to use upon the last Extremity, and the other to make Seerhaud [Sarhad] become more Subject to our Commands for altho' he might delay the business to serve his own privatey Ends or gratify his Obstinacy, yet the least Tryal of disgust in the Court must Ruin him past redress how unaccountably he signed the Letter we Cannot Tell but his refusing to sign the Same to Bombay was much more unanswerable this Shows the man and what little regard he has for his Word.

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will find by our Consultation Book what Vacqueels [wakils] we brought with us from Patna which we designed should have been employed by, and received Orders from Seerhaud [Sarhad] pursuant to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>s Instructions having used all possible means to accomplish the particular we found Seerhaud [Sarhad] Obstinateley averse to it and altho brought to an open dispute your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>s Orders produced together with the absolute necessity at that Time yet Sooner than Show the least Compliance he under went a Protest as for orders they have always been his least Concern and for protest he did not Value fifty he has farther told us that if any Vacqueel (wakil) was employed he would from that moment wash his Hands Clean of the Companys Business and we might take care of it our Selves our General affairs at that Time being in a most distracted posture we esteem it policy not to insist farther on this Occasion altho in the Right but rather Comply with an Obstinate Fool than by a Longer dispute render that irrecoverable which was before in so bad a Condition however to pursue his wonted Absurditys seven days were not elapsed before he pickt out one of the Vackeels (wakils) himself giving him his Orders and again in a Fortnights time Could not bear the sight of him one while his block headed Armenians were made vacqueels (wakils) and swore to be the fittest men and at another Time Chubdars and Kismutgars<sup>1</sup> went down for which there was always an Excuse ready your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> must suppose us men of very little or very great Spirits to suffer all this without sometimes breaking out its true we were now and then over Come but then he took Care to make us remember it and the Honourable Companys Business, was sure to pay a seven days Tribute to the Villaines Revenge, in fine none of our Servants were employed in any affair of Consequence and to turn them away such a distance from home would have been great injustice as well as wrong policy for as the keeping them obliged Seerhaud [Sarhad] to be upon his guard so he knew them to be true to us and did advise of all Occurrences that Came to their knowledge every thing carried this Face till the time came for our Papers to move towards the Duanny Ketcherry (dīwānī kachahri) and writing the Phirmaunds [farmāns], and Perwannaes [parwānahs] when finding himself at a stand he was obliged to call the Gentue to his assistance to make Choice of ours was to fear discovering what he wished to Continue a Secret and perfectly lay open his Indirect Practices besides your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> must know he mightily effects working miracles and making the plainest things appear misticall only to be unravell'd by his superior Genius and Experience to supply this deficiency a Gentue of his own was provided whom he employ'd privately but that not Serving he was obliged to choose another of a great Rank who was ordered every where as he thought fit to us he often denied it and as frequently Said he would trust none of them this touching our own Vaqueels (wakīls) very sensibly a heavy Complaint was made we found they had too much reason, yet as the Season was improper to take notice of it so we promised they should loos Nothing by their good demeanour and that a Time might be found to reward them which would redound much more to their Honour and Advantage By this means we pacified them who serve Cheifly for Spyes on the others Actions and in which his own Servants are of Excellent Service for it being Contrary to his nature to be good to anyone so hardly paying their Wages its not likely that he should by any reward secure them to his Interest.

It may not be improper to launch into the Story of the new Kirperam [Kirpā Rām], the Secret part of which is not entered in our Consultation Book this man was proposed by Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājsh Sarhad] as a Sheet Anchor and the ultimate means to effect our business with Cawndora [Khān Daurān] and that he would give us our Phirmaunds [farmāns] &c<sup>a</sup> Grants signed and sealed in the Space of eight days and while this was promised with so much fire and Energy, poor Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalībat Khān] must be laid aside as a tool good for nothing but blotted with the Characters of Fool and Rogue-Hydera Cooli Cawn [Ḥaidar Qulī Khān] having wrote of our design to withdraw the Suratt Settlement gave Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] an Opportunity to Speak of our Business we were of Opinion Seerhaud [Sarhad] was Convinced of this m[ans] feigned abilities by his Countryman called Hocknuzzer who represented him as an Instrument not only Capable to effect the Honourable Companys Business but very proper to be employed in his own private Affairs We at first Consented to the Pursuit meerly because Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] approved it, and that he might Serve to Startle Cawndora [Khān Daurān] into a better opinion of our Petition, but we were in a Short Time sensible of his small abilities to do us any Service and that our Choif Dependance was on the Old Staff Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] during this Project we were pressed to Come to an Agreement of what Sum we would give in Case the Business was Effectuated and to Perswade us to deliver a Note, All the most positive arguments were fetch'd that Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] had undertaken it would go thro' Stictch (sic) and was to have the Petition delivered him for Examination with abundance of such idle Stor[ies], our Judgements were not to be wrongd with appearances especially after so much Experience of the Person who gave the recommendum instead of the promised despatch of 8 days 6 weeks were elapsed without so much as receiving the Petition from Cawndora [Khān Daurān] nay when the matter Came in dispute and the Concessions were made by the means of Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] he was not only absent but had just before declared he would have nothing to do in our Business till the Papers were Signed nevertheless Cojah Seerhaud [Khawājah Sarhad] as obstinately as ever asserted all to be done by Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] and that he would stop it till he was satisfied which brought us to the resolution mentioned in our Consultation Book September the 17 as this was to no purpose so the Close Vizt that the Phirds [fards] signed by the King should be delivered to him was more false than the rest, they being by Cawndora [Khān Daurān] Orderd to be opened in the Presence of Syud Sallabut Cawn [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] after that we lay quiet for some time but expecting a Storm from that Quarter we Soothed him and promised him a handsome Present for the Services he has done us altho he himself had not been so punctuall to affect all by his own means these Overtures proved insufficient, for we were told he expected 10,000 rupees Affirming that he had done all and insinuations were made that in Case of our non Compliance he might feign Letters from Hydera Cooli Cawn [Haidar Quli Khān] which might have quite different Effects from the former Upon Enquiry we found these Storys perfectly Contrived to get a Large Sum of Money from us not so much for the Sake of our Honourable Masters as for the Airy Scheems of Seerhauds [Sarhad's] own Voyage to England this is the true State of the Affair at present what may be the Conclusion shall be duely advisd hereafter.

We have just touched in our Consultation Book on the Projects of Cojah Seerhauds [Khawājah Sarhad's] going to England and there buying rarietys for the King of Indostan as for our private Letters they may have made frequent mention of it its now our duty to disclose without reserve what we know of this his dealing [?] Two Years have been a Continued Series of this light discourse what the King had promised e're we arrived at Court his Character to the King of England and what voyages he was to make in Europe with a long List of Rarietys to be provided and the great profitts to be raised on that Account, add to this many other Favours which he had to desire here This Relation was duobled (sic) to all the Courtiers and Eunuchs in the City with the hopes that some lucky Chance might carry it to the Kings Ear however being disappointed he drew the whole Schem up in writing but would never Show us the whole having seen the Rarietys that are Contained therein we Shall repeat them as near as occurs to our memory Vizt a Throne and Chair of Amber, A Throne and Chair of Chrystall, fine large glass contg very Large looking Glasses China Tiles sufficient for a Palace a Mill to coin money costing 20,000 rupees which goes without fire or other trouble and the workmen to be brought with him, to bring Founders who shall recast all his Majestys heavy Artillery to greater Advantage and Easiness of Carriage to cast Mortars and their Shells bringing Engineers with them these are the Cheif Articles of his proposition besides many other small rarieties which the King may desire and as the prosecution of this affair will require a round Sum of ready Cash so he expected an order for the Receipt of the Hghly Customs and other orders on all Europeans for his Transportation and the English in particular for his return Seerhaud [Sarhad] upon his Arrival here finding his project for so much specie would fail raised another that might Serve his turn. The having a Present Sent to the King of England and Company of Traders with Phirmaunds [farmāns] mentioning Seerhaud [Sarhad] to be the Kings royall Merchant bound to England where he was to buy him rarietys and that if any of those Goods were prohibited by our Laws they should be dispensed with on this Occasion he received Liberty to return and bring the above mentioned rarietys with him on any of our Ships this is an abstract of what he showed us and is entered in our Consultation of July the 9th when We Wholy rejected it as having no Orders nor Authority from your Honours &c<sup>a</sup> for our Compliance we have since received animadversions from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> on that head which were duely explained to him at which time putting on a Self denying Countenance he protested never to address the King or incumber our Honourable Masters affairs with his own this we know to be notoriously false seeing we are this moment Satisfied he pursues it and has delayed the Generall Affair purely on that Account he is frequently so vain as to tell us he is in daily Expectation the King would send for him since he is sure his Majesty is so much delighted with his Propositions that more than he can wish will be granted and then (Says he) you'll find what you have lost by not coming in with my designs of aggrandizing the English Nation and Company nay I am afraid the Governour and Council will force me to it at last and in the mean time you have neither Power nor means to prevent it we have hitherto found nothing Substantiall going forward all continues Wind Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] was the last Engineer whom we now find succeeded by Sallaly Cawn [Jalāl Khān] this man is to prevail on Etmaud Cawn the Cheif Coj:<sup>1</sup> to hatch his unnaturall birth to which end the Sum of 6000 rupees has been proposed The Cawn [Khān] is a perfect Mogull and the Coj: [Khajah] as true a Courtier wherefore till we see it done there is no Credit to be given and as yet it is not began we shall not want Advices and endeavour the Prevention should it prove the old Story nothing being more Certain than that the Consequences will carry more stings than appear at Present.

On the presenting our first petition Seerhaud [Sarhad] was very uneasy that we would not ask for 12,000 rupees in new Towns the Event has proved us in the right but his Superlative Obstinacy will never Submit to Conviction he drew up a Petition wherein he desired the remaining 4000 rupees for himself besides all those which belong to Sultan Mahmud who he said was dead this Project delayed our Generall Affair some time he waiting with great Uneasiness an Answer to his Letter which he wrote Concerning that Zemidar's Ground [?] we Suppose this Petition is to attend the other and is as likely to meet with success.

Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> upon Seerhauuds [Sarhad's] leaving Calcutta, gave a Considerable Sum to supply him with Apparell fit to make a handsome Appearance and Suitable to his Character besides an handsome Monthly Allowance for his attendance &c<sup>a</sup> Expences to what use he has and does put this money we are still ignorant, but for Cloths he has none that are tollerable the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] which he has received being Excepted and as they are known by their Scantiness so it is very mean to wear them in fine he has been so entirely Scandalous in his Apperance as has been a Shame to us all nay our Common Vacqueels [wakils] make a much better, his monthly Allowance is managed with the Same Penurious Hand he keeps not half the number of Servants and these so hardly paid as few Continue with him 2 Months together We have made a near Enquiry into his Monthly Expences where we find according to the most Extravagant Calculation they Cannot Exceed 500 rupees Yet to us with a Prodigious Assurance he affirms that he Spends 1500 rupees and that he has a long Account to demand because the Batta of the Rupees could not be excused him, he has refused to receive his allowance threatening with much bitterness to draw bills on your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> to receive Interest from the time his money became due with these and many such strange obstinate Humours does he daily plague us Occasions so very small and insignificant that any man of Spirit would be ashamed off he has got another very pretty way of perplexing the Cause and raising difficultys out of nothing Alliban Sultan and Rustums Affair at Surat was suposed would do us much mischeif the business of Hossein Amidan and the Danes was to risque the Success of the Present affair we were told what Complaints were made to the Vizier and Orders obtaind on Jaffer Cawn [Ja'far Khān] &c<sup>a</sup> but were so happy as to hear of it from no other hand however on the least offer to dispute Seerhaud [Sarhad] became enraged and imputed all to our Ignorance besides all this we were frightned with Hobgoblin Stories of Mrs. Woodvill Captain Penuce's Banyan Sultan Surang and one more who would Complain against us here with the great Trouble and risque we should run on these accounts his Vain Lying is as bad the other way for besides his Voyage to England Sweden and Denmark he is after receipt of our Phirmaunds [farmāns] &c<sup>a</sup> Grants to make thom first Current in Bengall then to proceed to Bombay and Surat and afterwards to Madras in all which places he is to do the like giving the Honb<sup>e</sup> Company possession of Divy the whole to be Completed before his departure for Europe nay he asserts that in Case he does not undertake it the Grants will be of no manner of use there not being another Man in India who is Capable to perform it he Frequently tells us what great Favour he may expect from his Majesty in a Few days how the King is to call for him in the Publick Duan (dīwān) and how great they are to be all Lyes forged that very minute so light and vain that we are even ashamed to repeat them yet are his daily practice in discourse.

His pretended Knowledge of the Court and its Customs without being really acquainted with the least Title has been very prejudiciall to our Affairs and we as often deceived as ever we trusted to it He never took the least Care to oblige the Mier Toosein<sup>1</sup> or his Assistance who are present before his Majesty which very much lessened the notice that might have been taken of us and laid us open to Insults which never happened when we took Care of it our Selves.

What proves most grievous to us is his frequent protestations never to take the least notice of any orders that may Come from your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> or any other Settlement may not only to profess but Actually to be as good as his Word as for us he has very little Uneasiness, will tell only what he pleases and take our Advice as he thinks fitt.

These things added together we think picture out a man truly discharged from his Conscience Honour and Religion with the fear of Punishment for all which he has got some Convenient Logicisms For Religion and Conscience he believes every man receives his Reward and punishments in this world so no Fear of futurity For honour and a good repute that is as you shall conceive it saying all the world is alike outward show excepted and for the Fear of Punishment he ballances all by saying if our business Succeeds your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will never make an Examination into his or any one's behaviour if we fail then he for Persia and we where we please.

It may be wonderd in so long an Accusation that we have not described his embezzling any of our Honb<sup>le</sup> Masters money or goods he has had but very Little opportunity but we beleive he would not have Stuck at this could he have found a Companion in his Villany now is the time of bribing with ready money so if he has any such designs this is the Season to effect it however he can do nothing considerable, but it must reach our Ears and we shall note it down in a very particular manner.

Fearing we have by our prolixity trespassed to much on Your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> patience We shall not descend to farther Particulars but only make some general Remarks It is Certain Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] was furnished with abilities sufficient to do much good among which was his Knowledge of the different Interests of our Honble Masters and what was wanting for the benefit of trade in India So our Petitions owe their Composing chiefly to him but that all is all the advantage that can be possibly reapd from Seerhaud [Sarhad] He can never answer our Honourable Masters intentions as Vacqueel [wākīl] in these parts notwithstanding the vast Charge they have and will be at on his Account for that Business is purely appropriated to the Gentues without whom nothing is to be done However he has been so far from owning this opinion that bigotted to his own knowledge pretended Experience and distrust of their honesty he fell into uncommon roads and where [he] Continued through obstinacy till there remaind not any glimpse of Success at least without a prodigious expence All must carry a deep Face of policy and 5 days protracted to 15 to make the plainest things intricate without any visible amendment but these actions have frequently savoured of deceit he having Sold our Honourable Masters to make the greater improvement of their Allowance We are perfectly unacquainted with the good he has done in Generall but do not question he has taken Care to call every thing his own and stand fast to the Old maxim alls well that ends well be it attained at any rate.

We humbly appeal to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> for Justice and desire considering [what] we must have all undergone for above these two Years what advantages lost by not having those opportunitys of trade to which our Service entitle us and otherwise what the least of us would have enjoyed had not we Come on this occasion besides the great Expence we have been obliged to be at out of our own Pockets for apparell &c<sup>a</sup> [at] this dear Court and without which we should have made but indifferent Representatives of our Country in so pompous an Assembly So much going out of one hand and so little coming into the other will make a Ballance on the wrong side of our Stock if not reimbursed by your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> as well for our Loss of Time as for Expences and insted of Cojah Seerhands [Khawajah Sarhad's] Leck of Rupees the only reward we want is that your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> are satisfied with our behaviour and will give us a pla[udit] as good Actors which being what we hoped for has encouraged [us to] pursue this negotiation thro' so many troublesome tra[cks] and windings now So near its desired End, God grant that all may be concluded to the Glory and Honour of our Nation and Interest of our Masters are the hearty desires of

"Honourable Sir and Sirs

Our last to your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> was the 21<sup>s</sup> Ult. we were in hopes much sooner than this to have repeated the Good News but the Strange dilatoriness that attends all manner of business here has kept us also at a Snails Pace, so that we fear the present Cossids [qāšids] will not be able to reach your last Europe Dispatches, however the three Phirmaunds [fārmāns] for Bengall Madrass and Surat, being drawn up in the Secretary's Office and approved of by the Meer Monchoo,<sup>2</sup> by whom they were sent in to his Majesty for his Approbation likewise, we have taken Copies thereof and now send them for your Honour &c<sup>s</sup>'s Perusal, it being already finished by all the under Muttsuddies [mutašadis] we are under no Apprehensions of any Alterations to our Disadvantage. As soon as it pleases God that they come out Signed by his Majesty, we shall take care to dispatch the Good news with the greatest Expedition, but not expecting it to reach the Bengall Shipping, we do at this time dispatch the same good news with Copies of the Phirmaunds (fārmāns) to the Honourable the President and Council of Bombay, in hopes that a Conveyance may be met with from that Quarter. So soon as these Papers come out approved by his Majesty they will be wrote over fair, then carried to the Vizier for his Seal, and lastly to the Office where they will receive his Majesty's great Seal.

The Duanny [dīwānā] Sunuds are all wrote over fair, but not yet Signed by the Duan Colsa [dīwān-i-khālīshah], we don't remit their Copies, besides their not being of so great Consequence.

The Kings Tents are gone out of the City to morrow is the day appointed for his Majesty to follow them the report is he goes to Hunt where he went last Season, this will add something to the natural delays of this Court, but the seeming good Posture of our Affairs at present give us courage to pursue a Glorious Conclusion with our Accustomary Patience.

November 29th came to hand your Honour &c<sup>s</sup>'s of date October 30th with the enclosed Paragraphs of a Letter from Fort St<sup>t</sup> George, we find the Strange Slowness of our Cossids (qāšids) has occasioned your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> to be longer in those melancholly Apprehensions than the real cause of our Affairs would allow, so that Letter requires no farther answer than a reference to our Dispatches since that time for better news.

<sup>2</sup> Sayyad Muḥaffar Khān Bārhab, maternal uncle of ‘Abdullah Khān, the vizier, had lately been created Sayyad Khān Jahān. The date of his despatch according to the Persian historians was the 30th Muharram 1129 H. i.e. 3rd Jan 1717. He had been summoned from Ajmer where he was governor. He died while in charge of the Dilhī ṣubāh on the 12th Shawwāl 1132 H. i.e. 6th August, 1720.

<sup>3</sup> Nāḥdr Khān was believed to have great influence with Ajit Singh. The rajah had employed his good offices three or four years before in securing terms from Ḥusain ‘Alī Khān when Mārṅār was invaded. Apparently he was a Shekḥzādah of Hānsī. He was sent a faujdar of Sāmbhar and ḍiwān of Ajmer on the 29th Šafar 1135 H. i.e. 25th November, 1722. Shortly afterwards he was basely murdered with twenty five others by Ajit Singh on the 29th Rabi ‘I 1135 H. i.e. 27th December, 1722, and his camp was plundered.

They Still petition the Clean [clear?] high and lofty throne "That in y<sup>o</sup> Subaships and Duannys [diwānis] The Originall Sunnods [sanads] are demanded, and that others be given thereby Itt is nott Feasable to produce y<sup>o</sup> Originalls in Every place." We desire that a Copy under y<sup>o</sup> Cozzys [qāzi's] Seal be allowed off; y<sup>o</sup> originalls nott being demanded; nor we forced to receive others thereby from y<sup>o</sup> Subah, In Culcutta there is a settled Factory off the Companys. The renting off Culcutta, Sootalooty, and Govindpore In y<sup>o</sup> Pergunnas Ameerabad &c<sup>e</sup> in y<sup>o</sup> Subaship off Bengall, bought from y<sup>o</sup> Jemidars [zamīndārs], was formerly granted them 1195-6 the Yearlyrent being paid into the Kings treasury. C. Seerhaud and M: E. Stephenson—

C. Seerhaud [Sarhad] has desired that 473 rs. be paid to Colnine
 remaining part off their Agreement, and that they have no farther demands.

There are 18 perwannas [parwānas] sealed by y<sup>e</sup> Grand Vizier, butt Seerhaud [Sarhad] informs us that to render them Authentick they must be signed by some off the Subanavises [ṣūbahnavis] &c<sup>a</sup> off y<sup>e</sup>

Duanny Ketcherry [dīcānī kachahrī], which he will gett done when he goes to the Camp and in y<sup>e</sup> interim draw out Copys under y<sup>e</sup> Cozzys [qāzī's] Seal. To this End—wanting some small Summ Agreed that 228 rs. be given him ffor y<sup>e</sup> Cozzys [qāzī's] Seal.

The King Still continues att Shalamar [Shālihmar],<sup>1</sup> butt we hear that he intends for Sewly.<sup>2</sup> Our fair phirmaunds [farmāns] only want y<sup>e</sup> Viziers title, and Considering y<sup>e</sup> Strange dilatoriness off all buisness here, Agreed that C. Seerhaud [Sarhad] repair to the Camp Alone, there being att present no Absolute necessity ffor all our leaving y<sup>e</sup> City, thereby to Enhance our Expences.

However upon a ffarther remove off y<sup>e</sup> King, or other weighty occasions we may soon repair thither.

C. Seerhaud [Sarhad] being now proceeding to the Camp, and the Phirmaunds [farmāns] so near done that they must off Necessity ffall—To y<sup>e</sup> Sudder-A-Suddool [ṣādrū-ṣ-ṣadūr]<sup>3</sup> in a ffew days, to receive the Kings Broad Seal, We have reason to Expect much trouble and Expencc ffrom that Quarter. ## 168. CONSULTATION.

“Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] being come from the Camp gives the following Account. The Phirmaunds [farmāns] being perfectly finished are Going to the Sudder-A-Suddool [sadru-ṣ-ṣadūr] for the Seal. That having had severall meetings with that Omrahs peeshcar [umarā's peshkār], they were yett come to no manner off Agreement. That he had Offered to 5000 rupees, that Mutsuddy [mutāṣaddī] descending no lower than 25,000. In fine that itt was Seerhauds [Sarhad's] opinion this Affair might be concluded for 10,000 rupees. We are well convinced off the necessity to purchase that Omrahs [umarā's] friendship att any rate, Indulging his sordid avaritious temper from the great favour shown him by his Majesty. The Account off the Portugeuze phirmaund [farmāns] is still fresh in Every ones memory, which, After itt was brought to the present Crisis, was lost for want off timely bribery to this Nobleman. A precaution sufficient to prevent our Splitting on the Same rock!

Wherefore We Agree Seerhaud [Sarhad] may Offer us far as 10,000 rupees to be paid, so soon as the phirmaunds [farmāns] are Sealed.

We doe all Agree that as soon as the Seal is on the phirmaund [farmāns] Itt will be high time to petition for our dispatches. Seerhaud [Sarhad] desires to know att what time and in what method he may prepare the way. Agreed that the most Expeditious way is to be consulted. We Suppose Every thing will be done near to former Custom, so that by endeavouring att Extravagancys, much time may be lost to little or no purpose.

We have received news the Kings tents are removed to Sunputt [Sonpat]. This frequent motion, but, still to a Greater distance causes us to Suspect some design farther than meer hunting: and the Distance off Seerhaud [Sarhad] from us must upon any Emergent occasion cause delays. Wherefore Agreed that Mr. Surman &c<sup>s</sup> remove to the Camp to be ready on all occasions; and Thatt Mess<sup>rs</sup>. Stephenson and Philips remain in the City to Look after the Honourable Companys Affairs there. As for what small addition off peons &c<sup>s</sup> are necessary for the houses and to attend in the Camp Agreed that they be entertained.”

Seerhaud [Sarhad] moreover says, this will be considerably lighten’d by the price off the Goods that are to be given. Agreed that this money be paid to bribe him to our Interest. Butt as this great man off the law has butt little ffaith he demands to have 6500 Currant Rupees before he will petition his Majesty. We Are obliged to comply with him in this Also. Agreed that M<sup>r</sup>: Stephenson be wrote to, That he pay his Servants the Summ off 6500 Rupees.

in the Punjab. He died on the 2nd Jamādi II, 1140 H. i.e. the 4th January, 1723. His biography is in Mā‘āṣir-u-l-umarā, I, 350.

the 15th to the 23rd Rabi‘I, 16th February to the 24th February.

‘Alī Khān*. The official report of this was received at court on the 5th Rabi‘I, 1129 H. i.e. the 6th February.

The petition which went in to his Majesty for the seal is (God be thanked) at last come out, so the phirmaunds [farmāns] will proceed to be seal'd. The seal lyes in the hand off a Lady under the Sudders [ṣadr's] Seal, butt kept in the Seraglio; There is an Eunuch to open itt, and another person to putt itt on.<sup>1</sup> These Expect Each their particular perquisite, Amounting in all to seven or eight hundred rupees.

February 19th

We hope in a day or two to See the Phirmaunds [farmāns] come out sealed, which Encourages us to desire our dispatches from his Majesty. Agreed that Seerhaud [Sarhad] draw up a petition to his Majesty, and that, After Approvall, Itt be delivered to Sallabutt Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] and Caundora [Khān Daurān].”

172. LETTER XXVII.

Honourable Sir and Sirs

We wrote your Honour &c: the 27th 28th and 31st December the last of which carried the good News that his Majesty had Approv'd the Draughts of our Phirmaunds [farmāns], the Month of January was intirely taken up, in compleating the fair Phirmaunds [farmāns], putting on the Toogarah, [tughra] and then passing his Majesty's Perusal with an Order for their proceeding to the Seal which the King Granted. We forbore at that time writing your Honour &c: till we had pass'd this latter but great Gulph. The great Seal is under the care of the Chief Priest (Suddera-Suddool) [ṣadru-ṣadūr] who having been the Kings Tutor from his Infancy, and being a very particular Favourite, has doubtless a very great ascendancy over him, and which he carries to that Pitch as to Seal what Phirmaunds [farmāns] he pleases, upon our first Arrival here, we heard of a Proof of his Authority, seeing the Portuguese Padre, who came as Envoy from Goa, after he had compleated his Business and got his Phirmaund [farmān] ready for the Seal, the High Priest because not satisfied as he expected took care to ruin the Affair, and the Padre was forc'd to return to Goa, leaving his Phirmaund [farmān] behind him, this and many other Instances made us very cautious how to manage this Business, but being certified that Bribery was the only practicable method, there needed no Consideration whether this was a proper occasion to be sparing of our Honourable Masters Money. In fine after an Hesitation of 12 Days, this matter was brought to a Conclusion at the expence of 12000 rupees for him and his Chief Gentue Peeschar [pešhār], besides some other expences which must naturally ensue to the Begum who keeps the Seal the Eunuch that passes between with some other under officers; another Petition was made to his Majesty from this Office which came out Sign'd, and now the Phirmaunds [farmāns] are Seal'd and will be return'd hence to the Secretary in order to their going to the Vizier for his Seal. We have yet no reason to apprehend any trouble from that Quarter. God grant our Expectations may be answer'd.

We enclose Copys under the Cozzee's [qāzi's] Seal of 25 Sunnods [sanads], which have received the Viziers Seal, vizt

There Still remains 7 unfinish'd, which the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khāliqah] under some pretence or other has refus'd yet to Sign, viz.

1 Governours Dustick [dastak], 1 Companys Debtors, 1 Patna

House on the Duan [diwān]: means are using to get these likewise Completed, an Account of which we hope will be carried by our next Dispatches.

Finding our Business so happily drawing near a conclusion, we have esteem'd it a fit opportunity to desire our dispatches from his Majesty, and to which end a Petition was 3 days ago deliver'd to Caundora [Khān Daurān], which we shall follow with the Utmost Diligence, seeing this will of itself require some time, besides your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> have the Character of our Dilatory Patron in several of our former Letters, considering all this with the Season of the Year, we find it will be impossible to reach Bengall before the rains are commenc'd, wherefore we propose to take our Passage from Patna by water, and accordingly desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> would Supply us with Budgerows, the difficulty will be small in sending them up, seeing we hear Seerbullund Caun [Sarbuland Khān] has pretty well clear'd the way.

In our formers we advised of the Kings leaving the City, his Majesty continued about a Month on the Skirts, diverting himself with Hunting, so that most of the Mutsuddies [mutasaddis] with whom he had Business remain'd in Dilly, but as soon as we found his Majesty mov'd to a greater distance, and there being certain rumours of his continuance or going on, we without more delay remov'd to the Camp the 4th Inst. leaving Messrs Stephenson and Phillips behind us in the City, there are a great many flying reports in the Camp, but to all appearance there is no long Journey intended, neither will he return to the City immediately, by our next Letter we hope to give your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> some insight of the time of our Departure, which we shall endeavour to make as quick as our Affairs will permit.

Enclosed comes Accounts Cash and Warehouse; charges general and Copies of our Consultations for the Month of December.

<sup>1</sup> Bibi Juliana, whom the Dutch envoys styled Donna Juliana, was a Portuguese lady employed in the harem. After occupying a conspicuous position at the Mogal court from the days of Bahādur Shāh onwards, she died at the age of 75 in Rabi'ī, 1147 H, i.e. July, August, 1734. There is a Persian account of her, of which copies exist in the British Museum library, Add. MSS. 14,374, foll 2—11, and at King's College, Cambridge, Pote Collection No 29. A French translation of the latter by E. H. Palmer was published in Nouvelles Annales des Voyages, 6 me série, 1865. Her story is also told in Colonel Gentil's Mémoires sur l'Indoustan, Paris, 1822, pp. 367—380. I owe this information to Mr. Irvine. 175. DIARY.

“The Grand Vizier visited and presented according to a former consultation. That Great man off himself said all our Phirmaunds [farmāns] were finished—The Kings Tents come into the City, and Itt is Expected he will follow Shortly.”

March 12th

“We hear his Majesty wants to make One Enoytulla Caun [Ināyatullah Khān]<sup>1</sup>, Duan Calsa [ḍiwān-i-khālīshah], a post he had enjoyed many years under Allumgeer [Ālamgir], and the whole reign off Behander Sha [Bahādur Shāh], Butt the man refuses to Accept itt without being made Deputy Vizier, and a power given to doe as he thinks fitt, with many other Such Extravagant demands, all which we hope will prevent his being Employ'd. For the Vizier and Caundora [Khān Daurān] will have nothing to doe. However as our buisness is almost finished, we hope no Alteration may be made 'till the Viziers Seal is on our papers, when itt will be out off any ones power to give us any molestation.”

March 18th

Sallabat Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] has promised to carry C. Seerhaud [Sarhad] to Caundoras, [Khān Daurān's] to endeavour the making an End off the Phirm<sup>d</sup> [farmān] and present for the H<sup>ble</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> Hedges.”

176. CONSULTATION.

“There has been 25 perwannas [parwānas] done ffor some months, Except their signing by some off the Writers.

March 22nd.

Seerhaud [Sarhad] has been frequently pressed to bring them to a period, butt without any Success, he pretending to Stay till the rest are done and then compeating all together. Itt is Our Opinion they are nott a moment longer to be left to uncertaintys, and the more att present seeing we have warm information that Enoytulla Caun [Ināyatullah Khān] will be Duan-Calsa [dwān-i-khāliṣah], off whose Character we have too great a knowledge to leave any thing to his decision or ffavour. Seerhaud [Sarhad] has for a long time told us the six remaining Perwannas [parwānas] were done Butt as yett we see nothing off itt. We doe believe itt the proper'st way to Stick close to Boquechund [Bhog Chand]<sup>2</sup>, nott leaving him ‘till those Are finished likewise, and Altho’ nott according to our wish, That they be done as he pleases; rather than lye any longer in Suspence.”

177. DIARY.

“Having fresh advices That Enoytella Caun [Ināyatullah Khān] would certainly be Duan Colsa [dwān-i-khāliṣah], Seerhaud [Sarhad] was pressed to gett the 25 perwannas signed by the proper writers. They only write that March 23rd "Gungaram [Gangā Rām] being in y<sup>e</sup> City, indisposed with a pain in his Eyes, Seerhand [Sarhad] went to Ecklauscaun [Ikhlās Khān] to gett another man ordered to Supply his post att y<sup>e</sup> Viziers, butt he was answered that Gungaram [Gangā Rām] being Peeshcar [peshkār] off y<sup>e</sup> Russalaw [risālah] we must have patience, 'till his return. This answer caused Great uneasiness, which was heigthen'd by a report, That His Majesty had ordered Enaam Caun [In'am Khān] to Carry Enoytulla Caun ['Ināyatullah Khān] to y<sup>e</sup> Vizier, & tell him he had made him Duan Calsa & Tun [dīwān-i-khalīṣah and tan] as being a man off great Experience. To w<sup>ch</sup> The poor Vizier (They say) out off ffear to displease his Majesty consented. We considered That iff the Viziers seal should be putt into his hands (as has sometimes happened) we should run a Great risque ffor Our phirmāds [farmāns] To remedy This, Gungaram [Gangā Rām] must by any meanes & with y<sup>e</sup> Utmost Expedition be bro<sup>t</sup> out. Wherefore C. Seerhand [Sarhad] will proceed to y<sup>e</sup> City to morrow morning, to Endeavour, to gett him out, and Even by a handsome bribe to finish y<sup>e</sup> buisness, when all our ffears will be over Except ffor the remaining Duanny Sunnods [dīwānī sanads] off Which there is little hope.

"Enoytulla Caun ['Ināyatullah Khān] is Accounted Strict, averse to bribery, and perfectly knowing in the Customes and Government off this Kingdom, wherefore itt would have been impossible under his management to have obtained those grants, to possess which we have now so ffair a prospect."

March 27th "This day the Vizier gave an order to have the Phirmaunds [farmāns] sealed. The 25 perwannas [parwānas] were all carried into the Duanny Ketcherry [dīwānī kachahrī] for the Subanavises [subahnavīs's] mark, viz<sup>t</sup>., They are according to the books—A small trifle will obtain this."

178. CONSULTATION.

"The Phirmaunds [farmāns] having received the Grand Viziers Seal, There now remains nothing butt an Arze [arṣī] to be wrote from Ecklaus Caun [Ikhlās Khān] to his Majesty, for their delivery to us.

We hope this will be finished in a few days, so shall defer writing the Honourable President and Councill till said petition comes out."

YOUR Honour &c<sup>ts</sup>'s dated January the 27th came to hand in due time by which we are glad to find that the draughts of the phirmaunds [farmāns] approved by his Majesty arrived in Time, and that a translate thereof would be sent home to our Honourable Masters which was what we extremely desir'd, seeing those forwarded to Bengall arriv'd after their last dispatches, which was January the 16th, without doubt it will be very pleasing news to our Honourable Masters to ear what they are likely to possess, and what we hope will in a great measure hanswer the money that has been expended.

Ever since our last his Majesty has continued delighting himself in his Encampment, hunting within 20 cos of the City, and where we have Attended about two months, the frequent motion of the army and the fatigues of the camp have added to the natural dilatoriness of this Court; our great desire to draw near a Conclusion made us defer writing till now, the Phirmaunds [farmāns] after they were drawn up fair were again sent in for his Majesty's perusal, and to receive his order to be sent for the Great Seal, which he graciously granted and they accordingly went in to the keeper, we were forc'd to stop his mouth with a large bribe, being a Gentleman who would otherwise have endeavour'd to ruin what we have so long been employ'd about, but being Satisfied of the bribe he naturally fell in with our interest and petition'd his Majesty for the Seal who ordered it to be affixe'd, which was done the 23rd ultimo, from thence the Phirmaunds [farmāns] were return'd to the Secretary, who according to custom sent them to the Vizier for his seal on the back; we had some small apprehensions that this was a Gulph not very easily pass'd over, the Vizier being remarkable for his Avaritious Temper, the sight of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] did certainly bring it into his mind, and they met with many putoffs from today and tomorrow, for some time, but our frequent presents, and the respect we have paid him, with a few good words from the brib'd Mutsuddys [mutasaddis] who were present at last overcame him, and the Fortune of our Honourable Masters has been very Conspicuous on this occasion; the Vizier Sign'd a paper to have a Seal affix'd without asking a Farthing, accordingly the Seal was put on the 27th instant and so return'd again to the Secretary's office, there only now remaining a petition to be wrote from thence for our possession, the same Success has likewise attended the Sunods [sanads]; We hope a few days will put us in possession of all, when we shall take care to transmit you copys, under the Cozzy's [qāzi's]. Seal of what relates to your Settlement.

As soon as the broad Seal was affix'd to the Phirmaunds [farmāns], we consider'd our business as Finish'd, and accordingly petition'd for leave to depart; but our Strange dilatory Patron, who never does anything in hast has not as yet effected it; he has indeed promis'd that as soon as his Majesty goes in to the city he will get us dispatch'd very honourable. We are oblig'd to have patience but hope it cannot be long, when we shall do our Selves the honour to write to you again, in the interim,

183. LETTER XXXI.<sup>2</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRES

Our last to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> was February 23rd which carried the good news of the Broad Seal being clapt on the Phirmaunds [farmāns], which we hope is duely arriv'd from that Office, they were carried to have the Resselaw [risālah],<sup>1</sup> Viz: the Grand Visiers Seal on the back, the obtaining of which took up the whole Month of March, considering the Kings being in the Camp so near the City, the Muttsuddies [mutaşaddis] missed no opportunity to regale themselves at their own Houses, the Kings going daily a Hunting, and sometimes the Visiers not Sitting out may have been the cause of so great a delay, besides this we cannot answer, but the Visier may have had some small Sticklings whether he should on this Occasion require a Bribe or not, For the Phirmaunds [farmāns] were Several times carried and return'd without receiving their full Approval, but in the End this great Minister answerd the Opinion we Always had of him, The Fortune of our Honourable Masters carrying the day, he sign'd a Paper for the Seal the 27th which was affixed the day following without any Alterations, altho' it was reported that Rey Reyon [Rāe-i-Rāyān] and Rajah Rul-lunchund [Ratn Chand], at that Instant did make some Offers to the Contrary, but which however prov'd ineffectual, we shou'd at that time have given your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the good news, but being so near the finishing, we were willing to detain our dispatches a few days longer till the Phirmaunds [farmāns] were deliver'd, but first there was to be another Petition wrote to the King that they were ready, and his orders expected thereon, which was sent in to his Majesty the 2nd and came out Sign'd the 7th and this day the Phirmaunds [farmāns] were brought home intirely finish'd by Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] and deliver'd to M<sup>r</sup> Surman pursuant to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>'s Orders, we do not detain this Cossid [qāşid] any longer for the Sake of Transmitting Copies under the Cozzee's [qāzi's] Seal which may take up a few days, your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> may be sure the utmost precaution shall be taken therein, and for the Security of those precious Papers, which have been obtained at so much expence, of our Honourable Masters and Trouble to our Selves, we shall contribute all that lies in our Power.

We herewith enclose Copies under the Cozzee's [qāzi's] Seal of 25 Perwannas [parwānas], being the same we formerly sent down, the Originals are finish'd except one Writers Signing them, which Seerhaud [Sarhad] Says will be done either today or tomorrow when they will be delivered as the Phirmaunds [farmāns], the remaining 7 Perwannas [parwānas] as yet are not done, Attesham Cann [I'tişām Khān] while he remained Duan Colsa [dwān-i-khālishāh] refusing to Sign them without some Alterations which were not fully compleated till the late revolution in the Duanny [dwāni], Seerhaud [Sarhad] tells us they will be done in a few days but a Small matter must be first expended.

The most active part of the Ministry here has of late received a very great Turn, by the displacing of Attesham Cann Duan Colsa [I'tişām Khān, dwān-i-khālishāh], and Rey Reyon Duan Tun [Rāe-i-Rāyān, tan-kā-dwān], his

<sup>1</sup> Risālah means faculty. "In the risālah of so-and-so" is a technical phrase meaning 'within the official competence of so-and-so.'

Majesty giving those posts to Enoitoola<sup>1</sup> Caun [Ināyatullah Khān] who is lately come from Mecca as a Master fit to retrieve the Troubled State of his Kingdom, he was possess'd of these Posts for many Years in the time of Allungeer [Ālamgīr] and the same all the Reign of Behauder Shaw [Bahādur Shāh], noted for his Knowledge in the Affairs of this Kingdom his great Severity and utter Refusal of any Sort of Bribery whatever, at the Beginning of this Kings Reign, his Son Edatoola Caun [Hidāyatullah Khān]<sup>2</sup> was Consomma [Khānsāmān], but falling under the Suspicion of the Reigning Favourites, they Sacrificed him<sup>3</sup> to their own Security, and so sent the father<sup>4</sup> to Mecca, his Majesty finding the many Complaints made from all Parts, the great want of Treasure, and in fine Strange Confusion every thing was in made him look round to find out if possible a fit Man to retrieve it. This Man they say was first propos'd by Ameenoo dy Caun [Aminu-d-dīn Khān]<sup>5</sup> and afterwards so well fix'd in his Majestys Thoughts, that all the Instances us'd by the reigning Ministers could not avert him from it, Enoitoola Caun<sup>1</sup> [Ināyatullah Khān] himself was very hardly brought to, considering the great risq [risk] he must run by disobliging the reigning Favourites, and to act for the Kings Interest, which were perfectly inconsistent so that before he wou'd accept the Post, he made a great many Objections Viz<sup>t</sup>, the Protection of Cutbulmooluck [Quṭbul-mulk], to have a considerably Sum of money paid down out of the Kings private Treasury as he shou'd require it, and that no man shou'd offer to interfere in his Business, all which his Majesty readily granted, and purely in obedience to the Kings Command, was by the Visier for the present, Our Patron is not to be fathom'd, but it is Suppos'd this Alteration has clipt his Wings in a great measure, the third Instant he received a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] as Duan Colsa Duan Tun, and Subah of Cashmeer,<sup>6</sup> we have very good reason to be extraordinary glad to find our Honourable Masters Affairs want none of his Assistance, and we believe we dare venture to say, he is too well acquainted to have pass'd such Papers of which his Predecessors knew less the Consequence, and we hope it's too late for him to make any Enquiry after them.

We have not as yet been able to make any great progress in our dispatches, our Strange dilatory Patron is the occasion of it, he puts us off from the Camp to the City, promising with many Asseverations he wou'd do it on our Arrival there, his Majesty came in the third Inst., but as yet we have seen nothing but fair Promises, we shall leave no Stone unturn'd to get away, with the utmost Expedition but at present must have patience.

Your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> dated February 12th came to hand March the 18th we humbly propose the foregoing as a Sufficient Answer thereto, everyone being

"Att an Extraordinary Consultation held Dilly
April 13th 1717 and present M: Jn: Surman

Cheif M: E. Stephenson H. Barker & M: T. Philips.

C. Seerhaud [Khwaajah Sarhad] has been Lately tampering in Secrett by Second hands with J. Surman concerning a Scheme which he has laid to gain some money, which he proposes to be divided between them. Upon Examination itt was nott found Standard Either in honour or Honesty. To make Every thing plain itt is more proper to take all from it's beginning and Explain Each particular Some three days since Seerhaud [Sarhad] sent for Otmaram [Atmā Rām] Our Mutsuddy [mu'aşaddi] and in private told him to acquaint J. Surman "That itt "was impossible any one could take so much pains without the hopes off "gaining something. That he had formerly in Patna made a very "handsome offer. That by y: protecting and bringing up off Merchants "Goods a considerable Summ might have been gained 50,000 rupees att "least, That he had concerted Every thing, and that the gains might "have been divided at J. Surmans pleasure, Butt falling out, for meer "spight he had nott only refused itt, butt would nott suffer any Goods to "be brought by our Convoy, and thereby broke all his measures which he “had concerted. Seerhaud [Sarhad] Added, “That what was past was “past, That he was certain Jn<sup>o</sup> Surmans private Expences must amount “to About 10 or 12000 rupees,” That iff he might be permitted he could “find a method to reimburse him, without loss off time, Hinderance “off y<sup>e</sup> buisness, or prejudice to Our Masters. In fine in 8 days to gain “att least 40,000 rupees which to be divided half and half, or otherwise as “Jn<sup>o</sup> Surman should think fitt. This is y<sup>e</sup> bulk off y<sup>e</sup> first opening, to which as a meanes to deceive J. Surman returned the following answer, “That what was over was over, That he retained no malice That the “occasion off his refusing his proposition in Patna was Our Masters “prohibition, and withall to desire he would Explain the present Scheme, “off all this Jn<sup>o</sup> Surman acquainted Edward Stephenson. He returned answer “He could by private meanes gain a good Summ from his “Majesty for our Expences att our departure, That he would Effect itt “in 8 days without y<sup>e</sup> Assistance off Caundora [Khān Daurān] and “Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān]. To which J. Surman desired time to consider, and he consulted. Butt y<sup>e</sup> next day Seerhaud [Sarhad] opened itt to J. Surman himself and was very pressing for his consent.

 “That he would gett y<sup>e</sup> money by Caundoras [Khān Daurān’s] “meanes thro’ Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] That Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-“din Khān] and Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] should speak, “That itt would hasten our dispatches, That J. “Surman should “have  $\frac{2}{3}$ , Cojah Seerhaud  $\frac{2}{3}$ , and Edward Stephenson  $\frac{1}{3}$  To receive “itt publickly, & That iff y<sup>e</sup> Councill should nott allow off itt, “The worst could be to return itt. Jn<sup>o</sup> Surman returned no possitive answer, butt that he would consult Edward Stephenson and then advise.
 Butt nott being willing to keep this as a secrett to our selves itt is likewise made publick, H. Barker and M<sup>r</sup> T. Philips called to this consultation and desired to give their advice freely on this occasion. Thus

1. Whether itt is reasonable to Suppose y<sup>e</sup> King will make Such a Grant, After so much generosity off giving us Barbardarry [bār-bardārī] (Carriage)?
2. That in case itt should happen to be obtain’d, whether itt is consistant with Our Honour to receive itt and putt itt in our pocketts?
3. Whether there is any appearance off prejudice to permitt him to use his Endeavours on any terms?

To this We Answer

- 1st To us itt seems impossible to obtain any thing, His Majesty nott being so free off his money ; and his favourite (Our Patron) not so Easyly brought over to Such Grants. So that this Scheme carrys a very sandy foundation : and Expect to have y<sup>e</sup> first blast oversett itt.
- 2nd We are off opinion that money so given for Our Expences (as itt must be iff Obtain'd) ought to be applyed to that use and putt into Our H. Masters Cash. We publickly profess that what Summs we shall so receive into our Hands, we shall use thus, and iff Seerhaud [Sarhad] does Otherwise he must be answerable for itt. Butt for y<sup>e</sup> present we conclude itt necessary to hide our intentions from him, Least he should grow desperate, and by other Clandestine meanes involve our Masters Affairs in more troubles ; and no prospect off any advantage. Whereas, The present Scheme should itt Succeed, Att least the share assigned for us will goe into y<sup>e</sup> Cash, and iff we can, y<sup>e</sup> whole. We determine itt is his great necessity for money drives him on these Expedients ; off which so long as he has y<sup>e</sup> least glimpse, he may be quiet 'till we receive our dispatches, have y<sup>e</sup> papers, and so become Clear off his Clutches.
- 3rd We cannot foresee any ill Aspect in y<sup>e</sup> permitting him to try to Satisfy his wants by this Supply, Since in reality we have very little dependance on him in gaining our dispatches, butt By Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Şalābat Khān], with whom Jn<sup>e</sup> Surman Cultivates a Good understanding, Whereas Seerhaud [Sarhad] says this must be done by Kirperam [Kirpā Rām], and by permitting him, Kirperam [Kirpā Rām] can never Speak ill off us ; being in hopes we shall come to his beck, which has been so long refused, and as yett unconcluded. Iff Cojah pursues this matter with Success Our H. Masters will be y<sup>e</sup> Gainers. Iff itt fails we are Still pursuing y<sup>e</sup> meanes we Esteem proper for Our dispatches by y<sup>e</sup> Assistance off Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Şalābat Khān] who has hitherto done all our buisness. From these ratiocinations we make this Inference, and doe Agree That Jn<sup>e</sup> Surman may seemingly grant A Compliance and by little and little gett farther into his intentions. Butt as a publick Testimony off our designs that we abhor any such practices, we have held this Extraordinary Consultation."

It must be here observed That the Honourable Bengall President receives an Elephant, above what given to the Generall off Batavia; Butt Mr. Surman &c<sup>s</sup> Less than what was given to the Dutch Legates by Mouzzedeem [Mu‘izu-d-din]. This was indeed Surprizing, considering Our Quadruple present, with the Services that had been done his Majesty, Butt Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] who beleived his honour att Stake. was in A perfect rage. Wherefore Mr. Surman considering, That Salla. but Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] might endeavour to gett things altered, and thereby Occasion a certain delay without a good prospect off Success, Att Least that could compensate the loss off time, The rains Approaching, he sent A Messenger to entreat him nott to meddle any more to have things Altered, butt Lett all the King had signed remain. ‘That ‘we came here to spend Our Masters money In doing their buisness, not ‘to heap up riches, nor depending to have Our Labours Crowned with ‘honour here, butt att a return by Our directors. Wherefore Seeing we ‘had happily finished Our Errant, Altho The King had nott shown the ‘expected Generosity, Yet our Longer Stay would lay an indelible blott ‘upon our reputations. Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] replied ‘That ‘Since Mr. Surman desired, he would Speak no more about itt,’ Butt we suspect he will nott keep his word. All this we Cheify impute to the niggardliness of Caundora [Khān Dauran], and doe beleive the King Granted whatever he asked for.”

April 30th      Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] (as was Suspected) Attacked Caundora [Khān Dauran] in the Durbar [darbār]. Itt is certain the Latter spoke only for a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] and Culgee [kalghī]<sup>1</sup> for Mr. Surman ; wherefore he was now desired to speak again to his Majesty. Butt he replied doe you speak, and I will stand by. Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] said. “That besides the misfortune off being taken from his Royal presence, The Elchy was sorry he could nott depart with the same honours the Dutch had formerly.” Here he mentioned the particulars—Upon this his Majesty Looked toward Caundora [Khān Dauran] and gave a nod. After thiṣ Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] forbid Cooshalchund<sup>2</sup> to proceed with the former Seaw [siyāhah], butt to waite fresh Orders from Caundora [Khān Dauran]. Note—Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] did this off his own head.”

May 1st      Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] sent Mr. Surman word he had gott the horse and Cunger [khanjar] to be Entered. This Omrah [umarā] is so nice off his own honour as to be almost angry with Mr. Surman for nott being more Sollicitous to have things augmented.”

May 2nd      “Mr. Surman &c<sup>a</sup> visitted Caundora [Khān Dauran]. Caundora [Khān Daurān] made Subah of Guzarat, and Caun-Jehaun-Behauder Subah off Agra.”
 May 4th      “The King gone on the sand with his women.”
 May 5th      “Mr. Surman presses Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] to make Caundora [Khān Dauran] fix a day for our dispatch from the King.”

May 6th      “Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Ṣalābat Khān] accosting Caundora [Khān Dauran] too warmly in the Durbar [darbār] concerning our dispatches, the Latter went Away angry, which must cost us some days longer. This may be imputed to the possitiveness of Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] for some Alterations.”

<sup>3</sup> According to Kāmwār Khān, Khān Daurān was appointed Governor of Gujarāt on the 1st Jamādi II, 1129 H. i. e. the 2nd May, 1717. But he gives A‘zu-d-daulah Khān ‘Ālam, instead of Sayyad Khān Jahān as the governor appointed to Agra Akbarābād.

May 10th "Mr. Surman this Evening visitting Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] he received the following Account. Caundora [Khān Dauran] asked his Majesty what he pleased to order for the English Elchy, That Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] was concerned his Majesty had nott consented to his petition. Upon this the King turning to Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān], said Itt was nott Customary to give so many things att a dispatch, there being no precedent, but Mouzzedeem [Mu'izzu-d-dīn] which Signified nothing; Nevertheless for his sake he would now give itt. He ordered att the same time That Mr. Surman should come the Next Duan-day, [dūwān] and receive A Horse and Cunger [khanjar], and then the Ensuing Duan [āiwān] That he and his Bretheren should be dispatched according to the former Seaw [siyāhah] wherein was contained the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] and Culgee [kalghā]. Iff this prove true we may Expect our dispatches the next week."

May 12th "Mr. Surman &c<sup>a</sup> Expected to have been dispatched to day but were disappointed, tho' Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] promised itt. Cooshalehund [Khushhāl Chand] said he could nott give the Seaw [siyāhah] for the Cunger [khanjar] and Horse 'till he had spoke Again to Caundora [Khān Dauran]."

May 13th "This day Caundora [Khān Dauran] ordered the Seaw [siyāhah] mentioned yesterday which was by a Chubdar [chobdār] sent to Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān]. Our Vakiles [vakils] being dilatory in this Affair, Mr. Surman rattled them Accordingly. For the things might possibly have been given to day."

May 14th "The King Abroad with his women. The Seaw [siyāhah] delivered into the proper Offices."

May 15th "Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] called Mr. Surman to Caundoras [Khān Dauran], saying he should now receive his horse and Cunger [khanjar]. Mr. Surman went to the Duan-Om [dūwān-i-ām] accordingly, butt was disappointed. God knows the reason."

 May 16th to the Durbar [dārbār], itt being Thursday and Duan Om [dīwān-i-‘ām]. Butt more strange than before Mr. Surman received Another disappointment, altho Sopedar Caun [Sipahdār Khān] was present, and the Buxys peeshcar [bakhshi’s veshkār] told Caundora [Khān Daurān] the Horse and Cunger [khanjar] was ready. This was as hard As Surprizing, Seeing what
 Mr. Surman was to have, was the rumour off the whole Durbar [darbār].
 Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] is here Cheifly in fault, for nott well-adjusting this matter beforehand with Caundora [Khān Dauran], butt making us to run fruitlessly up and down, and by that meanes become Extreme light.”

“His Majesty on the Sand with his women, and as a mark off May 19th his Arbitrary power turning all people Out off the Adjacent houses.”

187. LETTER XXXIII.<sup>1</sup>

TO THE HONOURABLE ROBERT HEDGES Esq. Governour of Fort William and President for Affairs of the Honourable Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies &c<sup>a</sup> Council in Bengall.

“HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

We wrote your Honours &c<sup>e</sup> the 9th April to accompany a Bill of Exchange payable to Sawbiparry [sāhū beopari], for the value received here from Murlidar, Bawsein Decanny Eay [Murlidhar Bhāo Sen Dakhini Rāe], and at large the 10th D<sup>e</sup> carrying the good news that the Phirmaunds [farmāns] were intirely finish’d and deliver’d in &c<sup>e</sup> with enclosure of our Accounts &c<sup>e</sup> for the Month of January and February, we again wrote by Mr. Cooch bound for Bengall the 15th D<sup>e</sup> chiefly to accompany Copys of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] which were deliver’d him as (in our Opinion) a very safe Conveyance.

We were in hopes by this Letter to have given your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> an Account that we had received our dispatches from his Majesty, but as there is very little to be depended on here, so we find our Selves on this Account under no Small Disappointment having never Suspected this trifling matter cou’d have taken up so much time, Our Experience on this Occasion has taught us, that the least Affair cannot be transacted here without the Solemnity of a long and tedious Attendance, thereby enhaunching the favours they grant as to make them hardly worth receiving, our Diary for the Month of April, may be a more proper Index, than what can be contain’d in this Letter. We hoped all had been concluded with the Month, not being much concern’d with the Kings determination for our Dispatches altho’ not with the same Honour that was granted

<sup>1</sup> This letter was read at a Consultation at Fort St. George on Saturday, the 17th August, 1717
 It is consequently found in the Madras Consultation Book as well as in the Copy Book of Letters from the Dutch by Mozzudeen [Mu'izzu-d-dīn, Jahāndār Shāh]. Wherefore we desir'd Sallabuteaun [Ṣalābat Khān] not to request an addition, being Satisfied such pursuit must be attended with loss of time and consequently become expensive to our Honourable Masters, he promis'd very fairly but being nettled at the Disappointment, and that a Woman (such as Bibbe Juliana) shou'd be able to do that for the Dutch with a Quarter of the present, which was not in his power to effect for us with Such advantageous pleas; made him Storm in private, and resent it to Caundora [Khān Daurān] in very pathetick Terms, neither would he desist, on which Caundora [Khān Daurān] made him Speake to the King himself his Majesty disputed making the Addition of Gunger [khanjar] and Horse for Mr. Surman, as an ill precedent for futurity, but in the End granted it with this Salvo, that it shou'd be given some Duan [diwān] before the time of our Dispatches, that it might remain upon the records as a mark of his favour, and not to be challeng'd by other Nations. We have exerted our Selves to the Utmost on this Occasion in hopes of a speedy Dispatch, so the disappointment can't be laid at our Doors, and we hope our Precedent Behaviour is evident proof that no outside Vanity or Expectations cou'd make us Swerve from our Honourable Masters Interest.

The Phirmaund [farmān] in answer to our President's Letter, Seerhaud [Sarhad] tells us has pass'd the Kings Assent, and is writing fair over. And the Order for the Honbl<sup>e</sup> Robert Hedges Esq<sup>r</sup> Present being gone into the Consomany [khānsāmānī], it's n w ten days since an Arze Arze [arzi] went from that Place to his Majesty which is not yet return'd, when it does the Consomma [khānsāmān] must give a Dustick [dastak] on the Several Officers which at best will take up some time.

The 6 remaining Perwans's [parwānas] are after much difficulty Sign'd and Seal'd by the Visier, Copys of 4 of which under the Cozzee's [qāzi's] Seal come enclos'd the other two being Seal'd up Vizt

2 Calcutta Towns	...	{ present and to come
		{ Ickeram Caun [Akrām Khān]
1 Patna House	...	Esgar Caun [Asghar Khān]
1 Companys Debtors	...	Present and to come

The 2 which are Seal'd are for the Rogues on Jaffereau, [Ja'far Khān], and for Mobaris-Caun<sup>1</sup> Subah of Golcondah, we likewise enclose another set of Copys of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] under the Cozzees [qāzi's] Seal.

We have drawn the following Bills of Exchange payable 70 Days after date Vizt 2100 Sicca's to M<sup>r</sup> James Williamson, value received from John Surman 600 Sicca's to Mons.<sup>r</sup> la Bat payable to John Flemmingo.

To both which we desire your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will give Due Honour.

188. DIARY.

"The King sett Duan [diwān] butt nothing done. We beleive the Cunger [khanjar] nott yett shown his Majesty, Butt the Droga [dārōghah] off the Stables has received particular orders concerning the Horse."

May 20th

"C. Fanoose<sup>1</sup> An Armenian who came from Suratt, and is Entertained here as the Kings painter, (we hear) has complained to his Majesty Against us, How that 13 Years Agoe he Lost some Corall &c Goods att Bombay which were brought in a ship from Persia <sup>2</sup>."

May 22nd

189. CONSULTATION.

"We are obliged to comply with the unreasonableness of the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] Office, that we may gett Our dispatches by any meanes, and itt is for this reason alone that we consent to the payment of 740 rupees to those Gripers, no remedy being to be had. This may serve as a very pretty instance, how the Kings orders are minded, Even upon the Spott."

190. DIARY.

"M<sup>r</sup> Surman &c<sup>e</sup> visitted the Grand Vizier. They desired his permission to be dispatched from his Majesty, to which he readily consented, saying iff he was in the Duan [diwān] he would Speak to the King in their behalf. Then he ordered them, now their buisness was done, to visitt him frequently, without bringing any thing."

“This morning Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] wrote a note to Caundora [Khān Daurān], to know whether we should come to the Durbar [darbār], and withall desired, that Chilahs [chelāhs] might be appointed, to gett ready the Seerpaws [sar-o-pās]. Upon receipt off this Caundora [Khān Daurān] ordered Coochalchund [Kushhāl Chand] to gett Every thing ready, and that the Elchy [elchī] should be present in the Duan [diwān]. Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] advised Mr. Surman off what passed, and of the necessity for him &c<sup>a</sup> to go to the Durbar [darbār]. Butt that iff he was nott dispatched he should nott be Angry, Seeing men off 5000 Muns<sup>b</sup> have attended severall weeks when their Seerpaws [sar-o-pās] have nott been ready. This message with the little probability off Chilahs [chelās] from Caundora [Khān Daurān], made Mr. Surman Send a Vakile [vakīl] with 300 rupees to the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] Office to tempt them, and orders nott to stand for 200 rupees Extraordinary in Case the Vests were brought ready into the Duan [diwān] today.

His Majesty Setting in the Duan Om [diwān ‘ām] being Thursday Mr. Surman &c<sup>a</sup> went accordingly to receive their dispatches. Mr. J. Surman received a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] and Culgee [kalghi], Every one Else a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā]. When Doct<sup>r</sup> Hamilton was making the proper Obeisance for his Seerpaw [sar-o-pā], the King Suddenly and Unexpectedly sent orders from the Throne to Lett Every one Else goe out off the Duan [diwān] (as the custom is for those that are dispatched) butt to place him Again in his Station, the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] being a mark off the Royall ffavour, and nott for his departure: which orders were obey’d accordingly. When his Majesty rose up, Seerhaud [Sarhad] went to enquire off Caundora [Khān Daurān] the reason, why the Doctor was nott dispatched? to which Caundora [Khān Daurān] reply’d, ‘I have spoke to the King twenty times concerning this Affair, and can Speak no more, unless you have a mind to make me ridiculous. Wherefore do You petition his Majesty.’

In the Evening Mr. Surman went to Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] (who went nott to the Durbar [darbār] today) and After acquainting him with the matter, begg’d he would use his utmost Endeavours with Caundora [Khān Daurān] to gett the Doctor dispatched; for that he would by no meanes be perswaded to Stay, That all the favours and riches the King could heap on him would prove no manner off Allurements,—that iff the King had a mind to keep him he must send Goorzeburdars [gurbardārs] and putt Irons on his Leggs, and that Even then he would nott so much as accept off the Kings bread, much less his service. The Old Syud [Sayyad] Asked two or three times whether nothing could prevail, but when he was answered No: He promised to be very importunate with Caundora [Khān Daurān], and Even to fall at his ffeett to Obtain itt.

Syud Omer [Sayyad ‘Umr] Sent the Consommany Dusticks [khānsāmāni dastaks] Signed to Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] who gave them to Mr. Surman.”

“The King abroad with his Women.

Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] went to Caundoras, [Khān Daurān] June 1st where he talked off Mr. Hamiltons Affair, much to the Same Effect as we had told him. Caundora [Khān Daurān] replied the King was obstinate, he having severall times already Endeavoured to disswade him from itt. That his Advice was for Mr. Surman to goe to the Vizier, and Engage his intercession with his Majesty, which when sett on ffoot, he himself would find an opportunity to Speak Effectually. Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] said he wonder’d he should send the Elchy to the Viziers, since he had yett never asked any ffavour or had anything to doe with him Since his arrivall and therefore was now likely to meet with a repulse. Caundora [Khān Daurān] said Lett them goe, and In case of refusall I will doe itt myself.

The Bootades [buyutāt’s] seal must be on our Dusticks [dastaks].”

“The Elephant Droga [dārōghah] accepted the Dustick [dastak] without the Bootades [buyutāt’s] seal; Butt the June 2nd Others being rejected, Our Vakile [vakil] went to Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān]<sup>1</sup>, desiring his seal. He replied there must be first a petition sent to his Majesty.”

191. CONSULTATION.<sup>1</sup>

“Having received our dispatches<sup>2</sup> from his Majesty, Itt is our buisness to Leave this place with the Utmost Expedition, the necessary preparations being made accordingly. Agreed that a sufficient number off Carriages be hired, as the best proposition for Our Tents. Butt as Camells are the most Expeditionis and therefore proper for Our Own and Servants necessarys, Agreed that a convenient number be bought. The hire off such cattle proving very Extravagant.

June 3rd
Dilly.

The Way between this place and Coora-Jehaunabad [Kōrah Jahā-nābād], butt more Especially Agra, being very much infested by Jaats [Jāts] and Mewattys [Mewātīs]; we shall want a sufficient force to protect what has been obtained with so much pain and trouble, which att least must be Equall to what came up with us: Viz<sup>t</sup>. 50 Country Horsemen and 400 peons and Burkundass [barqandās]. Butt that we may have an opportunity to pick those which are Good Itt is thought convenient to begin taking them in, by Little and Little, and nott att once to receive what we can gett, att any rate they please to impose upon us.

Mr. Hamilton being entirely averse to obey the Kings orders by his stay, unless forced thereto; Itt is our buisness to weigh this Affair in respect to Our Honourable Masters. We find few dare speak to the King for his Clearance. On the Other side we are satisfied That should he be kept by force, His stay would be no longer than the first opportunity to Elope. For such a burning desire reigns in him after his own Country, that neither promises nor threats can avail any thing. All this being duely promised, we doe Esteem a modest denyall att present much better than a Seeming compliance, which can contribute nothing to his deliverance. For should he be kept by force and Afterwards Escape, The King might very likely vent his Anger on our Honourable Masters Settlements, Supposing us Assistant and consenting thereto: On the Contra, should he by chance have leave to depart, we are all Cleared: Iff nott, His ffortune is try'd, and we honestly discharged Our Selves, to the King, Our H: Masters and him also. Besides there is no absolute necessity off making application in our Own names, his own being Every way the most proper. And we are well-nigh Assured there will be no force in the Case, Butt that his Majesty used this as his Last Effort to Engage his stay, which when he finds his stiff aversion to, he will wave itt. Agreed That a pathetick petition be drawn up in his name, and that we pay the Vizier a visitt and present itt, According to the advice and order off Our patron Caundora [Khān Daurān].”

<sup>1</sup> This consultation is signed by Thos. Phillips “during the indisposition of Mr. Hugh Barker Cojah Seerhaud assenting,” Phillips continues to sign up to and including the consultation of the 5th July. The consultation of the 12th July is signed by Hugh Barker as Secretary. “C. Seerhaud consents to the purport of this consultation, though the fair copy was not perused by him.”

192. DIARY.

“Mr: Surman &c<sup>a</sup> carrying Mr. Hamiltons petition to the Grand Vizier, He read itt over with great Attention and immediately ordered another of the same Effect to be wrote and addressed to his Majesty, which was to be transmitted with one from himself. The Vizier said measures must be taken to release the Doctor, without displeasing his Majesty.”

June 4th
Seerhaud [Sarhad] meeting Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān] he was told the Dusticks [dastaks] should be signed this morning; butt att the same time said What will you give me Nothing? which Seerhaud [Sarhad] Evaded with a Jest. The Vakile [vakī] going afterwards to the Ketcherry [kachahri], The Dusticks [dastaks] were sealed and Delivered, after many frivolous Excuses off a petition &c<sup>a</sup>.

June 5th
Seerhaud [Sarhad] says he gave a petition for the Doctor to Co! Manour, [Manavvar], which is addressed to the Kings mother.- Butt this Affair being very ticklish, few care to Embark in itt. However the Eunuch promises to speak about itt.”

“The Elephant-Droga [dārōghah] Speaking to his Majesty concerning Our Honourable Presidents Elephant, Itt was ordered That the Consomma [khānsāmān] Sett a price, and then make his report in a petition. To remedy the delay that must necessarily attend Such Measures, Mr: Surman proposes to give Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] a petition (desiring a price may be sett) to present his Majesty tomorrow and gett Signed immediately.

“Since he is privy to my nakedness and perfectly understands his buisness, I would very willingly have kept him, and given him whatever he should have asked; Butt seeing he is satisfied with no terms,

I Agree to itt, provided, After he has gone to Europe, procured Such medicines as are nott to be gott here, and seen his wife and Children, he return once more to visitt this Court: Let him goe."

We have for some time had reports of a Biragy [bairāgi] being here to Complain That a parcell off Diamonds were taken from him by Gov<sup>r</sup> Pitt about 10 Years agoe; for which he gave him a bill for a Leck [lakh] off R<sup>s</sup> on M<sup>r</sup> Pattle in the Patna-factory, That going there, and the ffactory being withdrawn, He found nobody. Wherefore he went to Culeutta, & there making known the Story to Govern<sup>r</sup> Hedges, he demanded a Sight off the note. Butt the Byragy [bairūgi] having private information off his intentions to seize the note and keep him prisoner, he privately gott out off the place, and came here to Complain. This person has been found often att the Viziers gate by our Vakiles [vakils], & when M<sup>r</sup> Surman &c<sup>a</sup> was there Last, he attacked Seerhaud [Sarhad] showing him a Letter which he desired him to open, in which he would find the truth off the Story. Seerhaud [Sarhad] Agreed in Case there were half a dozen substantial Witnesses of what itt contain'd: butt otherwise nott. With this Answer he went Away. To day he went into the Viziers Audolett [ʿudālat] and made a publick complaint to the tenour Abovementioned. The Vizier bid Mittersein [Mitr Sen] carry the man to the Flehy and content him, butt upon the Vakiles [vakils] coming out to look for him he was nott to be found."

193. CONSULTATION.

"We find the Offices from whence we are to receive the present for the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq; very dilatory in delivering the Severall particulars, and that when induced thereto, unless bribed they will give Goods of no value. That we may nott be detained on this account, and to obtain what is Good in its kind, we doe beleive itt highly necessary to bribe the Officers, the strictest orders off the King here being hardly obey'd without itt.

Ordered That these Affairs be adjusted by the Vakiles [vakils] Accordingly.

There has been an Agreement with the Carriers for 10 Carriages with 4 Oxen from hence to Patna att 95 Rs Each & 5 Carriages with 2 Oxen att 47½ To march hence in 20 days Or Else pay demurrage att 8 Rs and 4 Annas pr day. All stops Excepted that may be “Mr. Surman gave Sallabut Caun [Ṣalābat Khān] the three following petitions.

1. To his Majesty for a price to the Elephant.

The other two to Caundora [Khān Daurān] for Goorzeburdars [gurbardārs] and Chilah [chelā], and for way-dusticks [dastaks] and Husbullhooeums [hasbu-l-ḥukms] on the Severall Subahs [ṣūbadars] These Last being delivered, Caundora [Khān Daurān] order'd Cooshalchund [Khūshḥāl Chand] to give the Seaw [siyāhah] for the Goorzeburdars [gurbardārs] and Chilah [chelā] and to write the Dusticks [dastaks] and Husbullhooeums [hasbu-l-ḥukms].”

195. LETTER XXXIV.<sup>1</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

Our last to your Honour &c. was dated the 18th Ult<sup>o</sup> enclosing four Copies of the remaining Perwannaes [parwānas], Viz: Calcutta Towns 1 present and to come, for D. 1 on Eckeramecaun [Akrām Khān], Patna House 1 on Esgar Caun [Aṣghar Khān], Companys Debtors one, as also a set of Copies of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] under the Cozzees [qāẓi's] Seal, by that Conveyance we likewise sent our Accounts Cash, Warehouse and Charges General with Copys of our Consultations for the Months March and April, which we hope will arrive in due time, having already sent two Sets of the Phirmaunds [farmāns], we shall not repeat them till we hear they are arriv'd or farther Orders, we now send foure more of the above-mention'd Perwannaes [parwānas].

The 23rd Ult<sup>o</sup> John Surman received from his Majesty an Horse and Cunger [khanjar], as was preappointed, and the 30th D. we were sent for by Caundora [Khān Daurān], to receive our Dispatches, which we had accordingly, a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] and Culgee [kalghī] being given to John Surman, Seerpaws [sar-o-pās] to Surhaud [Sarhad] and Edward Stephenson, as likewise to the rest of our Companions, we were orderd to pass, one by one to our Obeysance then to move from the Duan [diwān], we did so: but when it came to M<sup>r</sup> Hamiltons Turn he was told the King had granted him a vest as a Mark of his Favour but not for his Dispatch, so was order'd up to his Standing again, whilst he was performing this, the King got up. We were highly Surpriz'd at this unexpected Motion, not having the least Notice of it till that Minute either from our Patron or any to Authority, it being near a twelve Month since M<sup>r</sup> Hamilton had been in private with his Majesty, and in all this time not the least notice taken, we were very much concern'd at his Detainment, and the more because we were assur'd of his firm Aversion to accepting the Service, even with all its Charms of vast pay Honour &c<sup>e</sup> that if the King did detain him by force, if he out-liv'd the Trouble of his Esteem'd Imprisonment, he might be endeavouring at an Escape, which every way had it's ill Consequences, to free our Honourable Masters from any Damages that might accrue to them, from the Passionate Temper of the King, our Patron Caundora was applyed to for leave, twice or thrice he positively denied to speak, or even have a hand in this Business till our Friend Syud Sallabut Caun [Sayyad Şalābat Khān] had an Opportunity to lay the Case open to him, when he order'd us to speak to the Visier, and if by any means we cou'd gain him to intercede, hat he would back it, nay if the Visier refused, he wou'd make one Effort for the Doctor himself, nay Sallabut Caun [Şalābat Khān] promis'd to convince the King himself in case of any Delay, pursuant to our Patron's Directions we made a Visit to the Visier the 4th Inst. and laid the case Open to him in a Petition from M<sup>r</sup> Hamilton, of how little Service he could be without any Physick, Language, or Experience in the Country Medicines or their Names, besides which the Heart-breaking distractions off being parted for ever from his Wife and Children<sup>1</sup> wou'd be insupportable, and intirely take away his Qualifications for the Kings Service, that under the favour of his Majesty Clemency, with the utmost Submission he desir'd he might have leave to depart with us, from our Selves we informed the Visier, that we shou'd have esteem'd this as a very great Honour, but finding the Doctor under these Troubles not to be perswaded, we were oblig'd to lay the case before his Majesty, and that in this case none so proper as himself, withal that we humbly desir'd he would use his Intercessions to the King that his Majesty might be prevail'd upon to dispatch him. The good Visier readily offered to use his utmost Endeavours, and Since the case was so, the Business was to gain the Doctor's Dispatch without displeasing the King, and order'd a Petition to be drawn up to his Majesty in the same Form, as that given to himself directed to the King and sent him, which he wou'd forward with one from himself; it was sent him and the Visier was as good as his word, writing a very pathetick address to his Majesty, enforcing M. Hamiltons reasons, and backing them with his own Opinion "That it was better to let him go. The King return'd an Answer which came out the 6th as follows, " Since he is privy to my nakedness and perfectly understands his business, I wou'd very fain have kept him, and given him whatsoever he shou'd have ask'd, but seeing he can't be brought on any Terms to be content, I agree it, and on condition that after he has gone to Europe, procur'd such Medicines as are not to be got here, and seen his Wife and Children, he return to visit the Court once more, let him go. We hope in God this Troublesome Business is now blown over.

<sup>1</sup> No mention of wife or children is made in Hamilton's will; and, as I read Hamilton's personal history, they were really prospective. His desire was to return home to be married; but perhaps for the sake of argument with his Majesty, it was thought better to assume that the doctor was so already. Hamilton's hypothetical wife and children were, no doubt, strong points in the grand vizier's pathetic address.

The Phirmaund [farmān] for the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq. is wrote fair and gone to the Suddera-Suddool [ṣadru-ṣ-ṣadūr] for the broad Seal, it's open and will have the Visiers Seal on it, and is more like a General Phirmaund [farmān] than an Answer to a Letter, so without doubt will be of great Service.

The Present order'd for the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq., the Consomma [khānsāmān] has given his Dusticks [dastaks] for the Delivery of the Goods, on the Several Officers, we are getting them in as soon as possible.

The rains are setting in here, but however we intend to leave this Place with all the Expedition we can. preparing Carriage and taking in Servants, altho' it may be impossible to March when the Waters are up, but it's absolutely necessary to leave this Place, Tho' our Journey may be Stopt at Agra.

The King notwithstanding his many Oaths made to the Contrary has lately imposed the Gigea (Poll Tax)<sup>1</sup> we had some Apprehensions they were going to rip up old Stories but as yet it has extended no farther than a Surmise, we have esteem'd it for our Honourable Masters Interest not to make any Addresses to the King, for fear of bringing our late Grants in Question. The only Place where the Tax was paid by the English was at Surat, and there in Lieu of it was an Additional Custom which Custom being intirely taken away and a Peescash [peshkash] plac'd in its Stead, we hope the Phirmaund [farmān] now obtained will be esteem'd Sufficient to fend off this Imposition, altho' it is not improbable there may be some Trouble about it, shou'd it be laid on other European Nations.

We design to write to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>. again as soon as we leave this City, in the Interim we remain,

Honourable Sir and Sirs

Your most obedient humble Servants

“The day nott being fixed for Our dispatch from the Vizier, no proposition can be made to Caundora [Khān Daurān] on that head, which Last may take up some time, thereby greatly hindering our speedy departure (Hoping in four or five days to have nothing Else to delay us). Wherefore Mittersein [Mitr Sen] is ordered to lay our condition before Munzoor Caun [Manzūr Khān] and desire him to represent itt to the Vizier, That he had been pleased to order Mr. Surman nott to desire his leave, till within three or four days of his departure, which time being come there was nothing Else to stop him, and that the Charges were very great, all necessary Servants being taken in.”

June 20th

June 25th

Our Vakile [vakīl] and the peeshear [peeshkār] off the Jewell-Office pressed the Droga [dārōghah] to shew the Jewells, butt without Success. This gives us cause to Suspect he has no share in the bribe off 600 rupees.”

“The peeshcar [peshkār] off the Jewell-Office gives great Assurances June 26th that all will be finished on Friday next.

The Vizier sent two petitions to his Majesty, One relating to

 June 30th punish the Portugueze for their insolence, and that forces would be ordered upon Goa. He desired that the English would assist upon this occasion. He was Answered, That unless we were at open war with them in Europe, we dare nott break the peace.
 Butt he seeming nott satisfyed with this answer proposed the French to Zeaudy Caun [Zeyāu-d-din Khān]; who answered, “I shall be

Messrs Surman & Stephenson. We are willing to allow and pay for his Camells on conditions off his procedure with us; and have provided more for his Use.

C. Seerhaud. I have bought y<sup>e</sup> Camells this year and a half for my own use, and have now brought in y<sup>e</sup> accouut, which is nott allowed.

Messrs Surman & Stephenson. The padree is an Affair off his own conclusion. And as we could never gett his account Specify'd in a former Consultation, so cannot pay y<sup>e</sup> money; butt refer itt to y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Council.

There is Likewise another Account of Durbar-Charges Amounting to 8742-2, butt being irregular, we required y<sup>e</sup> particulars off what Goods he had given away. Having Little to say against itt, we are ready to pay ye money on receipt off said particulars. C. Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] att present refuses to take this Last, because we allow nott the whole.

Three months and Eight days have been Elapsed in making the Honourable Robert Hedges phirmaund [farmān] ready, which might have been much sooner Effectted, had Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] been hearty in the pursuit. For according to his own confession 'twas butt a work of 15 days. Having nothing left to detain us Longer in Dilly, we propose to Leave the City the 18th Instant. Wherefore if the phirmaund [farmān] is nott delivered Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] must be answerable for any delay that Ensues.

Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] replys to this Allegation, 'That he has no manner off buisness, Butt that all his Accounts amounting to 19000 rupees being refused to be paid, He cannot goe with M<sup>r</sup>: Surman, being unable to clear Accounts with his Creditors. Wherefore he must stay here till he hears from and is relieved by the Honourable President and Councill. In return to this Mess<sup>rs</sup>: Surman and Stephenson are ready to pay what may appear reasonable, and to be answer'd to our Honourable Masters. For any thing Farther, there must be an Excuse. Butt They are well satisfyd, that is nott the reason: he having Enter'd into a sea off buisness off his own att the Court, to Effect which cannot take up Less than three or four Months.'

Note.—The difference is about 4000 rupees. M<sup>r</sup>: Surman asked whether so small a Sum could hinder his procedure? On which he affirmed that to be the Only reason of his stay. Upon this he went home, and from that time never Encountr'ed any one off the Negotiation.

Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] sent to M<sup>r</sup>: Surman for 700 rupees more for Kirperam [Kirpārām], which he intended to save as Dustore [dastūri], butt nott Allowed by that Mutsuddy [mutaşaddi]. M<sup>r</sup>: Surman reply'd, send his Servant to me and I will deliver itt, which nott being performed the money was Saved."

206. LETTER XXXVII.<sup>1</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRs

WE wrote your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> the 7th June giving an Account of our having received our dispatches from his Majesty &c<sup>e</sup> we also wrote your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> two Letters of the 5th Inst. to accompany 2 Bills of Exchange, one for 13000 and one for 12000 Siceas then drawn, payable to Sawbiparry [sāhū beopāri], for the value received here from Gololchundsaw's [Gulāl Chand Sāhū's] Factors.

We found our Selves necessitated to take our leaves in form from the Visier and Caundora [Khān Daurān], which we have at last after Severall Delays effected, from the Vizier the last Ult<sup>o</sup> and from Samsama Dowlah<sup>2</sup> the 10th Inst. after which having received the present order'd by his Majesty for the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq. we found it our business to leave the City which accordingly we did yesterday in the afternoon, first taking our leave of Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] and Zeudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-dīn Khān]. There now remains nothing of any business to detain us, but the Phirmaund [farmān] in answer to the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq.<sup>1s</sup> Petition. This has been writing and going on according to the dilatory way of Cojah Surhaud [Khwājah Sarhad], above these three months, which he promis'd to do in 15 days and might as well have been finish'd in a Month as a year, but it being the only thing He had the management of in our dispatches, he is resolv'd to make that Subservient to his own Designs and we fear detain us some days, it has received the Kings and Visier's Seals, and Seerhaud [Sarhad] has likewise taken attested Copys which has been done privately, for it is to have a Cover on it and another Seal in Wax, to receive this it went about two or three days since, and is the only thing remaining, we protest against Seerhaud Israel<sup>3</sup> for this unnecessary delay, and declare that He is answerable for the Expences we are oblig'd to be at in the Stay we make at present, for had we received the Phirmaund [farmān], we could have proceeded today. It's very plainly his fault, for instead of minding that, he has all along run after his own business, or otherwise had he attended it, according to his own confession it might have been done in a few days. We have told him very roundly on this occasion what he may expect, and what he is answerable for, for fear he might play us a Trick, of which we had some Suspicion, we did what we cou'd to prevent it, by getting an order for the Gurzeburdars [gurzbar dārs] to carry it with the Seerpaw [sar-o-pā], but his dustick [dastak] as yet not being ready, he cannot go to demand it, we shall make the proper use of this and get away as soon as possible, for our Stay must be very Expensive.

For some time past we have Suspected Scerhaud [Sarhad] wou'd Stay behind us, having entangled himself in his own and other Peoples Affairs. For his own he has petition'd the King to have the title of Girra-ke-rock, or Royall Merchant and deliver'd in a List of what rarities he is able to buy in all Europe, Turkey, China and Japan, but the true design is only to get the Title of King's Merchants to be a Protection wherever he goes, and also a necessary thing towards Saving his Customs. The King Sign'd it different to his Expectation, leaving out the desir'd Title, and ordering the Consomman [khānsāmān] to examine what is proper and then to give the order for a Phirmaund [farmān] for that alone, for this month past we have been always egging him on to get in a readiness to depart with us, which he always promis'd but never performing, we were aware of that Trick of getting money from us, and then Staying behind, which finding he could not obtain, he brought in his Account of Durbar [darbār] Expences &c<sup>e</sup> which was mostly expended by order of Consultation, and our Knowledge, for which reason we were ready to pass and pay it, but he had got other Demands which he tack'd to it, viz<sup>t</sup>

Arrack	...	...	2600
Black Cases given away	...	...	481
Pallankeen fitting with Gold and mending the old one at Several times	...	...	2400
Paid Padre	...	...	688
Camels 3	...	...	875
			532
			<hr/>

In answer to this we reply'd for the Wine if he wou'd be contented as others had given it the Company, Viz<sup>t</sup> about 60 rupees p<sup>r</sup> Chest, he should have it, for the Arrack he has expended and gave it away without our Knowledge, for the black cases they all cost about 500 rupees in Calcutta so the first exception is the extravagant rate he would impose, besides he was frequently forbid to make use of them on the Company's Account who shou'd not pay that unreasonable rate, he was advis'd to dispose of them otherwise, excepting all this if any had been given it being without our Knowledge or Consent, we cou'd not answer the passing it, for the Pallankeens &c<sup>e</sup> we were willing to allow of, except the Gilding with Gold Bamboes Ends, Cullasses<sup>1</sup> &ca. for which there was no manner of occasion neither was it seeming for him to use them, for the Camels we were willing to pay for them in case of his proceedure and have provided more for him, but otherwise not. The Affair of the Padre is of his own conclusion and as yet we cou'd [not] get any thing of that Account; so we cou'd not pay that money, but refer'd it to the Honourable President and Council. When all this was pen'd in a Consultation, Cojah Surhaud [Khwājah Sarhad] declared that except all was allow'd of, he wou'd not receive what we had pass'd, and without the whole Sum he could not nor wou'd not proceed, but Stay till such time as he had receiv'd Remittances from the Honourable President and Council, Sufficient for the above and to enable him to come down, so at present he remains in the City and for his farther Intentions we dare not answer seeing he is so very unaccountable that the like was never heard of.

Your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> dated May the 27th came to hand the 2<sup>d</sup> Instant.

We formerly advis'd your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> that all the Sunnuds [sanads] were finished, and have sent two Setts of the 7 latter Copys, the Originals and Copys Seerhaud [Sarhad] has at last deliver'd to John Surman, as also the old Phirmaunds [farmāns] and Papers after some put offs.

For the Copys of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] which Seerhaud [Sarhad] sent your Honour &c<sup>s</sup>, it was done without our Knowledge, and so Slyly that the Coztees [qāzī's] mark was not on the Originals when he deliver'd them as it ought to have been and was afterwards, it's certain we did for some time omit sending your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Copys of the Phirmaunds [farmāns], but it was so far from a Neglect that it was a Piece of Policy design'd to hasten Seerhaud [Sarhad] to finish the Sunnods [sanads] and get them all Sign'd telling him that we wou'd not remit them till we had received the Perwannacs [parwānas] finish'd, which after we had wrote Your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> so often wou'd be done in a few days, he had Still some delay behind. This had the desir'd Effect and we hope your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> received the Copys of the Phirmaunds [farmāns] by M<sup>r</sup>. Cook and those sent afterwards, besides which we had some intimation, that he had privately got Copys and sent them down, which when he confess'd to us afterwards, we told him what we conceiv'd wou'd be your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Opinion of it which he has now found true.

The 3986.63 your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> mention of Bernasseats [Vārānasi Sett's] is Current money of Dilly, the batta of which from new Sicca's is  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent we have now made an End of that Affair having sold all their Goods as well as possibly we cou'd and adjusted their Accounts, which comes enclos'd, we desire your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> wou'd please to pay them their Ballance, Current money of Dilly, Batta as above.

Pursuant to your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Orders we have pitcht upon a Person for a Vaqueel [vakīl] by name Mittersein [Mitr Sēn], and agreed with him for 75 rupees per Month Pay, and 25 rupees per Month allowance for petty Durbar [darbār] Expences, we leave him 600 rupees being 6 Months pay in the hands of Gololchundsaw's [Gulālchand Sāhū's] Factors, to be paid him monthly, we shall give him the proper Instructions before we dispatch him, for what Orders your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> shall think fit to give, the Letters, if deliver'd to Gololchundsaw's [Gulālchand Sāhū's] Factory, will reach his hands, by whose means we shall order him to send his to your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> we have likewise pitcht on another Shroff [šurrāf] for Surat, but from Madrass hence there is so very little Correspondence, that we beleive the quickest method will be via Bengall, in our Instructions to him and by word of Mouth, we shall have a due regard to your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Orders, not to be chargeable to the Company, or offer to put them to any Expence without a peculiar Order.

We hope our Stay here cannot be longer than 4 or 5 days, when we shall use the utmost Expedition that the Weather will permit, the Rains as yet have not been Severe in those Parts so may be expected violent, we fear our Arrival at Patna will be after the rains are over, for the Ground between that City and Elaabass<sup>1</sup> is so Swampy, besides the Rivers will be difficult to pass, as well as the Rivulets, where there are no boats, by this Your Honour &c<sup>2</sup> may believe our Journey will be tedious, and if that you think it convenient to have us down by water from Patna, it will be necessary to have good Budgrows, and as soon as we shall receive Advices we shall give Orders to have what other boats there will be occasion for to carry our Lumber. For the Companys Horses and Camels we believe part of them may go off at Cassimbazar, and for what can be dispos'd of at Patna we shall Sell, but for to Stay on that Account will enhance the already vast Expence, we are and have been at Short Allowance of Liquor for some time, by the boats we hope your Honour &c<sup>2</sup> will please to consider us.

The Roads between this Place and Agra on Account of the Rebellion of the Jaats [Jāts] are very troublesome by reason of their Excursions, not having any other Company we are oblig'd to keep a good Force, for the Protection of these invaluable Jewells, but we assure your Honour &c<sup>2</sup> nothing shall be added but what is absolutely necessary.

Enclosed comes Accounts Cash Warehouse Charges general, and Copys of Consultations for the Month [of] May, what with the Hurry of leaving the City and the Indisposition of most of us, the Accounts for June are not done, but the next Cossid [qāsid], which we intend to dispatch from Feredabad [Faridābād] shall carry them.

Enclos'd we send your Honour &c<sup>2</sup> 3 Copys of the General Phirmaunds [farmāns] as also 29 of the Sunnods [sanads].

With much ado we have got a Gurzeburdar [gurzbardār] to carry the Chief of Surat's Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] for the Governour of Madrass the Gurzeburdar [gurzbardār] that goes with us has orders to carry it so will be dispatcht from Bengall.

When we received our dispatches from the Vizier Azeem<sup>2</sup>, he told us the Portuguese at Goa had been guilty of a great many misbehaviours, but particularly in abusing the Mahometans, and making them Christians by Force, which his Majesty having very often Complaints of it, was now resolv'd to have Satisfaction, he said the Forces would be order'd to besiege that Port, that he expected we would give them Assistance to punish the Kings Enemies. We modestly answered it was not in our Power, neither durst we break the Peace upon any occasion, that we cou'd not Assist upon any other Conditions, than being at War with Portugal in Europe, notwithstanding this answer he seem'd not satisfied, and then proposed the French to Zeudy Caun,<sup>3</sup> who it's now reported will be made Duan of the Decan and some other Ports, he answer'd that this affair, were it left to him, he was able to manage. This is all that past, or that we have yet heard of, but not knowing how it may be pursued, and how our

At this last Visit from the Visier we obtain'd a very kind recommendatory Letter to his Brother Omeerall Omrah [Amīru-l-Umarā] concerning our Trade in General, the renting of Divy Island, The Delivery of the 5 Madrass Towns &c: as also enclos'd. Transcript of what orders he desir'd might be sent to Saddotoola Cawn [Sa'datullah Khān] Concerning the 5 Towns and the Gov: of Metchlipatam [Machhlipatnam] for Divy, all very Plain and full, which we esteeming too precious to send by a Cossid [qāsiid] shall bring with us.

M: Surman sent 100 rupees to Decanny-Ray July 20th [Dakhinī Rāe] to dispatch this Affair Speedily under-hand among the under Officers."

"M: Surman wrote a note to Seerhaud [Sarhad] concerning the Honourable Presidents phirmaund, [farmān] and July 21st sending out some Cozzys [qāzi's] Copys &c: butt to which he received no answer. We hear Suddanund [Sadānand] begins to be hard on Seerhaud [Sarhad], setting peons on his Door."

"Golam-Hossein [Ghulām Husain] having his Dustick [distak] ready July 22nd came to M: Surman, there nothing now remains, butt for him to return and demand the phirmaund [farmān]. This project was concerted by Seerhauds [Sarhad's] own peeshcar [peshkār] Decannyray, [Dakhinī Rāe] and Carried on by one Somersein [Sumer Sen] formerly Bibbee Julianas Mutsuddy [mutasaddi]; the Latter having the desire off a horse and Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] for his pains.

M: Surman, that the world might take no Exceptions, wrote Again to Seerhaud [Sarhad] to the following Effect, 'tho' with Little hopes of Success. "That having formerly wrote for Copys off the Last Phirmaund [farmān] he had received neither them nor an answer.
That now he wrote again and would have him consider what he was about, The phirmaund [farmān] being the only thing waited for. Wherefore he must Expect to answer any delay on that Account occasioning a daily Expence of 4 or 500 rupees; All Horsemen pecns &c<sup>a</sup> being taken in." To this Seerhaud [Sarhad] something harshly replied. "That the phirmaund [farmān] was with the Sudder [ṣadr].<sup>1</sup> That had he the seal in his pockett you should nott waite a moment. As for the Daily Expence of Horsemen &c<sup>a</sup> Why did you take them in till the phirmaund [farmān] was in Your hand? So you must Account for itt. You having Curtailed my Account out of Spite, Am kept in Dilly, and must waite an answer from below; whereby the Company will be putt to 20,000 rupees Expence by my going down alone."

"Mr Surman wrote Mullookchund [Maluk Chand] to hasten
July 23rd Decanny-Ray [Dakhinī Rāe] about the phirmaund [farmān].

"Mr. Surman Sealed up the Surat-Seerpaw [sar-o-pā], and sent itt to July 24th Mittersein [Mitr Sēn]; with which and 200 rupees for Expences Farruck-beg Caun [Farrukh Bēg Khān]<sup>2</sup> will proceed when his Dustick [dastak] is ready. Mr. Surman sent Mullookchund [Maluk Chand] word he was resolved to move tomorrow.

Mullookchund [Maluk Chand] wrote word this Evening "That Both He, Somersein, Decanny Kay, and Mittersein [Sumer Sēn Dakhinī Rāe and Mitr Sēn] would be att Feredabad [Faridābād] to morrow. That the Phirmaund [farmān] was sealed and Carried from the Sudders [ṣadr's] to Ecklaus Caun [Ikhlas Khān], and that Golam Hossein [Ghulām Husain] had shown Ecklaus Caun [Ikhlas Khān]
his Dustick [dastak], who promised to deliver him the phirmaund [farmān] tomorrow morning. So we hope all trouble is over, and that need be no Longer apprehensive of any thing from Seerhaud [Sarhad]."

208. CONSULTATION.

"According to the Honourable President and Councils orders to con-have Agreed with him for 75 rupees per Month Wages besides a monthly allowance of 25 rupees Durbar-Expence. His Instructions being drawn up and Approved, Agreed that a translate be annexed to this Consultation. Agreed that Mr John Surman pay 600 rupees to Murlidur Bawsein-Decannyrays [Murlidhar Bhāo Sen Dakhini Rāe] Factory, with orders to pay Mittersein [M'itr Sēn] 100 rupees per Month till farther orders from the Honourable president and Council.

Agreed That a protest be drawn up and sent to Seerhaud [Sarhad] for his disobedience in remaining behind; and that the translate be annexed hereto.

'The Phirmaund [farmān] being so far secured that the Goorzeburdar [gurzardār] may probably receive itt in a few days; We are satisfied nothing ought to Detain us here any longer. Agreed that we make the best off our way down to our Honourable Employers."

209. PROTEST AGAINST SEERHAUD

Sent to him in a note from Ferēdabad.

YOUR Letter arrived In Barrapoola [Bārapulah], whatever occur'd you wrote; off the propriety you may Judge. We hear from others that the phirmaund [farmān] is seal'd and return'd to Ecklaus Caun [Ikhlāṣ Khān]. The Goorzeburdar [gurzardār] has gott an order to receive the phirmaund [farmān] and Accompany us Itt is certain he will act accordingly. We would have you consider this, because we are going hence with all Expedition. You do nott swerve in the Least from Your former behaviour. However, this Last Affair has nott been weigh'd Sufficiently, The Letting us depart, and staying behind your self, being unanswerable. Wherefore we now write, that you have no farther occasion for the State of Flaggs in your procession, pray from this time Lay them Aside; and whatever Allowance you received from the Honourable Company is Stop'd this instant. According to Your advice so much money was given to Kirperam [Kirpārām] without any advantage. We understand the answer you will give to this: Butt which is unwarrantable. If that Mutsuddys [mutasaddis] servant had come to Mr Surman 700 rupees should have been paid. We Expect a recommendation from Kirperam [Kirpārām] to Hydera Cooly Caun [Haidar Quli Khān] to arrive with us in Agra that so much money may nott be flung away.

218. LETTER XL.<sup>1</sup>

Honourable Sir and Sirs

Our last to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> was from Horull [Hodal], we have met with no molestation in the way. After passing the river twice to avoid it we are happily arrived at Agra and passed it once more. As yet but little rains and hereabouts the Earth is parched, though we hear very much of the Swamps that are about 60 Cos: distance, We shall endeavour by little and little to break through them notwithstanding it may not be so expeditious as we desire. We hear Nothing Farther from Seerhaud [Sarhad], but that he has wrote his Complaint to your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> which he designs to follow with Bills. The Business about his Usage from the Persian Embassadour was as formerly advised. Nothing would serve him at first but he would goe and fight him, and sent for Horse and Foot to take in accordingly, but we suppose the Fury of that Expedition went away upon Second Consideration.

The Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] has actually received the Phirmaund [farmān] but staid for his Dawk Dustick [dāk dastak], so is not yet arrived though We expect him every day. We have a Chilah [chelā] at present with us with the Kings Orders for our Protection but we find very Little to be depended on, our own Forces excepted which we hope will be sufficient for the Mewallaes [Mewātīs] and afterwards for the Eugenes [Ujjainyas].<sup>2</sup>

To Express the Violence of the Heat it is almost impossible but that Men Horse and Camells in these few days Journey have lost their Lives by it.

We have drawn two Bills on Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> of Yesterdays date.

1000 Siccas received from Mr Surman payable to Mr Williamson or order, and 3000 Siccas received from Kisoray Kissenchund [Kishori Kṛishan Chand] payable to Sawbiparry [sāhū beopārī] or order, which we hope will be duely honoured.

219. LETTER XLII.<sup>1</sup>

"To the Honourable—Collet Esqr Governour of Fort St George, and President for Affairs of the Honourable Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies &c<sup>a</sup> Council In Madrass.

Honourable Sir and Sirs

The Honourable President and Council in Bengall advises us they gave your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> a full Account of our Negotiation here, we had little Opportunity of making any Additions having been so full to that Presidency. Without doubt Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> rejoiced at the good news of Our having finished the difficult negotiation by the receivall of the Phirmaunds, Sunods [farmāns, sanads] &c<sup>a</sup> the Copys of which have to be Sure e'er this reached Your hands. After so great an Expencc we hope all our Honourable Masters' Settlements will begin to reap the Advantage and that a few Years will reimburse them. Besides the Phirmaunds [farmāns] and Grants &c<sup>a</sup> for the Coast of Coromondall we have got a very Pathetick recommendatory Letter from the Grand Vizier to his Brother Omeerall Omrah [amiru-l-umarā] which will be of very good Use, being in Particular for the 5 Towns and the renting Divy [Divi] Island in Generall for all their Settlements on that Coast.

His Majesty has ordered a Seerpaw [sar-o-pā] for the Honourable Governour which we have received, and the Goorzeburdar [gurzbardar] that attends us down to Bengall has orders to proceed and deliver it.

After having finished our Business we mett with great Trouble and difficulty in getting Clear of the Court, But God be thanked we have Effectted it and our Departure was the 18th Ultimo, so we are Endeavouring for Bengall with the utmost Expedition altho' in the midst of the rainy Season. Our Companion Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhād] thought fitt to Stay behind us in truth to effect some business of his own, but to deceive the World he pretended we would not pay him what money he knew we could not answer to do.

Being now able to lay down our Commission we think this a fitt Opportunity to take our leave of Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> we hope our behaviour through the Course of this Negotiation will meet with Your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> Approbation when we shall have received our Reward. We return thanks for your Favours in particular,

222. LETTER XLIII<sup>1</sup>

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRs

WE wrote Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup>, Yesterday from Coora Jehaunabad [Kōrah Jahānābād] of which the accompanying is a Copy. With some Trouble We gott over that River by 12 a Clock at Night so we have been able to make a Journey of 5 Cos: [kos] to this Place.

Before we removed to Agra we wrote Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> bearing date the 4th Inst. advising of all that happened to that place, the following Part of our Journey has not been troubled so much with the heat, as by deep and Slippery ways, occasioned by the foregoing Rains, In which the Camells make miserable work, there being 2 or 3 already left thereby. Besides which our Journeys are much Shorten'd from 12 Cos [kōs] which We designed to 6 or 7 when the Weather will permit us to march. Even as it is, Travelling at this Season Surprizes the Country People, and We are of Opinion that very good Fortune has attended us, The Roads we passed Last are cheify those frequented by the Mewattaes [Mewātis]. The 1st days Journey from Agra they took a Fancy to try the Courage of our People, by attacking our forerunning Tents guarded by 20 or 30 Buxeries [Baksaris]. They had much about the like Number in Horse. They fell too without much Ceremony and fought for about two Gurreys, [ghari]<sup>2</sup> and tis supposed that their Cheif having received a mortall Wound in his Breast was the Reason they Run away without any Other Damage then the wounding a Woman and 3 or 4 Oxen. They have been so kind as to keep out of Sight ever Since.

The Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] who had orders to bring the Honourable Presidents Phirmaund [farmān] has very well answered our Expectation and arrived with us 7 days ago so that there is now nothing belonging to our Honourable Masters Affairs left unfinished at that Court, and nothing in Seerhauds [Sarhād's] Hands but Copys which he obtained after a Clandestine manner As he would have Served the last Originall, but the Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] who was thoro' paced was not to be tricked at that rate.

The Encouragement we have had thus far in our Journey gives us Hopes of the like good Fortune for the Future, so we shall use all Possible Expedition to clear Our Honourable Masters from the great Expence they have lain under.

 President for Affairs of the Honourable Company of Merchants of England
 Trading to the East Indies &c<sup>a</sup>. Councill in Bengal.

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

We wrote Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the 21st Ultimo advising of our Safe Arrivall at this Place, we have since that Time been obliged to draw Bills of the 28th September for the following Sums.

1 Bill 5000 rupees payable to Saw Biparry [sāhū beopāri] or Order received from Bolchund [Balchand]

1 Bill 5000 rupees payable to Kissoray Gololechund [Kishori Gulālchand], received from Gowoldass Gossaulray [Gokal Dās Khushhāl Rāe] to both which we hope your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will give due Honour.

We were in hopes that the Frequent Advices we gave Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> of our departure from Dilly and in our way hither might have arrived time Enough to have Budgerows &c<sup>a</sup> sent up for our Carriage down to Calcutta, We fear some of the Cossids [qāṣid] may have miscarry'd and so prevented it, We have waited in Expectation of a Letter, but not Coming to hand we have taken a Resolution to leave this Place with the Utmost Expedition by getting what Boats &c<sup>a</sup> we can hire as the onley Expedient to finish this Expensive Journey.
 For any Business to be done here, in getting in the Company's Debts which your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> formerly ordered we find nothing to be done with Seerbolund Cawn [Sarbuland Khān] without Expençe. If we should pay him a Visitt, make a Present and move to settle a Factory here as he thinks fitt we beleive the Possession of the house might be obtained but as Yet we can get no answer.
 Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> gave us particular Orders to acquaint the Subah [sūbahdār] and Duan [dīvān] on what Conditions a Factory might be resettled. The Duan [dīvān] and all other Officers have not the least authority under Seerbolund Cawn [Sarbuland Khān] who manages every thing himself and instead of the Cut-Barrers<sup>2</sup> which was formerly paid to the Prince, he has laid the same Imposition on all the Merchants here under another name called Budrucka.<sup>3</sup> From the Dutch he has taken instead of their former Peeshcash [peshkash] of 10,000 rupees 13,200 rupees After imprisoning their Servants 2 months and stopping their laden boats above one, Besides 50,000 rupees which he has Extorted from them within this Twelve month. We have endeavoured to let him know Your Honour

&c<sup>as</sup> propositions, but as yet have not found a Servant or other in his whole Durbar [darbār] who dare represent the matter to him taking it as entirely impossible to be Effected, and our being necessitated to Stay here gives no little Umbrage that a design of Settling a Factory is at the bottom, all which together will make us the more Expeditious to get away.

We have disposed of a good part of the Camells but we find Horses here at a very low rate so we shall send them over land with the Elephant for the Honourable President under the Care of the Goorzeburdar, [gurzbardār] we are quite unacquainted how Horses may sell at Muxodavad [Maḡṡūdābād] so desire Your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> Orders whether any may be left there or all sent to Hughly.

235. CONSULTATION.

"THE 7th att night arrived a Letter from the Honourable President and Councill, Dated September 19th imparting that a party off soldiers with Budgerows was coming for us; and that we should remain in Patna till their arrivall, getting in the mean time possession off the house, and recovering what debts due to the Honourable Company. The many fformer Letters from the Honourable President and Councill giving intimation, and our own desires Spurring us on, to come to a Conclusion of this Chargeable negotiation; we resolved to Leave this place with all possible Speed: to which end we have already laid out money for Boates, to carry us down; and entertained best part off the peons and Buxerys necessary for the occasion. Wherefore our readiness to leave this place will be in a Weeks time.

The Honourable Companys Debtors are either dead or insolvent. As for compulsion there is none to be use<sup>d</sup>, without the Nabobs Assistance; which is so far from being Granted; That he does nott Comply with the Letter off the Kings orders in permitting us to have the house, Saying, "Itt was nott given us to be Lett out, butt that a Factory might be settled therein; on which conditions we might have itt." Butt this must be understood on the payment off the former 16000 rupees peshcash [peshkash]; and nott what the Honourable President and Councill are in hopes of. So the design of settling that Factory is rendered Abortive. By what is abovemention'd, Our ffarther Stay in Patna plainly appears to be of no service to Our Honourable Masters affairs, butt will on the Contrary prove Expensive.

Two months must be Elapsed before the Culcutta Boates can possibly arrive att this place; Very likely meeting with some trouble in the way; which is nott to be feared in our passage down, Seeing we have the Kings Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār], Chilah [chelā] and Dusticks [dastaks] to accompany us, besides the Character his Majesty has been pleased to give us in the Last. We conclude and Agree to depart hence with the Utmost Expedition, Conceiving itt most for the Interest of Our Honourable Masters.

The Patna Shrophs [ṣarrāfs] will write to their Correspondants nott to trust Seerhaud [Sarhād] with money Account the Honourable Company.

Agreed that a ffarther Account of Seerhauds [Sarhād'] Behaviour be given to the Honourable President &c<sup>a</sup>, being a Continuation of the Separate Letter, dated December 20th from Dilly."

October 18th "THE Dutch report the following Advices from Dilly—That the King Upon the Grand Seignieurs Complaint, has forbid the sale off Saltpetre to any Christians That the phowdsar [faujdār] off Metchlipatam [Machhlipatanam] complained to the King off Divy [Divi] Islands being granted to the English.

October 20th "We heard Seer-Bulund-Caun [Sarbuland Khān] would send to search our Boates, butt itt proved a story."

237. LETTER XLVIII<sup>1</sup>

Honourable Sir and Sirs

WE wrote your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> the 20th December very particularly concerning the Behaviour of Cojah Seerhaud [Khwājah Sarhād] during the Course of this Negotiation to that Time. We find our Selves obliged to continue the Thread of that discourse to the finish of it which now God be thanked is happily come to pass.

We shall pursue it with our wonted Ingenuity and for to make every thing the more plain first add to those things which Seem to be left unfinished in the last, and then enlarge upon what farther Misdemeanours he has committed.

Concerning the Entrance into the business we find nothing to add. But the first remark we have to make is on Padree Daniell Who after a great many Huffs and Threatnings of what he would do in Case we did not comply with his demands became very quiet Seerhaud [Sarhād] used to tell us he had satisfied that he had paid him about 800 rupees down in hand and had given him an Obligation that in Case he had not full Satisfaction from the Council of Calcutta he would pay him out of his own Pockett the Sum of 3000 rupees, we seemed very well satisfied with this and indeed told Cojah [Khwājah] it would be for his Honour not to suffer him to Complain in any Durbar [Darbār] of us altho' we could not Agree to his unreasonable demands, and to hope to get any redress by Complaint he knew was but a Folly which Advice I beleive he took after he had tryed his own Strength and found he was able to do nothing. The Padree suspecting Cojah [Khwājah] at our departure from Dilly seemed to have a desire to come along with us, and indeed did offer that in case we would promise our Endeavour to procure him satisfaction he would. Our Answer was that it was our Opinion he had much better follow Seerhauds [Sarhād's] Fortunes if he had any Intentions for Bengall, and that we think is all we can add to this Business.

When we were on our Departure and he squabbling with us for money amongst the rest (but not mentioned in his demand) he wanted truly us to pay for the Vackeel [vakīl] that he had employed very barefacedly affirming he deserved a handsome reward. We were very well acquainted with the man who had been a good Sp̄y to Us, but could not wrong our Judgments so much as to Consent to it when we had as good Servants in the House in the Honourable Companys pay, and we could at That Time tell him his own and how much in this particular Case he had broke through the Honourable President and Councils Orders. He answered that it was very well, since we would not he would do it himself, and as for anything Else he had very little Apprehensions.

We wrote Your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> at large about the new Kirperam [Kripāram] Our Agreement with him and what we thought of that business, since the writing of that Letter, we found ourselves strictly pursued for a large Sum of money nothing less than 1000 Gold Moors [muhrs] would appease. A great many reasoning And excuses were made use of but to litle purpose Seerhaud [Sarhād] insisting either to give the whole sum or else a finall Answer refusing at any Consultation to give his Opinion of the matter, at the Same Time threatening what great mischeif would attend his disgust that So much money was In reality too much, But what Sum he deserved and would Content him he would not Name yet was Continually bringing Duns to our door as a proof how much he was plagued. For the Conclusion of this Affair we humbly referr to our Consultation July the 15th Our True Reason for Consenting to the Payment of so much money was the Apprehension we had that he might do some dis-service to the Factory at Suratt. The entire Government of that Province being under Hydera Cooli Cawn [Haidar Qulī Khān] and his Business solely in the Hands of the Kirperam [Kṛipāram].

Concerning Seerhaud's [Sarhād's] proceeding to England and buying Rariety's we have wrote at large in that Letter. The true reason of his staying behind is to pursue this project without any Apprehensions of being hindered by us. Zeaudy Cawn [Zeyāu-d-din Khān] at last has been the Cheif Protector of this scheme and had at about the time of our departure proposed to his Majesty something of this Story Again and that a small matter might be sent as a Present to the Honourable English Company. He intimated to us that he wished we would Stay to receive it but we were too well acquainted with the Expence of Dilly and the Time Trouble and Charge there would be to get it after granted as well as the small Value the Things would be of, for any such Bait to take besides we Considered what little Credit was to be given to the best of them all. We since hear Seerhaud [Sarhād] in the Pursuit of his Old scheme has brought his Ends about. The [King?] has granted as follows—

To the Honourable Company—	3 Diamonds	... 3000
	Shawles	... 2500
	Baftaes and Mamodays	... 2500
	Rose Otter 25 Polla	... 500
		11500

To Governour Pitt whom he Stiles Vizier Azzeem<sup>2</sup> of England.

		rups.
3 Diamonds	... ..	2,000
Boddala	... ..	2,000
		4,000 rups.

But refused to give him his so much desired Phirmaund [farmān] till such Time he arrived in Europe procured the Rariety's and advised of their readiness when he should have it Sent him, but for the present only a Husbullhookum [hasbu-l-hukum] is ordered. Seerhaud [Sarhād] is not contented with this, but has drawn up another Petition and has taken Care to make this appear quite different to his Bretheren in all Places that they may resound it to his Creditors but what we have lost above is the last advice from Mittersein [Mitr Sēn]

In our Former Letter amidst such a Tract of Villainies, we Could not Accuse him of misemploying any of the Companys Money or Goods, but we have found by the Sequell it was only for want of an Opportunity. For in the first Sum of money which was designed for Boquechund [Bhogchand] out of 18000 rupees he had a design to steal 10,000 rupees. The necessity there was for the

Agreement our Consultations will witness Knowing what great Service that Mut-suddy [mutaşaddi] could Do us at that Inst. we did not hesitate in the Least to Comply with Seerhaud's [Sarhād's] demands when he said it was necessary and Indeed 8000 rupees was reckoned a very small Summ for so great a Man. So Seerhaud [Sarhād] had here a good Opportunity to do as his inclinations directed him but it was impossible for him to do it So privately but that it Came to our Knowledge before he could have the Impudence to ask for the money or indeed that we would give it, he was apprized of our Knowledge of the matter. We were well pleased to find It hindered him from his pursuit, so in a sort of a bravado of what he had done for the Honourable Company in saving them so much money (which was never lost) he delivered back the obligation and owned the other deceit of 5500 rupees with the Sudder Suddool [sadru-ş-şudūr] which was of much worse consequence than the Other, for the Phirmaund [farmān] was detained about 20 days in a very Ticklish time which must be pure design of delaying for when we put him to it in an hour's Time 'twas made up when he bragg'd of his Dexterity in doing it and showed great satisfaction in having (as he thought) deceived us. We are satisfied your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will take this Story and everything else in its due Sense.

The strange delays very much hindered the business and so Enhauced unaccountably the Charge. It's impossible for us to give your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> a Relation of every two or three days that he has by his ill Humour and obstinacy flung away, when his Majesty was in the Camp and our business on the Tenters nothing could hinder him from his feasting and Junketting which two or three days Every weak were Sacrificed and once eight days together, and at that Time, Enoitoola Cawn ['Ināyatullah Khān] was upon the Point of being made Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālišah] and the Phirmaund [farmān] had not received the Viziers Seal, Besides this the Calcutta Towns with Six other Perwanne [parwān-ās] were refused to be signed by the Duan Colsa [diwān-i-khālišah] and so very near sacrificed, being at last done clandestinely by Attesham Cawn [Tūṣām Khān] the Lord knows how and the money that was expended, had it been taken Care of before hand might have been Saved, and they securely done with the rest, So he deserves to pay for his Obstinacy and all that Charge must be placed to his Account.

Nothing would serve for one while but that he would gett a Phirmaund [farmān] for Divy [Dīvi] Island, Patna and Suratt house, Bengall Mint and Fort St David Towns instead of the Duanny Sunnods [diwāni sanads] which we had obtained He never went upon any such new invention, but we presently suspected he had some other design than the publick good. We consented so far to it that in case it might not be prejudicial to the main Affair otherwise not, we esteeming it a Thing noways feasible. This matter was carried on some time, and we heard no more of it till about two Months after when he was hot after it again even to the neglect of our great Affairs So he was forbid to pursue it any farther. He promised to obey; about twenty days afterwards he seemed ready to burst with the news, saying he had got a Grant for the Phirmaund [farmān]. We were very well pleased with the Thoughts of his having Once in his Life done good by breaking of orders, but alas when we Came to examine into it nothing but Flash.

After this he Could not be contented but he must have 25 Villages more which were the 4000 rs. [P] we left out and to make it the more easily granted he would get them in the Honourable Robert Hedges Phirmaund [farmān] notwithstanding we told him to desist, for since there was no hopes of Obtaining them it was only exposing us. However he still privately pursued it till he was baffled and if ever he does procure the grant it Cannot be otherways than Olandestinely.

Every thing being finished we had pannick Fears concerning the Originall Phirmaunds [farmāns] and Sunnods [sanads]. He never directly denied the delivery of them but by his put offs from today and tomorrow, still keeping Something undone under pretence of delivering the whole together made us suspect he had some ill design that way and there was no method to hinder them from Coming into his hands. We used a great many arts to get them from him. It pleased God that we had no Necessity to use rougher means for he delivered them all with this Insolent Saying If he had a mind to plague the Company there were means enough and they could never escape his Hands. That more had been obtained for their Service than his Contract obliged, so he would have a Proportionable Reward or Else he might be troublesome to them.

In his last Demand for money Your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> will see he Charges for Black Cases 2400 [rupees] besides Arrack and his Wine. The Black Cases he brought up from Calcutta and Cost there about 500 rupees, We questioned his Intention from the first of being very unreasonable in any thing the Company might be obliged to buy of him so was always upon our Guard to hinder him and for all the many Pretences he made that nothing Else would go down with the Mutsuddys [mutaşaddis] we Knew it was only a trick to get them off, so by no means we would not Consent to it, but told him the Company would never pay him at so Extravagant a rate and advised him to dispose of them among his Bretheren where he pretended he could have 40 rupees per Case. Except what he drank he disposed of none for at least 15 months when [all] at once we heard they began to fly about to every one that wanted liquor and then required of us to pay for them at his own Rate.

Coming upon the Business of our dispatch from his Majesty, our Intentions being to proceed with the utmost Expedition whether we received those accustomed Favours or no and his being quite different was the reason we employed him as little as possible in that Affair, So he had only the Phirmaund [farmān] for the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq<sup>r</sup> to get ready, which your Honour &c<sup>s</sup> will find by our Former Letters was so long delayed that he had an Intention either we should Stay for it or Else leave it behind, when we found an Evasion for that by getting an Order for The Goorzeburdar [gurzardār] to receive it and when he had it in his possession, Seerhaud [Sarhād] would have fain brought him to his Lure by fair promises, but we had prepared the Goorzeburdar [gurzardār] who knew him very well that he did not betray his Trust but brought the Phirmaund [farmān] to us being very well assur'd of a good reward for this Service. In the Phirmaund [farmān] Seerhaud [Sarhād] took Care to have his name very particularly mentioned, as if all the Business had been done by his Management alone. 'Tis very likely had we went about it, it might have been hindered at the Expence of some time and money, besides exposing the Nakedness of our Family which we always endeavoured to hide from the World, We wā'd the Prosecution leaving all to the Judgment of your Honour &c<sup>e</sup>

In a Private Consultation of the 13th April the Story of gaining 50,000 rupees to be divided among us is related at large, it wants no farther addition then that it came to nothing, as have a great many of his other Projects, wherefore it only serves in this Place as a Memorandum and to fill up the number of his misde-meanours.

In these our two Letters we have Endeavoured to point out this unaccountable Man's Actions. As we have not added any thing of ourselves we hope we have not omitted any thing of Consequence. We heartily Recommend the Examination of it to Your Honour &c<sup>e</sup> not doubting but every one will receive his reward according as he has merited. All our Ambition is to be!Accounted

HONOURABLE SIR AND SIRS

Our last was October the 7th after which dispatch came to hand your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> dated September the 19th by this we observe your orders to wait in Patna for the Arrivall of the Soldiers design'd hither for our Convoy. We find our Letters dispatch'd in the way were very long in their passage: so that the boats will not arrive so soon as wish'd for. After waiting some time we Surmiz'd your Honour &c<sup>o</sup> might think the Sending boats and Soldiers unnecessary, the acustom'd troubles of the way from hence to Rājamall [Rājmaḥal], being much clear'd by the present Subah [ṣūbahdār], and finding we were able to doe nothing for the Service of Our Honourable Masters in Patna for reasons mention'd in our former Letter, we took a resolution to leave the place as the only way to save Expences, and accordingly had advanc'd money both for boats and men before your Honour &c<sup>as</sup> Letter arriv'd when it was too late to recede.

Since our Factory has been withdrawn the Merchandize of Salt petre has laid Chiefly in the hands of the Dutch; So most of our Undertakers are immediately Employ'd by them. The Common prize of Petre the last Year has been from 1r. 12a. to 2r. 8a. nay 12a. and (as we are inform'd) They have been able to buy none without Dadney [dādni] The very Top of their Undertakers having left Considerable Debts behind them. It is the Custom of these Sort of Merchants seldom to Clear such Debts but run on sometimes more sometimes less seeing the Buyer is not able to be without them, and if the business happens to be stopt or the Factory withdrawn or the Kings Death, they generally all sink very little being to be recovered afterwards.

The Kings Phirmaund [farmān] and the most Severe orders are little minded by Seerbulund Cawn [Sarbuland Khān] as we have Experienc'd, we left no way unattempted to give him notice on what Grounds the Honourable Company would resettle a Factory. We do beleive he has heard of it, But we could never get any Assurances of having itt Effected, seeing all to whom we made Application absolutely denyed to move therein, representing it as an Affair impracticable. As for the House the Bootade [bugutāt] gave us an answer: That the Subah [ṣūbahdār] order'd the House should be given us in Case we resettled a Factory, but that the King did not give it us to be let to hire.

We wore told by everyone the Nabob Expected we would make him a Visit and withall a present. But we having no orders, and beleiving it only money flung away we ended one and Sav'd the other, which has not a little nettled him.

We had very strick orders on him Contain'd in the Goorzeburdars [gurzbardār's] and Chilahs dusticks [chelah's dastaks] to Conduct us with a good Force thro' his Jurisdiction. But these met with the same reception as the rest, he absolutely denying to give either guard or dustick [dastak], But saying as we were on our way we might Securely goe about our Business without any molestation Notwithstanding all the noise our Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] Could make he could not gett admittance to his Presence, but received the above answer from without, by all this your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> will judge w<sup>t</sup> ether it is feasible to settle a Factory during his residence. We are ordering the Vackilo [vakīl] to make a heavy Complaint att Court, and have likewise order'd the Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] to write to his Droga [darogahāh] who will immediately petition his Majesty, most orders that Came from Court are as little regarded, so that there are vast Numbers of Complaints against him daily, And as he does not take Care to oblige any one Officer at Court, It is next to impossible he Should remain long here.

We are moving down and intend to make our Stage to day at Bar [Bār] and that the Goorzeburdar [gurzbardār] with the Elephant and Horses make the like stages with us till our Approach near Rajamoll [Rājmaḥal] when we shall Concert measures that his and our Arrivall may be about the Same time at Hughly by p[roper], Advices given [p[ro] giving] your Honour &c<sup>a</sup> time[ly] notice to add what fuller Orders you may Judge Convenient.

Inclos'd comes Accounts Cash Warehouse and Charges Generall with Copys of our Consultations for the months July and August. We should have added September but the Sickness that attended us as well as our Servants on coming off our Journey must plead cur Excuse and referr us to the next conveyance.

In our last Letter from Mittersein [Mitr Sēn], he acknowledges the Receipt of ours wherein we Complain'd that Jaffor Cawn [Ja'far Khān] had not allowed the Mint nor the Calcutta Towns, of all which he gave a particular Account to our Friend Sallabut Cawn [Ṣalābat Khān] who had given him his word to acquaint Cawndora [Khān Daurān] of the matter prosecuting it to the utmost. To this Intention he had received the Petition the Vackeel [vakīl] had drawn up. What may be the Consequence he has not yet advis'd. He farther writes that about this Time Cawndora's Vackeel [Khān Daurān's vakīl] had been very inquisitive after the Copy of our Phirmaund [farmān] to which Mittersein [Mitr Sēn] replied he had it not, but for any particulars he might have them in his own Books. This made the other Suspect something that ought not to be was upon the anvill Upon enquiry into the Duanny Ketcherry [diwānī kachahri] he could meet with nothing, But from Cawndora's [Khān Daurān's] moonchy [munshi] he had an item That Jaffor Cawn [Ja'far Khān] had complain'd against Severall of our grants however that no orders were yet given to our prejudice, wherefore Mittersein [Mitr Sēn] being now forewarn'd he would take the necessary Precautions. In return to this by the Shroffs [ṣarrāfs] Conveyance we have given him what advice we are able.

The Dutch tell us they have late Letters of about 21 days from their Vackeel [vakīl] in Dilly advising the King had received a Letter from the Grand Segnior complaining that he assisted the European, by letting them have the Merchandize of Salt Petre and that he hoped he would prohibit them that Commodity upon this the King had given orders to prohibett it which may be expected here in some days. We do not assert the truth of this Story, Our own Vackeel [vakil] not writing about it, but as theirs are the latest advices it may be so. To make it seem the more probable, there is an Envoy from the Zeriff [sharif] of Mecha [Mecca] (called Hadgee Saula) [Hāji Sālār] at Court who brought 75 fine Horses and who is very great with Enoitoola Cawn [‘Ināyatullah Khān] lately arriv’d from Mecca. This last being a great Stickler for their Superstition may possibly have obtained this order from the King. The Dutch likewise Show’d us another Paper being a sort of Address from the Phowsdar [faujdar] of Metchlipatam [Masulipatam] to his Majesty that they had notice the King intended to grant us the renting the province off Divy [Divi] that in former times all Europeans had endeavour’d to gett the place offering vast Summs of money for it and that in Case we had it granted us it would ruin the Port of Metchlipatam [Masulipatam]. Upon the phirmaund [farmān] His Majesty sign’d, That the Vizier petition about itt We have no farther design in advising of this than of a Story we have heard, and which we either Expect to have asserted or denied by the first Advices from our Vackeel [vakil].

We have now drawn a Bill of Exchange for 2000 Siccas Received and payable to Gowaldass Chevuldass which we desire may be duely Honour’d, <sup>1</sup> Rēui is the old name for Kṛishṇagara, the city on the Jalangi, east of Nadiya. The place is mentioned more than once in the Kshītīs'avāms'āvalīcharitām, or Chronicle of the family of Rāja Kṛishṇachandra of Navadvīpa. According to this chronicle the change of name was made by an ancestor of Kṛishṇachandra, Rāja Rudrarāya, who ruled from 1683 to 1694. 'Rēui iti prasiddhagramē gōgōpānām bahūnāmādhishṭhānamataḥ prasangatāḥ kṛishṇanāma-smaraṇādyarthaṁ cha tadgrāmasya kṛishṇanagarēti samūgām chakrā.' 'The place Rēui he called Kṛishṇanagara in honour of Kṛishṇa and because many herdsmen lived there.' See Kshītīs'avāms'āvalīcharitām, edited and translated by W. Pertsch, Berlin, 1852, p. 26, ll. 20, 21, in the original, and p. 21 of the translation.

According to the same authority Rāja Rāghava, the father of Rudrarāya, 'erected in the village called Rēui a beautiful residence, and built to the east and to the west of it two palaces like mountains, and in the south a seraglio with a multitude of magnificent palaces.' Rudrarāya, having changed the name, had erected there by a Mohammedan architect a palace, and built a causeway from there to S'āntipura. From this time it seems to have been the residence of the kings of Nadiya.

The English were on good terms with the Nadiya rājās. In particular the Chronicle states that Rāmākṛishṇa, the son of Rudrarāya, lived in friendship with Vaḍa Sāheb, 'who at that time was governor of the southern foreigners in Calcutta. The latter, therefore, showed likewise continual friendship towards him, and placed a garrison of 2,500 so-called "soldiers," who were skilled in the use of all kinds of weapons and missiles, in Kṛishṇanagara to execute the plans of Rāmākṛishṇa.'

In March 1710 the Council went to Rēui for a few days to take the air. See Vol. I, p. 329, § 372. Perhaps they were present at the festivities in honour of the birth of Kṛishṇachandra in 1710.

“Att the commencement off this negotiation, The Honourable President and Council off Bengall gave us a Supply off Clothes and necessaries, together with the Gentlemen that accompany’d us ; not beleiving this Affair would be protracted to so great a length, or that the Court off Indostan would become so Expensive in Outward Appearance. God be praised We have now perfectly finished this Grand Affair; and after many uneasy thoughts from all sides, have answered the Wishes of Every one, viz<sup>t</sup> in the delivery off the substantiall phirmaunds [farmāns] &c<sup>a</sup> Grants with their Attested Copys, to the Honourable Robert Hedges Esq<sup>t</sup> President and Governour off Fort William &c<sup>a</sup> Councill In Bengall. Itt may nott be improper, In concluding this Book off Consultations, to write something in reference to what has gone before; Butt to Summ up or Even Abbreviate the whole, is as impossible, as itt is distant from Our Intentions. There is no other way off coming to a Clear knowledge how this grand Affair has Succeed- ed, than by a Serious Scrutiny and perusall off this Book from the Beginning to the End, ffor which purpose we heartyly and Humbly commend itt to the Honourable President and Councill off Bengall;

For Since we have acted directly under their influence, to them Alone must be imputed the Glory.

Since the trade off Europeans in these parts, there have been Sundry Attempts off this kind; Butt the Grants Obtained have been off very little value, 'tho' att a much Superiour Expencc. May those we have gain'd be as Lasting as they are great is Our Earnest wishes.

1. INSTRUCTIONS FROM FORT ST. GEORGE

AND now having answered what contained in Yours, we shall only add that we have in an Enclosed Letter apart given you a full account off our Ancient priviledges on this Coast, when granted and how confirm'd, off which we shall dispatch you Copys in a day or two by land, which considering The Season we may Expect will reach you before this.

2. POSITION OF THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY

In case any off our Ships were wreck'd upon y<sup>e</sup> Coast, All Goods that were saved to be for our own Account, and the Said Raja obliges himself to protect us on all occasions to the utmost off his power.

<sup>1</sup> This is a mistake. The year should be either 1640, when Fort St. George was founded, or 1645, when Sri Ranga III granted the qaul.

<sup>2</sup> This is altogether wrong. In 1639, Thomas Ivy was agent at Masulipatam. With his permission, Francis Day, who was at this time chief at Armagon, went, in July, 1639, to the Madras coast, having been invited to settle there by a powerful Naik Venkatappa who was the de facto ruler of that country, though nominally subordinate to the titular king of Vijayanagar. Day found that Madras would be an excellent trade centre. The Naik gave him a favorable qaul, dated August, 1639. Meanwhile, Ivy had been superseded at Masulipatam by Andrew Cogan. Cogan supported Day's views.

On February 6, 1640, Cogan received a doubtful letter from Surat permitting a settlement at Madras. 'A fortnight later Cogan and Day arrived at Madraspatam in the Eagle after dismantling the factory at Armagon. The erection of a fort was commenced as soon as possible, and from the name given to it, we may infer that part (perhaps the inner fort) was finished by St. George's Day (23rd April).<sup>3</sup> The Court of Directors called Cogan to account for his action in founding Fort St. George. In August, 1643, Cogan made over the charge of the settlement to Day. On August 4, 1644<sup>4</sup> Day was relieved by Thomas Ivy. On November 15, 1645, a qaul for Madras was granted to Agent Ivy by Sri Ranga III, rāja of Chandragiri, and titular king of Vijayanagar. See The Founding of Fort St. George, Madras, by William Foster, London, Eyre and Spottiswoode, 1902, pp. 5, 6, 7, 8, 13, 21, 22, 24, 32, 33 and 34.

I am afraid that I cannot agree with Mr. Foster that the English obtained any qaul from Venkatapati (p. 17). There is no mention anywhere of Venkatapati, and the English had nothing to do with him. The clearest statement on the point is found in the letter quoted on p. 30. 'Wee have bin often tymes solicited by this kinge [Sri Ranga] to give him a visitt which was never yett done to him or his predecessors since our first arrivall here which is now 7 yeares allmost . . . . We are . . . . resolved . . . . to send upp Mr. Henry Greenhill with foure other English souldiers for his attendance for the reconfirmation of what was granted unto Mr. Cogan by the great Nague, under whose protection formerly wee liv'd, but now the kinge hath taken his power and this cuntry from him, soe his power and protection is of noe longer vallue.' The English at first regarded the Naik as practically king of the country, and were contented with his qaul, or qauls, if they received another in 1643 when they sent the peskhash (p. 18), which I should think very doubtful. 'Those Cowles of the former King and our Nagues' (p. 26) I should regard as an obvious exaggeration.

Anno 1676. The King off Golconda [Gulkhandah] granted a phirmaund [farmān] to Sir William Langorn confirming all our fformer priviledges in a very ample manner with an addition off severall new Articles as you will see in y<sup>e</sup> Copy sent herewith. We have likewise added y<sup>e</sup> Copys off the fforegoing Phirmaunds [farmāns] and Cowles [qauls] for your perusal.

This is all we have remaining upon record, during y<sup>e</sup> reign off the King off Golconda [Gulkhandah], and Itt is very strange that we have a better Account upon our Books off what was transacted so long agoe, than off what has been done these later days. However we shall proceed to give you as good an Account as we can pick out off abundance off Books and papers which we have been obliged to goe through upon this occasion; off what has been done since Sir William Langorns time.

During the Government off Agent Masters and President Gifford we find nothing new Except y<sup>e</sup> settling off some small Factorys to the Southward As Conimeer [Kunimedu], Cudalore [Kūdalūr], and Porto Novo under the Raja off Chingee [Jinji], which places being withdrawn, (Except Cudalore [Kūdalūr] off which we shall speak hereafter) there will be no occasion to say any thing off them.

We remain'd in penceable possession off our priviledges till y<sup>e</sup> Mogull Came into these parts, to y<sup>e</sup> Conquest off Golconda [Gulkhandah] and Vizapore [Bijāpūr] when Mr Elihu Yale and his Councill thought it necessary to send an Armenian

This Vakeel [vakil] wrote word that he had brought matters very near a conclusion, When att the same time Letters were sent from y<sup>e</sup> Camp That Generall Child att Bombay had made a peace with y<sup>e</sup> Moors, and was to have a Generall Phirmaund [farmān] from y<sup>e</sup> Mogull, in which this place and Bengal were to be included; which putt a full stop to what Gov<sup>r</sup> Yale was then doing; and y<sup>e</sup> Vakeel [vakil] was ordered to distribute no more<sup>2</sup> money till further orders.

All that we can find off this Phirmaund [farmān] upon our Books is a very slight paper containing nothing material to y<sup>e</sup> purpose. The next steps that were made towards getting a Phirmaund [farmān], were in the year 1692 by Mr Yale when Caum Bucksh [Kām Bakhsh], Assid Cann [Asad Khān] and Zulphacor Caun [Zū-l-fiqār Khān] were att Chingee [Jinji],<sup>2</sup> When Mess<sup>rs</sup> Trenchfield and Pitt were sent ffrom this place, to waite upon them with a considerable present, Upon which they obtain'd liberty ffor our Mint with a Nishaun [nishān] from y<sup>e</sup> Prince, and Phirmaund [farmān] and Dustock [dastak] from Assid Caun [Asad Khān], off which we send you Copys. And you may observe that a Phirmaund [farmān] is therein promised, butt has never been complied with.

Another Essay was made in Mr Higgisons time Anno 1695 to procure a Phirmaund [farmān] when Zulphacor Caun [Zū-l-fiqār Khān] was with a Camp in these parts Employed in y<sup>e</sup> Conquest off Ellore Butt all that Mr Higgison could procure was Perwannas [parwānas] to confirm our privilidges according to Sallabad [sālābād], and so this matter has rested ffrom that time to this, and we have been pretty Easy, only upon alterations off Government, The Great Men have been always troublesome and Exacting off money. We have now given you a full Account of all that has ever been done, for securing our privilidges in this Settlement.

Fort St Davids and Cudalore [Kūdalūr] were granted us in 1688 by Ram-Rauz [Rāma Rāja] Raja off Chingee [Jinji], and when Zulphacor Caun [Zū-l-fiqār Khān] conquer'd that City he was pleased to confirm y<sup>e</sup> Grant off that and y<sup>e</sup> depending villages.

Vizagapatam was granted us by Nabob Seer Lascar in y<sup>e</sup> King off Golcondas time Anno 1682 or thereabouts, which we have enjoy'd ever since, butt never without great troubles ffrom y<sup>e</sup> Nabobs that govern the Carlingo [Kalinga] Country.

3. LETTER TO THE BENGAL COUNCIL.

HON<sup>BLE</sup> SIR AND SIRs

Having acquainted you with our Circumstances we come next to offer our

<sup>2</sup> Kām Bakhsh was 'Alamgir's youngest son, Asad Khān was his wazir; and Zulfiqār-Khān son of Asad Khān, his mīr bakhshī. The investment of Jinji began in 1691, and the piece was taken in January, 1698. Kām Bakhsh was placed in command on the 6th June, 1691, N. S.

Opinion, what we think will be best to procure for us in y<sup>e</sup> Generall Phirmaund [farmān].

Iff we should descend to insist upon many particulars, we are advised that itt will be a hinderance to y<sup>e</sup> Affair in Generall, and may make them demand a much Larger sum than itt may be you are impowered to part with.—

Wherefore we choose rather to have itt in generall terms That is to say a confirmation off our Ancient privilidges Granted by y<sup>e</sup> Jentue<sup>1</sup> Kings off this Country, renew'd by y<sup>e</sup> Kings off Golconda [Gulkhandah], Since his time by Several Nabobs & Lastly by Assid Caun [Asad Khān] Zulphacor Caun [Zū-l-fiqār Khān] and Caun Bucush [Kām Bakhsh].

What few particulars we desire were sent you in our former, however we now send a Copy off the Same, requesting that particular care be taken to confirm y<sup>e</sup> Grant off Fort St<sup>t</sup> Davids and Tevinapatam<sup>2</sup>, So that we may have no more plague with Seroopsean [Sarūp Sinha] Raja off Chingee [Jinji], who disputes our title to y<sup>e</sup> Villages, notwithstanding y<sup>e</sup> Grant from Zulphacor Caun [Zū-l-fiqār Khān].

And iff we are so happy as to have y<sup>e</sup> Generall phirmaund [farmān], Tho' some off the particulars in Governour Pitts Letter should be omitted we should think y<sup>e</sup> present very well bestow'd; iff itt amounted to double y<sup>e</sup> value off what itt went from hence.

The greatest danger is their deluding us according to their old Custom with Vests, Horses and a peice off fine paper, so doubtfully and intrinsically penn'd that itt may be off no great signification. Butt that undoubtedly will be taken care off by those whom you think fitt to Employ in this important affair.

We most sincerely wish you Success in y<sup>e</sup> undertaking, and that you may have y<sup>e</sup> sole honour off accomplishing what so many able and Experienced persons Attempted In vain.

We ought never to despair off Succeeding when we consider y<sup>e</sup> many fruitless Endeavours to unite England and Scotland in fformer reigns, and how soon att last itt was brought to perfection in this reign by willing hearts and Minds. We are

4. LETTER TO THE AMBASSADORS; FROM MADRAS.

To MR. JOHN SURMAN &c<sup>a</sup> Gentlemen Intended to Accompany the Rt Hon<sup>ble</sup>
Comp<sup>as</sup> Present to the Mogull.

GENTLEMEN

We formerly sent Copys off all our Grants for the Settlements under this Presidency, by Ship President Anno 1711 with a letter to Explain them, We also sent Copys off Govern<sup>r</sup>. Pitts Letters to Zeaudy Caun [Ziyāu-d-Din Khān], containing what we had to insist upon particularly on this Coast for our Hon<sup>ble</sup> Masters advantage. We now send Duplicates off all those papers to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Council to be forwarded to you, nott doubting butt your Care will be Extended to procure as much as possible for all the Settlements we have in y<sup>e</sup> Mogulls Dominions.

We have been called upon to particularize y<sup>e</sup> Names off our Villages att Fort St Davids and those 5 formerly granted us by Doud Caun [Dāūd Khān]<sup>1</sup> near this place and since reassumed by y<sup>e</sup> present Nabob Sadutulla Caun [Sa'datullah Khān]. Accordingly in y<sup>e</sup> accompanying paper you will find them both in Persian and English, as near as we can bring them to their pronounciation.

However we are nott sure iff y<sup>e</sup> naming so many towns and villages may nott cause a Jealousy off their being off greater value than really they are; Wherefore that matter is left wholly to your discretion, Either to name them particularly or mention them in generall terms,

And tho' we have taken all these pains to collect y<sup>e</sup> Copys off our Old grants and priviledges, we cannot be off Opinion they will be off any further use, than to give you a Generall Idea off our Affairs; so as to qualify you for discoursing y<sup>e</sup> ministers, & answering any objections that may be started. For we are Credibly inform'd that a Generall Phirmaund [farmān] will be y<sup>e</sup> most that can be obtain'd and that will be comprized in very few words.

Wherefore we offer our opinion that iff you could procure y<sup>e</sup> Stile off the said Phirmaund [farmān] in relation to us to run As follows Vizt. Confaming all our Old grants and priviledges on y<sup>e</sup> Coast off Cormandell, as well from y<sup>e</sup> ancient Kings off Golconda [Gulkhandah]; as from Caun Bucksh, Assid Caun, Zulphacor Caun, Doud Caun [Kām Bakhsh, Asad Khān, Zū-l-fiqār Khān, Dāūd Khān] and other his Majestys Nabobs and Cheif ministers itt would answer our Ends as well as iff all particulars were incerted, and save you a great deal off time and unnecessary trouble.

Our ancient priviledges to be ffree of all Customes, Juncans [changams] or Chowkeys [chaukis]. To have y<sup>e</sup> right off all our Ships wreck'd in the dominions off his majesty &c<sup>a</sup> may be mentioned for all our Settlements in generall, and undoubtedly cannot be too fully and Clearly Express'd.

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Irvine notes, 'Dāūd Khān, son of Khizr Khan, Panni Afghān, entered the imperial service in the 27th year of 'Ālamgīr, and about 1700 became nāib qābahār of the Karnātik under Kīm Bakhsh, and then under Zū-l-fiqār Khān. He was killed in a battle with Sayyad Husain 'Alī Khān, Bārbah, fought near Burhānpur on the 6th Sept<sup>r</sup> 1715 N. S. This family was settled at Qamarnagar Karnūl in the Madras Presidency. The last Nawab rebelled in 1828, and the last representative died in 1848.

We believe the Hon. President and Council in Bengall will Join with us in opinion, That iff possible there should be a Duplicate and Triplicate off the Generall Phirmaund [farmān], One off which to be lodged att Bombay, the other here, to be produced whenever we are molested.

Diu [Dīvi] Island near Metchlepatam [Masulipatam] & what y<sup>e</sup> Moors call Divy [Dīvi] Island, has been often aimed att by y<sup>e</sup> Dutch, butt they could never Obtain itt. We have been Courted by y<sup>e</sup> Rajahs to settle there butt forbore on Accountt that we thought itt might Embroil us with the Moors Government. Butt iff we could gett a grant off itt for ever from y<sup>e</sup> King; paying y<sup>e</sup> yearly rent as itt stands in his Books which is 7000 pagodas, itt would we are well assured in very ffew years reimburse y<sup>e</sup> whole charge off your present Expedition. Wherefore we must particularly recommend itt to you to endeavour for itt, and itt will nott be amiss iff you please to acquaint the Ministers appointed to treat with you; That itt is an Island off little use to them and no trade; butt we can with much Charge make it commodious for shipping in a ffew years, and bring a considerable trade thither to y<sup>e</sup> enriching his Majestys dominions as has Already been done in Bengall, Madrass and other places.

No Doubt butt you carry good Mapps with you off Bengall, this and the other Coast, to which you will have recourse as you see Occasion. We desire to hear from you by way of Aurungābād which C. Segrhaud [Sarhād] can easily contrive, and you shall be sure off having all necessary advices from us. We most hearty wish you health and Success that you may have y<sup>e</sup> Credit of procuring considerable Advantages to our Hon<sup>ble</sup> Masters and the British nation, which will undoubt- edly be rewarded with distinguishing marks off their fflavour.

5. GOVERNOR PITT'S LETTER TO ZIYĀU-D-DIN KHĀN.

To ZEAUDY CAUN [Ziyāu-d-Din Khān] Lord-High-Steward of King Shā-Allums [Shāh 'Ālam's] Household<sup>1</sup>

BY your faithfull Chubdar [chobdār] Cossae, by whom your Excellency sent

<sup>1</sup> Deputy Steward would be more correct. Mr. Irvine notes that according to the native historians he was originally diwān of the Chinapatam, or Madrās country. After his uncle's death he was called to Court, on the 10th July, 1693, N. S., given the title of Khān, and appointed buzūtā at court, and deputy of the khānsāmān, or Lord High Steward, [parvānas] I now send this humble address which doubtless you Expected sooner, and had been sent but for y<sup>e</sup> two following reasons. Your Excellency Enjoining Secrecy I was obliged to committ the translating off them to some particular friends which took up 14 days When fully apprized off the purport thereof, I could nott butt be surprized att your unparalel'd Expressions off Friendship and invaluable honours you have done us, which so confounded my thoughts for some days, That I almost dispair'd off being able to acknowledge them by my pen or otherways. Butt then considering what a Generous friend I had mett with, who had been so lavish off his flaviours to one that had as little power as meritt to oblige you I could no longer refrain from blessing my Stars, who were so propitious to me as to give me the honour off your first acquaintance, which I esteem the happy'st fate that has attended me throughout y<sup>e</sup> whole course off my life, which I shall for ever remember, and that posterity may doe y<sup>e</sup> same, I humble request that when you come to Goleonda, [Gulkhandah] you will honour me with sending your picture, which I will send to England, and have itt copyed by y<sup>e</sup> most Exquisite Limner in y<sup>e</sup> world, and order itt to be sent me hither, Besides I will erect your Effigie finely cutt in Marble with such an inscription on itt, that y<sup>e</sup> world may know the Author off our happiness in these parts.

I cannot butt blush when I think off giving you farther trouble, which I cannot avoid since you are pleased to command me in a Letter apart, wherein you propose severall things that I think my duty to give my thoughts thereon. Your Excellency gives us great hopes off the Kings Phirmaund [farmān] when he comes to Golconda [Gulkhandah], where God send him safe and Victorious.

Your Excellency writes that there must be presents for all y<sup>e</sup> Princes & some off the Great men; iff you mean such as are suitable to their birth and quality, 'tis impossible for us to purchase them with our Company's Estate, who you know are Merchants that run great risques to gett a little, & who often meett with loss instead off gain. So hope, as y<sup>e</sup> presents we intend are Suitable to our circumstances, they will meet with a gracious acceptance from y<sup>e</sup> Great King and princes, which putts me in mind off what we read in History That upon many persons making very rich presents to a King, There happened a poor man to come with a drop off water, which was as acceptable as any off their presents being according to his ability.

And ffor what Your Excellency is pleased to mention concerning Islands on y<sup>e</sup> Coast off Peque [Pegu], Aracan, Fort off Pollicat [Palikat] &c? we cannot think them usefull to us: For that we desire no more Territorys in these parts than what are necessary to preserve our trade & Estates from suddain insults off flying armys Such as Morattas [Maharattas] &c? Yett iff his Majesty would bestow on us ye Island off Diu [Dīvi] near Metchelepatam [Masulipatam], itt may Encourage us to revive our trade in those parts, and Cultivate itt so as to make itt a proper place, to preserve itt where may be also made a Good port for the Kings and all Merchant-Ships to lye out off danger in y<sup>e</sup> time off the Monsoon which is very much wanted, there not being one on all this Coast. Butt then you say what will we give for the first Second and third year. Your Excellency well knows that along y<sup>e</sup> Sea Coast 'tis nothing butt a heap off sand, and that y<sup>e</sup> improving off itt is very Chargeable, off which we have large Experience in Chinapatam: for that for 60 years itt was a vast yearly Charge to us, and since brings in very little more than what defrays itt's Expences. So rather than making y<sup>e</sup> Phirmaund [farmān] Chargeable to us, We by your Excellencys assistance hope his Majesty will grant itt to confirm our priviledges bestowed on us by his Royall Predecessors throughout all his Dominions, with those small additions I made in my former Letters iff they can without difficulty be obtain'd, & for what you say off St Thoma I understand itt is lett att this time for 6000 pagodas per Annum including all y<sup>e</sup> Villages belonging thereto, Att which rate we shall be willing to take itt for a long term off years, & for no other end butt to procure our Quiet, & for Trivitore [Tiruvottiyūr]<sup>1</sup> itt is one off y<sup>e</sup> five towns that Nabob Doud Caun [Dāud Khān] gave us his Parwana [parwāna] for on his departure, & hope we shall have y<sup>e</sup> Great Caun Behauder [Khān Bahādur]<sup>2</sup> to confirm itt hearing itt is in his Jaggeer [jaḡīr].

In Bengall we have y<sup>e</sup> Kings Phirmaund [farmān] and Princes Nishaun [nishān] with severall Nabobs Perwannas [parwānas] for being Custom-free in y<sup>e</sup> Kingdoms of Bengall, Behar, and Orixa upon paying 3000 rupees per annum Att Hugly into the Kings treasury & for our Settlement att Culcutta; where we desire his Majesty would be pleased to give us leave to erect a mint to Coin Rupees and Moors [muhrs] with his Royall Stamp according to y<sup>e</sup> true matt and weight off those coin'd in his Royall mint off Rajamoll [Rājmaḡal], which conveniency would very much contribute to y<sup>e</sup> encrease off that trade. I must also acquaint you that notwithstanding y<sup>e</sup> Royall Grants abovemention'd, we have mett with there off Late years, great abuses and obstructions to our trade, more particularly as to Our Goods that come from Patna, Dacca, Rajamoll [Rājmaḡal], Maulda, Cossimbuzar, &c<sup>a</sup>. Every little Governour having erected all along y<sup>e</sup> rivers Chowkeys [chawkīs] who Exort Custom & what they please, & will pay no reverence to y<sup>e</sup> Royall Authority, In so much that our Goods on y<sup>e</sup> boates are often coming down 6 or 8 Months, so that we Either loose y<sup>e</sup> Monsoon to send them on our Ships Or they are damaged & Rotten before they arrive.

Then att Suratt, The Merchant is unhappy that trades to that port, and this I write from Experience That y<sup>e</sup> usage in y<sup>e</sup> Custom-house to most mens persons is so barbarous, becoming slaves rather than Merchants, & no better as to their Goods, where by the Kings order they pay 3½ per Cent according to y<sup>e</sup> value off the Goods, which they Generally rate 50 per Cent or double y<sup>e</sup> worth in y<sup>e</sup> Buzar, and accordingly make up their Custom Account, when in all parts off the world where they act with honour & justice, the Customer that overvalues goods is obliged to take them att that rate, and in all ports that are enriched and flourishng by trade, for encouragement off which they

1 The name is said to mean the village, ūr, of the sacred Atī, or Śiva.

2 [The wazīr Mun'im Khān, see farther on W. I.] always value Goods 10 per Cent less than their intrinsick value, which encreases ye Customes, by encouraging Merchants to frequent the port. Then besides, Their dispatches their in their Custom-house are so dilatory, That our Ships often loose their monsoon and Merchants the Sale off their Goods; So hope there may be some way ffound in a Phirmaund [farmān] that these Greivances may be remedyd for the Future, which will tend greatly to ye honour off the King & to ye Augmentation off riches in his Country. We have also a Settlement at Vizagapatam where we would much Encrease our trade, iff his Majesty would bestow on us ye blessing off his Encouragement. We have for many years rented there ffour towns on ye ffollowing terms:—

Perwanda & Wooda-poonda	—	Rs. 900 per Annum.
Maulouporam [Mālkapuram]	—	90

ffor which Villages and Vizagapatam [Visākhapatnam] together we pay yearly att Chicacull [Shrikākulamu]<sup>2</sup> into the Kings treasury ffour thousand Eight hundred and Sixty two Rupees. The two ffirst Villages for which we pay 900 rupees are att a great distance from Vizagapatam for which reason we are willing to quitt them, so that deducted there will be rupees 3962 which we are willing to pay yearly, iff his Majesty pleases to give us a perpetuall grant thereof; which will prevent us a great deal off trouble, that we generally meett with from New Officers att their ffirst coming to ye Government. If the Great King pleases to give us two or three small towns which Join to ours, we shall always be grateful for his Royall ffavours.

In the King off Golcondas [Gulkhanda] time for the Encouragement off our Trade we were Custom-ffree throughout his country—

Your Excellency is well acquainted with our paying here 1200 pagodas per Annum which iff his Majesty would please to fforgive in his Phirmaund [farmān], itt would be a great encouragement to us in our buisness, and the only merit we can plead for so great ffavour is that we yearly import into his Majesty's dominions a vast Amount in Treasure and carry away nothing for itt; but ye produce and manufacture off his Country.

We are very sensible that your Excellency must have been att Charges in our Affairs, which we are ready to pay with all the Gratitude mankind can be capable off; and wish our Ability was Equal to our Inclination to make Suitable returns to ye Great Zeaudy Caun [Ziyāu-d-Din Khān] for his unparele'd friendship and ffavours, which we shall always endeavour by all means to acknowledge 'more particularly in giving frequent instances off our duty to Sha Allum [Shāh Alam] whom God preserve and send him a long and happy reign; and that ye Noble and Generous Caun Canna, Caun Behauder [Khān Khānān, Khān Bahādūr],<sup>3</sup> and our invaluable friend Zeaudy Caun [Ziyāu-d-dīn Khān] may be always bless'd with his ffavour and Enjoy health and prosperity.

6. ANOTHER LETTER FROM GOVERNOR PITT.

To his Excellency Zeaudy Caun [Ziyāu-d-din Khān] Lord High Steward off the Kings Household.

Tis your Noble and Generous mind that has drawn this trouble off our application to you, and as I wrote you in my Last Letter which I deliver'd Aga Makeem [Āqā Muqīm], I now send our Humble petition to the King, and address to y<sup>e</sup> Grand Vizier Copys off which I here enclose to Your Excellency, humbly requesting that you will favour us with y<sup>e</sup> management thereof.

We are not ignorant off what should accompany such petitions and Addresses; but the hazzards and troubles in y<sup>e</sup> way prevent us from performing that part att present, In which I humbly desire your Excellency's advice and direction as to what would be acceptable to his Majesty The Grand Vizier and Such others where you think itt necessary and we shall Endeavour to procure itt iff possible.

Your Excellency will see that we desire a Phirmaund [farmān] to confirm our priviledges according to Sallabad [sālābād]<sup>1</sup> in all his dominions, Unless his Majesty shall out off his Royall bounty bestow some new favours on us. Your Excellency cannot butt know that Miliapore [Mayilapur]<sup>2</sup> is a troublesome neighbourhood to us: creating always disputes and Quarrells<sup>3</sup> little advantageous to y<sup>e</sup> King nor will itt Ever be more; which could we obtain and y<sup>e</sup> Town off Trivitore [Tiruvottiyūr], on y<sup>e</sup> other side off us, itt would make us Easy and encrease y<sup>e</sup> riches off the King's Country.

And Whereas the Goods we import are generally carryed to y<sup>e</sup> Capitall Citys off Golconda [Gulchandah] Vizapore [Bijāpūr] &c<sup>s</sup> which trade we should much increase, iff there was no Custom paid upon them between this place and those Citys, and that y<sup>e</sup> Mettas [mittās]<sup>4</sup> about us, which off late years have been encreased were lay'd aside, which only find Employ for some little people, who destroy trade by their vexation and Extortion, and in y<sup>e</sup> main very much Lessen the Kings revenue.

And we humbly desire that you would gett itt inserted in a Phirmaund [farmān], that whenever we are so unfortunate as to loose any Ship in any part off his Majestys dominions, That we shall have the liberty to preserve what we can off y<sup>e</sup> wreck, without any molestation from y<sup>e</sup> Government, which is nott only a practice throughout y<sup>e</sup> world, butt y<sup>e</sup> Inhabitants are Generally commanded to assist therein. For itt is a great hardship, That After the Great risque that people have run off their lives, They shall nott be att liberty to save what they can off their Estates.

We must own with great thankfulness that this Justice has been granted us by former Perwannas [pariwānas] from Caun Behauder [Khān Bahādur] and y<sup>e</sup> present Nabob; butt as itt has been formerly disputed itt may again, which nothing butt y<sup>e</sup> King's Gracious Grant can prevent.

We extremely want the Kings blessing and favour to give a new life to our trade; for since your Excellency went hence this place has lost near 3 Leck [lakhs] Pagodas by misfortunes, and most by pirates; So that itt is become poor

Iff part off what is appropriated for presents prove improper for that Service, dispose off that as well as you can, and out off the other parcell putt what you shall Judge fitt instead off itt.

We send a large quantity off wine and other liquors with you. Att C. Seerhaud's [Sarhād's] instigation, who affirm itt will be ye most Acceptable off anything to many off the Cheif Officer att Court; on whose favour the Good or ill success off your buisness depends So much off itt as shall be necessary for your table att Court and in your way thither is designed for that service, The rest to be presented to the best advantage you can for y<sup>e</sup> carrying on off your Affairs. Tis Charged in Invoice No. 2 Tis scarce needfull to tell you none off itt is designed for Expence att Patna Factory.

You will find a third Invoice Amounting to Rupees Twenty nine thousand, nine hundred fifty Eight, ffour Anaes; for Cloths and necessarys &c<sup>e</sup> for service, which will be worn out or Expended. This you must bring to y<sup>e</sup> Credit off Account Curreant Culcutta, As well as the rest, Charging Durbar [darbār] Royall with itt as you Expend itt.

For Managers in this Negotiation we have appointed and Doe appoint M<sup>r</sup>: John Surman Cheif & treasurer, Cojah Seerhaud [Sarhād] Second & head Vakile [vakil], Mr. Edward Stephenson third in Council, Accomptant and Warehouse keeper; M<sup>r</sup>: Hugh Barker Secretary who also may be appointed to keep y<sup>e</sup> Accounts off Daily petty Expences.

In case off M<sup>r</sup>: Surmans Death (which God avert) we doe appoint that M<sup>r</sup>: Stephenson succeed to be Cheif, C. In your way to the Camp Royall, and when arrived there, You are to keep a Generall Diary off all transactions and accidents relating to the Hon<sup>ble</sup>. Companys Affairs or any way influencing them. This may well be in your Consultation Book. We also Expect from each off you & from M<sup>r</sup>: Barker Likewise, That you keep particular Diarys off such transactions Accidents and observations off all kinds, whether they relate to our Affairs or no, As Either off you may judge worth notice.

From this you may once a week att Leisure times fframe your Warehouse Books, which must be duely kept up, that you may see att all times what you have remaining in y<sup>e</sup> Warehouse. You must also keep Generall Books Journall and Leidger into which all your Accounts whatsoever will be brought. There must also be a book particularly for your daily Expences, The Amount whereoff we would have brought to account weekly in Your Generall Books.

The Consultation Book ought and we Expect itt be kept ffair and regular; and that you send us Copys off your Consultations and Diaries Express every month, Also Copy off y<sup>e</sup> Cash Account; off these, also off your Generall Letters, (in which be full and Clear in giving us an account off the Affair in hand and what prospect you have off coming to a happy Conclusion) send Duplicates by Succeeding Expresses; ffor some may miscarry, and iff you can find means to write us by y<sup>e</sup> Dawk Chowkey [dāk chaukī] miss no opportunity.

Be carefull nott to have any useless contentions among your selves, such as may seem like animositys. For Such, iff any be, will be observed vastly to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Companys prejudice: and occasion long delays, and greater Expence in Every Durbar [darbār]; and possibly hazzard the overthrow off our Affairs; and All off you (butt y<sup>e</sup> Aggressor Especially) will entirely fforfeit y<sup>e</sup> Companys ffavour, and y<sup>e</sup> good opinion we have off your conduct and Capacity.

Be Frugall as decently possible in all manner off Expences. For the Charge will be too great tho' managed with the Utmost ffrugality. Therefore all manner off unnecessary Expences are to be avoided.

When any Grant is obtained gett att least a dozen Copys attested by y<sup>e</sup> Cozzee [qāzī] off which send one to Bombay and one to Fort S<sup>t</sup> George. The Originall and other Copys you are to send to us by sundry conveyances.

Iff you receive orders or directions from His Excellency the Generall and Councill off Bombay Or from the Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Councill att Fort S<sup>t</sup> George, relating to any priviledges or new grants Either or both may desire for their Governments; or to y<sup>e</sup> confirming or Eularging any priviledge they doe enjoy or have fformerly Enjoy'd Conform and Comply as near as possible with y<sup>e</sup> orders you shall receive from them.

Immediately upon your arrivall att y<sup>e</sup> Camp Royall and when you are in y<sup>e</sup> way iff you find itt may be, send expresses to Bombay and to Fort S<sup>t</sup> George, acquainting y<sup>e</sup> Gentlemen att both places that we have ordered you to be very Exact in your Compliance with all such orders as you shall receive from them, relating to y<sup>e</sup> confirming or Eularging their priviledges, or for y<sup>e</sup> Obtaining any new Grants or priviledges which they may desire: and send them Copys off that part off those instructions which relate to their Jurisdiction—proved. We therefore depend on your prudence joined to his Experience in that matter, which we judge is better than lame endeavour to give particular instructions would be concerning ceremonies which we are not so well acquainted with as he is and you all may soon be.

We do not suppose any of you inclined to Employ Durgamull [Durgāmal] the late Vakile [vakil] at Patna, he has been false to us Already, Therefore if any person recommends him as a fit man for your Service, have no regard to such recommendation; for we will not have him Employ'd in your Company's Affairs upon any pretence whatsoever.

We order that Mr. Barker Your Secretary sit at your Council Table with you when you are in consultation, and that he take minutes of what passes, Also that he attest C. Seerhauds [Sarhād's] Assent or dissent to any vote Agreed on For because C. Seerhaud [Sarhād] cannot read English he will not sign your Consultations.

You are to resolve in consultation after mature deliberation how to proceed in Your Affairs, and Your proceedings must be agreeable with your resolutions in consultation—nevertheless

Some particular cases may happen not foreseen when you sit in Council, and require to be dispatched before you can meet. If sometimes such a case happens, when C. Seerhaud [Sarhād] is from you at your Durbar, and if time and money can be saved by your Quick dispatch of an Affair of Consequence, which if delay'd might happen to miscarry; We say in Such Cases and in Such alone, you may Allow of his acting before a resolution in Consultation: But he must give you an Account of it at your next meeting and you must note it in your consultation as transacted by him alone.

If anything that we may accidentally forget to give you particular directions about in these instructions shall occur to either of you (or be hinted to you by any other person) which may prove beneficial to your Company's Affairs, and be obtained without more cost than the benefit will amount to; Make use of your opportunity to get the Grant, not waiting in such Cases for fresh orders from us. For delays are dangerous, and lost opportunities are not easily retrieved.

You are not on any Account whatsoever to take the Goods of Merchants under your protection from Patna to your Mogul's Court. We prohibit this, fearing pretences may be made, that you have Goods under your protection, which do not belong to you; and Upon that account you be Stop'd long and made pay severely at Some places as others have already been serv'd.

We send with you 47 bales of Bengal's peice Goods for sale, the produce whereof is design'd for part of what you shall want in ready money to carry on your buisness. Keep a particular & Exact Account off the Carriage and all Charges on them and send us that Account because by agreement we are to pay here what they shall produce clear off all Charges. We accepted off this proposall because itt saves the Exchange off so much and does not encrease the Companys Risq. A particular Invoice off these Goods is N<sup>o</sup>. 4 The Merchants we have them from allow you to draw 5 per Cent commission on their produce, whereoff 2 per Cent for M<sup>r</sup>: Surman 2 per Cent for C. Seerhaud [Sarhād], and 1 per Cent for M<sup>r</sup>: Stephenson. 5,000 rupees Hoss<sup>e</sup>. We send you in y<sup>e</sup> hands off M<sup>r</sup>: Stephenson, out off which he is allowed to disburse, what shall be necessary on y<sup>e</sup> way, which he is to account for with you, and pay y<sup>e</sup> rest into y<sup>e</sup> Companys Cash in M<sup>r</sup>: Surmans hands for your service As you proceed from Patna.

Before you can be able to depart from Patna, we shall send you Letters off Credit to furnish you with what money shall be needfull for carrying on your negotiation att the Kings Durbars [darbārs].

The ffollowing list is off Originall papers relating to our ancient priviledges in Bengall, which we send you in C. Seerhauds [Sarhād's] hands, he affirming itt will be necessary they be shown att Court, to prove we had grants off those priviledges, which can be done no otherways, because Old Assid Caun [Asad Khān] (in a passion when his son Zulphacor Caun<sup>1</sup> [Zū-l-fiqār Khān] was Slain), burnt all y<sup>e</sup> records off the kingdom, which he had y<sup>e</sup> keeping off att that time. Be carefull none off those papers are Lost, and bring all back to us when itt pleases God you return, which God grant you may in good time with Safety and Success.

A Calculation off what Servants wages to attend Mr. Surman &c<sup>e</sup> Englishmen may amount to monthly; in which we doe nott pretend to be perfectly Exact, for itt must in a great measure be left to your discretion, because tis nott possible we can know Every thing that will be absolutely necessary for you, and we may as well over as under Calculate y<sup>e</sup> Charge. This therefore is nott to be taken as a stated allowance butt a guess off what the Charge may amount to. Where you find we have reckon'd upon more servants than will be needfull, or on greater wages for them than you must off necessity give, you are to correct y<sup>e</sup> mistakes off this, and iff we have reckon'd upon a ffew less off any kind than you find absolutely necessary to keep, you are nott limited by this, butt may add so many as you find you cannot decently be without.

Thus far in Generall, we come in y<sup>e</sup> Second place to direct what we desire may be granted us in a new phirmaund [farmān].

Our ffirst request is in Generall terms, That his Majesty will please to confirm in his Royall Phirmaund [farmān] all the Grants and priviledges heretofore Enjoy'd by our Nation, att all places in his dominions, where we now have or fformerly had Settlements, Especially those granted us in the days off his Royall ancestor Aurungzebe [Aurangzēb], and since, this Generall request is already Granted us in Effect, In y<sup>e</sup> Husbul Hoocum [hasbu-l-hukm] Last received under y<sup>e</sup> Grand Viziers seal, which takes off y<sup>e</sup> difficulty once apprehended off getting y<sup>e</sup> same ffavour in a New Phirmaund [farmān].

Tho' this request be generall and includes all places under y<sup>e</sup> Government off Bombay and Fort St George as well as this Presidency, itt must be repeated and requested for Each particularly.

FIRST FOR BENGALL.

That you may know what to ask for, Tis necessary you be well inform'd what our priviledges are and on what terms we enjoy them.

Instead off Custom we pay a yearly peeshcash [peeshkash] off three thousand Sicca Rupees into the Kings treasury att Hugly, and we pay no Other Custom or duty on any Goods or merchandize which we import or Export, Nor on treasure Coined for us att y<sup>e</sup> Kings mint which was att Rajamoll [Rājmaḥal] butt is now removed to Muxadavad [Maḡsūdābād].

Our Goods or treasure which we send to our settlements or any off the Aurungs [aurangs] inland, pass on our Own Dustick [dastak] without Examination and back to us in y<sup>e</sup> same manner.

Our Merchants Factors or Agents whom we employ att the Aurungs [aurangs] or Elsewhere are nott to be molested or called to account by small officers upon frivolous pretences, whilst they continue in our Service and are Employed for us.

Iff our Factors or Merchants Endeavour to defraud us the remedy is in our Own hands, we take them up and use such meanes as are proper and necessary to make them pay what they justly owe us.

Convenient places and parcells off Ground were granted us to build and settle Factorys on, Att, or near Severall inland places off Note As Hugly, Cossimbuzar, Patna, Dacca, Maulda, Rajamoll [Rājmaḥal], Ballasore, Radnagur &c<sup>a</sup> which we still keep possession off & may settle ffactorys again att, After the King is pleased to confirm all to us in his Royall Phirmaund [farmān].

We hold and Enjoy three towns Namely,—De [dihī] Culcutta, Sootaloota [Sūtānuṭī], & Govindpore [Govindpur], paying y<sup>e</sup> same yearly rent for them into the Kings treasury, which the Jemidars [zamīndārs] paid before they were granted to the English Company. The Grant was made att Bordwan (anno 1698) in a Nishaun [nishān] from Sultan Mahumud Azzeem [Muḥammad ‘Aẓīmu-sh-Shān], ffather off his present Majesty King Furruckseer [Farrukhsiyar] whom God preserve, What we desire more for Bengall is That we may have y<sup>e</sup> use off the Kings mint Custom ffree att Muxodavad [Maqṣūdābād] and Dacca as we had itt att Rajamoll [Rājmaḥal], & the same ffree use off y<sup>e</sup> mint att Patna Also iff itt may be obtaind. We also desire our bounds round us att this place may be enlarged. The additions we desire will amount to Eight thousand Sicca Rupees Yearly rent and something more, which added to near thirteen hundred Sicca Rupees which we pay yearly rent for the three towns, will make About Nine thousand ffour hundred Sicca Rupees per Annum: which we desire we may be appointed to pay in one Summ Yearly into the Kings treasury att some certain place, and that we may nott be called upon for itt before y<sup>e</sup> Day off payment by any Suba Duan [dīwān-i-ṣūbah] or Collector off revenues whatsoever.

That you may perfectly understand what additions we desire may be made to our present bounds, and be well understood when you petition for them we herewith send you a list off the towns we now possess and off those we desire may be added to us, with y<sup>e</sup> rent paid y<sup>e</sup> for same by y<sup>e</sup> Jemidars [zamīndārs] into y<sup>e</sup> Kings treasury, and we have hopes they will be granted to us; because we shall be punctuall in paying our rent on y<sup>e</sup> Day, and att the place appointed, which Jemidars [zamīndārs] are nott Always.

Itt would be a good Advantage to the Companys Affairs iff the King may be prevailed with to order that Rupees Coined att Madrass may pass in payments off his revenues in Bengall. Endeavour att getting such an order, which we hope may be granted, because Madrass Rupees have y<sup>e</sup> Kings Stamp as well as Bengall Rupees and are ffull as valueable. For they are off Equall weight and fineness with them and will always be made so.

SECONDLY FOR BOMBAY.

That y<sup>e</sup> King will be pleased to confirm all y<sup>e</sup> Grants and priviledges enjoy'd by y<sup>e</sup> English nation att Suratt.

The Generall and Councill att Bombay sent a particular account hither (some time in Sha Allums [Shāh 'Ālam's] reign) off what grants and priviledges they then desired might be obtained for them; which is the best directions we can give concerning their Affairs. We therefore send you a Copy off itt without altering one word.

Their fifth head is that the King will please to grant that Rupees Coined att Bombay, being off the same weight and fineness as those off Suratt, may be Currant in his Majestys dominions. (We judge itt might be well to add) and that they may pass in payments off his Majestys revenues att Suratt.

Iff his Majesty will be pleased in Liew off Custom to accept off a moderate yearly peeshcash [peshkash] att Suratt (Rupees three thousand is the least summ to be proposed and ffive thousand the highest we can give you authority to propose for that yearly peeshcash [peshkash]) and order that the English may land or ship off their Goods without being any way molested or called to Account by y<sup>e</sup> Custom house officers or Any others, itt would be a noble grant and worth y<sup>e</sup> Expence off some money. We would have you attempt y<sup>e</sup> getting itt, butt iff you find the high officers averse to granting itt, doe nott persist in your endeavours to obtain itt, For 'tis probable some off them will become enemys and oppose every thing we desire, iff we persist obstinately in desiring what they resolve shall nott be granted us.

Iff the English Company may nott be allowed to trade Custom ffree att Suratt, Itt may be necessary to gett two phirmaunds [farmāns]; One for Suratt where Custom is paid; The other for y<sup>e</sup> presidencys off Madrass and Bengall where we pay no Custom. But this we leave to your own consideration. Doc as you judge will be best for us.

THIRDLY FOR FORT ST GEORGE.

In a Letter for you from y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> President and Councill att Fort St<sup>t</sup> George, which came to our hands y<sup>e</sup> 9th Currant att night and we send you with this, you have so full and Clear instructions about their Affairs, that we doe nott see much can be added to any purpose on that head. We enjoin you to be very sollicitous in your endeavour to obtain Every thing they desire All which seems very reasonable and we have hopes may be obtained without much difficulty or trouble.

The following list is off papers received from Fort St<sup>t</sup> George which we believe may be off Good use and therefore send them to you with this.

- No. 2. Copy off what wrote by Ship President to Bengall under y<sup>e</sup> 23rd October 1711 accompanying y<sup>e</sup> Severall papers then sent down.
